

MORE FIGHTING IS EXPECTED

General Otis Sends an Expedition.

Across the Lake East of Manila.

Fifteen Hundred Picked Soldiers and Three Gunboats Will Attack the Filipinos.

MANILA, April 9, (Sunday, 9:35 a. m.).—At nightfall last night, General Lawton and King launched an expedition of three gunboats, with 1500 picked men in canoes in the gunboats, the object of the expedition being to cross the lake, capture Santa Cruz and sweep the country to the south. The expedition, which embarked at San Pedro Macuti, consists of eight companies of the Fourteenth Infantry, three companies of the Fourth Cavalry, four companies of the North Dakota volunteers, four companies of the Idaho volunteers, two mountain guns and 200 sharpshooters of the Fourteenth Infantry. At the mouth of the Pasig river the men will be transferred from the canoes to the three gunboats—La Laguna de Bay, Cesto and Napinda. Santa Cruz, the objective point of the expedition, is at the extreme end of the lake.

BACK FROM MANILA.

San Francisco, April 8.—The transport Newport arrived today from Manila. She brought eleven passengers, most of whom were ladies of the Red Cross society.

The ladies who returned on the Newport were ordered home by General Otis, who feared for their welfare, owing to the action of the Filipinos and the possibility of some catastrophe to them during the course of the war. Most of the ladies came from Cavite, where the operations were very active just before the Newport sailed.

Among those who returned was Mrs. Lucie. She was married to Captain John Lucie, wife of Captain John Lucie shortly before he was ordered to Manila and her honeymoon was spent on the voyage to the Philippines. The other ladies on the ship were Mrs. Knapp, Miss O'Brien, Mrs. McVey and daughter, Mrs. Daywalt and Mrs. Beach, all of families of officers at Cavite.

AN ANNEXATIONIST.

Philadelphia, April 8.—Senator John M. Thurston, of Nebraska, made an informal address at the Union League club here tonight. Among other things he said he had changed front, and was no longer a conservative, but an annexationist. He believed this country's attitude in the Philippine situation was right. He regarded Aguinaldo's uprising as simply a rebellion of anarchy, which must be crushed.

"I voted against annexation of the Hawaiian Islands," he said, "because of conservatism which I could not overcome, therefore you will understand that I am not a patriot, but when in the providence of God, new territory and new responsibilities come to us, we are bound to share our part of the responsibilities. I am one of those who would have wished that after Dewey sailed into Manila bay and gained the grandest victory of modern times, that he could have left without accepting the responsibility. But this could not be done. God has given us the responsibility and we must accept it. Civilization has the right of way over barbarism."

CADETS APPOINTED.

Washington, April 8.—The president has appointed the following cadets at West Point, to enter the class beginning June next:

1—Lewis Turtle, District of Columbia, son of the late Major Thomas Turtle, corps of engineers; 2—John McClayton, Arkansas; 3—Thomas P. Bernard, District of Columbia, brother of Lieutenant Bernard, Fourth United States Infantry, killed at El Caney; 4—Chas. F. Severson, Illinois, served with company A, Thirty-first Michigan in volunteer infantry during the war with Spain, son of Judge Severson, of Chicago; 5—Otho E. Michaels, sergeant of light battery A, Second United States Artillery, son of the late Major O. E. Michaels, ordnance department; 6—Charles L. Mason, of Ohio, son of the late Brevet Brigadier-General Edwin C. Mason, colonel Third United States Infantry; 7—William A. Nichols, of California, son of Bishop Nichols; 8—Henry S. Kilbourne, of Wisconsin, son of Major Kilbourne, surgeon United States army, late surgeon, second division, second army corps; 9—Penrock Rogers, of Maryland, son of Major W. P. Rogers, Twentieth United States Infantry, now serving with his regiment in the Philippines; 10—Frank H. Phillips Jr., of Pennsylvania, son of Lieutenant Colonel Phillips, of the ordnance department.

BEEF FOR SOLDIERS

AND HOW IT WAS PRESERVED BY THE PACKERS.

Inventor of the Process Gives His Testimony and a Clean Bill for the Armour.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—The army court of inquiry into the beef supplied to the army, decided today to adhere to its decision not to call the list of witnesses submitted by General Miles. The reading of the official reports was concluded. Alexander Powell, owner of the beef process of which so much has been said, was heard at the forenoon session. He gave many details concerning his invention, and stated that he made an agreement with Armour & Co., to have the use of the process in case they could secure the government contract. He stated, however, that Swift & Co., had not the use of it.

