About Pianos and Organs

When you put your money into an instrument of any sort you want to be satisfied that you're getting full value. Many "Stencel" pianos are put out at a price that would buy a first-class instrument of a reliable make. The case should be the last thing to consider, yet customers many times buy because the case catches the eye, forgetting that the frame, sounding board, action, construction, tone and touch are far more vital points.

When you look at Knabe, Fisher, Ludwig, or Hardman pianos, you can examine every detail and find it perfect. Make it a point to see us. We are glad to show goods.

MAY BE SHORT CROP

AN OREGON DEALER REPORTS CONDITIONS IN CALIFORNIA YARDS.

Growth of Hop Vines Is Being Retarded by a Worm—Growers of Golden State Fall to Organize.

It is reported the indications are that there will be a short crop of hops in California this year. If such a condition should prove to exist, the problem of regulating the production of hops to the demand may be solved without requiring the organization of growers for that purpose.

A. J. Ray, formerly connected with the Oregon Hop Growers Association, but now agent for J. M. Russell & Co., of Portland, returned recently from a trip to the hop districts of California. In an interview, Mr. Ray imparted the following information concerning conditions in California:

"According to the most reliable estimates at hand," said Mr. Ray, "the 1900 crop will reach 45,000 bales. Last year's crop aggregated 50,000 bales, of which there are still 500 bales unmoved in the hands of the growers. Contracts have been made for 6000 bales of the new crop at from 9 to 10 cents."

The different associations of California met recently to discuss plans for limiting the acreage and reducing the yield, but each section was afraid to trust the other and the thing fell through of its own accord.

"The hop vines in California are not half as far advanced as those in Oregon. A great many hills have not yet sprouted. The growers attribute the backward growth to the ravages of a cutworm, which eats off the shoots as they appear above the ground. It is the first appearance of this character of worm, so far as known and puzzles growers, besides causing them considerable apprehension."

"While the crop is backward, it must not be forgotten that the climate of California is a 'forcing' one and may mature the vines rapidly after they once start growing. I was told that vines tied up as late as June 2d have been known to yield a fair crop."

Mr. Ray said that, according to his latest advice, there were 10,000 bales of hops remaining unsold in Oregon and 1500 bales of these were unsalable.

FOR AN INTERESTING CEREMONY.

Preparations for Laying the Cornerstone of the New Odd Fellows' Temple Are Under Way.

The committee on arrangements, appointed by Chemeketa Lodge No. 1, I. O. O. F., for the laying of the cornerstone of the new Odd Fellows' temple, now in course of construction in this city, is formulating its program for next Wednesday when, at 2:30 p. m., the interesting ceremony will take place. The lodge has sent out invitations to the Odd Fellows of nearby lodges, and it is probable a large crowd will be present on that occasion.

Hon. J. K. Weatherford, past grand master of the order, has consented to deliver the oration of the day, and Judge George H. Burnett, past grand master, will probably lay the cornerstone. The choir of the First M. E. church has been secured to furnish the music, and it is probable the Chemeketa band will be in attendance. Other arrangements will be perfected in a day or two, and it is expected the occasion will be a notable one in the annals of local Odd Fellowship.

Chemeketa Lodge No. 1 has selected the officers to preside over its deliberations for the next six months, as follows: W. H. Pettit, noble grand; M. P. Baldwin, vice grand; I. W. Miller, secretary; H. A. Thomas, treasurer.

AUDITING OF BILLS

COUNTY COURT PASSES ON ROAD PETITION AND GRANTS AID.

Accounts of Road Supervisors Passed Upon—Election Accounts to Be Examined Today.

The Marion county commissioners' court was in session all of yesterday, the time being spent in auditing bills against the county, and road supervisors' reports for the past six months, and acting on petitions for the establishment of new county roads.

The petition of Ed. Gookey and others, for a new county road in the northern portion of the county was considered, and the court appointed Alex Essons, C. D. Hartman and S. O. Hobart to act as viewers of the road, and to meet with County Surveyor B. B. Herrick Jr., on June 20th, at 10 a. m., at the place of beginning, for the purpose of examining the proposed road.

Another petition for a road in the same neighborhood, signed by Ed. Gookey and many others, was considered to meet the county surveyor at the place of beginning on June 20th, at 3 p. m., for the purpose of examining the proposed road.

The petition of A. LaFollett and others, for county aid in repairing a road from Wheatland to Salem, was also read, and the court ordered that the clerk draw a warrant for $100 to be expended by the road board in making the repairs, the same to be issued when the court is satisfied with work done.

The petition of Wm. Anderson and others, for county aid in repairing a road from Sidney southward, was also allowed, and the court ordered that $61 should be allowed the petitioners for the work done in this case.

