HOW SOME ANIMALS GROW.

Comparisons Between Young and Old of Various Species.

It is not generally known that the human baby is smaller at birth in proportion to the size it ultimately attains than most other animals.

The size of the young of any animal varies in proportion to the size of the brain, and is significant in many ways.

In case of the deer we find that the young are two and a half feet in height, while the full-grown deer is no more than four and a half feet.

In general, the larger the animal at maturity the slower its growth.

THE SALT OF THE EARTH.

If childhood were not in the world, Put only men and women grown; No baby locks in tendrils curled, No baby blossoms blown.

Though men were stronger, women feiner, And nearer all delights in reach, And verse and music uttered rarer, Tones of more god-like speech;

FOR THE 57TH YEAR MANY BOUNTY CLAIMS

WILLAMETTE UNIVERSITY OPENED YESTERDAY MORNING.

A Largely Increased Attendance of Students from Abroad—Registration is Partly Completed.

(From Daily Statesman, Sept. 19.) President W. C. Hawley, of the Willamette University, was at his office early and late yesterday, but was not able to complete the registration of students, many being compelled, for lack of time, to defer their entrance until today.

The boarding hall, under the charge of Mrs. James Aitken, is filling up rapidly, and she is making arrangements to segregate outside rooms to accommodate the overflow.

A large number of students arrived on the various trains yesterday, who will register today and tomorrow.

The first chapel exercises will be held at the University this morning, when President Hawley will open the year's work informally with a few remarks to the students.

The formal opening will be held one day next week, when Bishop Andrews, who is now attending the session of the Oregon Conference of the M. E. church in Ashland, will be in this city, where he will hold the session of the German Methodist Conference.

Mr. Baker will organize his excellent English Seminary in a few days. This course is open to others than regular University students.

A partial list of students is appended below; the occupation of the parents shows that three are stockmen, one a lawyer, three physicians, twenty-one farmers, four fruitgrowers, three teachers, eight ministers, two carpenters, and four merchants; other vocations are represented also:

PUNISH THE GUILTY.

Beilin, Sept. 18.—The following note has been sent to the German embassies at Washington, London, Paris, St. Petersburg, Rome, Vienna and Tokio:

"The Government of the Emperor holds as a preliminary to entering upon diplomatic relations with the Chinese Government, that those persons must be delivered up who have proven to be the original and real instigators of the outrages against the territorial law, which have occurred at Peking. The number of those who were merely instrumental in carrying out the outrages is too great. Wholesale executions would be contrary to civilized conscience, and the circumstances of such a group of leaders cannot be completely ascertained, but the few whose guilt is notorious should be delivered up, and punished."

The representatives of the powers at Peking are in a position to give or bring forward convincing evidence, as less importance attaches to the number punished than their characters as instigators or leaders. The Government believes it can count on the unanimity of all Cabinets in regard to this point, inasmuch as an indifference to the idea of a just atonement would be equivalent to indifference to a repetition of the crime.

The Government proposes, therefore, that the Cabinets concerned should instruct their representatives at Peking to indicate those gulf, Chinese personages from whose guilt in instigating or perpetrating the outrages, all doubts is precluded. (Signed) Von Buelow."

A PIONEER DEAD.

Col. J. N. T. Miller Passed Away at Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Or., Sept. 18.—Col. J. N. T. Miller, a pioneer of Southern Oregon, died at his home near this city, today, aged 74 years.

Colonel Miller was born in Hardin county, Kentucky, and came to Oregon in 1845, locating in Jackson county in 1853. He was married in 1853, to Elizabeth Aubrey, and eight children were born to them.

Of the children, Col. R. A. Miller, of Oregon City; P. H. Miller, of San Francisco, and W. L. Miller, of Jacksonville, are well and favorably known. Gen. J. F. Miller, of Salem, and Emmett Miller, of Nevada, are brothers of deceased.
