"Jack Dalton" Cast Does Superb Job

by Pat Savage

Last Thursday evening, I had the pleasure of attending the melodrama "Curse You Jack Dalton," produced by the Nyssa High School Drama Club, or a cast of seven very determined young people who gave an outstanding performance despite two or three previous date cancellations, characters quitting the cast and at last finding replacements, only to find having practiced in the multi-purpose room and then the old gym they would at last be performing in the Chadwick Building.

The entire action of the play takes place in the Dalton Mansion on upper Fifth Avenue, New York City (all this is the Chadwick Building?) Mrs. Dalton (Martina DeLeon) an aristocratic matron who has a heart of stone is determined that her son, Jack Dalton (Randy Savage) the manly hero who has a heart of gold, marry the rich Anna Alvarado (Rosario Castellano) who has a heart of granite. But Jack has fallen in love with the beautiful Bertha Blair (Joyce Haney), who is the poor but honest maid in his Mother's household. Bertha has a heart filled with goodness. The villain, Hector Harcourt (Curtis Moncur) who has no heart at all is determined to marry Eloise Dalton (Lori Ferrenberg) Jack's innocent little sister who has a tender heart. Bertha's brother, Richard Blair (Craig Bair) who has a heart filled with hope, helps Jack to foil Hector Harcourt, denounce Anna Alvarado, tell his mother of his love for Bertha and bring down the curtains (there weren't any) on an evening, 45 minutes actually, of amusing entertainment.

Mr. Don Bates, the director, his cast and stage crew carried their part, played the characters extremely well and believe it or not, you could hear every word.

I'm sure the few parents, students and teachers who were there enjoyed the talents of these young people as much as I did and possibly we can plan on more of this type of entertainment in our new auditorium. However, one memory I will always cherish, is watching this melodrama in the Chadwick Building and being able to say to these young people "You're Great!"
