

The Lover's Tallsman

A ring is the lover's tallsman. Every lover desires to place on his lady's finger as rich a trophy as his purse can buy. But as love's silp purses often go hand in hand, the store with lower prices is the store that lovers like. The Barr Store has a magnificent assortment of rings of every sort—Diamonds, Rubies, Pearls, Amethysts, Opals, Sapphires, etc., etc., at prices much lower than generally rule.

MANY PARTS.

John Speed, of Chicago, barely escaped being sent to a place of legal detention a few days ago. He was brought before Justice Quinn, of the Hyde Park police court charged with disorderly conduct. And this conversation took place, according to a correspondent:

"What's your name?" asked the justice.

"John Speed, your honor," responded the prisoner, in a flippant tone.

"What do you do for a living?" asked Justice Quinn.

"I'm a filler in the noisy," came the startling reply.

"You're a what?" asked the court, astonished.

"A filler in the noisy—a dummy in the band wagon."

The justice was impatient at the seeming levity, but asked the man to explain.

"Don't get fresh, now, or I'll send you where you can sober off."

"There is a great demand for bands nowadays," said the prisoner, "to stir up enthusiasm for political meetings. Usually the politicians want to make a big show for little money, so they hire a band wagon and get about six real musicians and fill the rest of the seats with dummies. I wear a uniform, blow a horn that has a cork in it, and, though I don't make any noise, yet from a certain standpoint I am as important to the success of the band wagon as any man in it. It requires a great deal of hard work to become a good dummy." Justice Quinn was greatly interested, and judging the man sane, let him go.

John Speed should not feel lonesome. He has much company on this mundane sphere. He is numerous—omnipresent.

In the world's band wagon he fills much space. To the crowd which follows the wagon he is a big man. He fills a prominent seat, is dressed in gorgeous uniform and handles his glistening instrument with professional agility. What matters it to the people on the sidewalk that his horn emits no music?

John Speed is in politics.

John Speed is in business.

John Speed is in society.

John Speed is in the church.

REQUIREMENTS OF CHEAP MANUFACTURING.

In considering the question of production we should keep in mind those processes and means which should be adopted to attain those results which mean so much to a business—cheap, accurate and quick production. To secure this, every device of modern organization, machinery, and system must be called to our aid. The organization should be so devised as to bring out the best efforts of the foremen and workmen and provide the closest supervision over the work. The machinery and tools should be selected with a view to meeting the special peculiarities of the product. The systems should be such as to give perfect checks on both the men and the product, and to supply data for a system of reports which are comprehensive and give the closest insight into the conditions of all departments. The product must be manufactured in large quantities; its parts must be standardized; accuracy of parts must be insured; fitting must be reduced to as low a point as practicable so as to insure quick and cheap assembling.—Engineering Magazine.

LIFE AN EASY LESSON.

These hurrying days, these busy times of ours, are wasted when they take our hearts away from patient gentleness and give us fame for love and gold for kisses. Some day when our hungry souls will seek for bread our selfish god will give us a stone. Life is not a deep, profound, perplexing problem. It is a simple, easy lesson, such as any child may read. You can not find its solution in the ponderous tomes of the old fathers, the philosophers, the theologies. It is not on your book shelves, but in the warmest corner of the most unlettered heart it glows in letters that the blindest may read—a sweet, plain, simple, easy, loving lesson. And when you have learned it, brother of mine, the world will be better and happier.—R. J. Burdette.

A Cure for Cholera Infantum.

"Last May," says Mrs. Curtis Baker, of Bookwalter, Ohio, "an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I felt sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days' time the child had fully recovered and is now (nearly a year since) a vigorous, healthy girl. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail in any single instance." For sale by Stone's Drug Stores.

H. D. Ryan, of Roseburg, a locomotive fireman on the Southern Pacific and a former resident of Salem, was greeting old friends in this city, being detailed to fire the engine that is pulling one of Buffalo Bill's trains over the line.

