

GOOD ROADS CONVENTION

Salem Was Represented at the Meeting Yesterday

HELD BY THE CHAMBER OF COMMERCE IN PORTLAND TO ARRANGE FOR A CONVENTION IN OCTOBER—LESSONS IN ROAD BUILDING WILL BE GIVEN.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

County Judge J. H. Scott and Hon. H. B. Thielens returned last evening from Portland where, representing the Marion county court and Greater Salem Commercial Club, respectively, they attended a meeting of the Portland Chamber of Commerce, yesterday afternoon. This meeting was called and held for the purpose of giving Mr. James W. Abbott, who represents the Roads Division of the United States Department of Agriculture, an audience in view of making arrangements for the holding of a Good Roads Convention in Portland during the week of October between the 13th and 15th.

As stated in yesterday morning's Statesman, the Government, in the interest of good roads started a trainload of road machinery, in charge of experts and the best authority, over the Great Northern railroad to make a tour of the Pacific Northwest and give object lessons in roadbuilding, and Messrs. Scott and Thielens' prime object in attending the meeting was to try to arrange for a convention to be held in Salem during the coming fall, but since it has been announced that the train would not visit the Coast on account of the lateness of the season, they joined hands with the Portland Chamber of Commerce to prevail upon the Northern Pacific Company to bring the train over its lines so as to give practical road building exhibitions during the conventions to be held at Spokane, Seattle and Portland. Before the meeting adjourned yesterday it was decided that the Portland Chamber of Commerce bring its influence to bear upon the Northern Pacific with this end in view and there is every reason to believe that in this they will be successful.

Whatever the outcome of this heroic endeavor it is a settled matter as to the holding of the good roads convention in Portland, and Judge Scott and Mr. Thielens have resolved, both being enthusiastic on the subject of good roads, to secure a good attendance from Marion county to this convention.

As to the matter of making an effort to arrange for a good roads convention at the Fair Grounds during the 1933 State Fair, and to securing the trainload of machinery for the occasion, Mr. Thielens said that, as the Government only made an appropriation for one year, this would be impossible unless another appropriation was made next year.

LABOR DAY CELEBRATION

FEDERATED TRADES COUNCIL DECIDES ON HOLDING A PARADE ON THAT DAY.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The Federated Trades Council held another meeting last night, and it was definitely decided to hold a parade on Labor Day—September 1st—preceding the meeting at Marion Square where the exercises of the afternoon will be held. The Salem merchants generally have agreed to close their stores on the afternoon of Labor Day, and the city will present a holiday appearance.

A committee has been appointed to secure a band for the parade, and another committee will solicit prizes from the merchants to be awarded on Labor Day.

The members are enthusiastic regarding the outlook for the success of this holiday, and they promise the public an interesting program for the afternoon.

BUFFALO BILL'S GAUCHOS

THE URUGUAYAN HORSEMEN WHO USE THE BOLAS—HOW THEY SUBDUED HORSES.

The "Bolas"—three metal balls united by long thongs—which the Uruguayan Gauchos in Buffalo Bill's Wild West use for all the purposes for which cowboys and vaqueros employ the lariat, seems to be a very effective implement, but likely to be even more abrupt and painful in action, if used vigorously, than the rope. Those balls are liable to hurt when their whirling stops. But it is interesting to see how the thing works, in the hands of its masters. There are various ways, practiced by different peoples, for teaching young horses the unwelcome lessons of submission, obedience and toil. The cowboy's way is probably the most quickly efficient, as it is the roughest. He simply lights the beast to a finish. The Gaucho of Uruguay, whose profession is analogous to that of the cowboy, goes at the work in very different style. He does not awaken the animal's obstinacy, but persuades him gently. It is no doubt a good way if one has time for it. Anyway, the Gauchos with Buffalo Bill's Wild West show themselves superb horsemen. If they were not they could not be there. The Wild West will be seen here on August 23th.

TWO MINOR ORDERS

MADE BY THE SUPREME COURT IN CASES PENDING ON APPEAL.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

In the Supreme Court, yesterday, orders were made in cases pending on appeal. They are: Idonia Stinchcombe, appellant, vs. The New York Life Insurance Company, respondent; ordered on stipulation that appellant be relieved from preparing a printed abstract and cause be heard on transcript without a printed abstract.

