Stars-Local Quartet of Postmen and Terms of Service. The next, uniforms of the Salem mail carriers will be 'ornamented with stars instead of old service stripes which prevailed under former regulations. recent order of the department has been received at the local office announcing the changes in decorations showing the length of service of the employes. Un-der this ruling the ornamentation is to be as follows:

Those who have served five years, one black silk star; ten years, two black stars; fifteen years, one red silk star; twenty years, two red stars; twenty-five years, one silver star; thirty years, two silver stars; thirty-five years, one gold star; forty years, two gold stars. As a distinctive badge between regular and substitute letter carriers when the former have not received their first star, each substitute will wear a black cloth bar a quarter of an inch wide and one and a half inches long on each sleeve. The stars are also to be attached to the sleeves.

This change will not be introduced locally until the carriens order new suits. which will probably be some time this spring. At the present time, the decoration worn by carriers is a black ribbon about one quarter of an inch wide and edged in white. These stripes have cen worn for about three years. There are four carriers in the Salem office. Ben P. Taylor and George E. Hatch are the veterans in point of service. They entered the civil service employment in the capacity of carriers in the Salem office on July 4, 1887, and by reason of their 12 years' continuous service will be entitled to two black stars. Chas. E. Cosper and Fred Locklev, having served as carries in the local office since March 1892, a period of eight years, will be permitted to wear one black star. This order in the matter of uniform decorations applies only to carries.

Independence Enterprise:

The New Year's issue of the Salem Statesman is one of the best publications ever issued by the capital city's leading journal. Numerous cuts add interest to the issue, while the matter in the same is of especial interest to the people of Marion and Polk counties. It is a good number to send east to your friends contemplating a visit; to this state.

The Dalles Times-Mountaineer:

The New Year edition of the Salem Statesman, which has just been received. is a splendid publication. It is printed on heavy book paper, and con-tains a large number of fine illustra-tions of Marion county scenery.

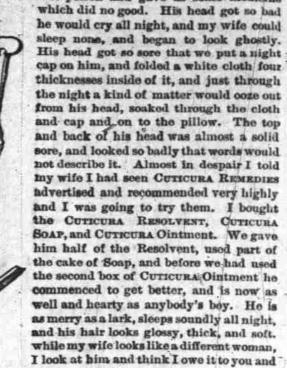

Eugene Register:

The Oregon Statesman's New Year's dition has reached us. It is a magnificent edition of that enterprising paper and reflects great credit on the pub-lishers. It is replete with handsome illustrations and portrays the progress and development of the capital city. As an advertisement of Oregon it is of great value and copies should find their way east by the hundreds.

ANOTHER NEW PRESS .- Tom Reynolds, agent of Wells, Fargo & Co. here at Salem, remembers another time when a new press was put into the Statesman office. . A. Bush was the owner of the paper. It was in the six-ties. "Pap" (E. M.) Waite was one of the printers, in the office: so was Fred Schwatka, afterwards the Arctic explorer. A Washington hand press had been used. An Adams press was shipped "around the Horn." When it arrived, Sam Bass, the only mechanic here, who was willing to undertake the job, undertook to put the new machine together. He tackled it, and, when the boys thought it was about ready, and the "forms" were ready for it, it was discovered that he had left a chunk of iron out of a vital part of it-the said chunk weighing about a thousand pounds. To they had to pet up the old Washington hand press again and work off the edition. The new press was a "power press"-turned with a crankbut the power was furnished by Tom and Schwatka and Waite, and they took turns at "feeding" and operating he crank. Afterwards old Hi Gorsnan, The local Salvation Army corps is who died here several years ago and wont "wha all good niggers go," was for many years the motive power for the Staesman office. DEAD LETTERS.

