

St. Vitus' Dance Cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

Mrs. Minnie Fiedler, of Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, says: "I was afflicted for years with St. Vitus' dance. The first symptoms of the disease began in 1889, when the nerves began twitching in my left hand. I consulted physicians of this city, but none of them ever did me a particle of good. After I had suffered for two and one half years, the disease continuing to grow worse, I heard of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. "It was in 1891 that I was induced to try them, and I was surprised at my rapid improvement. I took only two boxes, and was entirely cured. It was hard to realize that I, who for over two years was scarcely able to walk, and who often found it almost impossible to talk, should be restored to perfect health and in full possession of all of my powers by two boxes of this wonderful remedy. "I am happy to state that my health is still perfect and I have never had the slightest symptoms of a return of the disease, although it is eight years since I was cured."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are an unfailing specific for such diseases as locomotor ataxia, partial paralysis, St. Vitus' dance, sciatica, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous headache, the after-effects of a gripe, palpitation of the heart, pale and sallow complexion, all forms of weakness either in male or female.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are never sold by the dozen or hundred, but always in packages. At all druggists, or direct from the Dr. Williams Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y., 60 cents per box, 6 boxes $2.50.

WILL NOT ACCEPT CONVENTION GOSSIP

GOV. GEER DECLINES THE USE OF A CARRIAGE. MANY CANDIDATES PLEASSED WITH THEIR PROSPECTS.

His Answer to the Invitation of the Bryan Arrangements Committee—Governor's Reasons.

(From Daily, March 24th.) The several state officers yesterday received their invitations, sent by the committee which is charged with the duty of arranging for the proper reception of Hon. Wm. J. Bryan, on the occasion of his visit to this city on March 28th. The invitations are signed by George S. Downing, chairman, and are addressed to the several officers in the most courteous terms. The one received by Gov. T. T. Geer is in terms as follows: "Salem, Or., March 22, 1900. "Hon. T. T. Geer, Governor of Oregon, Salem Oregon. "My Dear Sir: The general committee in charge of the reception to be given Hon. Wm. J. Bryan next Wednesday, March 28th, most respectfully invites you to be present on that occasion. Upon receipt of an intimation of your acceptance hereof, a carriage will be placed at your service at the time. With great respect, GEO. S. DOWNING, Chairman."

Governor Geer's answer to the above invitation was in the following courteous but decisive terms: "Salem, Or., March 23, 1900. "Hon. Geo. S. Downing, Salem, Or. "My Dear Sir: Your invitation to attend the reception to be given Hon. W. J. Bryan, next Wednesday, is received. "I thank you very much for the courtesy extended by the invitation and the offer to furnish me a carriage for the occasion. I esteem Mr. Bryan very highly as a representative of a large class of our good citizens, and will be pleased to hear him in his address on the occasion referred to, if public business will admit it. "Since, however, he is traveling through the country solely as a partisan campaigner, doing what he can toward making converts to the democratic party, I feel it my duty to attend the meeting as a private citizen, in the most democratic way possible, the same as if the speaker were to be Mr. Lenz, Mr. Sovereign, Cyclone Davis or any other eminent American citizen whom the democrats have very properly delighted to honor, and for whom we all have the greatest respect. "Assuring you that I appreciate the courtesy of the invitation, and of the high esteem in which I hold you, personally, the distinguished guest of the occasion, and the great party to which you both belong, but that I will feel constrained to attend on foot, along with the common people, to which class I belong, I am, very sincerely yours, "T. T. GEER, "Governor."

Others of the state officials stated that they would decline the invitations, although several of the gentlemen attend the meeting and hear Mr. Bryan's address in their capacity as private citizens. In response to the request of the arrangements committee, for the use of the representative hall on the occasion of the Bryan meeting, Secretary of State F. I. Dunbar, to whom application was made, has notified the committee that he can not comply with the request made; that the precedents are all against it.

