The Philippines Today. New York Sun: The people who favor giving up the Philippines had better say soon all that they have to say. The Hon, William H. Taft, the head of the commission of three Americans that has been engaged for some months in establishing civil government in the archipelago, has just returned to the United States with the report that the work for which that commission was created is advancing and that contentmen't under the American government is growing in spite of all difficulties. The improvement reported by Commissioner Taft has been accomplished while the Philippines were practically dead. The rule which we imposed for ammunition suitable to the old upon ourselves of not granting franchises until they should be auth the United States army, without re- the building of railroads and to the ceiving any money credit therefor, all commercial enterprises for which the islands offer countless oportunities and the fire of industry will replace the flame of insurrection and brigandage. How He Conquered. fearless on the dread firing line at Maiother day, always lost his nerve when mounting the platform to read or recite. He has trembled and choked and grown red in the face. He has stammered and haited and lost his wind. But the other day, after more trouble than usual on the platform he suddenly shouted out in sheer desperation. "I can fight; I can shoot and be shot at; I have been a target for Filipino bullets; but I tell you I am scared when I get up here. I am a thousand times more fearful of danger here than ever I was when I stood on the firing line in the Philippines."

As he spoke his eyes flashed, and he stood up straight and proud. He gesticulated with the fervor of intense earnestness, and the effect was electric. His short speech was oratory of the purest order. It was a victory for the raw orator, and ever since, the old fighting nerve that stood him good stead in the wars has stayed with him when he gets on the firing line in the elocution class. He has conquered.

From Sunrise to Sunset.

New York Sun: The acquisition of the Danish West Indies has long been on receipt of $1. One small bottle is a purpose of American policy. The two months treatment, and will cure a purpose of American policy. The strategic reasons for acquiring them are strengthened rather than weamened by our possession of Porto Rico. If the pending treaty with Denmark is ratified, and the purchase consummated, the easternmost end of Santa Cruz will become the sunrise point of American territory. The sunset point is now at the western extremity of the island of Balabac, southwest of Palawan in the Philippines, and just across the stalt from Borneo. The longitude of these widely distant outposts is as follows, approximately: Sunrise on Santa Cruz, 64 deg. 34 min. W. Greenwich; Sunset on Balabac, 117 deg. 03 min. E. Greenwich. That is to say, the meridian of American sunrise will be separated from the meridian of American sunset by just 178 degrees and 23 minutes, about twelve thousand miles. In other words, with the Danish islands under our flag, the expanse of American territory will lack less than one hundred miles of reaching half way around the globe.

MISS STONE NOT FREE.

A New Line of Negotiations Must Now Be Taken Up.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30 .- Unless Miss Stone's captors have abandoned her, despairing of being able to safely surrender her to the agents who have been trying to ransom her, she is not yet at liberty. It is quite certain that the ransom money has not yet been paid down, and that the agents referred to have completely lost touch with the brigands, who have been frightened off by the appearance of Turkish soldiers in their neighborhood. The efforts to secure the women's retory shall, on receipt of the new arms, by Congress was a padlock on business feared that they must be renewed in turn in to the Ordnance Department of development.