The report of the operations of the dead letter office for the year ending June 30, which has just been made public, shows that an enormous amount of mail matter goes astray and that thousands of letters are returned to the senders through this important branch of the postoffice department. The total number of pieces of mail matter received at the office during the year was 6,855,983, an increase of nearly 9 per cent over last year. Of this lot 4.903.700 were unclaimed letters. There were 148,500, unclaimed letters returned from foreign countries without ,card addresses-that is, with nothing on the envelope to indicate the address of the sender. In the "held for postage" class there were 28,-938 parcels, 108,504 letters bearing domestic addresses and 8135 for foreign countries.

The "without address" letter is one of the remarkable classes in the report. In this it is shown that 33,652 letters were mailed unaddressed, 25,824 parcels were deposited in the mail with blank wrappers and 12,443 envelopes without addresses containing money were found Through the agency of the dead letter office there were delivered to owners, unopened, 756,013 letters and parcels. Letters with money inclosures to the number of 43,308 were opened in the dead letter office and contained $37,875 26, and the 33.976 with draft, note and check inclosures represented a face val-

Property Salem in Marion County Are Many-Great Activity in Real Estate Circles.

Property is changing hands at rapid rate in Marion county, and the demand for good farming lands at reasonable prices is increasing from day to day. Many eastern people are ap-pearing among the land hunters, and it is likely that before the close of this year a boom in land values will be seen, that will exceed anything ever exper-ienced in the state. The sales of property made recently, as evidence by the mansfers placed upon the Marion coun-by records yesterday, numbered eight,

Dallas Observer:

The Salem Statesman's beautiful New ear number is on our desk. This issue of Oregon's oldest daily is by far the finest it has ever printed, and there is not a dull page in it from cover to cover. The paper is convenient to handle, being printed in album form, and contains about sixty pages of reading matter descriptive of Marion and adjoining counties, illustrated throughout with uperb half-tone pictures. Among other nteresting features of the annual are botographs of the various state institutions, state officers and Western Oregon scenery., Two pages are devoted to a write-up of Dallas, with cuts of Polk county's new courthouse, La-Creole Academy, and a number of our handsome residences. The Statesman, ilways an enterprising paper, is now equipped with new machinery, and is prepared to greatly extend its sphere of usefulness. *

Dallas Itemizer:

A new press just received from the east is being installed by the Salem Statesman and will give that paper far greater facilities than ever before. Their plant has been otherwise materially improved. A semi-weekls now takes place of the Weekly Statesman, which has been issued for so many years.

BAD WRECK .- At 5:45 p. m., on Sunday, two extra Southern Pacific reight trains, one drawn by two engines, met in a head end collision in tunnel No. 3, near Westport, in Southern Oregon, and the result was a serious wreck. The engines were disabled, one or two freight cars badly smashed, and the road blockaded for about twelve hours. R. L. Burke, a brakeman, had one knee badly injured, he being the only man suffering a physical injury in the wreck. The track was cleared at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, and the overland train from the south, due in this city at :40 a. m. yesterday, did not reach here until 3:35 p. m. A train was made up at Roseburg, however, consisting of a baggage car and a couple of coaches, and it ran over the road on the time of the regular overland, thus attending to the local passenger business.

DIED.

KRAUS .- At Aurora, Oregon, Satur day, January 13, 1900, Mrs. Elizabeth Kraus, aged 91 years and 3 months Deceased was born in Baden, Ger-many, October 14, 1808, and emigrated to the United States in 1825, and with her family settled in Alleghany county, Pennsylvania. Here she was united in marriage to Michael Kraus, in 1820, and the result of the union were six daughters and three sons. In 1865 she came to Aurora, where she has since resided. Her husband and three of her daughters have preceded her to the grave; one of her daughters resides in Shelby county. Missouri, and the rest of the children are residents of Aurora, and with whom she lived during her declining years. The funeral was held at Aurora festerday, and a large concourse of friends followed the remains to their last resting place. Grandmother Kraus has for years been the favorite of her grandchildren at Aurora-and every one there was a grandchild to her, whether bearing blood relationship to her or not. She was ever a kindly soul, solicitous for the welfare and happiness of all. Though she had grown too aged for active participation in the life of the community, she will be sadly missed by her relatives and friends.
