THE ELECTION IS IMPORTANT

The Result in Oregon Will Have a National Bearing

THE VOTERS OF THIS STATE CAN NOT ESCAPE THE RESPONSIBILITY IF THEY WOULD—WORK OF MR. TONGUE IN CONGRESS—A MEMBER OF ABILITY.

(From Wednesday's Statesman.)
Editor Statesman.

The coming election in Oregon has a national significance, for the result will be taken as an indication of popular sentiment on the Philippine question; the more so since Oregon, for business reasons, is peculiarly interested in American control or abandonment of the islands. Outside of the state there is no knowledge, nor desire to know, of any personal popularity or factional quarrels that might influence the election. The argument will be solely from platforms to result—not the platforms as interpreted, amended or curtailed by the candidates, but as put forth by the party conventions. It will be impossible for the voter, however he may desire so to do, to escape from the larger significance of his vote. The citizens who believe in surrendering the Philippines to their savage or semi-savage tribes, can not vote for Furnish on the ground that he will give the state a sound business administration, without voting to continue American sovereignty in the Philippines. The citizen who believes in keeping the flag "put," can not vote for Chamberlain on the ground that he is a good fellow, without voting to sound an American retreat from duty and advantage.

A keen political writer observes that Congressmen from New England go by weight and not by measure, and that the reason for New England's prominence in the National Legislature is found in a Yankee custom of selecting good material and continuing its members of Congress in office without change. Campaign reports from Oregon indicate that the people of the First District have adopted this custom, and that Mr. Tongue's plurality will be largely increased. It is a fact, and the people of the district know it, that no district is better represented in Congress. Mr. Tongue is alert and capable, and has never fostered that desire for self-glorification which has killed off so many promising members. In his Congressional work, Mr. Tongue shoots straight, and obtains what he is after if the object is in range of possibility. Success is, necessarily, sometimes slow in arriving, but it rarely misses entirely. His fellow-members are congratulating Mr. Tongue on his unexpected success in securing an amendment to the Agricultural Department appropriation increasing the item for road investigations $10,000. Numerous amendments were proposed and vigorously urged, but Mr. Cannon successfully fought off any encroachments on the bill. When Mr. Tongue spoke in favor of his amendment he not only convinced the majority of the House members, but persuaded even Mr. Cannon himself, and his amendment was the only one that was added to the bill.

However averse Mr. Tongue may be to self advertisement, he delights in spreading abroad the fame of Oregon. I quote the following from the Charleston, South Carolina, News-Courier:

"In his eloquent speech at the Exposition on Saturday Congressman Tongue, of Oregon, paid a fine tribute to the spirit of the pioneers who conquered that great Commonwealth from the wilderness and made it one of the richest and most progressive in the Union. Incidentally, and without any intention of exposing one of the cherished weaknesses of his Charleston audience, he said some things which they cannot hear too often for their own good, as follows:

"It is not the man who is satisfied with his lot and his surroundings that goes to the front. Contentment is the enemy of achievement. Contentment never suffers, never sacrifices. Contentment betters no conditions, rights no wrongs. A contented man would build no factory, construct no steamboat, engage in no railway enterprise. The men who have the money to engage in great undertakings would have enough to supply all the necessities of life and many of its luxuries, could pass their days in ease and leisure, pursuing only their own pleasure, free from toil and sweat, if they were only contented. Contentment may bring happiness, it may be desirable for the individual, but it makes no progress and is not in the interest of humanity at large."

The News-Courier published Mr. Tongue's address in full, and although a radically Democratic paper, editorially complimented his speech very highly.

Mr. Tongue has been a strong friend of the Indian, and his efforts toward making the red man a responsible and self-supporting citizen has borne fruit. The following extract is from a letter of the Washington correspondent of the Patterson, New Jersey, Press:

"When Representative Tongue, of Oregon, came to Washington, he began immediately to urge a change in the Indian policy of the Government. He secured legislation relative to the management of two reservations in his state which carried out his ideas as to how the red man should be treated, which was that individual Indians should be given more liberal treatment in the management of their own affairs. He did not believe in the idea that the Indian should have set over him a perpetual guardian. The Indian office has watched the experiment in Oregon with interest, and the result has been that the Indian appropriation bill this year contains a provision authorizing the Indian office to adopt similar measures where the Indian has made advances toward civilization."

I have seen in the Eastern papers a great many references to Mr. Tongue, his work and his speeches, and all of them are commendatory. His views and opinions are never treated flippanantly in the Eastern press, for he is known to be an intelligent, sensible, honest and diligent member of Congress. H. L. HOLGATE, Washington, D. C., May 24, 1902.

HAVE BOUGHT A MINE

THE UNIVERSAL GOLD EXTRACTING COMPANY IS EXTENDING ITS OPERATIONS.

(From Thursday's Statesman.)

The Universal Gold Mining & Extracting Company, of this city, has secured the property of the old Banner Mining Company, of Oroville, and has ordered constructed a five-ton capacity agitator which, when completed, will be given a thorough test by Mr. Long to ascertain to a certainty its adaptability for the work and, if it proves successful it will be forwarded to Oroville immediately and the work of erecting a plant begun at once.