In the matter of the estate of John W. Holman, deceased; ordered on stipulation that contestants of will have until and including October 1st in which to prepare and file brief.

STATE FAIR THIS YEAR

Will Be Crowded by Exhibits As Never Before in Its History

PRESIDENT WEHRUNG TELLS ABOUT THE DIFFICULTIES CONFRONTING THE MANAGEMENT IN PROVIDING SPACE FOR ALL WHO APPLY—A SPLENDID EXPOSITION.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

"It is a serious question with the State Fair management to find space for all of the applications this year," said W. H. Wehrung, president of the State Fair Board, in an interview yesterday. "The livestock paddocks are completed, and there are over 500 stalls in all, but even this number, which is much larger than usual, will be crowded, and I am afraid it will be necessary to double up, in some instances. The management prepared for a much larger number of exhibitors this year and built a number of new additions, but we did not anticipate such a rush as the demand for space has proven on the part of exhibitors. It is puzzling us considerably to arrange things so that exhibitors will not be crowded, and so that their exhibits can be displayed."

"I noticed in yesterday's Portland Telegram an article telling about the 'advertising' craze in Oregon. This 'advertising' has extended to the State Fair. Counties as a whole and exhibitors as individuals never showed such an eagerness before to be represented at the State Fair. The management naturally feels gratified, for it has striven earnestly to make the fair representative of Oregon's industrial wealth. It will prove a rare advertising value this year, because of the many Eastern people looking for homes who will be in attendance. If the resources displayed at the fair will not convince them of Oregon's worth as a desirable place to locate, there is no argument under heaven that will prove strong enough."

"A great deal has already been said of the fine livestock exhibit prepared for this year. I think, however, even the most sanguine will be surprised when they see the display. It will certainly open the eyes of a good many people as to what can be done in Oregon toward breeding fancy stock. Our breeders have been importing the best prizestock of the East, and the favorable conditions in Oregon has brought some of the breeds up to a high state of perfection. The blue ribbon stock exhibitions of the East will not overshadow the livestock show at the State Fair this year."

"The county exhibits will make a showing that will prove a powerful object lesson as to what can be done in this state in the industrial line. More counties than usual will be represented and some of the exhibits they are preparing are not only unique but rarely attractive and of great value. Every county in the state should be represented as the benefits are manifold. The best part of the exhibits, except where otherwise specified, will be used for future exhibits—for the Japan Fair in case we decide to be represented there; for the St. Louis Fair, and for the permanent exhibit at Portland, and later for the Lewis and Clark Fair. Therefore, the gathering of industrial and manufactured exhibits this year is not alone for the benefit that will be derived from the advertisement at the State Fair, but for continuous advertising at the other expositions mentioned. It is a great opportunity for the industrial classes of Oregon, and the progressive ones who are shrewd enough to realize this are taking advantage of it."

REPAIRING THE BRIDGE

The Structure Will Be Open to Travel by Next Saturday

SUPT. S. A. RIGGS PROPOSES TO USE WIRE NETTING FOR THE RAILING ON THE FOOTPATH ACROSS THE RIVER AS THE MOST ECONOMICAL.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The work on the steel bridge across the Willamette river is progressing rapidly, and the indications are that the repairs will be advanced sufficiently to permit the passing of teams by next Saturday morning.

Contractor Royal and his crew of men are at work on the west approach, and they are now finishing up their contract. The floor of the approach has all been laid, with the exception of a small section, all piling has been set, and the finishing touches are being given to the bent supporting the east end of the west approach where it joins the steel span. This will be completed in a day or two, when the work will be finished in a short time.

The east approach has also been rebuilt, and the floor relaid to within twenty feet of the first steel pier. Here a big job awaits Supt. Riggs and his workmen, and this will be undertaken today. It is the removal from the top of the steel pier of the big timbers on which the bridge rests, and the replacing of them with new timbers. This will take several days when this part of the bridge will be ready to be thrown open to traffic. This it is expected will be done about Friday.

The railing on the entire bridge will have to be rebuilt, and the floor of the footpath along the driveway will have to be reconstructed. This will take some time, but the opening of the bridge to travel will not have to wait on this portion of the work.

