Vast quantities of wheat are rolling into Pendleton every day. All of the teams procurable are engaged in hauling, horses having been sold in such numbers as to make teams in good demand. Warehouses are rapidly filling, and the mills are buying largely for the coming season.—East Oregonian. It is a curious fact that, despite the general knowledge of the deadly powers of high-tension electric currents and their well-known use for executing criminals, there is no record of a deliberate suicide by electric shock.

Lee's Lice Killer

The use of this preparation has become so universal, and results are so satisfactory, that most poultry-risers would not know how to keep house without it. It is no longer necessary to dip or dust poultry to kill the lice. A can of Lee's Lice Killer, a paint brush, and a few minutes' work in applying it to the roosts, means all the expense and labor now necessary to keep the fowls free from both mites and body-lice. A can of it should be in every poultry-house. It kills and prevents mites and lice, and keeps the air in the poultry-house pure and sweet, killing disease germs and preventing the other enemies of the poultrymen—roup and cholera.

PLANS OF THE PRESIDENT. Canton, Ohio, Aug. 9.—There may be, or there may not be a period of law-destroying delegations at the McKinley home before the end of the campaign. There may or there may not be a trip to the Pacific coast by the President. But neither will begin before the middle of September. That much is settled by the plans announced today, occupying the President's time up to that date. When he and Mrs. McKinley start for Washington next Thursday it will be for an absence of two weeks or more, for they are going to Chicago for the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic before returning to their Canton home. The route and time of starting for the Chicago trip have not been arranged, but it will be from Washington, and so far as known there will be no Grand Army post escorting the President, as has been talked of. The President has as yet given no consideration to such a plan, although it has been discussed by some of the G. A. R. men. From Chicago they will return to Canton for ten days or two weeks, when they will leave for Somerset, Pa., the summer home to Abner McKinley, to attend the wedding of Miss Mabel McKinley and Dr. Herman Baer, on Sept. 12th. Beyond that no plans have been decided upon, but at least part of the time before the election will be spent in Canton. Fine printing, Statesman Job Office.

SPLENDID HOP CROP

OUTLOOK FOR A YIELD OF GOOD QUALITY IS EXCELLENT. There is Very Little Danger of Vermin—Picking Will Begin Earlier Than Usual. (From Daily Statesman, Aug. 12.) The present favorable weather is doing wonders for the hop yards of the Willamette valley, and, unless a change should occur soon, Oregon will this year produce one of the best crops of hops—quality, not quantity—ever grown here. Vermin is almost unknown this year, owing to the vigorous spraying of the yards and the favorable weather conditions, and the crop promises to mature somewhat earlier than usual, a fact that is encouraging to the growers, as that will insure the harvesting of a large portion of the crop before the early fall rains set in. The early hops—a few of the yards near this city have Fuggles and the Imported Early Kentish—are almost ready for the pickers, and probably before the end of this week, operations will begin on these in some of the yards. These are a small proportion of the hops in the valley, however, and the majority of growers will not begin before the end of the present month. The price to be paid for picking is a mooted question at this time, and in various portions of the valley, efforts have been made to organize the growers with a view to paying 33-1-3 to 35 cents per box. D. C. Minto & Company, operating the Minto yard south of this city, however, are offering 40 cents per box, and others are said to be ready to pay the same, and it is likely that the price will vary according to locality. Valentine Loewi, the veteran hop dealer of New York, in his Producer's Price Current, under date of August 4th, says of the hop market: Receipts for week..... 555 Receipts from Sept. 1..... 11,910 Exports same time last year..... 133,197 Exports to Europe for week..... 365 Exports from Sept. 1..... 47,432 Exports same time last year..... 109,263 Imports for week..... 27 Imports from Sept. 1..... 5,905 Imports same time last year..... 2,823 Weather conditions of late have been favorable to the growing crop in New York state, and the vines are reported clean of vermin; but with decreased acreage we cannot expect as many hops as were grown last year, and that was a light crop. On the Pacific coast the yards are generally doing well. In some sections of Oregon lice have appeared and farmers are spraying. It is now estimated that this season's crop on the Coast will fall 10,000 to 20,000 bales short of last year. Both mail and cable advices from England indicate steady improvement in the plantations under the influence of good weather and faithful washing of the vines; but under the most favorable conditions for the remainder of the season it would be impossible to secure as large a yield as last year. On our local market business has moved along steadily and values have been firmly maintained on nearly all grades. Exporters have not been operating, but brewers have needed goods to replenish their stocks, and holders are expecting that a pretty good clearance will be effected by the time of the incoming of the new crop. The government report for the fiscal year ending June 30, shows that the sales of fermented liquors were 30,530,849 barrels, an increase of 2,749,785 barrels over the previous year. WILL RE-ENLIST.—Fred Ramsey, son of Judge Ramsey of this city, will leave Monday for Washington where he expects to re-enlist in the marine service of the United States. Mr. Ramsey enlisted at Mare Island, California, over five years ago in the navy and was assigned to duty on the Oregon which went into commission about that time. He was on the Oregon on her famous voyage to join Admiral Sampson's squadron on the Atlantic and took part in the destruction of Cervera's fleet. He remained in the service until last May when he was mustered out at Yokohama, Japan. Mr. Ramsey attained the rank of gunnery sergeant and under the rules upon his re-enlistment, will be restored to that grade.

