NEWSPAPER MEN TO MEET

ANNUAL CONVENTION TO BE HELD AT NEWPORT THIS MONTH—GOOD PROGRAM.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Frank S. Harding, president of the Oregon Press Association, has issued a call for the annual meeting of that organization to be held at Newport, August 14th to 17th. It was at Newport that the Association was formed.

A good program has been arranged, and there promises to be an average attendance. Hon. M. L. Pipes, the first president of the Oregon Press Association, will deliver an address on "The Libel Law;" D. M. C. Gault, another ex-president, will read a paper on "Needed Newspaper Legislation," and Mrs. Edith Tozier Wetherred, a member of the governing board of the International League of Press Clubs, will read a paper on "Women in Journalism."

Mr. Harding goes to Newport this week to arrange the program there. The Association will hold morning and night sessions, while the afternoons will be devoted to surf bathing and other pleasures. It is intended to devote a portion of the session to a discussion of measures which the Association will have brought before the next session of the Oregon Legislature. Several members of the Association are in favor of indorsing a newspaper man for Speaker of the next House, and thereby strengthen their demands. One prominent member favors the passage of the following resolution by the Association:

"Resolved, That the Oregon Press Association favors the election of a member of the press as Speaker of the next House of the Oregon Legislature, and also favors the election of a newspaper man as United States Senator."

RAINS IN COLORADO

THE DROUTH IS BROKEN AND THE SITUATION IS MUCH IMPROVED.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 5.—The drouth which has prevailed in Colorado for several weeks was relieved by a heavy shower today. A cloudburst occurred south of the city, and the railways were washed between Colorado Springs and Pueblo. The rains have greatly improved irrigation and the stock situation.

BUILDING BALLOONS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 5.—Major Ruber and a detachment of the Signal Service Balloon Corps, under First Lieutenant Clifton and Sergeant Bledsoe, of Fort Meyer, near Washington, are now stationed at Frankfort, says a World dispatch from Utica, N. Y., in the interest of the Government in supervising the construction of eleven captive hydrogen gas balloons being made for use in the naval demonstration to be made by Rear Admiral Higginson with the squadron off the Atlantic coast late in August. The first balloon has been practically completed, and a most successful test has been made by the government officials. Controlled by a kersesene oil motor windlass, the balloon is said to have made flights of nearly a quarter of a mile in thirty seconds, and then was slowed, checked and reversed and was brought to the ground in three or four minutes with two to four passengers each time, none of whom could immediately detect the stop or reversed movement at the top, although the wind was brisk and at times quite severe.

WEATHER AND CROPS

EXCELLENT HARVESTING SEASON AND YIELDS ARE ENCOURAGING—HOPS.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The weekly report of the Oregon Section of the Weather Bureau, for the seven days ending last Monday evening shows the condition of the crops in Oregon very satisfactory. The general summary of the report is as follows:

Except a few light showers last Wednesday and Thursday in the northwestern portion of the state, no rain has fallen during the week. The temperatures have been seasonable, and there has been an abundance of bright sunshine, making altogether, excellent harvesting weather.

The fall wheat harvest is nearly completed in Southern Oregon, well advanced in the Willamette valley, and making good progress in the eastern sections of the state. Threshing will be general this week. Spring wheat is filling and ripening nicely. The oat crop promises to be above the average. In the Umatilla district wheat will probably turn out better than expected a few weeks ago. In the section about Marion county, it is not thought the fall grain yields will be as heavy as last year, but the spring sown grain is doing nicely. In some few sections of Lane county the reports are that Club spring wheat is badly injured by rust.

Hops are doing well and no complaint is made of lice being sufficiently numerous to cause damage. All late crops, including corn and potatoes, would be benefited by rain. Pastures are drying up fast, but stock continues in good condition. The outlook for a good crop of late apples in the Hood River and Ashland districts is excellent. Early peaches and blackberries are plentiful in the market.

Coast District.

Clatsop, Clatsop county, E. T. Stafford.—Week favorable for haying, except for a shower Wednesday; pasture is becoming a little dry; root crops would be better for rain, though they are not suffering.

Luda, Coos county, G. G. Swan—Weather continues warm with cool nights; a fine crop of oat hay is being cut and housed; wheat, barley and oats fine; corn is making rapid growth; potatoes bid fair to be a heavy crop; fruit, one-fourth of a crop.

Seal Rock, Lincoln county, O. D. Clark—The first of the week was windy and a little rain Thursday, but not enough to damage hay; the rain will benefit the late gardens; haying on highlands finished; gardens look well; barley ready to cut.

Southern Oregon.

Beagle, Jackson county, M. A. Houston—Weather warm and dry; most all farmers done heading grain; crop good. Some threshers have started up, but cannot say how grain is turning out; fruit is doing well.

Rice Hill, Douglas county, L. H. Calame—Grain harvest progressing, and the greater portion of the crop is in the shock; some grain is stacked; past week quite cool and a little cloudy, but no rain fell.

