THE GOVERNOR TAKES ACTION

Claims of Fort Stevens as a Camp

FOR RETURNING SOLDIERS

Placed Before the War Department, and Favorable Action is Earnestly Urged.

(From Daily Oct. 2d.)

Gov. T. T. Geer yesterday forwarded a communication to Hon. Elihu Root, secretary of war, at Washington, D. C., urging the department to consider the claims of the people of Oregon for the establishment of a camp of embarkation and debarkation at Fort Stevens, for troops going to and coming from the Philippines. Following is the text of the letter:

"No event, yet in the future, can be more certainly foretold than the speedy pacification of the Philippine Islands and the consequent increased trade between the United States and the great nations to the west of us. The extent to which this change in the course of events will permanently contribute to the development especially of that portion of our country, lying west of the Rocky Mountains, can scarcely be exaggerated. In the immediate future, at least, there will be large bodies of troops going to and returning from the Philippines, and the people of Oregon feel that the matter of using the Columbia river route for purposes of embarkation and debarkation should receive the serious and favorable consideration of the general government.

"At great expense the government is just now concluding the construction of strong military fortifications and barracks at Fort Stevens, at the mouth of the Columbia river, where lies one of the finest fresh water harbors in the world. The military reservation there consists of more than one thousand acres of land which can easily be transformed into camping grounds ample to accommodate thousands of soldiers at one time. The Columbia river, which is the finest body of water of its kind in the United States, and which has no rival on the Pacific coast, being navigable for nearly one hundred miles inland by the largest sea-going vessels, is America's natural gateway to the sea, and the time has come when these natural advantages should be utilized by our government authorities.

"There are several trans-continental lines of railway centering at Portland, from which point there is now one of the best equipped railroads in the United States leading directly to Fort Stevens. All kinds of army supplies can be obtained at this point as cheaply and conveniently as elsewhere on the Pacific coast, and since the prevailing winds and fogs which characterize some other military encampments are unknown here, it being within a few miles of one of Oregon's famous health-giving resorts, there seems to be no reason why its many advantages over other points should not be made available by those having the matter in charge.

"Every consideration is in favor of using the military reservation at Fort Stevens for the purposes named, in view of economic commercial relations and the healthfulness of troops coming from the Philippines Islands to the cooler climate of the United States. The people of Oregon are unanimous in their belief that the natural advantages in the matters referred to have been heretofore overlooked, largely, perhaps, because public attention has not been called to them, but that they now confidently indulge the hope that those in authority, and whose duty it is to know, will give official recognition to the fact that the Columbia river nature has provided the best, safest, and cheapest connection between our own business interests and those of the great countries across the sea.

"For these reasons, and others that must be self-evident from geographical considerations, we earnestly ask

Doctors Can't Cure It!

Contagious blood poison is absolutely beyond the skill of the doctors. They may dose a patient for years on their mercurial and potash remedies, but he will never be rid of the disease... on the other hand, his condition will grow steadily worse. S. S. S. is the only cure for this terrible affliction, because it is the only remedy which goes direct to the cause of the disease and forces it from the system.

I was afflicted with Blood Poison, and the best doctors did me no good, though I took their treatment faithfully. In fact, I seemed to get worse all the while. I took almost every so-called blood remedy, but they did not seem to reach the disease, and had no effect whatever. I was disheartened, for it seemed that I would never be cured. At the advice of a friend I then took S. S. S., and began to improve. The medicine, and it cured me completely, building up my health and increasing my appetite. Although three years ago I have never yet had a sign of the disease to return.

It is like self-destruction to continue to take potash and mercury; besides totally destroying the digestion, they dry up the marrow in the bones, producing a stiffness and swelling of the joints, causing the hair to fall out, and completely wrecking the system. S. S. S. For the Blood is guaranteed Purely Vegetable, and is the only blood remedy free from these dangerous minerals. Book on self-treatment sent free by Swift Specific Company, Atlanta, Ga.

your attention to the desirability of providing in the near future for the construction of suitable camping grounds for soldiers, docks, coal bunkers etc., at the government fortifications at the mouth of the Columbia river."

Brave Men Fall. Victims to stomach liver and kidney troubles as well as women, and all feel the results in loss of appetite, poisons in the blood, backache, nervousness, headache and tired, listless, run-down feeling. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just the thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and good appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have a new lease on life." Only 50 cents, at Dr. Stone's Drug Stores. A HOSTILE FARMER

HE SEVERELY CRITICIZES THE GAME WARDENS.

Claims the Farmers Are Legislated Against—He Scores the City Sportsmen.

Sunday was the opening day of the China Pheasant season and scores of sportsmen spent the day in quest of the elusive pheasant. Many of these delicious game birds were slaughtered during the day.

