First Individual Retirement Account.

For future financial security if you're currently without a retirement plan.

If you're a wage earner or self-employed and not presently covered by any other qualified retirement plan, you can act now to establish your own First Individual Retirement Account (IRA).

Tax Sheltered. The First IRA enables you to save 15% of your gross wages or earned income up to $1,500 per year, whichever is less, and deduct this sum from your taxable Federal and State of Oregon income.

This can mean a substantial tax savings every year until you retire. What's more, you'll be earning a high rate of interest—7½% annually,* compounded and credited quarterly—which is tax-deferred until retirement.

At that time, when you begin withdrawing funds, the amount withdrawn will be treated as taxable income, but you will probably be in a lower tax bracket.

Rapid financial growth. For example, if you are 25 now and take advantage of the First IRA contributing the maximum $1,500 each year, you'll be eligible to receive upon retirement at age 65 up to $388,243!

If both husband and wife work and neither participate in an employer plan, then both may have an IRA and receive a combined maximum tax deduction of $3,000 per year.

Easy to Open. Opening your IRA is as easy as opening a savings account. Just visit your First National branch and apply. You can start your plan with as little as $100 with additional deposits of $25 or more made as often as you want up to your maximum.

For more convenience, you can authorize First National to deduct IRA deposits, starting at $25, automatically from your checking account.

If you're without a retirement plan, see your First National branch about an IRA. The sooner you start yours today, the more financial security you'll have tomorrow.

In the business of life there's a 1st time for everything.
