Congratulations To All!

Congratulations to President-elect Jimmy Carter and all of the other winning candidates on the national, state, county and city level. Each of them has a big job to do, and we have confidence in the orderly process of transition, and their dedication to their commitment.

Congratulations to the Nyssa football team. Their victory over the defending state champions, the Vale Vikings, was decisive and impressive. Eight fine senior ball players ended their high school careers on a triumphant note. As mentioned before, the Nyssa-Vale rivalry is one of the best, and this game has to be one of the most satisfactory ever for Nyssa fans. We wish Vale good luck in their quarter-final game against Tillamook Saturday. They will represent this district well.

Congratulations to Miriam Kunkel for being selected as Miss Malheur County. She keeps alive the long tradition of Nyssa girls' selection to this honored position. May she go on to greater glory in the footsteps of Shan Moss and Nancy Jackson, present and former holders of the Miss Oregon title. These are not only beauty contests, but each of the girls receives educational scholarships and represent their county and state in public appearances.

Congratulations would also seem to be in order for each of us who are so fortunate as to live in this good and bountiful land. We have much to be thankful for as our bounteous harvest nears completion, our new schools are rapidly being completed, our weather has been almost perfect. We can give thanks to the veterans we honor on Veterans Day, November 11, and share in the thankfulness and joy of Thanksgiving and Christmas as we look forward to these exciting times of the year.

ADULT FICTION

"Lord of the Far Island," by Victoria Holt—This newest of Holt's work seems to be her best, a tale of romance, suspense and terror.

"The Crown Estate," by Evelyn Berckman—The time is 1214, King John of England, and the events that come together to bring a key to the mystery of the Crown Estate.

"Agent in Place," by Helen MacInnes—The latest in espionage, suspense, and played out in a deceptively serene, sunny resort on the French Riviera.

"Someone is Killing the Great Chefs of Europe," by Nan and Ivan Lyons—In this sparkling tale of intrigue, the haut monde of "food people" love and hate each other from London to Paris to Rome.

"Tisha," by Robert Specht—Full of energy and ideals, Anne treks across the Northern Tundra to become schoolmarm in the remote gold-rush settlement of Chicken.

First Southern Baptist Church

A World Missions Conference will be held November 18-21. The church will hear from two Foreign Missionaries and two home Missionaries. There will be special music each night. A nursery will be provided each night also.

The men of Brotherhood met Saturday and installed new lettering "Baptist Church" in black on the front of the church. The Brotherhood also repaired all the broken windows.

Plans are now being prepared for the Christmas season. Mrs. Dennis Fowler and Mrs. Bob Belvoir are in charge of the Christmas program. Mrs. Roy Kilby will be working with the Junior Choir for the Christmas specials. The adults banquet will be held at Maudie Owen Cafe in Payette, December 17 at 7 p.m.

The winners of the concordance which was given as first prize for bringing the most to our Good Neighbor Sunday Services was the Dennis Fowler family. Second prize winners of the Bible which was given as second prize was the tie between the Doug Slatter family and the Bob Belvoir family. Each family will be awarded a Bible. The services on Sunday and the song services in the afternoon were a great spiritual blessing to all.

LETTERS TO EDITOR

Editor, The Journal:

I sincerely thank you for electing me as your Circuit Court Judge. I recognize the position involves your public trust and I will endeavor to faithfully and impartially perform the duties you have given me. My election was possible only through the individual efforts of many persons. My appreciation to each of you individually.

The campaign was truly a "grass-roots" endeavor which prompted individual interest and involvement in the political process. It should demonstrate that you can affect the process—that the authority your elected officials exercise comes from the people and that such officials remain responsible to the people for proper use of such authority. From recent conversations with others throughout our State, it is apparent that this election and several others like it did have the effect of causing a number of judges to take a new look at how and why their courts are conducted as they are.

In the campaign I noted the need for a number of changes, and I am now in the process of initiating plans for some of those changes. I recognize that it takes continuous re-evaluation and modification to remain current and meet the needs of those persons who must utilize the judicial process. The campaign was spirited—activity was intense—views and choices were adamant—but it is now over and it is time to work together for an effective efficient judicial process. I earnestly request help from all in reaching this goal.

Sincerely,
/s/ Frank Yraguen

P.S. I apologize to those individuals who now find that nothing will take off my bumper stickers—I don't know how to get mine off either.