Supt. S. A. Riggs, who has charge of the work of overseeing the repairs of the bridge has evolved a scheme to save the two counties and the city considerable money and at the same time provide the footpath of the bridge with a better railing than it has had in the past. His plan is to remove the old wooden railing altogether, and put up in its place a wire netting. This, he urges, would be far stronger than the present board railing, and would, therefore, be much safer, and do less damage to the bridge during high winds, as the wind would not have as large a surface to press against, and consequently cause less vibration. He would put on a galvanized wire netting with a 6-inch mesh, four feet wide, and fasten it to the parts about six inches above the floor, thus making a 4½ foot railing, where the present railing is but 3½ feet above the floor. The present railing cost about 70 cents a rod; for material aside from the cost of the posts, while the wire netting, such as he advocates, would cost about 45 to 50 cents. It would last as long as half a dozen wooden railings, would be stronger and, therefore, safer, and aside from the fact that it would be ornamental, it would be a saving to the entire structure. He advocates this wire netting for the outside rail of the footpath for the entire bridge, and will propose his plan to the county courts at once.

He also advocates the stretching of three one-quarter inch galvanized wires between the footpath and the main bridge, on the two main spans of the bridge, and urges this as being stronger, safer and cheaper than the wooden railing now in use. His plan is certainly entitled to consideration, and the authorities could do far worse than to give the matter a trial. Certain it is, the galvanized iron wires would not rot away for years, as does the wooden railing, and for permanency and economy Mr. Riggs' plan certainly has merit.

FOUND HIS LOST TRUNK

A STRANGER IN THE CITY LOSES HIS BAGGAGE—WAS TAKEN BY MISTAKE.

Mr. Frank Carnes, a patron of the Cottage Hotel, was in a peck of trouble yesterday morning, and feared for a time that he had been made the victim of a plot to rob him of his traveling baggage and its contents. A few days ago Mr. Carnes arrived in this city with his wife, being interested in timber lands in this vicinity, and they established their temporary quarters at the Cottage hotel. Not having any room, or immediate use for his baggage he left it stored in the O. R. & N. docks, and to save paying storage, removed the checks from the trunks.

Yesterday morning, however, upon going to see if his baggage was all right, he discovered that one of his trunks was missing and upon inquiry found that it had been taken out that morning, hauled to the ferry, taken across the river where it was loaded into a wagon and hauled away into Polk county. With this much information Mr. Carnes at once secured the services of an officer, Deputy Sheriff J. L. Skipton, and with the proper legal papers in their possession started in pursuit.

While driving along the road in Polk county they met two young men coming to town with the missing trunk in a wagon. An explanation followed in which it developed that the two young men, Frank Lewis and Elliott, had but recently arrived from Ogden, Utah, and were staying with Mr. Elliott's relatives near Lincoln. Young Elliott, being engaged in some work at home, sent Lewis after the trunk which was supposed to have come to Salem by steamer, and this trunk, of Mr. Carnes' which resembled Elliott's trunk very much in appearance was taken by mistake, but as soon as Mr. Elliott saw the trunk he knew it was not his own, and they were bringing it back when met by the deputy sheriff and the owner. The explanation was satisfactory and all concerned indulged in a hearty laugh over the incident.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed, you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

SESSION OF THE COUNCIL

Contract Was Awarded for the Construction of a Sewer

THE NEW ORDINANCE FOR THE BUILDING OF SIDEWALKS IN THE BUSINESS SECTION PASSED—BILLS FOR LUMBER FOR THE BIG BRIDGE.

The common council of the city held an adjourned meeting in the police court room of the city hall last evening, upon which occasion, in the absence of Mayor C. P. Bishop, City Recorder N. J. Judah presided, and all members were present except Burrows, Sims and Griswold. Alderman Walker, having suffered an accident about three months ago by which he received a fracture of the thigh, was in attendance last night for the first time since his accident.

J. C. Thompson, upon petition, was given permission to put a new shingle roof upon the old building known as the "Kansas House."

The bond and application of M. L. Hamilton, for the renewal of liquor license, was approved and license ordered to issue.

