WORK OF THE COUNTY COURT

A Number of Claims Audited at Yesterday's Session

EXPERTS WERE PAID IN FULL FOR THEIR WORK—A NUMBER OF COUNTY ROAD MATTERS UNDER CONSIDERATION, BUT NO ACTION TAKEN.

The county court during the second day's session yesterday, resumed the work of auditing claims of which there were a great number disposed of and quite a number were taken under further advisement, which work took up the greater part of the day. Some county road matters were taken up for consideration also, but there was no action taken in them and they were continued until today.

The bills audited yesterday, including that of the expert accountants, Clark and Buchanan, for the balance due them on fulfillment of their contract in checking over the county records for the six months period between January 1st and July 7th, 1922, and amounting to $407.50, follow:

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT HAS A NARROW ESCAPE

A Trolley Car Collided With the Carriage Occupied by the Nation's Chief, Killed One of His Companions and Injured Several Others.

The President and Secretary Cortelyou Both Sustained Injuries—Secret Service Agent Craig, Guarding the Chief Magistrate, Lost His Life—Carelessness of the Crew of the Electric Car the Cause of the Awful Disaster—The Dead Man a Faithful and Alert Officer.

PITTSFIELD, Mass., Sept. 3.—The President of the United States escaped a tragic death by only a few feet in a collision between his carriage and an electric street car in this city today, while one of his most trusted guards, Secret Service Agent William Craig, was instantly killed, and David J. Pratt of Dalton, who was guiding the horses attached to the vehicle, was most seriously injured. President Roosevelt himself was badly shaken up, but received only a slight facial bruise. Secretary Cortelyou, who occupied a seat directly opposite the President in the carriage, sustained minor wounds in the back of the head, and Governor Crane, who sat beside the President, escaped without a scratch. The carriage was demolished by the impact of the rapidly moving car, and the wheel horse on the side nearest the car was killed. The crew and passengers of the car escaped injury.

The President and party were driving from this city to Lennox through South street, one of the principal thoroughfares of Pittsfield, which was lined with cheering people, and the catastrophe happened in plain view of the hundreds whose happiness at the advent of the Nation's chief was suddenly turned to grief. Thousands had poured into this city in the early morning, from the country, to see and hear the President, and his address at City Park had been loudly cheered. At the conclusion of the exercises he wished to make a brief call on ex-Senator Dawes, whose home is on Elm street, and is but a short distance from the park. The President's carriage which he had in from Governor Crane's home at Dalton, was accordingly driven to the Dawes residence, and carriages containing a number of other gentlemen in the party followed. President Roosevelt's call was a short one, and when the carriage returned to this city, after a few minutes delay, the journey to Lennox was begun.

Meanwhile the mounted escort of police officers and the carriages carrying the newspaper correspondents, who had accompanied the President on his tour, had started off ahead on the road to Lennox, and were some distance in advance of the President's equipage. Three or four other open carriages fell in line immediately behind the landau in which the President rode with Secretary Cortelyou and Governor Crane. Secret Service Agent Craig, who throughout the New England trip has been almost constantly at the President's elbow, was on the driver's box beside Coachman Pratt. The tracks of the Pittsfield Electric Street Railway are laid in the center of the road, with ample room for teams on either side, and scores of vehicles of every description followed along the road behind the President's party.

Shortly after he left the track the electric car, which had been filled with passengers, started toward Lennox well behind the procession. It passed on and was about a mile and one-half out from the city at the beginning of the Howard hill, and was nearly up to the President's carriage which was traveling on the west side of the highway. Just at the foot of the Howard hill, the road bends a little and the teams are compelled to cross the street railway tracks to the east side. The railroad then continues along the side of the street instead of in the center. Just at this point the up grade of the hill begins, and but a short distance beyond the crossing there is a narrow bridge spanning a small brook.

The trolley approached the road crossing under good speed, with the gear clanging, just as the driver of the President's carriage turned his leaders to cross the tracks. On each side of the Executive's carriage rode two mounted troopers of the local cavalry, and the horsemen on the left of the landau had turned onto the track with the trolley car immediately behind them. Alarmed by the clanging of the bells, they both turned in their saddles and waved vigorously for the motorman to stop his car. Almost at the same instant, Governor Crane, who quickly perceived the danger, rose to his feet and likewise motioned to the motorman. The latter in great excitement desperately tried to stop his car, but it was too late.

The car crashed into the carriage as a loud moan went up from the frenzied on-lookers, who thronged the roadside and who but a moment before were cheering the President. The horsemen managed to get the frightened animals out of the way just in time and the car struck the rear wheel of the carriage on the left side, and ploughed through to the front wheel of the vehicle which received the full force of the blow. The carriage was upset and one horse fell dead on the tracks.

