GIVE UP OHIO.
Democrats No Longer Hope to Carry McKinley's State.

St. Paul, Minn., Nov. 1.—Secretary Charles Williams, of the Democratic State Central Committee of Ohio, today telegraphed to the Minnesota Democratic State Central Committee that Ohio is lost to Bryan. Mr. Williams informed his Minnesota sympathizers that he had secured reports from all portions of his state, and from the most reliable information obtainable he estimates that McKinley's plurality in Ohio will be at least 25,000.

FINANCES OF THE COUNTY

Treasurer A. L. Downing Issues His Monthly Statement

SHOWING A LARGE SUM ON HAND

Many Warrants on the General Fund, Heretofore Called, Still Outstanding—Interest Stopped.

County Treasurer A. L. Downing yesterday gave out a statement of the finances of Marion county for the month of October, showing the receipts and disbursements for the month in the several funds and the amounts on hand October 31, 1900. The amount on hand in the general fund, $17,772, is held for the payment of warrants which were called for some time ago, but the holders have failed to present them for payment. The interest, of course, is stopped up on these outstanding warrants from the date of the call, so the county finances are not suffering by failure of those holding them to call for their money.

The statement shows the following as the condition of the treasury:

Special City and School Dist. Fund—Cash on hand Oct. 1st.	$ 1,704 28
Receipts.	13,712 48

building. But few of the highways in that section are properly drained, while scarcely any are provided with gravel. Chack-holes are plentiful and as a consequence of the recent heavy rains portions of the road are practically inundated. After driving over such a thoroughfare it is a decided pleasure to strike a well-graveled road. A more beautiful stretch of road work than that which penetrates the Mission Bottom country north of Salem is difficult to find. A proper grade was first established and then a substantial covering of fine gravel liberally distributed over the surface. More such work on the roads of this county would materially enhance the value of real property. Where gravel of such fine quality is so plentiful as it is in the Willamette valley, it would seem that there was an entire absence of a reasonable excuse for the existence of such poor roads, some of which during the winter season are almost impassable.

TAXES COLLECTED

NINTH TURN-OVER ON ACCOUNT OF THE 1899 ROLL
Made by Sheriff F. W. Durbin to County Treasurer A. L. Downing—A Large Sum.

Sheriff F. W. Durbin yesterday made his regular monthly turn-over of taxes to County Treasurer A. L. Downing. The amount thus turned over represents the collections for the month of October, and aggregates $23,332.16. This is the ninth turn-over made by the sheriff on the 1899 tax roll, and brings the total amount collected on its account to $196,434.49. This leaves but a small amount yet due on the roll. The turn-over was apportioned among the various funds as follows:

GOOD ROADS.—There is no stronger argument in support of better road building than to be obliged to ride over miles of poorly constructed roadways. A drive over any of the principal roads in the north end of Marion county at this season of the year emphasizes the need of practical road

HEAR YE! HEAR YE!
And take notice, it is not only to elect the President of the United States that the people are the most interested in, but they should take an interest in what interests them most, for it is to their interest to save as much of the principal, that will interest the most of the Salem and surrounding public. The first that will interest the people is, The Almighty Dollar, and it is to your interest to stop howling about, whether it is 16 to 1, 20 to 1, or 30 to 1, but it is to your interest to buy as much goods for a dollar, and it is nobody's business what dollar, how you obtained it, where you got it, or how you got it. But if you bring it to Friedman's New Racket no question is asked where you got it, but what will you do with it. There is one thing certain, that you can save from 15 to 40 per cent, if you invest it at Friedman's, than what you could have done else where. Friedman's is the only house, electioners for nobody, knows no politics in business what will take everybody's dollar, and give good value for it. It is a place where you will find a good line of children's clothing, and it is to your interest to bring the Youths interest to buy their suits and overcoats at Friedman's New Racket, and to say more of the principal to these that want to make good interest, and for a better understanding will come to Friedman's for their Rubber boots, Overshoes, Mackintoshes, Oil Clothing and Rubber capes, "The Ladies" who take interest, will call for the ladies' Mackintoshes, Rubbers, Capes and Jackets at Friedman's New Racket. A word to the level headed who don't let nonsense get away with them, will find it is to their interest to buy their hats at Friedman's New Racket. Now while there is so much strife between the different Democratic, Republican, Prohibition, Imperialistic, Anti-trust, Middle-of-the Road Populist, Socialists, Social Democracy and Social Labor parties. You can all unite on one man whom you can trust that will give you the best bargains, and that is at Friedman's New Racket. Salem, Oregon.