THE DAIRYMEN MEET. Pacific Northwest Association Elects Its Officers. Moscow, Ida., March 23.—The Pacific Northwest Dairy Association closed its third annual meeting here today. Emery, Bozeman, Montana; Dr. James Withycombe, Corvallis, Oregon; H. T. French, Moscow, for Idaho; A. B. Leckinby, Rainier, for Washington. The executive committee consists of the following: Montana—Dr. Knowles, Helena, and D. N. Shaw, Bozeman; Oregon—W. W. Cotton, Portland, and J. C. Kaupisch, Portland; Idaho—Jos. Reed, Lewiston, and Theodore Reed, Moscow; Washington—Ward High, Walla Walla, and Millard Freeman, of Seattle.

Reputation is what the world says of us. Character is what we really are. Few men can pass a mirror without looking into it. Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know it. How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order. What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy, fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the day, and to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this generous offer in this paper.

Several New Names Mentioned—Lists of Some of Those Now in Field Seeking Nominations.

(From Daily, March 24th.) Republican politics are becoming somewhat heated, and the gentlemen who were elected delegates to the county convention at the recent primaries are very much in demand by the candidates for the various offices, desirous of securing pledges for support. Many of these candidates wear a confident air, as though assured of their ultimate success in carrying off the much-desired nominations, while others show disappointment, and may drop out of the race before the permanent organization of the convention is effected next Wednesday.

Several new candidates appeared on the scene yesterday, among them being H. S. Bell, of the city, city assessor, and John A. Shaw, of Mill City, representative. R. W. Carey, of Salem No. 3, was also mentioned for legislative honors yesterday, while one or two candidates were talking of withdrawing from the race, to prevent a slaughter. A number of the county delegations, it is reported, are coming to the convention, loaded with a good-sized surprise party, expecting to break into the general program, and they hint that an organized effort will be made to defeat, for renomination, an officer who is confidently expecting success. So strong is this combination said to be, and so determined to succeed—being ready to trade any thing for the desired result—as to make it a formidable factor, and many of the Salem delegates will probably consult this combination and accede to its wishes to a certain extent, when those desires are made known in detail on the morning of next Wednesday, with the result that a new face will appear in the political arena. Elkborn precinct reports the election of its lone delegate in the person of J. P. Case, and George Koenig was nominated for road supervisor. The Horeb delegation to the convention consists of Wm. Hunt, Scott Shaw and R. S. Shaw. Following are some of the candidates now in the field, with more to be heard from by next Wednesday noon: Representatives—Frank Davey, J. M. Poorman, Lot L. Pearce, Abner Lewis, R. W. Carey, George P. Hughes, George F. Rodgers, E. H. Flagg, Alex. LaFollett, M. L. Jones, John A. Shaw. Sheriff—A. T. Wain, Chas. A. Murphy, W. A. Taylor, Robert A. Witzel, A. C. Dille, E. E. Cooper. County Judge—G. P. Terrell, W. M. Scott, W. C. Hubbard, John H. Bush, J. M. Watson, Ed. T. Judd, Scott Riggs. Commissioner—J. N. Davis. Assessor—J. W. Hobart, F. J. Rice, Henry S. Belle, D. D. Coffey, M. J. Conner. Superintendent of schools—W. J. Crawford, W. L. Cummings, E. T. Moores, W. F. Drager. Coroner—A. M. Clough. Recorder—J. H. Roland. Treasurer—A. L. Dowling.

HOW SCIENCE WORKS. It is said that a scientist in Pennsylvania has discovered a receiver for use in wireless telegraphy 2,000 times more sensitive than the "coherer" devised by Marconi. It has been often noted that two men experimenting in widely removed parts of the earth have made the same remarkable scientific discovery almost at the same time and practically independent of each other. This was the case with the telephone; it was the case with the Roentgen ray and it was so with wireless telegraphy. The explanation of this observed fact is easy. Scientists in all the great laboratories attached to universities and industrial establishments the world over are working on the same great problems. Scientists are not selfish. They keep no secrets. Mystery is the surest sign of charlatany. When a scientist makes the smallest discovery of value in his science he tells of it to his comrades through the papers which deal with the technique of his science. Scientists would sooner have the approval of their fellow scientists than of all the world beside. These small progresses, published in the scientific papers, attract no attention from the people in general. The public is not well enough versed in the technique of the cause to follow the small progresses. The scientists do, however. All the experimenters work close together. It is not to be wondered, then, that they make their great discoveries almost simultaneously. It is only when some remarkable discovery is made which has a direct bearing on human progress, which has some direct use and some practical application, that the attention of the people is directed to the laboratories and to the scientific papers. Then it is found that in widely separated laboratories identical results have been reached simultaneously and independently and the people marvel.