Craig fell from his seat immediately in front of the car, and it passed completely over his body. The driver, Pratt, in falling, struck the dead horse immediately in front of him, and rolled off clear of the car, thus escaping a similar fate. President Roosevelt, Governor Crane, and Secretary Cortelyou were thrown together in the bottom of the carriage.

Almost instantly a score of men jumped to the heads of the frightened horses and stopped their further progress. Governor Crane was the first to hurt. He turned immediately to the President, helped the latter to arise, and together they assisted Secretary Cortelyou. The President's lip was cut and the blood was flowing from the wound. Secretary Cortelyou had a severe wound in the back of his head, from which the blood was flowing freely.

The President quickly regained his composure, and the three soon after repaired to the residence of Mr. Charles R. Stevens.

Motorman Euclid Madden and Conductor James Kelly were arrested. No one on the cars seem to be able to explain how the accident happened. Even the motorman and the persons on the front seats were apparently unable to tell why it was not avoided.

Roosevelt At Home.

Oyster Bay, N. Y. Sept. 3.—President Roosevelt returned tonight, but little the worse for his thrilling experience. His right cheek is swollen, there is a black bruise under his right eye, and his mouth is slightly swollen.

England Is Thankful.

London, Sept. 3.—The escape of President Roosevelt has universally called out in the London dailies congratulatory and eulogistic editorials, and expressions of England's thankfulness that the President was spared to his country.

Craig a Faithful Giant.

Lenox, Mass., Sept. 3.—William Craig, the Secret Service operator who was killed was 48 years of age, weighed over 200 pounds, and was more than six feet tall. He was a former member of the Queen's Grenadiers, and was also an expert broadswordman. Years ago he gave an exhibition with Duncan Ross and was credited with many victories over him. Craig caught and arrested a crank at Montpelier, who was attempting to reach the President on this trip.

News In Wall Street.

New York, Sept. 3.—News of the accident to President Roosevelt and his party was received in Wall street shortly before 11 o'clock. The first reports were more or less conflicting and a general decline in the stock list followed, although at no time was the market panicky. The downward tendency was checked as soon as it became known that the President's injuries were not serious and a rally followed.

A Certain Cure for Dysentery and Diarrhoea.

"Some years ago I was one of a party that intended making a long bicycle trip," says P. L. Taylor, of New Albany, Bradford County, Pa. "I was taken suddenly with diarrhoea, and was about to give up the trip, when editor Ward, of the Laceyville Messenger, suggested that I take a dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I purchased a bottle and took two doses, one before starting and one on the route. I made the trip successfully and never felt any ill effect. Again last Summer I was almost completely run down with an attack of dysentery. I bought a bottle of this same remedy and this time one dose cured me."

SHIPYARDS ARE IDLE

THE BRITISH BUILDING TRADE SUFFERS A PERIOD OF DEPRESSION.

NEW YORK, Sept. 3.—There is no longer any doubt that a period of depression is in store for the British ship building trade, cables the London correspondent of the Tribune. With the freight market in its present state, there is little inducement to build new vessels, and reports from shipbuilding centers agree in saying that there is already a marked diminution in new contracts. This growing dearth of new work is such that it is feared that the coming winter will see a decided change for the worse in British shipyards.

Norway has just wrested orders for two American mail boats from British lenders, and Germany, not content with supplying growing home needs, is now putting in keenly for foreign work and building vessels for Danish and Russian owners, who at one time invariably brought their contracts to this country. England has no longer a shipbuilding monopoly, and British shipbuilders are warned against ignoring the signs of the times.

The Shipping Gazette says that a truth which needs to be recognized is that in methods of production England is behind America and scientifically trained workmen behind Germany.

Miss Etta Cockeram was among the passengers who came up from Portland and the Elks' Carnival last night.

STATEMENT OF FINANCES

Of County Treasurer Richardson for Month of August

THE REPORT SHOWS A VERY SATISFACTORY CONDITION OF AFFAIRS IN ALL FUNDS—THE COUNTY ON A SOLID CASH BASIS.

County Treasurer W. Y. Richardson yesterday compiled and issued his financial report for the month of August, just ended, which shows a very satisfactory condition of all of the funds in his keeping. The summary of totals in his statement shows the amount of money on hand August 1st to be $48,263.95; the receipts for the month, $17,358.76; the disbursements, $6,480.52, and a balance of cash on hand, in all funds, on the first of September, of $59,142.19.

The taxpayers of the county will be gratified to note in this report that Marion county is not only out of debt, but its affairs are being conducted on a strictly cash basis with a fund of $15,414.47 in the treasury to draw from. This amount is made up of the totals of the general and special road funds, the latter of which properly belongs to the former.

The general school fund has accumulated until it has assumed a total of $41,458.03, a much greater amount than ever before but this latter fact is due to the sheriff holding the tax collections in his possession until after the county school superintendent had made his April apportionment. The amount will be much larger for the October apportionment, however, and appreciated accordingly.
