ESCAPED AND RECAPTURED.

Ross McCormick, Under Arrest for Grand Larceny, and His Bold Break for Liberty.

(From Daily April 15th.)

While being returned to this city from Portland, on the overland train last night, Ross McCormick, who was under arrest charged with grand larceny from the person, escaped from Chief of Police D. W. Gibson when near Brooks.

On Friday evening, March 24th, while in a Commercial street saloon it is alleged McCormick snatched from the hands of Wm. Schneider a purse containing about $15. A warrant was at once issued from the city recorder's court for his arrest but he succeeded in eluding the officers and was not located until about 10 o'clock Thursday evening when he was apprehended and placed under arrest in Portland.

Chief of Police Gibson was notified of McCormick's arrest and went to Port-F. Beatty, Asahel Bush Jr., Louis Ra- land yesterday afternoon expecting to return on the evening overland with his man. The chief returned on the S. Gilmore, George G. Kauffman, J. B. train as he intended to but he was not

The Pearson, Herman McKee and Charles chief's attention was directed for an instant from his prisoner, and when he next looked he saw McCormick passing out of the rear door of the car. He hastened after the escaping man who upon reaching the ground, ran apidly in the direction whence the train had come. Chief Gibson fired wo shots but they only accelerated the movements of McCormick whereupon the chief gave up the chase for the night and boarded the train for home.

At 1:15 o'clock this (Saturday) morning. McCormick called at the home of City Recorder N. J Judah and surrendered himself. He was immediately escorted to the city jail where he spent the night. He will probably furnish bonds this morning.

When seen at the jail McCormick said he had just returned to Portland. from a business trip to Aberdeen and other points in Washington, and that he was on his way to Salem to answer to the charge of grand larceny that had been preferred against him, when arrested. When asked his motive in escaping from Chief Gibson, he said that the humiliation of being returned to his home town in irons, was greater than he could bear and that he resolved to lessen the disgrace.

When the train had proceeded on to Salem, "Ross" as he is best known here, retraced his steps and walked hurriedly to this city where he gave mate friend.

ODDITIES FROM SOUTH JERSEY.

Councilman Gilbert Smith of Avalon, Cape May · county, N. J., recently found washing up on the beach an old flintlock musket which is covered from the stock to the end of the barrel with a solid mass of barnacles, small clam shells and mussel shells. It is believed the musket was lost overboard from some British warship that cruised in Cape May county waters during the war of 1812.

Henry Watson, a Goshen, N. J., trapper, upon visiting his muskrat traps a few mornings ago, found a huge bald eagle fast in one of the traps. Cornelius Allen, a Salem county, N. J., farmer, is the owner of a cat that has from kittenhood slept among large flock of ducks. Recently the cat was deprived of a litter of kittens. A few days ago Mr. Allen heard the peeping of little ducks in his cellar, and upon investigating found thirteen ducklings huddled about the cat. When the cat lost her kittens she deprived a mother duck of her brood and carried all the ducklings into the cellar to prevent the mother duck from coaking them away. In Cape May county, N. three of the smallest incorporated towns in the country. At last week's municipal elections, the town of South Cape May polled 12 votes, Avalon 24 votes and Wildwood 27 votes.