General Shafter will probably testify early next week, and the outlook is for the closing of the testimony by Saturday next.

Alexander B. Powell, of New York, proprietor of the Powell Beef Preservative Process, appeared before the beef investigation commission today, and stated that he had been a dealer in meats in New York, for the past twenty-five years. He explained, at some length that he was the sole owner of the Powell process for preserving fresh meats without the use of ice; that the formula was secret and that it was not patented because so eminently simple. He declared emphatically that neither boracic or salicylic acid was used in the process, nor, he added, "is there any injection or immersion in chemicals. The process is supplied by fumigation." There would be no smell except that of sulphur for a half hour or so after application. Nor would any taste be noticeable.

Powell gave the particulars of his treatment of the car of Armour's beef which was sent to camp in the spring of 1898. When he heard that the contract was to be given by the government he had reached the conclusion that the government ought to have the use of the process and he had written to the president, to General Miles and to General Eagan, asking where he should apply to have the process used. General Eagan replied saying the department was not engaged in purchasing any process, but that it could only deal with those who would supply the meat and guarantee that it should keep.

BASS DRUM WITH A HISTORY.

The Hon. James W. Eldridge of Hartford, Conn., a collector of antiques and relics of the war of the rebellion, has purchased from the estate of the late Harvey B. Dodworth, founder of Dodworth's famous band, a brass drum hat has a history, says the New York Sun. The drum was made in Pittsfield, Mass., in 1896, was in continuous use for upward of 40 years, and is still in a good state of preservation. It has taken part in the inauguration of Presidents Van Buren, Harrison, Buchanan, Lincoln, Garfield, Cleveland, and Benjamin Harrison. It was used at the reception of Kosuth, the reception to the Prince of Wales, the opening of the Erie canal, the opening of the Suspension Bridge at Niagara Falls and at a serenade to Jenny Lind. It also did duty for 24 years at the concerts on the Mall at Central park. In the fifties it was used with the band by the New York regiments on parades, and when in June, 1861, the Seventy-first regiment went to the front, the band went with it and was present at the first battle of Bull Run. There are two bullet holes through the head of the drum as a mark of the battle.

There was a lively competition at the sale to secure the relics as souvenirs. But Mr. Eldridge succeeded in getting the drum. Mr. D. S. Pillsbury of this city secured the gold A-linet cornet with which Mr. Dodworth led the band for many years, which was presented to him by the national guard in 1861.

Losses and Gains of the Turf.

It is estimated that as much as between $200,000,000 and $250,000,000 is lost yearly on the turf. Australia is the largest loser. No less than $100,000,000 changes hands there yearly. If the money could be estimated which miserable people spend in a vain endeavor to get health, it might prove as appalling as the above amounts. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters has cured hundreds of people who had spent small fortunes trying to regain health. The Bitters strengthens weak stomachs, and thus cures as well as prevents constipation, indigestion, biliousness, liver and kidney ailments, which indicate an overworked or abused stomach. It is the only medicine to take in the spring, and is recommended by all honest physicians.

H. D. M'GUIRE AND A. W. REED

Drowned in the North Umpqua River.

Large Force Is Looking for the Bodies.

The Victims Were Searching for a Site for a Hatchery—Gov. Geer's Narrow Escape.

ROSEBURG, Or., April 8.—A report reached here this afternoon that Fish Commissioner H. D. McGuire, and State Senator A. W. Reed, of Douglas county, were drowned today in the Umpqua river.

This forenoon Senator Reed, McGuire, and W. F. Hubbard, of Stone, Oregon, superintendent in charge of government hatcheries in the Northwest, took a freight train to Winchester, entered a boat and started down the North Umpqua, their objective point being the junction of the river, six miles below. The party left orders here for a wagon to meet them on the road about 4 p. m., anywhere above their objective point. Liveryman Barker went down four miles below Winchester and met Hubbard, who stated that they passed safely through one rapid, and, before aware of it, were close to another, and in their efforts to avoid it, an oar broke and the boat was swamped. McGuire struck out for the shore; then Hubbard, who was looking back, saw Reed on the overturned boat, but, on looking again, the boat and both Reed and McGuire had disappeared.

Hubbard was looking for aid when he was met by Barker, who returned here at once.

A large force of men and a doctor left immediately by train for Winchester.

Senator Reed could not swim and undoubtedly drowned.

