

THE TURNER CAMP MEETING

Ministerial Association Held Its Annual Meeting Yesterday

INTERESTING SERVICES HELD IN THE BIG TABERNACLE—REV. C. R. SCOVILLE, THE EVANGELIST, PREACHES THE INTRODUCTORY SERMON OF THE SERIES.

TURNER, Or., June 21.—Last evening at 7:30 a song service was conducted at the campmeeting by Prof. Wirtz, as preface to the first regular preaching service of the convention.

Mrs. G. A. Wirtz sang a solo with good effect. Dr. Chas. R. Scoville then preached a most interesting sermon to an attentive audience. Dr. Scoville is an animated and eloquent speaker and his discourses during the convention promise a rich treat for all who hear.

This morning at 9:30 Harry Benton led a devotional service. A. J. Armstrong gave an address on the topic, "Our Attitude Toward Our Religious Neighbors."

At 2:30 this afternoon J. B. Holmes led a praise service. At 3 o'clock B. B. Burton, evangelist in Oregon, read a paper on "The Preacher in His Study." Among other things he said the importance of hard and persistent work in the study can hardly be over-estimated. Genius alone dies unknown and unfelt. Nine times out of ten the minutiae and disturbances in church arise on account of insufficient ratings.

The sermon should be kept up, it is more profitable than a little chit-chatting here and there. It is not enough that the preacher is devout, spiritual, etc. He must discover new devices of saying and explaining the lessons of truth so that he may not be dull in the preaching. Truth is enforced by being clothed in the drapery of poetry at times. The rugged truth is made beautiful.

First, arrange the sermon without the introduction. Let the sermon be the introduction. Prepare enough to preach an hour, and then stop in twenty or twenty-five minutes. We are living in the days of hasty and extracts. Be careful as to using splices.

G. F. Ghormley conducted a question box at this time, making brief answers to the various queries put in. This proved a helpful feature to the session, and considerable interest was manifested.

The business part of the association then came, a part of which business and reports are here given:

The committee on future work filed its report as follows:

"We recommend that the churches grant their ministers leave of absence which will enable them to attend sessions of the association. We urge the preachers to take advantage of the opportunity to attend and give such time and attention to this work as it rightfully merits.

"We recommend that the association continue its sessions as heretofore, in connection with the O. C. M. C. at Turner."

"ALBYN ESSON, J. B. LISTER, Committee."

The report was adopted by the association.

The roll of ministers, elders and evangelists at Turner this year is as follows, as shown by the report on membership:

Schnabel petitioned for the appointment as guardian of the person and estate of Bridget Shields, insane, representing that said estate was valued at $300, and the court ordered that citation issue to Bridget Shields to appear in court on Monday, July 2, 1922, to show cause, if any there be, why the petitioner's prayer should not be granted.

A. O. Condit, filed his report showing that he had a final settlement with Emmett R. Shella, and Claude Boone, minors of H. E. Boone, deceased, and the court ordered that he be discharged from his trust as guardian, and released from further liability.

WORKMEN AND THE DEGREE

Enjoyed an Evening of Rare Entertainment Last Night

AT THE HOME OF MR. AND MRS. FRANK DAVEY—A LAWN RECEPTION TO THE VICTORIOUS DEGREE TEAM—MUSIC AND REFRESHMENTS.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

One of the pleasantest social affairs of the season in Salem, occurred last evening, at the home of Hon. and Mrs. Frank Davey, the occasion being the lawn reception tendered the A. O. U. W. drill team by Protection and Valley lodges, A. O. U. W., and Salem and Viola Degree of Honor lodges on the lawn at the Davey home.

This team, comprised of members of the two Workmen lodges in this city, and captained by S. A. McFadden, on Saturday night, June 14th, in the Exposition building at Portland, before the Supreme Lodge won the first prize in the competitive drill, in a contest with the leading lodges of Portland, and the local lodges wished to show their appreciation of the excellent work done by the members of the team, hence the reception.

The beautiful lawn at the Davey home at No. 138 Mill street, sloping down to Mill creek, was filled with Workmen, members of the Degree of Honor and their families last evening, and under the scores of Chinese lanterns and the electric lights, it was an animated and inspiring scene when this team of twelve stalwart Workmen, headed by their captain, S. A. McFadden, appeared on the scene. The members were dressed in their natty sailor uniforms—blue sailor blouses, white duck trousers and blue sailor caps—and their appearance was greeted with a round of cheers. The team was soon followed by the Salem Military Band, and the games, indulged in by a large part of the company up to that time, gave place to an informal musical and literary program, enjoyed to the full in the balmy evening air, and every member was vigorously applauded by the large and happy company.

