Some persons are still old-fashioned enough to pay their debts even though not compelled by law to do so. Purvis & Co., bankers of Baltimore, failed in 1808 and their creditors got but little. Purvis & Co., bankers of Williamsport, Pa., advertise their desire to pay all claims against the long defunct firm, saying "these are debts of honor and will be paid regardless of bankrupt laws or statutes of limitation." Purvis & Co. of 1808 were grandfather and father of the Williamsport man.

Lee's Lice Killer

Price one quart, 25c. Half Gal., 60c One Gal., $1. Five Gal., $4.

...The use of this preparation has become so universal, and results are so satisfactory, that most poultry-raisers would not know how to keep house without it. It is no longer necessary to dip or dust poultry to kill the lice. A can of Lee's Lice Killer, a paint-brush, and a few minutes' work in applying it to the roosts, means all the expense and labor now necessary to keep the fowls free from both mites and body-lice. A can of it should be in every poultry-house. It kills and prevents mites and lice, and keeps the air in the poultry-house pure and sweet, killing disease-germs and preventing the other enemies of the poultrymen—roup and cholera.

ON THE RACE TRACK

SOME OF THE FINE HARNESS HORSES TRAINING FOR THE FAIR.

Splendid Strings of Fast and Promising Animals—Owners Appreciate Salem's Track.

(From Daily Statesman, Aug. 5.)

The Fair Grounds race track near this city has long been known as one of the finest training tracks in the country, as it is the fastest race track by several seconds, in the Pacific Northwest, and the number of horses in training there at this time of the year is evidence of the fact that this track is appreciated by the trainers and owners of racing stock. Among the many excellent stables of horses now on the track some are here for the first time, while others have been here often and often, all being pleased with the excellent condition of the track for training. Tuesdays and Fridays are speed days, when most of the horses are given an opportunity to show the excellent work they can do.

Below are given the names of some of the owners having horses in training at the track, together with the fine animals constituting their strings:

George E. Perringer, of Pendleton, has a stable of splendid horses, in charge of Trainer A. E. Heller. The string is headed by the pacing stallion, Pathmark, the 4-year old son of Pathmont, the famous Oregon performer, with a 2:08¼ record, who was last year sent to Canada. Pathmark is a green horse, but at the free-for-all pace at Everett, Washington, on July 6th, he won the day in 2:17¼, against some famous horses, the purse contested for being $1000; it was a marvelous performance, and ruinous to those betting on the race, as Pathmark was not considered a possibility. Other horses in this string are Dewey Ann, a pacer, 2:23½; Chehalis Maid, a 2-year old pacer; Kinney Mack, a 2-year old trotter; Sly Etta, a green pacing mare, and Dr. Long's Trilby, a 2-year old pacer.

R. C. Kiger, of Corvallis, has a splendid string of horses. The stable is headed by Silver Light, a magnificent chestnut sorrel 5-year old stallion, by Wallace Drew; Sadie C., a trotter with a trotting record of 2:37½, by Lamont; Pilot Lane, a 2-year old trotter, by Coeur d'Alene; this youngster was brought on the track as a yearling in 1899, and a challenge for colts of his age, for $5000, found no takers; he has grown into a magnificent animal, and is certain to make a record before he is three years old. In this string there are also Dewey, a 2-year old by Coeur d'Alene, entered in the Produce Stake, and Kin Altamont, a 2-year old pacer, by Altamont, out of an Alwood mare, owned by P. Speedy, of Corvallis.

J. R. Sawyer's stable contains Oregon Maid, a 2-year old pacer, by Del Norte; Chief Seattle, a 2-year old trotter by Freddie C.; Mack Gose, 3-year old pacer, by Antrim; Altaho, by Altamont, a green trotter; Erex, by Director; Deceiver, a 2:15 pacer, by Altamont; Road Boy, by Rosemon, 2:19½; Kinmount with a 2-year old record of 2:34, now 4 years old, and a brown Scarlet Letter mare, a green trotter.

J. B. Stetson has Lovelace, a 2:20 trotter, by Egotist; Lyla, a 2:27 trotter, by Altamont; Gracie Dell, a 2-year old trotter, by Del Norte; Alta Dell a 2:16 pacer by Hoholdel; and Ben Bolt, a pacer with a 2:19½ mark, by Alexis. Mr. Stetson expects to win good money with his string of beauties.