As soon as a new discovery is given to the world the energies of the scientists in that particular branch all over the world are directed toward perfecting it. The indefiniteness of the first descriptions of the apparatus with which the discovery was made leads other experimenters to devise their own different apparatus, and thus great progress is often made at once and great developmental discoveries follow closely upon the principal discoveries; the application of the newly discovered principle to practical life is made in a remarkably brief time. It is the history of human progress.—St. Louis Republic.

FEMALE SUFFRAGE. "Oh course, I'm in favor of suffrage for women, Henrietta," said Mr. Meekton. "But I don't think they ought to go to the polls themselves." "What do you mean?" "They ought to be able to send their husbands to vote for them. If they go to the polls themselves it will confuse matters, a perfect gentleman who saw a lady go to the polls looking a little worried could feel compelled to lift his hat politely and say 'Madam, take my vote.'—Washington Star.

TO VISIT THE GREAT FATHER.

Six Osage Indians on the Way to Washington.

Let the poor Indian, to the number of six, of the tribe of the Osages, living on their lands in and about the town of Pawnee, Pa., passed through Union Station yesterday on their way to visit the Great Father, to whom they pay a visit annually. The six braves are the chiefs of their people, and are splendid representatives of one of the finest physical tribes of the American Indian. They were under the leadership of C. N. Prudeman, who acts as interpreter, and who is a graduate of Carleton.

They were dressed in the regulation dress of reservation Indians. They wore great gaily blankets and the usual Indian ornaments. Their hair was worn in plaits down their backs, which were secured at the ends by bunches of beaded deer hide. A large crowd of tourists gathered about the braves during their stay in the station, but the stoical redmen paid not the slightest heed to the curiosity which they attracted. They would not answer the questions put them, and though they all speak English, they affected not to understand.

It was learned from the interpreter that the delegation hopes to get certain changes made in the distribution of the allowance made them by the government. They believe that the amount should be raised or that the land be allotted among the tribe. The Osages are among the purest-blooded Indians in existence today. They seldom marry with the whites, and preserve their tribal customs. The tribe is also one of the richest in the country.—St. Louis Republic.

Mr. Raphael, who was killed at Spion Kop, and is said to be the first Jewish officer of the British army killed in action, was enormously rich. He was a connection of Captain Pessel, late of the Seventh Lancers, who for some years shared with Colonel Goldsmith of the Royal Engineers the distinction of being the only officers of their faith in the army.—S. MACARONI.

How to Bake It Plain, with Oysters, and with Cheese.

