ADVERTISING THIS STATE

What Should Be Done to Bring Homebuilders to This State

THE PEOPLE OF THE WILLAM-ETTE SHOULD BRING SETTLERS HERE - HOW CALIFORNIANS ARE ADVERTISING THEIR AD-VANTAGES.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

What Oregon needs at this time, more than anything else, is more people of the right kind, people who will invest their capital, help to develop the boundless resources of this wonderful state-wonderful in its possibilidies for the future-people who will any particular part of the state. Rebuild homes here, and help make Oregon one of the greatest states in the federation of great states known as the American Union. This state does not object to the tourists, for a tourist passing through Oregon is easily transformed into a homebuilder, if the right as those of the Orient. work is done. But It is not the tourist that the Oregonians should go after, but after the man who, dissatisfied with conditions in his eastern home, is looking for a location on the Pacific coast, where he can live, help develop the country, build a home for his family, and enjoy the fruits of his labor as nowhere else on earth, leaving for his descendants an heritage that a prince would be proud to possess. To secure the right kind of immigration to this state, and especially to the Willamette valley, work will have to be done by the people already here, advertising will be required, for the advantages offered by this country must be shown to the homeseeker of the East. this is not done, he will not come here -he will go to other points on the coast where the people have enterprise

East who are looking for homes in the great Pacific Northwest. We here in the Willamette valley have the best opportunity in the world to do effectual advertising. The Immlgration Bureau of the Harriman System, with headquarters at Chicago, is LARGE SUMS IN THE TREASURY doing a large amount of work for the several sections of the country touched by the syndicate's, lines, and the bureau is anxious to help those localities in the Willamette valley that are desirous of attracting the best class of immigration, and the bureau is already doing magnificent work for the people of this state, but more advertising matter is required, and this should be promptly furnished. To show what work is being done, and what a practical advertiser says of advertising a state and promoting its settlement, the Statesman publishes below an article from the able pen of W. D. Curtis, in the Los Angeles Times of September. 17th. Mr. Curtis has made, a study of promotion advertising, several of his articles on Chamber of Commerce work and similar topics having been widely circulated by the papers of the coast.

enough to advertise the advantages their sections of the country possess.

Any amount of information can be cheaply and effectually gathered, and once compiled should be judiclously

I placed in the hands of those of the eles. The article says: "Only a small percentage of the inhabitants of California were born in the state.

He is general manager of the Curtis-

Newhall Advertising Co., of Los Ang-

· "Of all the people born outside of the state a very small percentage previously lived in a state as large as California; only those coming from Texas. "California on the basis of mere superficial area ranks second, but square miles are no true measure of the bigness of a state. "Manifestly it would not be fair to measure California by the same scale as states which have been in the process of development several times as long. The only true measure for California is a careful consideration of her resources-her present development serving simply as an index to what may reasonably be expected.

"It is not the purpose of this article to give figures to prove this position; the writer believes that it is irrefutable and he further believes that the upbuilding of the state depends on intelligent work with this idea behind it.

"First of all, the present inhabitants of the state must be made to realize more fully the sort of country in which they live. The orange men of the South must know the truth about the northern citrus belt; the Angeleno must be told that his earliest deciduous fruit comes from the north. Until residents north of Tehachepi are convinced that there is something south of the range besides climate they are bound to be breeders of trouble, for, while acting honestly enough when talking to inquirers, they will be misinforming them, and the southerner will naturally resent it. These instances are cited to show the importance of thoroughly educating residents of the state about the state as a whole. No one questions but what the misinformation which is sometimes put affoat is the result of ignorance for it is inconceivable that a resident of one portion of the state would deliberately attempt to besmirch any other section.

"This educational work must be carried on by the local press of the state. It must not be done spasmodically, but with a constant purpose. Each paper should make it its duty to present to the world in an attractive form all of the facts regarding its special field which are likely to interest residents of other sections of the state or the country at large. This sort of newsy information when reprinted by the other papers will furnish just exactly the style of educational matter which is needed. More or less of it will be used by eastern publications, and thus the educational effect will be broadened.

The enlightenment of the rest of the country must proceed at the same time and a great deal can be done by the press of the state, more particularly the metropoliton dailles. "But the most of the work will have to be done by the eastern press. This means that paid advertising will have to be used to a very considerable, extent. It is advertising—paid advertis-ing, with display type and attractive designs—that is responsible for the information already disseminated concerning the state. Telegraphic news has helped. Our peerless climate has helped. Wonderfut achievements in engineering have helped. The hundreds of unique industries have helped. The thousands of letters sent East to local enamored of the country have helped. The shipments of fresh fruit and canned fruit and dried fruit have helped. The big conventions have helped to educate the country about us-to advertise California. Enough, the list might be extended indefinitely. There are literally hundreds of forces which have contributed to establishing California's present pre-eminence. But any one or all of them would not have produced the effect which has been secured if they had not been welded together by the greatest of all-ADVERTISING. "No state, as a state, has ever been advertised so generally. No name used to designate any particular section of the globe has ever been so thoroughly dinned into the ears and displayed before the eyes of the world as this word CALIFORNIA. And you are part of it. Being so, is it good business sense for you to attempt to alter the good opinion which someone may now hold of member that the reputation has been built for California as a whole-a state hundreds of miles long, embracing every variety of climate known to the eastern resident and others of which he has merely dreamed, offering him all of the eastern vocations as well as hundreds which are as mysterious to him

"The thing to do now is to turn this general information into practical channels-bring people here and build at the present rate of progress made up the state.