Columbia River Valley.

Grass Valley, Sherman county, H. M. Wilcox—Warm, dry and cool nights with wind from west and northwest; grain filling well; spring grain fair; thrashing will begin in about ten days.

Olex, Gilliam county, W. G. Fleet—Harvesting is in progress; the crop has passed all danger from hot winds; grain is plump and promises a good yield; gardens are doing fairly well.

Gooseberry, Morrow county, C. E. Lundell—First of week very warm, followed by high winds which shattered the ripe grain considerably; latter part cool; heading is in active progress.

Pendleton, Umatilla county, H. J. Taylor—The weather is favorable for harvesting, which is progressing nicely; no wheat yet threshed in this neighborhood; most of the grain being stacked; crop will turn out better than was expected, although it is shriveled some.

Hood River, Wasco county, R. E. Harbison—The valley was visited by a hard rain Wednesday evening, accompanied by hail and heavy thunder, doing much good to growing crops; the hail being fine, caused no damage; hay crop was good, and a large surplus has been baled; grain is in stack, but no thrashing has been done; the apple crop will be large.

Willamette Valley.

Newberg, Yamhill county, J. W. Moore—Weather fine; corn and potatoes doing well; about one-half of the winter wheat in shock; oats coming on in fine shape; clover and timothy nearly all housed; crop good; light shower Thursday; pastures are getting dry; blackberries ripening.

Hillsboro, Washington county, Grant Mann—Grain ripening fast; fall grain mostly in shock; grass is drying up fast; apples are falling badly especially in old orchards; slight shower Thursday; no damage to crops.

Philomath, Benton county, Jos. A. Park—Wheat is well filled, and most of the fall sown is ready to cut; spring oats will be short unless rain falls soon; potatoes need rain.

Salem, R. F. D., Polk county, P. F. Clark—Winter wheat and oats mostly in the shock; yield will fall below the average; oats, however, are very near average; it is thought spring wheat will be an average crop; potatoes doing well; hay about all housed; two thrashers will start this week; weather fine for harvest; rain would help corn and potatoes; apples and pears will be extra large; blackberries ripening; crop good; hops all right, no lice to cause damage.

Albany, Linn county, J. W. Propst—Haying all done; fall wheat in the shock; spring grain ripening; thrashers have started; grass getting dry; apples seem to be plentiful; late gardens need rain.

Plateau Region.

Union, Union county John W. Minnic—Weather fine for haying; not many have finished stacking; grain cutting is in operation; range grass is drying up fast; stock continue to take on flesh; hay and grain crops are good and will be saved in excellent condition.

PLENTY OF TIMBER FOR PULP.

The often reiterated statement that the present consumption of paper would result in all the forests of the country being eaten by the paper pulp mills in the early future is controverted by an optimist who has figured the pulp possibilities of the timber of Canada and found it adequate to meet the demands of North America for 840 years.

DENVER, Colo., Aug. 5.—Mrs. Sarah Nester, who has been blind for seven years, claims to have recovered her eye sight in a miraculous manner. She says that while praying, a white light broke upon here eyes and soon she was able to distinguish objects. Her vision, she declares, is now nearly as good as before she became blind.

HOP HARVEST DRAWS NEAR

The Outlook for a Crop of Fine Quality Is Good

GROWERS HAVE TAKEN PAINS TO PRODUCE GOOD HOPS AND THEY HAVE BEEN AIDED BY THE BEST OF WEATHER CONDITIONS.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The hop harvest is gradually drawing near and the outlook is exceedingly gratifying to the Oregonians interested in this valuable crop. From all portions of the Willamette valley the most encouraging reports are being received and the growers generally are jubilant at the splendid prospects for a good, clean crop of excellent hops, for which the best price in two decades will be realized.

The hop yards around Salem, and in fact throughout the valley, are indeed in excellent condition. Growers have learned, by bitter experience, that to neglect their yards is to deliberately throw away money, and this year all growers—with a very few exceptions—have devoted their titme and energy to the best possible care of the yards, with flattering results—the yards are clean, the vines in splendid condition and trailing on the wires and poles, and heavily laden, promising a golden yield to the scareful and painstaking growers.

But it is not the work of the growers alone that is responsible for this condition of things, for the weather had something to do with it. The Willamette valley has this summer enjoyed most favorable weather conditions, especially for hops, and the result is a clean, heavy growth. The present warm and dry weather is especially good for hops. The heat improves the quality and reduces the weight, thus making the hops far more valuable. Spraying has been generally resorted to in a great many yards, and as a result lice have entirely disappeared in them; in those yards, however, where no spraying was done, lice are prevalent, but are doing no damage, as the heat stops the multiplication of the pest.

As said above, most of the yards are in excellent condition, but in a few cases the pards are poor. In one or two large yards, it is reported, that the outlook is bad, and one grower stated yesterday that he had seen one yard of 90 acres which was so poor that he would not exchange the crop of his eleven-acre yard for it.

