

WILL COME HOME SOON.

Oregon Volunteers in Luzon Among the First to Be Transported to the United States.

County Judge G. P. Terrell is in receipt of a letter from Hon. Finger Hermann, commissioner of the general land office in Washington, D. C., in the course of which Mr. Hermann, in speaking of the return of the volunteers now in the Philippines, says: "Upon inquiry at the war department, I learn that the Oregon volunteers will all be relieved of their services among the first, and as soon as the transports can be secured. The volunteers of the different states, in the Philippines, will be relieved in the order in which they reached there, and as Oregon was among the first, the secretary informs me the volunteers from that state will be first relieved. This, perhaps, will occur in the course of a month or so. That being the case, the department hopes that this will be satisfactory, and with this assurance I feel assured that all will be satisfied."

Judge Terrell is also in receipt of a letter from United States Senator George W. McBride to the effect that he has requested the adjutant general to cable General Otis to grant Lieut. R. W. Terrell leave of absence home to enable him to regain his health. Senator McBride adds: "Gen. Otis already has instructions to send home for discharge any soldier who applies therefor, whatever the reason may be. It is probable the regiment will be sent home within two or three weeks."

CLAIM WAS ARGUED

RISDON HEIRS VS. HAMMER ESTATE CASE SUBMITTED.

Another Applicant for the Guardianship of John S. Hawkins, an Insane—Other Probate Matters.

The contested claim of the A. D. Risdon heirs against the Seth B. Hammer estate, was argued before County Judge G. P. Terrell yesterday afternoon and by that official taken under advisement until 2 p. m. Thursday, when a decision will be rendered. The Risdon heirs, who are represented by Jefferson Myers, administrator de bonis non, of the A. D. Risdon estate, have empowered Brown, Wrightman & Myers as counsel. They allege that upon the death of S. B. Hammer, who was administrator of the Risdon estate, there existed a shortage of about $5,500, in his administration of the estate. His claim was duly presented to John Hughes, administrator of the Hammer estate, as a claim against the estate, but it was by him disallowed. The heirs then decided to carry the case into the courts. Mr. Hughes is represented by W. J. and P. H. D'Arcy.

M. L. Chamberlin, W. F. Boothby and W. H. Armstrong, appraisers, have filed an inventory of that part of the estate of Leo Willis, deceased, that is located in Marion county, appraising the same at $72,100. P. Carter, J. H. Ray and M. V. Koomts, residing in Halsey, Linn county, were to make an inventory of the property of the deceased located in Linn county, submitted a report showing the same to be valued at $500. The property consists of 2.74 acres in Halsey.

In the matter of the guardianship of John S. Hawkins, an insane person, Wm. E. Hawkins yesterday petitioned the court for the appointment of W. T. Higdon as guardian of his brother's estate. Eugene Willis, who has applied for guardianship papers to succeed his father, Leo Willis, deceased, as such guardian, replied to the petition of the said Hawkins, alleging that the said Higdon is not a disinterested or proper or competent person to discharge the duties of such guardian.

The petition of Agnes Jones (formerly Agnes Ramp) praying that her dower interest as widow of the late George W. Ramp, to about 240.47 acres in T 7 S, R 1 W, be set apart was allowed and W. D. Coff, L. C. Griffith and Henry Jones were by the court appointed to set off such part of the estate.

The final account of L. J. Adams, administrator of the estate of Al Coolidge Jr., was yesterday heard and approved and the administrator discharged.

THE POLITICS OF 1899.

In this expansive country of ours politics is always with us. In half a dozen states governors will be elected in 1899. These, taking them in alphabetical order, are Iowa, Kentucky, Maryland, Massachusetts, Mississippi and Ohio. In some of these states other officers will also be elected. Several other states, including Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia, will elect minor state officers, but not governors. From about a dozen states election returns will be read by the people on the morning of Wednesday, November 5, 1899. And this is a year immediately before a presidential canvass, which is commonly supposed to be especially quiet in politics.

In all the states which choose governors, except Massachusetts and Mississippi, in both of which the contest will be so one-sided that no interest will be taken in it outside of the state itself, the canvasses will be exciting. There is no doubt that Iowa will choose a republican governor. Nor is the result in Ohio at all in doubt. In both these states, however, the Bryanites will make a strong canvass. A republican victory in Iowa, from that state's geographical position west of the Mississippi, will be very damaging to the democracy, and that party will make a desperate effort to win the state or to keep the republican majority down to low figures. An exciting contest will be made in the republican convention in Ohio. Usually there is an exciting fight in the selection of a republican candidate for governor of Ohio, but this year it promises to be rather more lively than usual.