(Mr. Reed was one of the most enterprising business men in Southern Oregon. He arrived in Douglas county a great many years ago from Maine. His first wife was a sister of Mrs. W. H. Byars. He engaged in steamboating on the lower Umpqua and in Coos county and had, during all these years, been interested in the water transportation business of that section. He gradually accumulated property near Gardiner until he had acquired hundreds of acres of good farming and grazing lands, much of which he reclaimed by building dikes and ditches. He, himself, kept a large herd of milk cows, and owning and operating an extensive creamery plant, he bought the surplus milk of all his neighbors, running a swift steamer on the bay and river to collect the supply. He also fattened each year a large number of hogs and turned off quite a band of cattle. He owned a large general merchandise store, a butcher shop, a salmon cannery, and the mail and transportation lines by stage and boat. He also owned and operated a large tannery, using all the hides of that section and importing hides from San Francisco. He made a famous harness leather. He used hemlock bark in tanning. He canned much of his butter, by process patent his own, and he shipped some of it as far as Manila and Dawson.

(On Thursday evening he spent several hours at the Perkins hotel in Portland with Congressman Tongue and other friends and he was in the best of spirits. He was the life of any company of which he was a member. Mr. Reed was anxious to have one of the state hatcheries located on the Umpqua, his interest being partly on account of his cannery near the mouth of the river.

(Mr. Reed was born in Albert county, New Brunswick, July 12, 1846. He was first elected to the legislature of 1891, being a member of the lower house; and in 1896 he was elected to the state senate. He was chairman on the committee on fishing industries and also on the joint committee between Oregon and Washington to confer on the fishing industries; also a member on the committee on revision of laws and engrossed bills.)

(Gov. Geer, who went with the party to Roseburg, did not go out on the Umpqua river, being detained by his inspection of the Soldiers' Home. When he was informed of the accident he set the searchers for the bodies at work. It is not known how soon he will return, but it will probably not be until the bodies of the victims of the treacherous Umpqua are found.)

GEN. WOOD STOPS EXTORTION.

Forces Santiago Butchers to Accept a Reasonable Price for Meat.

When General Wood, late colonel of the rough riders, assumed charge of Santiago de Cuba, the conditions of the place were about as bad as they could be, says the Fortnightly. The city was Americanized from a sanitary point of view. Then came the question of food. Meat had gone up to 90 cents a pound, and was scarce at that. Bread sold at fabulous prices. Very soon there came a change; provisions began to come from ordinary sources. As the supply increased, however, there was no diminution of prices. General Wood sent for the aldermen representing the different wards of the city, and he also summoned the butchers. When they were assembled in his office he arranged them in two lines, facing one another. Then through an interpreter, he asked the butchers:

"How much do you charge for your meat?"

"Ninety cents a pound, a nor."

"What does it cost you?"

"There was hesitation and a shuffling of feet; then one of the men said in a whining tone:

"Meat is very, very dear, your excellency."

"How much a pound?"

"It costs us very much, and—"

"How much a pound?"

"Fifteen cents, your excellency; but we have lost much money during the war, and—"

"So have your customers. Now meat will be sold at 25 cents a pound, and not a cent more. Do you understand?"

Then, turning to the aldermen, he charged them to see that his order was carried out to the letter, unless they wanted to be expelled from office. Thereafter meat was sold in the markets at 25 cents. A similar reduction was made in the prices of bread, vegetables and all food products. It was the first showing of the master hand to the public, and confidence in the American methods of administration strengthened rapidly.

FINISHED ITS LABORS

COMMISSIONERS ACCEPT COURT HOUSE IMPROVEMENTS.

Dr. S. R. Jessup Elected County Physician—Manner in Which Bills Will Be Audited.

(From Daily, April 9th.)

The Marion county commissioners' court completed its labors and adjourned shortly before noon yesterday. During the morning the members of the court inspected the repairs to the court house and accepted by contractors E. C. Churchill and John Gray, who agreed to make the repairs for the estimate of the damage resulting from the recent fire. The gentlemen completed the work yesterday and were given an order on Gilbert Bros' bank for $496.95, the amount of the insurance deposited there by the several insurance companies.

Dr. S. R. Jessup was yesterday appointed county physician, the following order relative thereto being entered on the court journal: "On this day it is ordered by the court that S. R. Jessup be and he is hereby employed as the county physician to attend the patients at the county poor farm, it having been contracted with said S. R. Jessup to render said services for $275 per year, payable monthly, he to furnish all medicines used. It is further ordered that said S. R. Jessup be employed to visit the county poor farm in Salem and vicinity, at a rate of $150 per visit, he to furnish all medicines used. It is further ordered that the clerk notify E. H. Bradshaw the retiring physician, of his services as such physician will be no longer recognized from and after the 9th inst."