In accordance with a published notice asking for bids for the construction of a lateral sewer in block No. 83 of this city, two sealed bids were received and opened before the council last evening. The bids provided that all of the labor and materials were to be furnished by the builder, and were as follows:

Hayhurst & Wilcox	$450
George G. Swart	$34
Upon motion it was ordered that the contract for the construction of the sewer be awarded to Mr. Swart, he being the lowest bidder, and that the work be begun as soon as possible after the proper contracts have been drawn up and signed.

The ordinance providing for the construction of cement sidewalks, establishing the grade for same and a uniform curbline in a certain district in this city, outlined in the same ordinance, which was referred to the ordinance committee at the last meeting with instructions to amend so as to include more territory in the limits, was taken up and read and was passed without a dissenting vote. The ordinance appears in another column of this issue.

The bill of Bewley Bros., for lumber furnished for the reconstruction of the west approach of the big steel bridge amounting to $346, but of which the city is only liable for one-third, was submitted and allowed, and the recorder instructed to draw a warrant in favor of Bewley Bros. for the city's portion of the bill, amounting to $231. A number of other bills were read and referred to the committee on accounts and current expenses and this committee reported favorably upon a number of bills which were ordered paid and the council adjourned.

TO HELP OLD WILLAMETTE

President Coleman Sends Out Statement of Its Standing

VALUE OF THE PROPERTY OF THE INSTITUTION—ATTENDANCE LAST YEAR WAS BETTER THAN FOR MANY YEARS—FUTURE OF THE SCHOOL.

President John H. Coleman, of Willamette University, is sending out a statement to the friends of the institution, presenting some facts concerning the University, regarding value of the property held, and the prospects for the payment of the debt of the school and the future of the institution as an educational factor. In the statement the following facts are given:

"Kindly permit me to present to you some facts concerning the Willamette University which no doubt you will be pleased to receive. Value of property, $225,000. Amount of endowment, unpaid, $40,000. Indebtedness, $35,000. An earnest effort is being made to pay the debt and the result is very encouraging. The plan adopted by the Trustees in February 1932, is as follows:

"Resolved, That it is our imperative duty to discharge every financial obligation for which Willamette University is responsible.

"Resolved, That every subscription shall be conditioned upon the whole amount being secured.

"Resolved, That no embarrassing debt shall ever again be incurred."

"These resolutions were made public and upon these conditions there has been pledged: In Salem, on the debt, $11,560. In Salem, on endowment, $1,000. From other sources, on the debt, $2,000. Total, $15,160.

"The Oregon conference at its last session pledged $1 per member, a part of which will be paid during this conference year.

"The number of students in attendance last year was larger than that of any year since 1891 and our correspondence with prospective students indicates a decided increase for the coming year.

"We desire to protect and develop the physical, intellectual and spiritual life of each student so that the highest expectations of all interested will be more than realized."

JOHN NEIBERT'S DEATH

PASSED AWAY AT HIS HOME AT STAYTON—A NUMEROUSLY ATTENDED FUNERAL.

STAYTON, Or., Aug. 21.—After a lingering illness, covering many months death came on Friday evening and relieved the sufferings of John Neibert, the 25-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Neibert, of this city, and he passed peacefully to his eternal rest. Deceased was a promising young man and had just attained the age when life seemed fairest and best, and full of golden opportunities which he was eager to grasp. As most of his life was passed in and near Stayton, he leaves many friends here to mourn his loss, and shed a sympathizing tear with the sorrowing parents who are almost prostrated by the loss of a loving son, which leaves forever a vacant chair in the family circle. One of the largest funeral corteges ever seen in Stayton followed the remains of the young man to Lone Oak cemetery, where he was quietly laid to rest, at 2 p. m., Sunday.

Father, Laimick, of Sublimity Catholic church, conducted the funeral services. The floral tributes were many and beautiful and showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held in this community. Mr. and Mrs. Peter Bach, Mrs. Beck and son, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Yonke and Grandma Yonke, of Salem, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Buell, of Lebanon, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Michiel Crook, of Sheridan, attended the funeral of their deceased relative, the late John Neibert, on Sunday afternoon.