Editor, The Journal:

I'd like to take this opportunity to thank all Oregonians for their support of my candidacy. Our voters did face a tough choice in the race for Attorney General, and my opponent, Jim Durham, was both a highly qualified and an effective candidate.

Most of all, thanks to Oregonians for their turnout in record numbers which proved, again, that we take our responsibility seriously and intend to keep the system working well.

/s/ Jim Redden
Attorney General-Elect
Salem, Oregon

Editor, The Journal:

I am grateful for the continued strong support of the people in Oregon's 2nd Congressional District. It is particularly satisfying especially in view of the controversy and confrontation which has so dominated the affairs of government in the last two years.

With re-election comes renewal. I shall return to the Congress with a fresh sense of direction and purpose; with an acute sense of the concerns of those I represent.

To the people of the 2nd District, I pledge the best service I can give—to individuals who need help; to the District as a whole and its unique interests; and to the nation.

Jimmy Carter's election brings with it the excitement and opportunity that always attends the arrival of new leadership in the White House. It means we are no longer at a fork in the road. We have chosen a new direction. The giant task of drawing together the essential elements of a program for the nation remains. I will exert my best efforts toward this goal.

I would like to thank those throughout the District who have worked so hard in recent weeks in my campaign—my wife, Audrey, the People for Al Ullman Committee, and especially those volunteer leaders in every part of the District whose efforts make a vital difference.

Al Ullman

CORRECTION

In last week's letter to the editor, from Laurence Hansen, he referred to the Nixon pardon. It came out Wilson instead of Nixon and we regret the error.

Carl F. Evans

Services for Carl Fredrick Evans, 66, of Route 1, Parma, who died Thursday, November 4, 1976 in a Caldwell hospital were conducted Monday at Flahiff Chapel, Caldwell, by Dr. William Chalker, of the religious faculty at the College of Idaho. Interment was in Lower Valley Cemetery near Parma.

He was born April 4, 1910, at Adrian, Missouri and moved as an infant with his family to Hover, Washington where he was reared and educated. He married Elphia Franklin, March 3, 1934, in Walla Walla, Washington, and lived in Hover until 1949 when they moved to Parma.

He farmed at both Hover and Parma. He was a member of the Methodist Church, Hover.

Surviving are his wife, Parma; a son, Charles F., Winona, Minnesota; three sisters, Lydia Asby, Seattle, Pearl Luhea, Walla Walla, and Marie Rife, Caldwell, and a granddaughter, Adrene Evans, Winona, Minnesota.

Memorials may be made to the Heart Fund.

GROUND WORK FOR A FENCE around the nursing home was started several days ago. The fence is being erected by volunteer workers and it is a project of the Malheur Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Workers

New Fence For Nursing Home

The Malheur Memorial Hospital Auxiliary women always have some useful project planned and their latest is an outdoor protective area for the nursing home residents. They are having a four foot fence installed with the help of local organizations, that extends east and west, around the nursing home. This will allow residents to enjoy the outdoors during nice weather without the aid of a nurse and will prevent anyone from wandering off. The fence is planned on the outside of the sidewalk so wheelchair patients will have use of the walk.

It is hoped that local organizations will also help provide outdoor furniture such as benches and chairs for the convenience of the residents and their visitors.

The Auxiliary is planning their annual Christmas dance to be held in December to help defray the expense of the fence. More information about the dance will appear at a later date.

Stake Has New Conference Schedule

President Melvin R. Nielsen of the Nyssa Stake of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints has announced the quarterly conference dates for this Saturday and Sunday, November 13 and 14. Sessions will be held in the Nyssa stake center at Nyssa starting with an adult meeting for the entire stake set for 7:30 p.m. The theme will be "Love at Home", centered around a film to be shown of the same title.

Because of the growth of membership in this area, it has been deemed necessary to hold two Sunday sessions to accommodate all who desire to attend. The Stake Presidency has asked that the Nyssa first Ward, The Ontario second Ward, and Vale first and second Wards attend the 9 to 11 a.m. session and that the Ontario first, Nyssa second, Parma and Owyhee wards attend the 12 noon to 2 p.m. session this Sunday. The evening Sacrament meetings for each respective ward will be held at it's usual time.
