THE WATTS CASE

HEAD CONSUL FALKENBURG TO TAKE IMMEDIATE STEPS

To Have the Remains of a Dead Oregon Woodman Buried—Now Lying in Storage in Dawson—Will Stir Up the Albany Camp Today.

Head Consul F. A. Falkenburg, of the Woodmen of the World, was yesterday seen by a member of the Statesman force, who is also a Woodman, in reference to the case of the late Chas. Watts, formerly of Albany, who died in Dawson, 22 months ago, and whose remains had not been buried. The Head Consul was shown the following Associated Press dispatch sent out from Seattle on Wednesday:

"Mail advices from Dawson via the steamer City of Seattle state that the body of Charles Watts, a newspaper man from Oregon, who died there 22 months ago, lies at a Dawson undertaking shop, still unburied. Uncared for by kindred and the fraternal order of Woodmen, of which he was a member, the remains have been allowed to occupy such inglorious quarters as they have found about the storage rooms of the undertaking establishment. Watts was a member of the Albany, Or., lodge of Woodmen, and formerly lived in that town. He also lived in Salem, where he was well known, and was for a time engaged in newspaper work. He died of pneumonia."

Mr. Falkenburg stated that he would go to Albany today and take the matter up with the camp of Woodmen in that place, and that, if prompt action was not taken by the Albany camp, he would see that the remains were given decent burial, if he had to pay the expense out of his own pocket. "It makes no difference what his relations with his people were," said the Head Consul. "He was a Woodman, and as such entitled to decent burial, and he will get it. I am sorry I did not know of this matter before, or I would have looked after it long ago. This must and will be attended to at once."

"Watts died in midwinter, at a time when it was impossible to bring out the body. He carried an insurance policy payable to his family, with whom I understand he had had some differences before he went to Alaska. The heirs asked that payment be made upon the report of his death in Dawson, and I valued the formality of the body being returned, paid the money, and understood and believed that the family would see that the body was given respectable interment. The obligation of the Woodmen ceased when the insurance was paid. We do not contract to conduct funerals, but where the family requests we arrange for the erection of a monument over the grave."

THE EASY RUNNING NOISELESS TRIBUNE

The Regular Model this Season is $40

It has 1-inch tubing and the frame lines are very slightly changed from last season. Options on saddles, bars, tires, etc., to suit the customer. We have also, the 1901 models, new goods, for $35, besides cushion models at $40.

THE CYCLOIDAL SPROCKET, as found on the Tribune, is cut with curve in the face of the tooth, so that the moment it enters the chain it fits in order that the instant the pull begins the chain stays in place, instead of sliding outward on the tooth as is the case in the common form of sprocket. This feature prevents that annoying grinding and snapping common to imperfect sprockets, and accounts for the noiseless running which is the pride of the Tribune riders. It also eliminates much of the friction which on most wheels is greatest in this very point—chain and sprockets being responsible for the hard running of many wheels.

We are just commencing on our fourth year with this most popular of wheels, and if the immense sale we enjoyed on them last season is any criterion, we will do an increased business this year. Once a Tribune rider, always one, is a fact that cannot be gainsayed, and the reason for it lies in the perfect degree of satisfaction that the customer enjoys, not only on account of the durability of the wheel—for a good lumber wagon is durable—but on account of the easy running qualities, and the perfection and simplicity of its construction.

The fame of the Tribune "cycloidal sprocket" introduced by this wheel early in its career, has impelled wheels of all classes to attempt to imitate the shape, with varying degrees of success. Inasmuch as imitation is the sincerest flattery it only advertises the genuine article.

Tribune bearings, too, have a world wide reputation for perfection of shape and for excellence in quality. Such a thing as a defective bearing in these wheels is unknown. Any repair man will tell you this.

We have not known of a broken crank on any model later than '99, notwithstanding the immense number of Tribunes in use by all classes of riders, on all sorts of roads. The factory has never known of a broken fork crown in its history, for they are all drop forged steel.

THE LADIES' MODEL

has the graceful double loop frame, the well-known Tribune steel frame chain guard, the neat 1-inch tubing, and sells at $40. We will also have the 1901 models at $35, besides cushion frame Tribunes at $40, ladies' and gents.

TRIBUNE BEARINGS are cut with scientific exactness, with the purpose of exactly fitting the balls they are intended to contain. There is no guess work and no happen so about it. There is just as much science and skill required in designing a perfect running bearing as in calculating the appearance of an eclipse, and the Tribune bearings have eclipsed everything in this regard. They are turned from bars of tool steel, and are as perfect apparently as the movements of a watch. We have the parts, hubs, bearings, cranks, sprockets, crowns, etc., separate, so that we can show your their points and prove our claims. We have our samples on the floor, and large order is, which will give us plenty of wheels for immediate delivery. Call and see us. We have already sold a number of Tribunes, though this has been anything but wheel weather.