The Benicia Rotary Disc Plow

Farmers generally are too busy these days to read many plow ads—they are trying too hard to reap the fruits of their last season's plowing, but we just want to remind them that we will soon have in our fall stock of the new celebrated Benicia Rotary Disc plows, that proved themselves so fully last fall and winter and spring. We sold the first one of them about the middle of October from which time till the spring plowing was over we sold a total of 16 every one of which was sold on a guarantee, and every one of which stayed sold.

There were several other parties tried these plows, some of whom will buy later, and only in one or two cases did they fail to wholly satisfy. This is a remarkable showing, considering the fact that there is such a strong prejudice in the valley here against disc plows, and justly so, too, since the former plows shown here have failed in many of the vital points.

THE BENICIA DISC
 Plows the hardest soil
 Does the most work
 With the least draft
 Of any plow that's ever
 Appeared in the field.
 We hope to show the new fall plows in a few days. Wait for them. You can get into your fields at once, without waiting for the fall rains, if you own a disc.

We will also have plenty of the regular sulkeys, in several of the best makes, gangs, also.

One of the best things yet put out is the Syracuse chilled gang, which we will place in the valley this fall—the first really successful chilled gang that's ever been put out.

Some fall machinery that will interest most farmers.

WILD WEST IS A BIG SUCCESS

Salem People Were Delighted With the Splendid Performance

ENORMOUS CROWDS SURROUNDED THE BIG ARENA AND WITNESSED THE WORK OF THE ROUGH RIDERS OF THE WORLD—A SPLENDID PRESENTATION.

Salem was in holiday attire yesterday and "everybody and their neighbors" turned out to greet, as honored guests of the city, Hon. William F. Cody, of Nebraska, better known as "Buffalo Bill," the King of Scouts, and the most famous pathfinder and pioneer of the great plains. It was a hearty welcome that was extended to Colonel Cody and his splendid aggregation, and the welcome was not only given by the people of Salem, but by the entire central part of the Willamette valley.

Buffalo Bill's Wild West and Congress of Rough Riders arrived in Salem at 4:30 o'clock yesterday morning, from Portland, and from the time of their arrival, the city was theirs. No golden keys to the city were turned over to the hero of the plains—there were none to be turned over—but every one vied with his neighbor to make the visitors feel at home, and they succeeded.

When the big tent arena had been erected at the passenger station, the numerous horses hounded and fed, and the men made comfortable, the parade was eagerly awaited by the thousands of people lining the streets of Salem. It was about 10 o'clock when the procession came down to the business part of the town, and the delighted population for the first time beheld that greatest of all attractions—Buffalo Bill's Wild West.

The parade was the most imposing one ever seen in Salem. First came a drum corps of twelve pieces, and following this, on a magnificent charger richly caparisoned—with his long hair, iron gray and wavy, hanging down his back, a broad sombrero shading his many face and clear piercing eyes—came the central figure of the great attraction, his moving spirit, Buffalo Bill, chief hero of the West. His eyes swept everywhere, and frequently he was seen to bow to old acquaintances on the street. Those clear but kindly eyes have seen roses bloom where blood was spilled, peace smile where war frowned, peace bless where famine robbed, knowledge rule where superstition held sway—in short, the birth and growth of civilization in the great West.

Following this martial figure came the rough riders of the world. First, a squad of Sioux Indians, led by the war chief Iron Tail and Black Fox, in full paraphernalia; the life saving crew; the artillerymen; the Tenth (United States Cavalry) (colored); the Sixth United States Cavalry (white); the Cubans, Cossacks, Cowboys, Mexicans, South American Gauchos, and Cowboy Girls, together with the famous Cowboy Band. In the procession was also the mule and buckboard, driven by General Shafter during the Cuban war. The old Deadwood stage coach, now a relic of the early days in the West, was drawn by six mules, and attracted great attention.

Following the parade, which was viewed by thousands, the cavalcade disbanded at the show grounds, and the men and horses rested until the afternoon performance.

The exhibition was given in a vast open arena, on three sides of which seats were arranged, while the fourth was taken up by the dressing tents, in front of which a stretch of painted canvas shut off the view.

