"WARNING"

Everywhere we look, nowadays, we are bombarded with "Warning" signs. One industry has to label all packages with, "Warning, Cigarette smoking may be hazardous to your health." All medicines bought "over-the-counter" have their warnings and cautions. While it sometimes seems, at least to me, that there are too many warnings, I would like to interject another one into your thinking. This warning is never spoken of enough, and oftentimes not taken seriously enough.

"Warning, Christianity may be hazardous to your status-quo!" Everyone has a status-quo, the way things have always been done, life-styles always lived, habits always tolerated, etc. But, and this is a direct caution, the minute you step inside a church, your status-quo is in trouble! The reason? Christ calls for us to change. He accepts us where we are, but hopes for greater things from us!

If you are tired of the way you are living, if things seem to drag on and on, day in and day out, then this is a warning you should heed. If you are tickled to death with your way of life, you are a rare person indeed, and should re-examine your status-quo. If, after such re-examination, you are still very happy, congratulations! You have already heeded the warning at some point in your life.

"Warning, Christianity may be hazardous to your status-quo" should be posted over every church door in the world. If it is not, you, the consumer, are not being treated in your best interests. Ralph Nader, take note!