Dr. J. M. Kitchen and G. D. Clark performed a post mortem examination on the remains of the late John Neibert Saturday afternoon, and found that death was caused by enlargement of the heart and liver, and the lower intestines were literally grown together. Tuberculosis of the bowels was also discovered. Life for the young man would have been impossible, with any treatment.

Rev. Joe Waldron delivered an eloquent sermon to an attentive audience in the Masonic grove Sunday morning, and Rev. Campbell followed with an able discourse in the evening.

David B. Smith, Stayton's popular young druggist, has sold his stock of goods to the Brewer Drug Company, and will seek a location elsewhere. Mr. Smith has been in business in this city about five years, and by his accommodating business principles, has built up a good business. His departure will be regretted both in business and social circles.

Dr. Dan G. Clarke is making final arrangements to move his mother and household effects to Silverton where he will practice his profession. During their residence here the doctor and his mother have made many friends, who regret to see them leave Stayton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alonso A. Phillips, of Cornelius, Or., were recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. D. Neff, of this city.

Patrick Lambert, who has been living in Idaho passed through this city Sunday, enroute to Lebanon, where he expects to locate. Pat says farming in Idaho has its drawbacks as well as the Willamette valley.

E. C. Titus made a business trip to Jefferson Monday.

Mrs. Jane Burnett and daughter-in-law, Mrs. Thos. Burnett, of Albany, visited at the family home of W. H. Cooper Tuesday.

Mr. Lester Matthieu and niece, Miss Aggie Weimette, of Butteville, were over-Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Matthieu.

WELCOME BUFFALO BILL

THE WEST SHOULD GREET THE HERO OF THE PLAINS IN FITTING STYLES.

In no section of this great country should the Will West receive a warmer welcome than in the states from which it received its name. To every man of middle age Colonel Cody's red Indians in war paint, his cowboys, vaqueros, stage coaches, bucking ponies, prairie schooners, buffalo herds, equestrian quadrilles, battle and skirmish scenes, this remarkable exhibition will be full of reminiscence for his memory will be refreshed regarding the days when the Western pioneers fought for possession of the territory now nestled in statehood among the galaxy of stars in Old Glory. The younger generation will derive instruction in American history from the object lessons here presented. A tremendous reception is predicted in this section for the Will West and a great financial success for the exhibition.

Catarrh of the Middle Ear

Produces deafness, causes roaring and crackling noises; makes your ears discharge, causes ringing in your ears, makes your hearing worse some days than others. As the catarrh progresses there is a steady disagreeable ringing or roaring in the ears, due to the entrance of catarrhal inflammation into the eustachian tubes, which are two small tubes connecting the ears with the nasal cavity, and entering the latter canals at a point well back toward the beginning of the throat. This roaring disappears only when the catarrhal inflammation in the nose and throat has been cured. Smith Brothers' S. B. Catarrh Cure taken regularly will reduce and cure all catarrhal inflammation. Book on Catarrh free. Address Smith Bros., Fresno, Cal.

WHICH?

The reform party among the Jews of this country is moving strongly towards the abolishment of Saturday as the Jewish Sabbath and observing Sunday with the rest of America. Dr. Emil Hirsch, of Chicago, a much admired teacher and scholar, is a leader in this movement. He boldly states that "the Jewish Sabbath is dead." As a matter of practice the statement is true. Very few Jews in this country refrain from business pursuits on Saturday. It is a hard thing for them to observe two days as they would have to if they lived strictly up to the teachings of their faith.

The argument which is being used by liberal Jews to induce their brethren to give up the observance of the seventh day is that it is not essential which day of the week is observed, so long as one day in the seven is held sacred. It is further reasoned that the present practice tends to destroy all reverence for a sacred day because of the hardship and inconvenience of losing both Saturday and Sunday from business.

The orthodox Jews protest against this movement, insisting that the observance of the seventh day is the most vital part of Judaism, so that if the Sabbath—that is the observance of Saturday—should be done away Judaism would be dead. This, however, seems a narrow view of Judaism. There is much more than the observance of a special day of the week as a holy day in that ancient form of religion. It is conceivable that if the Jewish church would conform to the rest of America in observing Sunday as the day of rest and religious meditation, the cause of the Jew would be greatly strengthened and his influence in the country largely augmented.