"We have been planting for years, cultivating and watering, pruning and tending with care. Now the harvest is ready. We must go out as one man to gather the rewards.

"That is the impelling idea behind the concerted movement of the leading citizens of the state to take advantage of the present prosperous conditions of the country. The public bodies from nlong these lines.

"Thes organizations may be likened to the framework or skeleton of the human body-you and I give this framework its vitality; the people of the state are the life-giving blood each individual representing one of the corpuscles. There are bound to be a few of the white variety—the kind that tear down and destroy, but the red corpuscles-the ones that vitalize and maintain the body, are in the ascendency, they are growing constantly stronger.

"Be a red corpuscle, be an upbullder not a down-tearer."

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Willamette University is booming, and its growth this year exceeds the fondest hopes and dreams of its friends. Yesterday the registration of students Liverpool, England. Mrs. Scott is with in the College of Liberal Arts was 201one more than the high water mark maining away from the United States of last year-and President John H. until January, when the Legislature Coleman predicts that the number will reach 300 by January 1st, next, as students are constantly arriving, and many more have been heard from who will enter later, having been detained with work on the farms and in the fruit orchards throughout the state.

President Coleman is jubilant over the splendid prospects. He thinks that, in the subscriptions for the payment of the debt of the University, more than enough will be subscribed by Christmas to pay all of the indebtedness of the old school, when active work will begin to increase the endowment to a much larger figure than it now is.

President Coleman goes to The Dalles on next Sunday, where he will begin the active campaign for the winter in the interest of the pioneer school, end to end of the state are working and from this time on he will probably fill the pulpit of some Methodist church in the state nearly every Sunday, when he will put in sledge-hammer blows for Willamette University, thus insuring by his active and able work a bright future for Salem's old and honored institution of learning.

Football again is taking up ponents, the thoughts of the young athletes at the school, and yesterday a subscription paper was circulated at the University for the purpose of raising funds for the winter's work. In one half hour $110 was secured and more money is in sight for the purpose of festering the field contests of the college boys.

A PIONEER PREACHER

REV. T. F. ROYAL, OF SALEM, VIS-RIVER VALLEY.

(From Sunday's Dally.)

Rev. T. F. Royal, of Salem, the pieneer Methodist preacher, who has been visiting in Ashland during the week, revives memories of the early days in Jackson county. In the Spring of 1853 when the mining excitement was on good and strong, considerable of a religious emigration arrived in Jacksonville-most of them coming from the middle and western states of the Union. Among the number was the Methodist preacher, Rev. Joseph S. Smith, who was assigned to the Jacksonville charge, and who afterwards was elected to Congress às a Democrat. He began the erection of a church in Jacksonville which was used as a joint place of worship by the Methodists and Presbyterians. It was afterwards removed to the place where it now stands and completed by the Rev. T. F. Royal, who is now in his 82d year, and who attended the session of the Oregon Conference at Grant's Pass last week. Most of the funds to build the original structure were collected by two young ladies, Misses Royal and Overbeck. They went from miner's camp to miner's camp, soliciting funds for the work, and donations of dust and nuggets were most liberal. They were flush times in those early days-those days of gold-and the sporting element and gamblers also chipped in quite liberally to start the building of the new church.

It was in 1854 that the Rev. T. F. Royal, who succeeded Rev. Jos. Smith as pastor, completed the Jacksonville church. The lot on which it stood was donated to the Conference by James Cluggage, and the work finished by Pyle & McDonough and David Lian. The building was dedicated in the fall of '54 by the Rev. J. H. Wilbur, who was the presiding elder of the Wilbur District.

The Royal family have ever since those early days been prominent in Methodist church affairs in the Oregon DO YOU GET UP Conference.-Ashland Tidings.

MR. SCOTT IN EUROPE

HIS TRIP SAID TO BE IN INTER-EST OF HIS SENATORIAL CAMPAIGN,

(From Sunday's Daily.) H. W. Scott, editor of the Portland Morning Oregonian, arrived today in him. They will tour the continent, rewill meet, Politicians are asserting with positive assertions that Mr. Scott was prevailed upon by some of his friends to leave America and entrust the management of a campaign for United! States Senator from Oregon in the hands of those friends.

The Multomah County Republican Legislative delegation will probably indorse Mr. Scott for the United States Senate. The matter is now being arranged. Mr. Scott's managers, who were given the task of electing him to the Senate, are conducting a quiet campaign and inducing members of the county delegation to promise to vote for Mr. Scott. It is understood that a number are already pledged, and that Mr. Scott's managers are confident that they will convince the remainder that it will be to their interest to vote for Mr. Scott.