Of course the contest in the two old border states, Maryland and Kentucky, will call out national interest. Both were rock-ribbed democratic states until recent years. When each chose a republican governor in 1865 even the most obtuse democrat could see that the tide was set so strongly against his party that its overthrow in 1896 was inevitable. Each came over to the republican side on the presidential ticket by a very small margin. In the canvass for minor state officers in 1897 Kentucky was carried by the democrats by a plurality of about 15,900, while Maryland went republican by a lead of 7000. The democrats in each of these states profess to be confident of winning in 1899, though in the general republican conditions which prevail all over the country there is a fair chance that the republicans may repeat their triumph of 1895, and choose successors to the present governors. New York, which elects justices of the supreme court and other minor state officials, is likely to be won by the republicans. In Nebraska, which elects a justice of the supreme court and two members of the state board of regents, the canvass will be exciting on account of the desperate attempt which Bryan will make to carry it, for the effect which a victory would have on his fortunes in the next national convention of his party. If the state is won by the republicans, as there is a fair probability that it will, Bryan will be overwhelmingly beaten in the national convention. Taken as a whole, there will be a good deal of highly interesting politics in the United States in 1899 after all.

J. BEESWAX'S WIT.

Butteville, May 21.—After agitating the matter for about three months the boys of Butteville have succeeded in organizing a baseball club. One of the organizers told me that if the club continued to do as well as it started out, no doubt, would be one of the most successful failures of the season. A Butteville man attempted to milk his cow the other night while smoking a cigar and in the operation he inadvertently pressed the lit end of the cigar against the cow's flank. The cow thought a fire was biting her, so she concentrated the whole muscle energy of her hind legs and gave the man a milk punch in the region of the watch pocket. This put the cigar out. The man was also considerably put out. I rushed over to where the unfortunate milker lay and asked him if I hadn't better get him some wind, as his supply seemed to be rather short; but he revived at about this time and began using language that witted the grass for twenty feet in every direction. This man usually calls his cow "Star," but I noticed he had several other names for her besides "Star," which he used for special occasions. I don't know why this gentleman calls his cow "Star," unless he thinks she is a sort of a representative of the milky way.

THE SALEM MARKET

CHICKENS AND EGGS CONTINUE TO SELL HIGH.

Potatoes Are Scarce at Eighty Cents Per Bushel—Fish Are Expensive—The Butter Supply.

(From Daily May 29th.)

Local market quotations show an improvement in trade conditions over those of last week.

The egg and poultry market remains firm, a slight advance in the price of eggs being noted. Eggs now retail for 15 cents, some merchants yesterday asking 16 2/3 cents. They are scarce at that figure. Local dealers are still paying 10 cents 1/2 pound for chickens, which are found plentiful at that figure. Besides supplying the home demand and providing for today's trade, one dealer made a small shipment of chickens to Portland. No decline in the prices for eggs and poultry is expected, inasmuch as the price at Chicago and other Eastern cities is also high and the supply somewhat limited in those sections.

Potatoes remain scarce at 50 cents per bushel. A few bushels of this year's crop were noticed in the Salem market yesterday—the first of the season.

The Oregon Poultry & Supply Company has recently established a large cold storage plant in Portland, and is storing all the eggs and butter that is offered for sale. The company's branch house, in this city, is purchasing a great amount of egg and butter for shipment to Portland. That company has taken its butter from the market, owing to the demoralized condition of the latter, and is storing it entirely. Butter now retails for from 28 to 40 cents per roll.

A great deal of butter is being received by the Salem agency of the Portland company. Mr. Goodhue, the manager, this week shipped 500 pounds of butter, in 5 and 10-pound buckets, to a mining camp at Burke, Idaho.

Fish is very scarce in the Salem market, and is correspondingly high. Salmon retails for 12 1/2 cents and halibut sells for 10 cents. Local dealers say there is no prospect of fish being cheaper until after the harvest season, when the fall run comes in.

G. Steiner, the State street poultry man, has on exhibition a pair of Junco fowls, which, by reason of their pretty and regular plumage, attract much attention. This fowl is not common in this state, although it is celebrated for its productive qualities. The pair come from the farm of a Polk county poultry raiser.

THE LAST COUNTY.—Supt. E. W. Daggett, of Gilliam county, has sent in his annual report to State Supt. J. H. Ackerman, being the last one received in that office. He reports 144 children enumerated; 981 enrolled in the schools, and 207 not attending any school in the county during the past year. There were sixty-two teachers employed in the county during the year, the number of school districts and school houses being forty-five. In the county are 802 legal voters for school purposes. The value of school houses in the county is given at $16,695, and of the furniture, fixtures and apparatus, at $4,316. The various districts had $13,545.53 in funds, of which amount $10,821.43 was expended.

WHEN NATURE needs assistance it may be best to render it promptly, but one should remember to use even the most perfect remedies only when needed. The best and most simple and gentle remedy is the Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co.