There is little more contracting expected as the growers who have not yet contracted their crops are generally able to harvest and market their crops on their own capital.

The question of harvesting the crop is receiving much attention, and growers generally expect to have sufficient help to pick their crops in good time. Forty cents is the price generally agreed upon, and this promises to be the ruling price, though in some poor yards or in the cases of isolated yards, a little more will probably be paid. Pickers generally agree that 40 cents a box is a good price, and excellent wages can be made by the industrious at those figures.

James Winstanley, Secretary of the Oregon Hop Growers' Association, yesterday received a letter from Morris Terry, a prominent New York grower, who says of the hop crop in that state:

"The dealers are all going West; can't buy here. The growers who have any vine are getting scared. It looks like a bad blight. Twenty thousand bales is a large estimate for our state. Your hop growers will get a big price if they don't make fools of themselves. Say to them to keep their acreage down where it is and they will make some money in the next few years."

He gives the following estimates:

	bales
Oregon	75,000
Washington	30,000
California	40,000
New York	20,000
Total	165,000

Mr. Terry continues:

"We cannot tell how much this blight will lessen the crop; the weather is bad, rainy and hot; bad for spraying. The crop may be one-half of the present outlook. Three-fourths of the yards are not higher than a man's head."

JOINED THE MANHUNT

WALTER LYON AND A. C. DILLEY BELIEVED TO BE ON WAY TO SPOKANE.

Capt. Walter Lyon, Private Secretary to Gov. T. T. Geer, and Deputy Warden A. C. Dilley, of the State Penitentiary, who went to Portland on Monday evening, ostensibly for a brief visit, are believed to have gone to Spokane, where they will join the officers now after Harry Tracy. The two men said nothing publicly about going on his errand, and the officers here are reticent about the matter. Supt. J. D. Lee said last night that Deputy Warden Dilley was off for a few days' vacation. It is said that two of the new Winchester 30-30 rifles were taken along, and the next heard of the two absentees will be when they join the posse of Sheriffs Cudihee, Gardner and Doust near Spokane. Captain Dilley knows Tracy well, and his presence will be welcomed by the Washington officers.

COUNTY COURT CONVENES

Although several matters of minor importance were taken up for consideration no action was taken upon them and the day was devoted, for the most part, to the auditing of bills, a portion of those having been allowed and ordered paid were the following:

BIG EXPRESS ROBBERY

BRAVE MESSENGER SUCCESSFULLY STOOD OFF EIGHT MEN—OUTLAW DEAD.

MOUNT CARROLL, Ill., Aug. 6.—A daring and successful train robbery occurred at Marcus, on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy Railway, five miles north of Savannah, about midnight. The vestibuled passenger train of eleven coaches was flagged at the little station and six masked men boarded the engine. The engineer and fireman obeyed the orders of the robbers and at once uncoupled the engine and express car from the train and ran them a quarter of a mile up the track. The robbers then blew up the express car with dynamite, ran the engine not a mile from Hanover, abandoned it and escaped.

One of the highwaymen was killed, probably by mistake by one of his comrades. Six sacks of money were secured, but the amount is not known. The passengers were not molested. Four explosions were required to complete the dsctruction of the safe and the car was badly wrecked. The robbers were eight in number, all masked. Evidently they were railroad men, one being a good engineer. William Byl, the messenger, fired five shots at the robbers, but without effect, and an attempt was made to blow him up in his car.

The bandits had arranged to ditch the entire train, had not the signal to stop been heeded. Several passengers in the buffet car, including the porter, were held prisoners during the struggle to crack the safe. The body of the dead robber was put on the tender and carried by the others a short distance and then thrown into the weeds. The dead robber was a stranger in this vicinity. He was a middle-aged man and well-dressed.

There was no way to telegraph in news of the hold-up, and the flagman walked back and gave the alarm. A special train of citizens and several policemen at once proceeded to the scene, but as the track runs along the Mississippi, and the country is well adapted to a successful flight, the robbers easily escaped. The work was evidently that of experts as they went at it coolly and methodically. The train attacked is one of the finest in the world and usually carried considerable money, which must have been known by the highwaymen.

A Purse for Byl.

Chicago, Aug. 6.—In the official account of the robbery issued by the management of the C., B. & Q. Railway, it is stated that as far as known only $2,000 in silver was secured. Announcement was made by the officials of both the Burlington road and the Adams Express Company that a purse of $1,000 would be made up by the two companies and given to Express Messenger Byl for his bravery.

PRESIDENT AT SEA

HE WITNESSED SPLENDID WORK ON THE MAYFLOWER—GOOD SHOOTING DONE.

GREENPORT, L. I., Aug. 6.—President Roosevelt participated on board the Mayflower in mimic warfare today. The manoeuvers which the ship executed were precisely those which might have to be gone through in an active battle. The shooting of the winning gun crew was phenomenally good.

With an average range of 1,500 years they made 30 per cent of hits. They fired twenty shots and made sixteen hits, two of them bulls eyes.