From behind this curtain, promptly at 2 o'clock, came the detachments of the great cavalcade. First came the Indians, in all the gaudiness of their former savage condition. They were followed by the Cossacks, Cowboys, Mexicans, Arabs, Cubans, Giri Rough Riders, U. S. Cavalry, German and English Troops, and last but not least, Buffalo Bill himself, who reviewed the troops, after which the day's program

THE GREAT RECORD

Of Dr. Darrin is Simply a Series of Professional Triumphs

Magnetism With Electricity

The above cut illustrates the manner in which many of Dr. Darrin's cases are treated by magnetic electricity. Chronic, acute and private diseases treated with the latest remedies known to science, the electro-magnetic current being a specialty. Headaches can generally be cured by rubbing the hands lightly across the forehead. The reason of this is: Friction produces electricity, and lack of electricity in the brain is the cause of nervous headaches. Therefore, when we produce electricity in this manner, we give the brain the food it is hungry for, and the pain is cured. The body needs electricity as much as it needs food. Sickness indicates that there is a lack of electricity which, in order to restore health, must be supplied.

To such cases, Dr. Darrin can restore the lost vitality of animal electricity, and promote a healthy action to the vital organs. The doctor's mode of administering electricity differs from that in general use. His long experience has demonstrated that the best results are obtained by electricity, combined with magnetism and medicine.

As a proof of the efficiency of this treatment read the cures performed years ago, which have remained permanent:

Cured Years Ago by Dr. Darrin.
 J. H. Wilson, Miss. Or., plics, 29 years, cured.
 E. E. Groat, La Grande, Or., cross-eyes, cured.
 John Savensen, Farmington, Or., deafness, cured.
 F. W. Minchin, Dundee, Or., discharging car, cured.
 Rey, J. E. Coenour, Portland, Or., skin disease, cured.

J. E. Taylor, Pendleton, Or., stricture, cured.
 Mrs. G. Karg, Leland, Or., sciatic rheumatism, restored.
 A. Pool, Eagle Point, Or., heart and liver trouble, cured.
 Miss Maggie Synhoest, La Grande, Or., cross-eye, cured.
 Mrs. A. E. Patee, Albany, Or., ovarian and womb trouble, cured.
 Mrs. Martha Daily, Gardner, Or., salt rheum for 25 years, cured.
 J. S. Jennings, Sellwood, Or., eczema or skin disease, 15 years, cured.

Dr. Darrin's Place of Business.
 Dr. Darrin gives free examination to all, and when necessary gives medicine in connection with electricity. The poor treated free from 10 to 11 daily, except medicine. Those willing to pay, 10 to 5; evenings, 7 to 8; Sundays, 10 to 3. Those wishing treatment should call soon, as some cases require attention during the course of cure. Catarrh and chest troubles yield more readily during warm weather. Sufferers from this class of troubles should have them attended to at once.

Errors of youth, blood taints, gleet, impotency, varicocele, deafness, catarrh and stricture, a specialty. All chronic male and female diseases treated at $5 a week, $20 per month, or in that proportion of time, as the case may require. No case published, except by permission of the patient. All business relations with Dr. Darrin strictly confidential. Letters of inquiry answered. Circulars and question blanks sent free. Eyes tested and glasses fitted. Dr. Darrin's office are at the Willamette Hotel, Salem, until November 1st only.

was commenced. For over two hours feats of horsemanship, such as are never seen in the circus or at play, held the audience of 12,000 people spell-bound. The daring riding of the Cossacks, the splendid work of the German and American cavalry, and the beautiful work of the American cowboys brought out cheer upon cheer, while the life saving crew was rewarded with a burst of applause for its splendid efforts.

The battle of San Juan hill—the bivouac before the battle and the storming of the forts—was beautifully represented, and was greeted with the wildest of cheering. The attack on the Deadwood stage by Indians, and their defeat by Buffalo Bill and his company of scouts was another episode worthy of note.

The entire performance was concluded by another review and a salute, and after the rough riders of the world had withdrawn, Buffalo Bill, hat in hand and gracefully bowing in response to the ovation tendered him, backed his horse out of the arena.

The evening's performance was a repetition of that of the day, and if anything a larger crowd visited it.

At the close of the night performance the tented city was struck, loaded in the cars, and this morning the Wild West will open at Eugene for a day's performance.