A well-known business man of this city early Sunday morning hied himself away to the stubble fields of Howell Prairie in quest of the pheasant. He had a strange experience during the day in which he learned the views of a farmer relative to the hunting of Chinese pheasants and the game laws regulating the same.

Arriving at the west end of a friend's field, he hitched his horse to a nearby tree, whistled to his dog and in eager expectancy of royal sport, jumped the fence and boldly walked into the opening. Hardly a minute elapsed after he reached the opening, before the farm-house door opened and the farmer appeared on the threshold with his rifle in hand, and, after a pause, strode rapidly towards his Salem friend, whose dog was enthusiastically wagging his tail along the hot trail of an elusive, running, dodging rooster.

When the farmer got within recognizing distance of the sportsman, his rapid gait slackened and he paused to exclaim, "Well, it's you, is it?" On being assured that it was, he proceeded to unbosom himself thusly:

"You see, I thought you was some of them game warden chaps and if you had a-been, I'd a killed that dog and if you'd a said much I'd a took a shot at you, too. Nearly every day for more'n a month them game warden's from Salem has been sneaking 'round here trying to get to 'pull' some of us fellows; and we've all around hereabout agreed to stand together and chinch every one of 'em that gets into a field and kill every dog that hops a fence.

"You see," continued the farmer, "we farmers raise birds and feed 'em the year 'round; don't cost your city dudes a copper, and I tell you, they eat a lot of grain. Its just like letting 200 or 300 chickens loose on your wheat field to knock it down and eat it up; only a China pheasant is worse than a dozen dunghills. Why, it takes bushels of grain and us raisin' it at 49 cents a bushel!"

"Well, as I was a saying, we feed the birds and your city dudes kill 'em, pepper our stock with shot, knock the fences down and leave our gates open and when we go to town with our overalls on, they speak to us."

"Well, as I was a saying, when we feed the birds we think we're entitled to kill one once in a while, if we want to; but only tother day when a boy killed one for a sick man to eat, 'cause he felt like he could eat a little, why they arrested him and send him to jail. Then, the Salem gun club gave the constable $25 and agreed to give him $25 for every fellow he convicted, so out of his fees and reward he makes $50 and that's more'n I've made all the time, too. Just think of it! Fifty dollars for arresting a poor farmer boy for killing one bird for a sick friend to eat!"

"Now, nary a gun club feller, nary a game warden, can hunt in this country. We'll show 'em that all the pervisions of that game law is to be enforced. They're all willin' to keep the birds from being killed, but they want to violate the trespass part of it; to cinch us for killing a bird to eat, but not to be cinched for trespassing on our land."

"Is your city dudes as makes the law about the birds we feed; it aint the farmer who raises the birds and pays taxes on the land they run over that makes the law; its the city dudes, your rod and gun club and little he club of kid glove fellows, and they always have the open season come when the farmer and his boys are working night and day to save their grain and can't hunt; and them dudes buy fine guns with blooded dogs and drive out here with buggies and get all the birds; and now they've got it so if my boy sells a bird, we've raised and fed, so as to get some ammunition, they put him through for all he can make in a year. Of course, it aint much for the dudes to buy ammunition, but it takes more'n a day's work on a farm to buy a box of shells."

"Every few days lately your game warden has come sneaking around the back roads, watchin' us farmers like we were a set of horse thieves, so as to keep all the birds alive for the city dudes, and their hundred-dollar dogs. Well, we're waitin' now and the first warden, or game club fellow that puts his foot on our land is going to have his dog shot and he arrested. They can't chase our birds and make 'em so wild we can't get within a mile of one, and then sneak in and arrest us for shooting out of season. No siree, Bob."

NAMED BY BISHOP

ANOTHER FINANCIAL AGENT FOR "OLD WILLAMETTE."

Rev. G. W. Grannis, of McMinnville, Appointed by Bishop Vincent to That Position.

Rev. G. W. Grannis, pastor of the First Methodist church at McMinnville was on Saturday appointed financial agent of Willamette University by Bishop John H. Vincent.

This appointment does not replace Rev. John E. Rogers of this city, who has served for several years in that capacity and has rendered a most efficient administration of the affairs in that important department of the university. Rev. Grannis will act in conjunction with Rev. Parsons, and will very aggressively carry on the work. He will devote his time principally to the business interests at outside points. The board of trustees of the university is considering the matter of fixing his salary.

Upon receiving the appointment, Rev. Grannis resigned his pastorate of the McMinnville church, to which he had just been returned by the conference and will remove his family to this city. Rev. Atkinson, formerly at Silverton, but who was assigned to the Armitv church by the late conference, has been selected as Rev. Grannis' successor at McMinnville.
