Lee's Lice Killer

The use of this preparation has become so universal, and results are so satisfactory, that most poultry-raisers would not know how to keep house without it. It is no longer necessary to dip or dust poultry to kill the lice. A can of Lee's Lice Killer, a paint-brush, and a few minutes' work in applying it to the roosts, means all the expense and labor now necessary to keep the fowls free from both mites and body-lice. A can of it should be in every poultry-house. It kills and prevents mites and lice, and keeps the air in the poultry-house pure and sweet, killing disease-germs and preventing the other enemies of the poultrymen-rout and cholera.

MONEY FOR SCHOOLS IS VALUABLE TIMBER

SECOND QUARTERLY APPORTIONMENT MADE SATURDAY. SEVERAL SALEMITES OWN CLAIMS IN LINCOLN COUNTY.

Per Capita Allowance Was $1.25 and $12,218.75 is Distributed Among 9775 Children of County.

(From Daily Statesman, July 7.)

The second quarterly apportionment of funds among the schools for the current year, was made yesterday by County School Superintendent Geo. W. Jones. The amount distributed among the 9775 school children of the county was $12,218.75, or a per capita allowance of $1.25.

Table with columns: District, No. Pupils, Amount. Lists districts from No. 1 to No. 50 with corresponding pupil counts and amounts.

Among the many who have secured claims in that part of the county recently are twenty-six Salemites. Cabins have been built upon these claims and a good trail made to the locality from C. M. Carlson's place on Depoe street. This land has been entered and the improvements made through the efforts of Attorney E. F. Jones of Toledo.

"The benefit to Lincoln county is apparent at a glance. All this land will be a source of considerable revenue as soon as placed on the tax rolls, and the immense lumber business can hardly be estimated. An acre has been found to contain about seventy-five trees, which will make at least 5000 feet of lumber each. A conservative estimate places the number of that entire vast timber belt at 40,000 feet per acre, but by some experts this estimate is regarded as too low.

"These remarks refer more directly to the unsurveyed portion of the timber belt. The facts are that the fine timber lands of Lincoln county are going rapidly, and the person who fails to secure a slice during the next month or six weeks will be shut out. This timber belt alone is bound to make Lincoln county one of the most important points on the Pacific coast. Within a few years numerous large sawmills will be in operation in the county and numerous vessels will be running out of Yaquina bay for foreign and domestic ports laden with the lumber contained in these magnificent trees. This is no pipe dream. It is apparent to any one but a confirmed pessimist. And that brings us back to the Yaquina harbor proposition—but that's another subject."

A Minister's Mistake.

A city minister was recently handed a notice to be read from his pulpit. Accompanying it was a clipping from a newspaper bearing upon the matter. The clergyman started to read the extract and found that it began: "Take Kemp's Balsam, the best Cough Cure." This was hardly what he had expected to read after a minister's hesitation, he turned it over, and found on the other side the matter intended for the reading.

SOUSA MARCHES GO CHEAP.

Sousa Sold "Washington Post" and "High School Cadets" for $70. Publishers Netted a Fortune.

(From Pioneer's Magazine.)

"The first piece I ever had published I paid for?" said Mr. Sousa. It cost me $25, and that $25 was a great deal of money to me, an awful lot. Of course the piece did not sell. Some friends of mine with a great big gob of kindness in their hearts bought copies. I think about $4 worth. But the rest of the world, though it was hunting now tunes, paid no attention to the publication of my piece. It had not found me yet, and the fact that I was disappointed in the sale of music did not disarrange its machinery in the least. The next time I thought I would try Philadelphia. I went up to the publishing house of Lee & Walker and showed my two compositions to the editor, with whom I struck up a friendship that has lasted ever since that day, and that was in 1872, when I was eighteen years old. He played over my pieces and they sounded beautiful. He was a good pianist, and I never have been. He made some kind of a canebite mark on them; I suppose it meant O. K., and sent me down to see Mr. Lee. Mr. Lee liked the pieces, but I was a young man, an absolutely unknown young man, and all that—you know what they all say. Still the pieces were very nice, and they would publish them, giving me—I held my breath—giving me one hundred copies of each piece. My railroad fare from Washington to Philadelphia and return and my hotel bill amounted to about $15, and for that I was to get one hundred copies of each of my two pieces, which would cost the publisher perhaps $7. I thought that was pretty hard. But I accepted. I supposed that the music would be printed off right away. It wasn't. After about a dozen letters from me during a period of six or seven months I finally got word that they might get the piece out the following quarter.

