Senior Citizen customer Otis Smith signs up for free checking while learning about many other service benefits from Carolyn Cooper. They are available to Senior Citizens at First National's Nyssa branch.

How to retire checking account charges at retirement or even sooner.

All you have to do is be 62 years of age or older. Then you're eligible for free, personal checking service.

This means that normal service charges for writing checks, and the monthly maintenance fee, will be waived by First National. To find out how convenient and money saving Senior Citizens checking can be, visit the Nyssa branch, verify your age, and we'll take care of the rest.

And while you're doing so, ask about our free Social Security direct deposit service and the availability of monthly income checks with a First Investment Certificate. Both are specially suited to Senior Citizens.

In the business of life there's a list time for everything.