At 10 o'clock a space in the form of a large room was cleared, the company occupying chairs about this space, and the team gave an exhibition drill, the same that won the prize in Portland. The intricate movements of the drill corps were executed with a precision and faithfulness to detail that would have challenged the admiration of the strictest military martinet, and cheer upon cheer voiced the appreciation of the company, at the excellence of the work of Captain S. A. McFadden, and a dozen of "bluejackets." It was a grand performance, and the participants may well be proud of their achievement; as the Workmen and the ladies of the Degree of Honor certainly are.

Following the drill by the team several more musical numbers were rendered, while the ladies arranged tables under the trees, and delicious refreshments were served, the entire company partaking of ice cream, cake and other reasonable and dainty delicacies, always so well prepared and charmingly served by the ladies of the Degree, and all enjoyed this phase of the evening's entertainment, if anything, better than the rest. It was a late hour when the company finally dispersed, delighted with the evening's enjoyment, and all voted Mr. and Mrs. Davey, and Miss Davey, the most delightful of entertainers. In fact, the complete success of the function was largely due to the hospitable family at whose home it was enjoyed.

Roland and his force of deputies experienced a very quiet day, so far as the filing of records was concerned, only three realty transfers having been filed, the considerations aggregating $4290. Siegmund spent the greater portion of the day this morning and took his first course of instructions as to the duties of the office and the manner of recording the different instruments of record preparatory to assuming control when he is sworn into office, on Monday, June 7th, Mr. Roland and his deputies are kept quite busy in their endeavors to catch up with the vast amount of work which is on hand. AN ACCIDENT IN PORTLAND

Four Men Injured by the Explosion of Alcohol

TWO MEN IN EXAMINING A BARREL FILLED WITH ALCOHOL, STRIKE A LIGHT, AND A TERRIFIC EXPLOSION WAS THE RESULT.

Four men burned or injured, one fatally, is the result of an explosion of a barrel of alcohol, in Portland yesterday, and the wonder is that more people were not hurt, for the accident happened in a cracker factory where over 100 people are employed. The Portland Telegram of last evening, in telling the details of the awful accident says:

Four men were burned or injured, one fatally, by the explosion of a barrel of alcohol in the factory building of the Pacific Coast Biscuit Company, corner of Eleventh and Davis streets, at 10:30 o'clock this morning. The explosion shook the building from the cellar to the roof, and caused a panic among the 100 or more employes, many of whom were girls. They rushed pell-mell down the stairs to the street, and several were overcome by the excitement. None, however, was injured. The fire resulting from the explosion did less than $1000 damage, being extinguished by the automatic sprinklers.

The biscuit factory is a big three-story structure, which occupies half a block fronting on Davis street, between Eleventh and Twelfth. The third floor is used almost exclusively for a shipping and boxing department. It was here that the explosion occurred. Adam Brill, assistant foreman, and James Griffin, an assistant in the shipping department, were examining a barrel of what they supposed contained vanilla extract, in an endeavor to find out how much was in the barrel.

It was too dark for them to see without a light, so Brill got a piece of paper, set fire to it and held it over the hole in the top of the barrel. He was about to peer in when there was a terrific explosion. The barrel contained alcohol instead of vanilla extract. Griffin, who stood in front of the barrel, was thrown about 10 feet, his body a veritable ball of fire. The burning alcohol literally covered him from head to foot. The concussion broke his right leg.

He fell against Lee Rosseter, the assistant shipping clerk, whose clothes were immediately set on fire. Unmindful of his own danger, however, Rosseter fought bravely to save Griffin from the flames.

Henry Moy, a boy helper, in attempting to brush the fire from Rosseter's clothes burned his own hands and one foot.

Adam Brill, who was close to the barrel when the explosion occurred, had a remarkable escape. Although he was burned some by the blazing spirits, most of it went toward Griffin, and Brill's injuries are not considered serious, though they are extremely painful.

The report of the explosion, the cries of the injured, and then the cry of fire caused a stampede among the employes. They were about 30 people, including many girls, at work on the floor where the fire started, and all gazed madly for the stairs. The latter are wide and easily accessible, and these facts probably prevented a more serious catastrophe.

The explosion shook every window in the big building, and was heard by people outside.

An alarm of fire was sent in from box 3, at the corner of Everett and Tenth streets, and the firemen were quickly on the scene. But their services were not needed, for the automatic sprinklers had made short work of the flames.

The fire damage is trifling, but the loss by water will be fully $1000, as a large amount of the finished stock, ready for shipment, was badly soaked.

The barrel which exploded was a 50-gallon tank, and it is a wonder to the firemen that the results were not more disastrous. The company officials were unable to account for the explosion, as the rules are very strict in regard to the use of fire.

The statement that Brill held a lighted paper to the barrel was made by Griffin, at the hospital, this afternoon. He said they thought that it contained vanilla extract; in fact, he still thinks so.

