

World President Of Country Women Will Visit Here

The world president of the Associated Country Women of the World (ACWW) will visit Oregon Extension and Farm Bureau homemakers in early July, according to Alberta Johnston, Oregon State University Extension area supervisor.

She is Mrs. Olive L. Farquharson, of England, who is in her second term as president of the world body. She will be in Oregon July 7 through 12 as part of her visit to the United States and Canada.

Currently in Canada, Mrs. Farquharson will come to Oregon from Washington state where she will meet with Extension homemakers and participate in a special ceremony July 7 at the Peace Arch on the Canadian-US border at Blaine, Washington with Extension homemakers from Washington and British Columbia.

She will arrive in Portland, Friday, July 9, where she will be met by Mrs. Helen Allen, Brookings, president of the Oregon Extension Homemakers Council, and Mrs. Johnston.

While in Portland, Mrs. Farquharson will visit the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) of the OSU Extension Service.

The next day, the English book publisher will be in Pendleton to inspect programs conducted by Umatilla County Extension homemakers at Eastern Oregon State Hospital and will attend a luncheon in her honor.

She will conclude her trip in Malheur County where she will be a guest of Mrs. Marge Griffin, Route 2, Box 234, Vale, treasurer of the National Extension Homemakers Council which represents homemakers who participate in Extension study programs throughout the United States.

While with Mrs. Griffin, Mrs. Farquharson will visit the Malheur County EFNEP office in Nyssa and be the honored guest at a luncheon given by the county's Extension homemakers and Farm Bureau women.

Mrs. Farquharson will also review plans for the national meeting of the American Country Women's Council in September at Kah-Nee-Ta. The council is composed of representatives of the Extension Homemakers Council, American Farm Bureau Federation, the National Farm and Garden organization and the Master Farm and Home-maker Guild. Mrs. Griffin is in charge of arrangements for the meeting.

Mrs. Farquharson has been active in ACWW programs since 1940. She was elected area vice president for southern and western Europe in 1965 and was elected president first in 1971 and re-elected in 1974.

Among her other activities, she serves as a member of the executive committee of the United Kingdom Conference for the Second Development Decade.

Her work as a member of the UK National Savings Committee from 1958 to 1975 brought her the Order of the British Empire in 1969. In 1970, she attended the Second World Food Congress in The Hague and was appointed to the Congress steering committee. From 1969 until 1971 she was the official ACWW representative to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

While visiting in North America, Mrs. Farquharson hopes to see what Extension and other homemakers are doing, Mrs. Griffin notes. From Oregon, she will go to Boise to attend an Idaho 4-H program and then will go on to New Mexico.

JOSEPH F. ROMANIA, owner of Joe Romania Chevrolet, Eugene, is new president of the Oregon Automobile Dealers Association, representing franchised new car and truck dealers.

Livestock Field Day At Fairgrounds

The Malheur County Livestock Field Day is scheduled for Thursday, July 15, in Girvin Hall at the Malheur County Fairgrounds in Ontario. The activities will begin at 9:30 a.m. with registration of participants and a short session on judging tips. Fitting and showing demonstrations for beef, sheep and swine will be given, with time provided for participants to practice.

The judging contest will begin at 1 p.m. with two classes of beef, two classes of sheep, a class of swine, a class of meats, and a class of hay. Oral and written reasons will both be given, each on a different class.

Judging teams for State Fair and the Pacific International Livestock Exposition will be chosen from the top scoring judges from this contest, reports Marilyn Mohr, Malheur County 4-H Agent, so it's important for 4-H and FFA members to attend this activity.

An important reminder to participants: bring a sack lunch and two sharpened pencils for this field day.

H. M. [Mike] ANDERSON, on the left, and Russell D. Aman have opened up an insurance office in the optometrist office on Second and Main. They have one room in the office suite.