"Now that you have made a bit, don't those pieces sell?"

"Mr. Sousa shook his head and pressed his lips together. The world does not turn back and look for what it has once passed by. It wants something new."

"After awhile I sold my compositions for what I could get, anything from $5 up to $25. The 'Washington Post March' and the 'High School Cadet March' I sold for $35 each. They made an independent fortune.

Miss Lockheart's LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM.

(LETTER TO MRS. PINKHAM NO. 67,191)

"I cannot express my gratitude to you for the good that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done for me. I have taken five bottles of the Compound and two boxes of Liver Pills and feel better in every respect. I had suffered for years with dropsy; the veins in my limbs burst, caused from the pressure of the water. I had the worst kind of kidney trouble, fainting spells, and I could not stand long at a time. I also had female weakness, and the doctor said there was a tumor in my left side. The pains I had to stand were something dreadful. A friend handed me a little book of yours, so I got your medicine and it has saved my life. I felt better from the first bottle. The bloating and the tumors have all gone and I do not suffer any pain. I am still using the Vegetable Compound and hope others may find relief as I have done from its use."—MISS N. J. LOCKHEART, Box 16, ELIZABETH, PA.

Only the women who have suffered with female troubles can fully appreciate the gratitude of those who have been restored to health.

Mrs. Pinkham responds quickly and without charge to all letters from suffering women. Her address is Lynn, Mass.

for the publisher, Coleman, of Philadelphia.

"And all you got out of them was $70."

"Mr. Sousa nodded. He did not seem to feel bad about it. He seemed to think it was a kind of a joke on him, of course, but a good joke for all that. Probably he believes that there are more marches just as good where they came from. Probably he has got over grieving about it in the last ten years."

ABOUT HURRICANES.

Their Path 600 Miles Wide—St. Louis Tornado Cost Thirteen Millions.

"The physical features of hurricanes are well understood," says Professor Bigelow, of the weather bureau. "The approach of a hurricane is usually indicated by a long swell on the ocean, which forewarns the observer by two or three days. A faint rise in the barometer occurs before the gradual fall which becomes very pronounced at the centre; fine wisps of cirrus clouds are first seen, which surround the centre for a distance of 200 miles; the air is calm and sultry, but this is gradually supplanted by a gentle breeze, and later the wind increases to a gale, the clouds become natted, the sea rough, rain falls, and the winds are gusty and dangerous as the vortex core comes in. Here is the indescribable tempest, deafening destruction, impressive the imagination with its wild exhibition of the forces of nature, the flashes of lightning, the torrent of rain, the cooler air, all the elements in an uproar, which indicate the close approach of the centre. In the midst of this turmoil there is a sudden pause, the winds almost cease, the sky clears; but the waves rise in great turbulence. This is the eye of the storm, the core of the vortex, and it is, perhaps, twenty miles in diameter, or one-third of the whole hurricane. The respite is brief, and is soon followed by the abrupt renewal of the violent wind and rain, but now coming from the opposite direction, and the storm passes off with the several features following each other in the reverse order."

"Cyclones or general storms may be 1,000 miles in diameter. Hurricanes operate on a path averaging 600 to 800 miles wide. Tornadoes are very much smaller. They may be only a mile wide at the top and but a few feet at the bottom. In all they are much more dangerous than either a cyclone or a hurricane. They form in all parts of the temperate zone—at sea they are water spouts, and on the desert they are sand storms. Sometimes a whole family of tornadoes will be born at once from the same cloud. As many as fifteen tubes have been observed at one time. In a few months they occur only in our Gulf states, but in summer they occur in the North, in Nebraska, South Dakota, Iowa and Minnesota. The average is twenty-five a year. They are simple examples of vortex motion. A mass of air rotating at a low level runs into a vortex, and the air is projected downward. The velocity of the lower end of the tube may reach 200 miles an hour, and it is the partial vacuum caused by the whirl and the sudden rush of the outside air that causes the disastrous explosive effects. Tornadoes wrecked $15,000,000 worth of property in this country during the years from 1880 to 1890. Twenty-three million dollars of this amount was destroyed by three whirls alone. The Louisville tornado, March 27, 1890, destroyed property worth $3,000,000. The St. Louis tornado, May 27, 1896, caused a loss of $13,000,000. A tornado swept from Cedar Keys to Washington, D. C., September 29, 1893, which caused a loss of $7,000,000."