In John Pender's string there is Captain Jones, by McKinney, a green trotter; Ned Wilkes a green trotter; Alma K., a green pacer; Helen J., a trotter with a record of 2:18½, and Altas, a pacer with a record of 2:15¾.

Oscar Wills is in charge of the stable of Dr. Powell Reeves, and has a fine string of horses. Tennsysonian, black stallion, by Electricty, heads the list; he has a trotting mark of 2:17¼; Lady Rowan, a 2-year old trotter by Aroomi; Diodene, a pacer, by Nutwood; Hazelwich, a fine pacing mare by Whips.

The fine string of Charles Simpson, of Pendleton, is here under the care of George Wright. The horses are Phil-Ann, a gelding, by Bonner N. B., a trotter with a 2:20½ mark; Alta Norte, a pacer by Del Norte, 2:16½; Bonner N. B., a trotter with a record of 2:17¼; Santiam, a green stallion, by Caution; and a green trotter by McKinney.

J. Ervin, of Pendleton, has John Edson, a pacing stallion, 2:29¾, and Ovita, a bay trotting mare, by Caution, with a record of 2:22½.

W. C. Belknap, of Benton county, has Alteno, sired by Oneco, a beautiful animal.

Dell Force has a string consisting of Volo, a bay trotter, 2:25; Belle Air, a bay pacing mare, with a record of 2:14¾; Donamore, a 4-year old green trotter, that took second premium at the last fair; this is one of Altamont's best colts.

J. Fitzgerald, of Gervais, has May Morn, a bay pacing mare, with a promising future.

E. E. Staats has a string consisting of Almolene, a 2:25 pacer; Isabel, a green trotter; Gracie S., a 3-year old trotter, and Mount Shasta, a 2-year old trotter.

I. C. Mosher has the famous Coeur d'Alene, the trotting stallion, with a record of 2:19¾; Black Egypt, a fine young trotting mare with a 2:32¼ mark, and John A. Crawford, a pacer with a record of 2:17; he also has Robert H., a 2-year old pacer; Cath Alene, a 2-year old trotter; Noonday Bell, a green mare; Stamboul Bell, a trotter with a 2:21 mark, and Scappoose, a fine pacer, with a record of 2:20.

J. W. Shannon, of Salem, has Moline, a green trotter; Lena Mack, a yearling by McKinney, and May, by Holmdell, a 2-year old trotter.

Frank Barrows has his famous guideless pacing stallion, Del Norte, together with two 2-year old colts and two yearlings, of the Del Norte strain, the youngsters being broken to the track for future use as racers.

W. T. Middleton, of Albany, has a fine Cleveland bay coach horse, Light Boy, a magnificent stallion, quartered at the track.

Frank Frazier, who a few years ago became famous as the owner of the great Oregon pacer, Chehalis, will come to the Salem track on Tuesday of this week with a splendid string of fine horses. Among them is the famous pacing mare, Umahallis, with a record of 2:17½; Westfield, black stallion, trotter, 2:22½, by Billy Wilkes; Hassalo, black stallion, green pacer, by Westfield.

WARD-LEWIS WEDDING.

Salem Girl Weds An Eastern Oregon Merchant—Will Reside in Wasco County.

Another quiet home wedding, characteristic of the Capital City, was celebrated last Wednesday, the 1st inst., when at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. E. Lewis, at No. 144 Marion street, Miss Maude L. Lewis, of this city, became the wife of James C. Ward, of Kingsley, Wasco county.

The ceremony was performed at 1 o'clock, in the presence of only the immediate relatives and friends of the young couple, by Rev. Wm. Daly, rector of St. Joseph's Catholic church of this city. Following the ceremony a sumptuous repast was served, mingled with the offering of earnest and sincere congratulations and best wishes for the happy young couple.

The bride has resided in Salem for the past four years and in that time has made numerous warm acquaintances who regret her departure from the Capital City, but wish her much happiness. The groom is a merchant at Kingsley, Wasco county, Eastern Oregon, whence he left with his bride on Wednesday afternoon where they will make their home.

SELLING THE HOPS FOR TEN CENTS

Three Contracts, Made by Marion County Farmers, Placed Upon the Records Yesterday.