The court, after considering other minor matters, and auditing the following accounts against the county, adjourned to 9 a. m. today, when the election accounts will be received and audited:

THE TURNER FIRE.

The loss in the fire at Turner, early yesterday morning will aggregate about $2000. Dr. J. W. Ransom lost his drug store, amounting to about $750, while the Dettweiler Meat market was valued at about $650, while the tools, machinery etc., destroyed in the market were worth fully $600. Mr. Dettweiler, the owner of the property, is in Republic, Washington, and it could not be learned yesterday, whether or not he was insured. Dr. Ransom had no insurance. Mr. Gilchrist, who had the meat market leased, sustained very little loss. The fire is said to have been caused by carelessness on the part of the lessee, who left a fire burning in the lard rendering room, when he closed for the night. The burnt buildings will probably be replaced. The spread of the fire to valuable property adjoining the burnt buildings, was prevented by the heroic work of the citizens, who with a bucket brigade, were enabled to confine the destructive element to the two buildings, though at one time the main portion of the business part of the town was in extreme danger.

FAILED TO RETURN

STRANGER ELOPES WITH TEAM OF RADABAUGH & FRANCIS.

Engaged the Rig Last Sunday and Promised to Return Following Day—Name, Smith Falls.

At noon last Sunday, a stranger, giving his name as Smith Falls, and claiming to reside near Newberg, engaged one of the best teams and buggy of Radabaugh & Francis, one of Salem's livery establishments, for the purpose of driving to Newberg. He assured the proprietors of the stable that he would return with the conveyance by noon on the following day, but he has failed to put in an appearance yet, and no trace of the man or the team can be obtained since Tuesday, when they were seen near Newberg.

The fellow telephoned from the Willamette hotel to the stable and ordered the rig, himself putting in an appearance a few minutes later. An inspection of the register at the Willamette discloses the fact that no such person as Smith Falls, of Newberg, was registered at that place either on Saturday or Sunday. In fact, no such individual was registered at any of the hotels in this city last Sunday. He represented to Mr. Francis that he had arranged for the removal of his family to Salem and he wished to bring them Monday morning, shipping his household goods by river steamer.

By Wednesday, Mr. Francis became uneasy and thoroughly convinced that his Sunday customer was one of the "short-changed" order. He telephoned to Dayton and Newberg and from the livery men at those points he learned that the fellow and rig had been seen in those localities on Sunday afternoon, and also on Tuesday, when he was about eight miles from Newberg. Mr. Francis telephoned again on Thursday, but could learn nothing more about his property. He has decided to enlist the services of the police officers in an effort to have the man apprehended and punished and his team recovered.

Mr. Francis says the fellow was about 5 feet 9 inches in height, weight about 200 and about 40 years of age. He was light complexioned and wore a light brown moustache. The team was one of the best in the stable, being a span of grays, weighing about 1000 pounds each.

It is generally believed that the fellow is a rascal and that he was among the excursionists coming to the Capital City as the guests of the Order of Railway Trainmen. He doubtless telephoned from the Willamette purposely for the reason that the fact of his being a guest at the leading hotel of the city would serve as an evidence of good faith on his part and might better enable him to procure the desired rig. Liverymen are not sufficiently protected from the operations of this class of criminals. Such crimes are committed quite frequently in this section of the state and not infrequently does the rascal escape punishment, while the liveryman is put to very considerable expense in redeeming his property.

A NEW SUIT.—The O'Brien Company, plaintiffs, vs. Mrs. A. Hamilton, defendant, is the title of a new action filed in the first department of the state circuit court for Marion county, yesterday. Judgment is asked for $83.55, the amount alleged to be due on account of merchandise sold to the defendant by Rothschild & Co., of San Francisco, the claim being assigned to the plaintiff. Mrs. Hamilton formerly conducted a confectionery store on State street, and is alleged to have purchased three small bills of goods from the plaintiff's assignors, aggregating the amount sued for, which she is said to have neglected to settle. J. A. Jeffrey is attorney for the plaintiffs.

FOR CHEMAWA.

The Statesman yesterday received a telegram from Washington to the effect that Cawston & Co., of Portland, had secured the electric lighting and steam heating contract for the Chemawa Indian Training school, bids for which were yesterday opened by the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, at Washington. There were a number of bids for this work.

TWO PATIENTS.

Mrs. Mary F. Miller, aged 32 years, was brought to the asylum from Baker City yesterday. The woman has suffered a number of attacks of insanity. C. A. Marr, aged 48, was also brought in for treatment. His home is in Newberg, and this is his first commitment.