In the matter of auditing bills for Marion county, the following order was made yesterday: "Now on this day it is ordered by the court and county commissioners that no bill for supplies, labor or labor performed in Marion county, will be audited and paid by this court, unless such bill is properly authorized and ordered, and said order entered of record at a regular, adjourned or called session thereof, except such bills and expenditures as are provided by law, provided that if an emergency exists which demands immediate attention, the court or the nearest member of said court may authorize an expenditure not exceeding $5."

Commissioner W. M. Miley was instructed by the court to purchase 100 pounds of giant powder, with caps for use, by the supervisor of Champcoo district, he to O. K. the bill before presenting the same for payment.

The following claims in the commissioners' account were audited and allowed: J. N. Davis, $16.40; W. M. Miley, $15.

ARTIST BISHOP OF UGANDA.

The bishop of Uganda, who was associated with a church in Durham before he received his present appointment, was an artist of some reputation when he entered the church, and still finds opportunity to employ his skill, though he is heavily weighed with the duties of his tremendous diocese. Two years ago he exhibited at the Royal Academy a view on the Victoria Nyanza, and he is sending two pictures for the next Academy exhibition. Bishop Tucker's father, who died at Windermere only a few months ago at an advanced age, was an artist of reputation, and all the bishop's brothers are artists of standing.

GOVERNOR GEER RETURNS

DETAILS OF THE DISASTER IN THE UMPQUA RIVER.

The Drowning of Senator Reed and Fish Commissioner McGuire Below Winchester.

(From Daily April 11th.)

Gov. T. T. Geer returned yesterday from his visit of inspection at the Soldiers' Home at Roseburg, and the examination of the Umpqua river for a suitable site for the new salmon hatchery. The disaster attending this latter work—the drowning of State Senator A. W. Reed and Fish Commissioner H. D. McGuire on Saturday—has cast a gloom over the whole state, and Gov. Geer is grieving over the sad ending of the efforts of the officials.

The governor said yesterday that the party, consisting of himself, the two drowned men, Secretary F. I. Dunbar, Adjutant-General B. B. Tuttle, and the United States superintendent of fisheries, W. F. Hubbard, of Stone, this state, left the train at Winchester on the North Umpqua, and made an examination of the river bank for a site for the new salmon hatchery; that, later, they had gone to Roseburg by train. On the following morning (Saturday) Gov. Geer and Col. Tuttle went to the Soldiers' home to inspect it; Mr. Dunbar returned home, and the remainder of the party—Messrs. Reed, McGuire, and Hubbard—went back to Winchester to make another examination of the river, expecting to return to Roseburg by the evening train. They embarked in a boat and floated down the river and met with the disaster, as announced in Sunday morning's dispatches.

The governor regrets not having accompanied the party, for had he been with the men, he would have prevented their embarking in a boat, as he fully realized the danger and the treacherous nature of the stream, and the only explanation he can give of the action of the men in taking to the boat is their utter disregard of the danger.

When the news reached Roseburg, scores of men left for the scene and the search for the bodies was prosecuted all night, but without avail. On Sunday the governor, accompanied by hundreds of the citizens of that section, went to the scene of the disaster. From Mr. Hubbard, the only member of the party who was saved, it was learned that the men remained in the boat until after it had filled with water, when Mr. McGuire was the first to leave it, striking for the shore, followed by Mr. Hubbard. Not a word was spoken by either of the men after they lost control of the boat, and it was whirled into the rapids, which was less than a mile above the junction of the two forks of the Umpqua.

Gov. Geer, inspecting of the occurrence yesterday, said that on Friday evening the entire party was in the best of spirits. Mr. Reed especially being full of life, and amusing the company by the numerous practical jokes with which he regaled them. Mr. McGuire, too, entertained the party with choice recitations, many in dialect, and nothing occurred to indicate the dark cloud so soon to descend upon all. The governor said:

"There is not a man in Oregon to whom I am more closely allied by the ties of personal friendship than I was to Al Reed." Continuing, he said that, at the urgent request of Senator Reed, the party had gone to Roseburg at this time, each member of it having changed his program at Mr. Reed's request; that their plan had been to go at a later date to inspect the Soldiers' home and examine the proposed site for a hatchery, that the Douglas county senator had urged going at a time when he could be one of the party, as he was very much interested in showing the officers over the ground, and that, if they went later, it would be impossible for him to join the party, and the result of his urging was the trip at this time.