As a consequence of the assertions that Mr. Scott has gone to Europe to permit his managers to elect him to the United States Senate, the other candldates are "feelin' mighty blue." A well informed politician told The Journal ioday that he knew that Mr. C. W. Fulton appreciated the dangers to his candidacy of the present situation, and that he felt that he might lose the lead promises to be the best ever had in he is now conceded to hold over his op-

KANTNER COMING HOME

AFTER EXTENDED VISIT TO HIS BOYHOOD HOME IN THE EAST.

Rev. W. C. Kantner, pastor of the First Congregational Church, of this city, who has been spending his vacation at his boyhood home and the scenes of his former labors in Pennsylvania, wired yesterday that he will arrive in Portland this (Tuesday) morning. He will probably reach home on the 11 o'clock train today.

That Mr. Kantner has been busy even while enjoying his vacation is evidenced by articles in Pennsylvania local newspapers received by a friend here. He preached on every Sabbath excepting the last one, while in Pennsylvania. He had three calls to hold services on that Sabbath, but was obliged to decline them. Following are clippings from the articles mentioned: "Rev. W. C. Kantner, pastor at Terre Hill about 17 years ago, now pastor of a Congregational church at Salem, Or., visited his many friends of Terre Hill and community and preached in both the Evangelical and United Evangelical Churches over Sunday last. By previous arrangement there were union services of these two congregations. In the morning the services were conducted in the Evangelical Church and in the evening in .the United Evangelical Church. The audience on both occasions were very large and intense interest was manifested. The theme of the morning sermon was The Heroism of the Church;' that of the evening sermon 'The Christian's Hope.' Both sermons were delivered very eloquently and were full of very apt illustrations which assisted the minds of the hearers to retain the precious truth spoken. The visit was much appreciated by both Rev. K. and his many warm friends of Terre Hill and community; a longer stay would have been desir-

HAMMOCK DISMISSED

WAS ARRESTED FOR KILLING CHINA PHEASANTS OUT OF SEASON.

A case was tried in Justice Horgan's court yesterday, in which Sanford the R. F. D., and the writer is ready to Hammock was defendant and W. W. McCulloch private prosecutor. Hammock was accused of having in his possession on or about September 14, 1902, a dead China Pheasant, which it was supposed he had killed, said date being during the closed season for the killing of these birds. The case was set for 3 o'clock, and a jury impanelled. Owing to some hitch a postponement was taken until 7 p. m.

Shortly after 7 o'clock Justice Horgan opened the court, Attorney R. J. Fleming appearing for the prosecution. and L. H. McMahan for the defense. The first witness called by the State was Richard Elkins. He testified that he had seen Hammock with a dead China Pheasant in his possession, down near the Beak ranch; that Hammock was in a field, and took the bird out of a game bag and showed it to him. Witness was then dismissed.

W. W. McCulloch was the next witness. He testified that he was Deputy State ame Warden, and had little more to say, and was dismissed, and the State rested its case. Mr. McMahan, attorney for the defense, then asked for a dismissal of the case upon the ground that the prosecution had failed to give the date upon which the crime was committed. The request was granted, and the case dismissed without going to the jury.

GOOD OPENING FOR MERCANTILE ESTABLISHMENT - OPPOSES A DISCONTINUANCE OF THE SER-VICE, AND IS READY TO ASSIST IN REMOVING MOSSBACKS.

Editor Statesman:

Noting in the Statesman of the 2d inst, the article signed "Scribbler," also editorial comment on R. F. D. from this place (same date), desire to say, that I concur with Mr. "Scribbler" that there is a good opening in Turner for an up-to-date general merchandise store (a good building for that purpose now empty), and that the R. F. D. is all right. It might be improved, in some ways, and doubtless will be, in time; no good thing eyer comes perfect at the start.

But there are always people who will oppose even good things. We see instances of this, even in Turner, and I do not doubt that there are persons who oppose R. F. D. that it would be better if they were "discontinued" than start a subscription to assist in removing all such mossbackism and carbuncles of discontent from our midst, and I feel quite sure it will receive a hearty support, and especially among the farmers, who are the bone and sinew of our government. Better the farmer's condition and you better the honest business man's. Better the rural district's condition, and you better the town or city which it surrounds. Go to the successful farmer, who has had the benefit of the R. F. D., and ask him if he wants it discontinued. Get his answer, if you please. The Rural Free Delivery is beyond doubt one of the greatest steps forward, and for the enlightenment of the farmer, ever inavgurated.

The live business man will see this at a glance. He is thrown in daily communication with his customers and does not have to wait for the farmer to "come to town" to see if he has a little produce to sell, or to tell him that you have on a new and up-to-date lot of undershirts. No! The houest bustness man can and will trust his patrons, and likewise the farmer the merchant. They can transact many dollar's worth of business for only a few cents in postage. R. F. D. is a promoter of business; it brings us in closer touch with our patrons and facilitates communica and has many other conveniences which I will not mention at this time

R. F. D. advertises a place and gives it tone and standing that nothing else will do, and we respectfully suggest to all R. F. D. opponents that there are places where they maye escape its blighting influence.