DELIGHTFUL SUMMER VISIT AT A COZY COUNTRY HOME. Mrs. Frank Rizer Enjoys the Beauties of the Country—Campers at Nye Creek Beach. MT. AIRY, Waldo Hills, Aug. 10.—Most people think that to enjoy good health during the winter, a summer outing is a necessity. To think of breaking up housekeeping, packing up half of your household goods, climbing into a hack, or vehicle of some sort, plodding along for three or four days, reach your destination tired and hungry, set up camp, sleep on a straw-bed, dream of snakes and cut worms, is not a very great pleasure to one; and where one has the good fortune to receive an invitation to spend a few weeks in a country home, that one is foolish who would not accept it. Not being foolish I accepted such an invitation. Coming from a country of cyclones, blizzards, hot winds, chintz-bugs, and Populists, one is fully able to appreciate the climate of Oregon. While Salem is a very desirable place in which to live, it is not to be compared with the Waldo Hills. We left Salem about 2 p. m. one day last week, in company with Mrs. G. W. Putnam and son Ivan, and plodded along in the dust—my first experience with real Oregon dust, in which "distance lends enchantment." We reached "Mt. Airy," the country home of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Putnam, in the Waldo Hills, covered with what we supposed was gold dust; but having found a pan and tested it, we decided it was as great a delusion as the gold-fields of Nome. After a few hours' struggle, with soap and water, we emerged from the bath-room in quite a respectable condition. The next thing was supper,—we call it dinner in Salem,—but this was a genuine good country supper, to which we did ample justice. We retired early, contrary to city habits, but fell to talking—not gossiping—we thought for fifteen minutes, but next morning our next door neighbor entered a complaint of too much talking for country folks. After a good night's rest, we went to

AN EXECUTION SALE.—Sheriff Frank W. Durbin yesterday conducted an execution sale at the court house, selling to the highest bidder 6 acres of land in the southwest quarter of section 24, township 6 south, range 3 west, being the property involved in the foreclosure suit, in which the Capital National Bank, of Salem, was plaintiff, and Suther P. Worden and B. A. Worden, defendants. The property was purchased by the plaintiff for $964.95. AN UNIQUE EXHIBIT.—County Judge T. F. Ryan, of Oregon City, the chairman of the Clackamas county committee on arrangements for an exhibit at the State Fair, has applied to W. H. Savage, superintendent of the pavilion, for space to erect a miniature fish hatchery. This will be something unique in the line of exhibits, and will doubtless prove a very interesting feature of the fair.

AGAIN OPEN.—The Capital Soap Works is again open, Chas. H. Muths having taken sole charge of the business. Mr. Muths will conduct the business along strictly commercial lines, and will furnish the trade with a first-class article.

SCARCITY OF RUBIES AND EMERALDS. "It is impossible to set any definite value on rubies at present," said a New Orleans jeweler. "The mines were exhausted several years ago, and the few fine stones that remain on the market are worth whatever one chances to ask. They are far more valuable than diamonds—in fact, the price is purely arbitrary, depending chiefly on how badly the purchaser wants the gem. The last mines to be worked were in Siam, but they are now entirely closed down. Practically the same thing may be said of emeralds. A few find their way to the dealers now and then, but the supply has dwindled to almost the vanishing point, and to secure a fine specimen is purely a matter of luck. They are no longer kept in stock by the wholesalers, and when one turns up it brings a fancy figure. I am speaking, of course, of first-class stones. Both rubies and emeralds vary enormously in quality. Sometimes it is hard to tell just what they lack, but its absence is unmistakable, and constitutes the difference between a true gem and a mere colored stone. For example, I have a four-carat emerald that I have tried to sell for $100. It is a pretty stone and seems outwardly to be perfect, but it lacks something. I have seen four-carat emeralds sell for $6,000. They were the same size, same weight, same shape, same color as the one I have, but ah! the difference!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

CHINESE BEGGAR.

Licensed by the emperor. Begging is an official profession in China. Members of the order are licensed and numbered, and all persons caught begging without a license are punished with the Kan-gue—a huge wooden frame that weighs heavily around the neck and shoulders. This is a photograph of a Peking beggar. It was taken in front of the American Legation building, which since has been made a scene of carnage.

MAKES CHEESE. Oregon City Enterprise: W. W. Austin, one of the stockholders in the Logan cheese factory states that the factory is utilizing about 1550 pounds of milk daily and produces 165 pounds of cheese. The factory has a greater demand for its product than it can supply, and their cheeses bring 12 cents per pound wholesale. Most of the cheese of this factory is consumed in Oregon City and the remainder is sent to Portland.