(From Daily Statesman, Aug. 5.)

Three contracts for 1900 hops were placed upon the Marion county records yesterday, showing that contracting is still going on though not as many of these documents show up as have done so in the past. These contracts were:

James F. Davidson, May A. Davidson and Lawrence P. Gooding of St. Paul sold to Valentine Loewi, of New York, 10,000 pounds of hops, grown in their yard near St. Paul, 5 cents per pound to be paid about September 1st, and 5 cents upon delivery of the hops, free of charge, at Mission Landing on the Willamette river.

Frank Busky, of Woodburn, contracted to sell to Valentine Loewi, 10,000 pounds of the 1900 crop, 5 cents a pound to be paid on September 1st and the remainder before October 31st, the hops to be delivered at the Southern Pacific station in Woodburn.

N. Gooding, of St. Paul, sold 10,000 pounds to Valentine Loewi, of the 1900 crop, grown on his farm near Woodburn, 5 cents per pound to be paid on September 1st, and 5 cents on or before October 31st, when the hops are to be delivered to the purchaser at Mission Landing.

WHERE ECONOMY FAILS TO PAY.

Why Some Canned Goods Are Shipped Crated and Others Are Boxed.

"Goods in large packages like, for instance, tomatoes in gallon cans," said the canned-goods man, "are sometimes crated, this being done for the sake of economy, the crate costing less than a box. But canned goods in smaller packages, of which the number of cans put up is enormous, are commonly shipped in boxes. The reason for this is very simple.

"The big cans are likely to have only a strip or a band label, the rest of the broad expanse of tin being left uncovered. It isn't necessary to put this package up in fancy style, for it is not to be displayed anywhere. These goods are sold to hotels and restaurants and other large users. The steward or other purchaser knows the goods perfectly by the label, which is to him an unmistakable brand; he wouldn't care a bit if the label was scratched or marred, as it might be by coming in contact with something through the open space in the crate. What he wants is the goods.

"On the other hand the small cans are completely covered with a handsome label, which helps to make the goods salable. These cans are displayed on the shelves and on counters, and it is important, of course, that these should be in perfect order as to the labels. The cans must not be dented in. One bad-looking can might mar a whole display, besides not selling so well itself. So the small cans are shipped in boxes for their protection, which is of more importance with these goods than the saving that might be effected by crating them."

NEWS AT AUMSVILLE.

The Cut Worm May Prove to Be a Blessing in Disguise.

Aumsville (Or.) Aug. 4.—Threshing has fairly commenced in this neighborhood and the yield is very far below the average. This is quite discouraging to farmers, but we should all feel thankful that we live in a land where we never have an entire failure. Short crops and low prices for grain are bringing farmers to realize that they must diversify, and we predict that five years hence, or even sooner, there will be a wonderful change in the manner of conducting farms in the Willamette valley, therefore dog-fennel, peavine, French pink, green aphis, cut or army worm, etc., may yet prove blessings in disguise if they serve to drive the farmers out of some of the old ruts in which they are traveling and which they should have abandoned years ago.

G. W. Baynard, section foreman at this place, has moved onto his farm east of town.

Willie Shaw, who has been employed in Southern Oregon for several months is at home for a short time visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Shaw.

O. W. Webb and family have moved to the Mohawk, where Mr. Webb has employment at a sawmill.

G. W. Martin, who has been at the railroad hospital in Portland for the past few months, receiving treatment for a complication of diseases, has returned home much improved in health.

L. M. Reeder has been quite sick for a few days, but is somewhat better at present.

AN ACCOMMODATING HUSBAND.

"Paul," said Mrs. Pondermore, according to the Smart Set, as they rose from dinner, breaking the silence that had prevailed throughout the meal, "do you know that we were married just five years ago today?"

"If I'dd been there it would never have happened," answered Mr. Pondermore, who is rather absent-minded, pursuing his train of thought aloud. "Er—excuse me, my dear, you were saying——"

"That this is the fifth anniversary of our wedding," replied Mrs. Pondermore, who is used to her husband's thinking out loud; "and it has set me to contrasting the two times. Paul, do you know that you never kiss me mornings and evenings as you used to?"