Macaroni is one of our most nutritious and economical foods, and it is not so regretted that this desirable food is not seen on our tables at least once a week. It might share the honors with the potato as a daily accompaniment to our meals. Macaroni is made from the best wheat flour, and as wheat is our most valuable cereal it is well to know all the ways possible for it to be served as food. It is one of our most convenient foods, for it is prepared in forms which may be stored for a long time. (Although of the same nature as our daily bread, the methods of cooking it are so different from those we use in cooking wheat flour that we seem to have an entirely new or different dish. Macaroni is also valuable because it affords an opportunity to use cheese, another valuable food, in the form which to many persons is more digestible than when eaten alone or uncooked. And as the macaroni is deficient in fat, and particularly in flavor, cheese, butter, cream, or milk, or the fat of meat, or meat broth, with onion or tomato, should be used in combination with it, in all its varied preparations. Notwithstanding all the reports of the objectionable methods used in preparing the wheat pastes into the various shapes seen in our stores, it is needless to wash it before cooking, for the boiling water will better take off anything that needs to be removed. Always cook it in boiling water before serving it in any way, and if it is to be further cooked in stock or milk always parboil it first in water till nearly soft. This will cleanse it, and will also save the unnecessary boiling away of the stock. Drain it and let cold water run through it to keep it from becoming pasty, and the tubes from adhering to each other. Macaroni is awkward to serve if in large long pieces, as it is one of the most slippery compounds imaginable and only smaller varieties of vermicelli and spaghetti can be handled dexterously with a fork. Therefore, either break it into bits before boiling or cut after it is drained. The following are well-tested methods of preparation: PLAIN BAKED MACARONI. Break into one-inch (or less) pieces, enough macaroni to fill a cup. Put it into a large kettle of boiling salted water and cook rapidly twenty minutes, or until it may be cut easily with a fork against the kettle. Stir it frequently during the first ten minutes or it will stick. Turn it into a strainer and field it under the faucet till well rinsed in cold water. Put it into a shallow baking dish and cover each layer with bits of butter, a sprinkling of pepper, salt, and mustard, if you like. Fill the dish with hot milk, stirring it well to let the macaroni absorb as much as possible. Cover with a thin layer of buttered cracker crumbs, and bake slowly about half an hour. MACARONI WITH OYSTERS. Fill a baking dish with alternate layers of well-boiled macaroni and prepared oysters, season each layer with paprika, salt, a tiny bit of mace if liked, one tablespoon of minced celery, or a sprinkling of celery salt, and fill the dish with cream or with one cup of white sauce. Cover with buttered cracker crumbs and bake about twenty minutes. MACARONI BAKED WITH CHEESE. Cook one generous cup of finely broken macaroni in boiling salted water till tender. Drain and rinse in cold water. Make white sauce with one cup of hot milk stirred gradually into one level tablespoon of flour cooked, together. Season with one-half teaspoon of salt and a little paprika and mace. Have ready one-half cup of dry cheese grated or sliced fine. Butter a shallow baking dish, put in alternate layers of macaroni, cheese, and sauce, and cover with fine buttered cracker crumbs. Cook in a hot oven till brown.

Antonio de Navarro, husband of Mary Anderson, is busy writing short stories for the magazines. In one of the recent English periodicals he has published a little story called "Love's Byways." The scenes of his stories are generally laid in Italy and on the Riviera. He and Mme. de Navarro are now in Bordighera, where they will be until late spring. Henry Watterson says he began his career as a newspaper publisher after the war, on $50 obtained by pawning his watch.

REGISTRATION IS VERY SLOW. Electors Do Not Appear for the Purpose of Enrolling Under the New Election Law. (From Daily, March 24th.) The registration of voters, in the office of the county clerk is unusually slow, and it is feared that many entitled to registry will be left off the books, unless they make haste. The number listed up to last evening was 4032; the votes cast for congressman in Marion county in 1898 numbered 6038; this would leave the number of voters still unregistered, 2006, and as there are only forty-five days left in which to register, the average per day will have to be forty-five for every day between now and May 15th, in order to secure the names of all the voters. Following is the number registered in each of the precincts up to last evening: Aumsville, 140; Aurora, 70; Breitenbush, 27; Brooks, 124; Butteville, 99; Champoug, 31; Elkborn, 2; Englewood, 209; Fairfield, 45; Scouts Mills, 87; Gervais, 130; Horeb, 4; Howell, 82; Hubbard, 115; Jefferson, 100; Macleay, 70; Marion, 47; Melham, 67; Mt. Angel, 99; Monitor, 86; Prospect, 100; Salem No. 1, 125; Salem No. 2, 274; Salem No. 3, 114; Salem No. 4, 218; Salem, East, 57; Salem, North, 157; Salem, South, 116; Sidney, 75; Silver Falls, 115; Silverton, South, 75; Silverton, North, 87; St. Paul, 77; Stayton, 143; Sublimity, 103; Turner, 103; Woodburn, 274; Yew Park, 150. It is a present of no mean value, a great thought, and if every letter of condolence could bear with it one phrase of honest sympathy and one great thought, it would be a blessed instrumentality for carrying patience and resignation, peace and comfort, into those dark places where the sufferer is eating his heart out with grief; or where Rachel "weeps for her children, and will not be comforted, because they are not."