CLUMSY CRIMINAL
SALEM VISITED BY A CHECK-WRITING FIEND.
Phillip H. Remy, Claiming to Be an Army Officer, Swindles a Liveryman—An Ex-Convict.

Salem has several times been selected as the favorite field of operations for the light-fingered penmen, who attempt to live off the gullible public by an indiscriminate writing of checks, on banks where no money is deposited to meet this class of paper, and yesterday another one of these people found one man willing to invest. The fellow doing this work gave his name as Phillip H. Remy, and the victim was Pearl Miller, one of the proprietors of the Club Stables.

Remy, as he calls himself, reached this city on Wednesday evening, coming in on horseback. He left his horse at the Club Stables, and yesterday morning called at the barn, ordered a team, ostensibly to drive out in the country to visit his parents, who he said lived near here. He claimed to be an officer of the regular army, and as he was well dressed, his statement was not questioned. He tendered in payment for the team a check, drawn by himself, on the Capital National Bank of this city, for $50, and receiving in return $40. He then entered the vehicle and drove away, accompanied by a local man whom he had invited to accompany him.

Mr. Miller, after the disappearance of the young lieutenant and the rig, decided to secure his money on a check, but was astounded to find that Remy was not known at the bank, and that the fellow had no account there, and that "another sucker" had been caught.

A warrant, charging Remy with obtaining money under false pretenses, was quickly secured, and Deputy Sheriff B. B. Colbath started on the fellow's trail. Meanwhile Sheriff F. W. Durbin used the telephone, and about noon located the fellow at Turner, where he had stopped for lunch. Here Mr. Colbath found him, just as the "army officer" had finished his meal and was preparing to leave. The fellow was quickly put under arrest, and brought to this city by Mr. Colbath, the only incident of the trip being his remonstrance against being handcuffed, which, however, was of no avail, for he wore the "darbies" when he reached the city. Before being placed in jail he was searched, and was found to have a fine gold watch, $23.50 in money, and a few minor articles. Among his papers was found another check for $100, drawn on the Capital National Bank, with a revenue stamp duly attached and cancelled, and signed "Phillip H. Remy." In his tugsy were also found two bottles of whiskey and a box of cigars. He was neatly dressed, but did not have the appearance of an army officer. He was considerably under the influence of liquor when he arrived at the court house.

Later in the afternoon Remy sent for Attorney S. L. Hayden, retaining that gentleman as his counsel, and at 5 p. m. he was taken to justice of the Peace J. O'Donald's office and arraigned, and his preliminary hearing set for 1 p. m. today. His bond was fixed at $200, and as he was unable to furnish this, he went back to jail.

Remy is aged about 30 or 35 years, of medium height, weighs about 160 pounds. He has regular features, and blonde hair and moustache, and is, as said before, well dressed.

Before driving out of the city, Remy drove to the penitentiary, and asked to be shown through. Here he again stated that he was an army officer, but as he added that he had "served time here," and as he was considerably under the influence of liquor, admission was denied him, and he left. Some of the officers at the institution recognized him as having served a term in the prison under the name of Edward Downs, showing that a part of his statement was true.

Looking up his record last evening, Supt. J. D. Lee found the following: Edward Downs was received at the penitentiary from Umatilla county on October 26, 1895, convicted of obtaining money under false pretenses, and sentenced to serve two years; he then gave his occupation as barber. He served his time, was released, and on October 30, 1897, he was again received from Umatilla county, on the same charge, for one year; this time he gave his occupation as barber and engineer. He served his term and was released, and probably enlisted in the army during the Spanish-American war.

The officers believe that Remy or Downs, stole the horse he left in the barn, and that he is probably wanted at other points on charges similar to the one staring him in the face here. He claimed to come from Eugene here, but that is probably one of his fictions.

NORTH END HOPS ARE SOLD.
Nearly All Growers Have Disposed of Their Stocks—Quick Work for a Big Deal.
With but few exceptions, the growers of the north end of the county have disposed of their hops at a remunerative figure, the prices ranging from 9 and 10 cents, contract price, to 14½ and 15 cents. In fact all growers who are not independently situated have sold their hops and are happy and prosperous. Such growers as are holding hops are doing so purely for speculative purposes.

One of the promptest business transactions in connection with the hop business this season was that by which T. B. Jones, of Mission Bottom, sold and delivered to T. A. Livesley & Co., 340 bales of hops, the price paid being 14 cents. It required but five days, for the entire fulfillment of the transaction. On October 28th the sale was negotiated, the hops were inspected and received two days later and yesterday morning they were shipped to Portland via the O. R. & N. company's steamer.

Then gently scan your brother man. Still gentler, sister woman; Though they may gang a kowin' wrang, To strap aside 'is human. —Burns, "The Unco Guid."
