Town And Country Garden Club

The Town and Country Garden Club was treated to a talk and slide show on the city of London, at its meeting in the home of Mrs. Chet Sage last Thursday, when Mrs. David Wardworth recounted some of her experiences while living at the American Embassy a few years back.

The wealth of formal gardens, blazing with color, the friendly sight of Big Ben, the famed changing of the guard were all displayed before everyone's travel-hungry eyes. The ladies saw the Tower of London where Ann Boleyn and Catherine Howard, two of Henry VIII's discarded wives, lived awaiting their execution. Did you know, it wasn't just one tower, but appeared to be two, constructed on a bridge over the river.

One visitor was present, Mrs. Marge Shuster.

A discussion of early days of this century disclosed that there used to be a real stagecoach, like in television, that met the train near McCall and shuttled the passengers on over to the town while the train turned on a turntable for its trip back south. Some of the ladies, real, but recent pioneers, remembered riding in horse-drawn streetcars.

Mrs. Sage and her co-hostess, Mrs. John Worrall, served delicious strawberry shortcake for dessert.