"Er—certainly not. I don't think it a sensible move at all; it might put us in a very ridiculous light if it became public" murmured Mr. Pondermore. "I beg your pardon, my dear, I'm afraid I was slightly inattentive—that U. B. D. and D. deal is worrying me somewhat—what was it you said?"

"That you neglect to kiss me as you used to when we were first married," said Mrs. Pondermore, patiently. "I know it isn't because you don't love me anymore, Paul, but don't you think you could remember to?" she asked wistfully.

Mr. Pondermore contracted his brows tightly in an honest effort to corral his errant thought and fix them upon what his wife was saying.

"Er—yes, my dear," he said, "what is it I have neglected?"

"You don't kiss me as often as you used to, Paul," repeated his wife softly.

"Don't I, my darling?" cried Mr. Pondermore, all contrition. "It's this wretched business that engrosses me so; but if you'll forgive me, sweetest, I'll never forget it again. Never. Er—that is," he added, the absent look creeping back into his eyes, "just make a note of, will you? and I'll have one of the clerks attend to it the first thing in the morning."

SNOW AWAY ALONG IN JULY.

How Some Church Folk in Maine Made Use of a Climatic Anomaly.

The congregation of a little church up among the Hoosick hills of Western Massachusetts has an investment in what would seem a very ephemeral security, being nothing less than a snow bank. Winter comes early in that region and comes in a business suit. He stays late, too, lingering so long that he wears out Spring's lap and loiters even about Summer's knee. East Hawley hill is, of the cluster of hills thereabouts, the bleakest and windiest of them all. In one certain gully under the lee of a rising wall of earth the snow drifts early and stays after the June roses come in the gardens.

Several years ago, following an unusually severe winter, a deposit of snow was found there on the Fourth of July, and the interest which its presence at that season excited put an idea into the thrifty minds of the church folk who make up the little congregation of the pretty East Hawley church. The next year the gully was looked after. The snow drifted as usual, and its keeping became a matter of careful watching. Before the end of June it was seen that it could not last much longer, and a church entertainment of a "sugaring off" in summer with real snow was promptly carried through. Its fame spread, and the next year means were adopted to preserve the snow still longer. Now the July "sugaring off" is an established annual festival, to which natives and sojourning folk, including the omnipresent summer boarder, go from a radius of fifteen and twenty miles. If the snow shows signs of disappearing before July has arrived means are taken to keep it. Spruce boughs and sawdust cover it, and so far the supply has never failed. The event is regularly counted upon as a sure and appreciable addition to the yearly income of the church.

This year a party of New Yorkers hastened their departure from the city to be present at the novel entertainment. The day had been very hot in New York, and the change on leaving the cars at 7 o'clock at the little station in the valley, whence wagons were to be taken, was refreshing. The church was reached in a drive of a little more than an hour up the hill and through the woods, rich with early summer foliage and heavy with the spicy fragrance of mosses and ferns.

A programme of music and recitation preceded the chief event of the evening. There was a curious and pleasant incongruity to sit plying a fan in the hot, lamp-lighted church and hear outside the unmistakable sound of snow being gathered up in wooden shovels. At 10 o'clock the company adjourned to the sugaring off room, where on long tables covered with sheets, were set out fully two hundred pans of snow, white and spotless, though rather coarse grained. To each person was allotted a pan and a saucer of hot maple syrup with fork and spoon. The syrup was ladeled on the snow in spoonfuls and picked off with the fork to be eaten as it hardened pitchers of the hot syrup circulated constantly to refill the saucers as fast as they were emptied till all were satisfied with the sweet feast.

By 11 o'clock the company began to disperse, a train of wagons, carriages and buggies stretching out in all directions as they departed. By one of those freaks of weather to which Hawley Hill is subject, the warm, fragrant air had become suddenly chilled by a wind that was blizzard-like in its intensity and frigidity. The blasts blew out of the north as if old Boreas were enraged at the juggling with his seasons and inclined to give the seekers for novelty a bit of real winter with their preserved snow. The particular party of city travelers already referred to were glad enough to reach the valley, which they did about midnight, and after their remarkable day of tropical and arctic temperature, crawl into comfortable beds and sleep soundly with, July though it was, heavy blankets piled ove them.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles." Regular size 50c and $1. Trial bottles free at Dr. STONE'S drug stores.