The company's agents will proceed to Oroville on Tuesday of next week, purchase the machinery capable of operating a twenty-ton plant to which capacity it is proposed to be increased as soon as practicable.

The agitator will be built in a day or two and it is calculated that the entire plant will be complete and in operation within the next sixty days.

The company has secured options on a number of blocks of tailings at advantageous prices and plants will be erected and operated at each of these places in the near future.

HOW THE CHIMNEY-SWIFT GOT ITS NAME.

Occasionally a bird is strong-minded enough to break away from old traditions. Before this country was settled the swift nested in hollow trees; but after trees began to be cut down and chimneys arose above the roofs of houses everywhere, the birds were quick to perceive that fires are generally out by the time their nesting season arrives; therefore why not take advantage of the innovation? So completely did they forsake their old nesting sites to build in chimneys that the name chimney-swift is now universally applied to them.—Ladies Home Journal.

CLOSING DAY AT CHEMAWA

Interesting Commencement Exercises to be Held Today

THE PRESENTATION OF A MEMORIAL WINDOW WILL BE ONE OF THE FEATURES OF THE DAYS PROGRAM—A GOOD BASEBALL GAME.

(From Wednesday's Statesman.)

The twenty-second anniversary exercises of the United States Indian Training School at Chemawa will be held today at the school. Gov. T. T. Geer will present the diplomas to the graduates of the school, and Prof. W. C. Hawley, of Willamette University, will deliver the annual address to the class. The program is as follows:

1:00 p. m.—Band concert.

2:00 p. m.—Dress parade and general military drill.

3:00 p. m.—Class exercises and presentation of memorial window to the school.

4:00 p. m.—Baseball game between Willamette University and Chemawa.

6:30 p. m.—Band concert.

7:30 p. m.—Graduating exercises.

All those wishing to attend the exercises can do so and return by train, as Supt. T. W. Potter has made arrangements with the Southern Pacific Company to have the south-bound overland train stop at Chemawa at 10:20 p. m., and bring the Salem visitors back to this city. The public generally is invited to attend the exercises, and bring well-filled lunch baskets.

At Mute School.

The Oregon School for the Deaf held its closing exercises yesterday. The chapel was full of people, many being from Salem and parents of the children from different parts of the state. The exercises commenced with an invocation by Dr. H. A. Ketchum, pastor of the Presbyterian church, and a song by the "Beck Family." Oral exercises were conducted by two of the teachers which showed the progress of the children in lip reading and in speech. These teachers causing the dumb to speak, and though imperfectly, it must be a great joy to the children and their parents; also the children have eyes to see in the motion of the lips what few of the spectators could behold. One man from a distant county, whose child is in the school, and took part in the exercises, could hardly restrain his joy, and over and over in my hearing he praised the state of Oregon for its provision for the deaf mutes. The children's skill in writing and in language is worthy of all praise. In the Industrial Department, we saw tables, charity boxes, and other cabinet work which the scholars had made. The closing remarks of the superintendent were read by one of the instructors and interpreted to the deaf by him. His review of the year's work and his advice to the children were practical, sensible and of an excellent spirit. The teachers seem to be up to date and devoted to their work.

A NEW ACTION FILED

THE OREGON PACKING COMPANY SUES THE ALLEN COMPANY—FORECLOSURE SUIT.

The Oregon Packing Co., yesterday instituted an action in the second department of the State Circuit Court against the Allen Packing Company, demanding a decree of foreclosure of a mortgage upon the defendant's cannery factory property in this city to recover the sum of $14,525.08, with interest at 8 per cent from September 1, 1901, and for $1400 attorneys' fees.

The plaintiff alleges in the complaint that the defendant, on the date above mentioned, executed and delivered to the defendant its promissory note in the sum of $45,233.33, bearing interest at 8 per cent, and that in order to secure payment of the note the defendant executed and delivered to the plaintiff a mortgage upon its cannery plant situated on Trade and 12th streets in this city.

That the defendant has only paid upon said note the sum of $32,341.79, and the plaintiff sues for the balance upon said note and asks that the property be sold, as provided by law, and that the amount realized from said sale be applied to the settlement of the note. Carey & Mays are the plaintiff's attorneys.

In Supreme Court.

In the Supreme Court yesterday minor orders were made in cases pending as follows:

M. S. Crossan, respondent, vs. W. D. Grandy, appellant, ordered on motion that appellant have until June 30th to complete the transcript and file his brief.

E. W. Oliver, appellant, vs. Oregon Sugar Co., respondent, ordered on motion that appellant have until June 30th to complete his transcript and file his brief.

U. S. Mortgage & Trust Co., respondent, vs. P. L. Willis, appellant, ordered that appellant's time to serve and file his reply brief be extended five days.

"NOTHING SUCCEEDS LIKE SUCCESS."

The Oregon Fire Relief Association has been a success ever since it began business in January, 1895, and is now growing faster than ever before.

Its annual report of December 31, 1901, shows a net gain in amount of insurance in force of $2,628,787, which is 50 per cent more than the net gain of any previous year. It paid 125 losses during the year amounting to $22,600.