Griffin's burns are of a most serious nature, and little hope is entertained for his recovery. Drs. Cardwell and Tilsner were called immediately after the fire, and they ordered all four men sent to the Good Samaritan hospital.

At that institution it was decided that Rosseter, Brill and Moy could go to their homes for treatment. Dr. E. H. Thornton dressed their wounds. Griffin is 50 years old and single. He lived at 38 East First street, and had been employed by the Biscuit Company several years.

It is impossible as yet to determine whether it was attempted murder or suicide.

CONGRESS ON THE CANAL

The House Has a Majority to Concur With Senate

IF TIME LIMIT IS FIXED Within Which Panama Route May Be Selected

THE PHILIPPINE GOVERNMENT BILL IN THE HOUSE CAUSES A SHARP DEBATE, INCIDENTS OF THE CIVIL WAR BEING THE SUBJECT OF DISCUSSION.

WASHINGTON, June 23.—Friends of the Panama project have been making a canvass of the strength of the Senate amendment in the House, and are confident that a motion to concur can command a majority. This, however, may become complicated by the propositions to attach conditions to the concurrence, one of the conditions under discussion being the time limit for the period of negotiations to secure a perfected title.

Philippines Bill.

Washington, June 23.—The debate on the Philippine Civil Government bill warmed up in the House today, and henceforth promises to be of a much livelier character. The increased interest is due to the injection into the debate of a comparison of the cruelties charged to have been practiced in the Philippines, with those which occurred during the Civil War.

Roosevelt a Veto.

Washington, June 23.—President Roosevelt has sent to the House a veto of the bill removing the charge of desertion from the record of Ephraim Gallon, who served in a Tennessee Regiment during the Civil War.

He Will Retire.

Washington, June 23.—The Post tomorrow will say: "General O. L. Spaulding, First Assistant Secretary of the Treasury, has been definitely notified by Secretary Shaw that he is to retire."

Pacific Subsidy Bill.

Washington, June 23.—Representatives Jones, of Washington, and Stevens, of Minnesota, have met a temporary setback in their efforts to secure the passage in the House of the bill providing a subsidy of 10 per cent for steamers sailing between the Philippines and Pacific ports. When the bill came up on Monday afternoon of last week it met quite unexpectedly made a party measure through the efforts of Messrs. Richardson, Underwood, Clayton and other Democrats, and a number of members of that side who originally had intended to support it were therefore unable to do so. The bill is still on the House calendar, and it is likely that another opportunity to call it up will come before the adjournment of the session.

Stevens and Jones believe that the Northwest will be greatly benefited by this legislation. All forage, feed and other auxiliary supplies for the Philippines, as the result of it, would be purchased in the Northwestern states and loaded on steamers at Pacific ports. Besides, the bill carries the form of subsidy that Mr. Stevens favors. He has strongly opposed the Frye subsidy bill, which went through the Senate several months ago, for reasons which the Northwest endorses, and this 10 per cent bill is a direct subsidy, and there is no mistaking that under it new lines of steamers would be brought into existence. None of the money would go to lines already operating.

The same bill is in the senate, which has referred it to the commerce committee. Senator Frye is the chairman of this committee, and it is believed that he is delaying a report on it because of his desire to use it as a club with which to bring around Mr. Stevens and his followers of the House committee to the support of the Frye bill. When an effort was made recently to get the bill up in the commerce committee, Senator Frye remarked: "There is no particular hurry about this matter. A bill which came from this committee and passed the Senate, has for a long time been in the keeping of the House committee on merchant marine and fisheries, and I think that we ought to wait awhile and see what that committee does with it before acting on this 10 per cent bill."

Representative Jones, who, in the 56th Congress stood with Mr. Stevens in opposition to the Hanna-Frye subsidy bill, in this session supporting the Frye bill, referred to in the foregoing quotation. It is possible that this change of heart has been caused by his desire to secure the passage of the 10 per cent bill, which would do a great deal for the Puget Sound country.

A GREAT INDIGNITY AN INDIAN WHO HAD BEEN WHIPPED BY HIS MOTHER-IN-LAW SUICIDES.

EL PASO, Tex., June 23.—Jung Mica, a full-blood Acoma Pueblo Indian, residing near Las Cruces, N. M., has committed suicide because he was whipped by his mother-in-law. Mica had a quarrel with his wife and she whipped her. He was in turn whipped by his mother-in-law. Unable to bear up under the indignity, he blew out his brains. This is the first suicide ever reported among the Acoma Pueblo, and the old tribesmen attribute to the education received by Mica at the Government schools.

James Coleman, who resides about four miles southeast of this city, yesterday brought in to the Penitentiary a convict's shirt and other articles of convict wearing apparel, he found upon his premises, which were discarded by the escaped convicts, Tracy and Merrill, during the first day of their flight.
