In what began as a onesided game, became an exciting see-saw battle and ended as a rout, Nampa beat Nyssa 14-7 in an American Legion game Monday night in Nyssa.

Six runs in the top of the seventh inning clinched it for Nampa. They scored off a very tired Norberto Lopez, who came into pitch in the first inning after Jay Kygar developed a sore arm.

Nyssa came back from a 4-0 deficit in the bottom of the second with three runs on bases loaded single by Jim Wilson, a wild pitch and a sacrifice by David Pratt. Joe Joyce, Ernie Delgado and Kygar scored.

Nampa almost blew the game away in the top of the third, but with bases loaded Pratt made a diving stab of a low line drive to end the Nampa threat. Nyssa charged ahead in the bottom half of the third on the strength of a three-run triple by Kygar.

Lopez seemed firmly in charge in the top of the fourth as he set down the Chiefs in order for the only time in the game. Nyssa lost a chance to break the game open in the bottom of the fourth but could manage only one run. Art Leos was tagged out at home on a squeeze play attempt which ended the Nyssa threat. Nyssa led then, as Nampa relief pitcher John Reyas kept Nyssa virtually hitless for three innings. Chuck Burns of Nampa put them ahead to stay with a long home run to left field in the top of the sixth

Then the roof caved in as Lopez was socked for a succession of hits, and the fielders made a few errors. Nyssa's main problem was Coach Dan Wilson's inability to replace Lopez. He pitched very well when strong and held the hard-hitting Nampa team to some scattered hits. But he obviously tired and had to continue pitching after his ball lost its snap.
