

JUDGE BURNETT HOLDS COURT

Several Orders Made in Cases On the Docket Yesterday

MR. AND MRS. W. G. WESTACOTT BRING SUIT AGAINST WASHINGTON LOAN AND INVESTMENT ASSOCIATION TO OBTAIN SETTLEMENT—CASES SET TODAY.

(From Saturday's Daily.) Judge Geo. H. Burnett held a session of court in the first department of the State Circuit Court during which several motions were argued and orders made in other cases on the docket, while still others were disposed of indefinitely.

Among the important cases taken up was that of D. J. Fry vs. A. G. and Mary Roberts, a suit to recover the sum of $123.40, with interest thereon at 8 per cent., from September 22, 1896, alleged to be due for drugs and medicines furnished in the case, upon motion of the plaintiff, was left to the decision of a referee, and the court appointed John W. Roland to act as such and compile and make his report.

The court adjourned late in the afternoon until 9 o'clock this morning, when the docket will be arranged and cases set for the regular October term, which convenes at 9 o'clock a. m., Monday, October 13th. The following are the proceedings of the court during yesterday's session.

Mary J. Shaw, plaintiff, vs. J. E. Ferris, defendant; plaintiff's motion for costs and disbursements allowed and judgment entered for plaintiff for costs and disbursements without damages.

Louisa E. Combest, plaintiff, vs. Statesman Publishing Company, defendant; for money; settled per stipulation.

G. D. Trotter, plaintiff, vs. Town of Stayton, defendant; damages; defendant's motion to strike out part of amended complaint argued.

D. J. Fry, plaintiff, vs. A. G. Roberts and Mary L. Roberts, defendants; for money; plaintiff's motion to refer cause to referee allowed and cause referred to John W. Roland with directions to report findings of fact and conclusions of law on or before December 7, 1902.

Thomas Sims, plaintiff, vs. Annie Stayton, defendant; for money; plaintiff's motion to strike out part of defendant's answer allowed as to specifications 1, 2, 3 and 4, and otherwise overruled. Plaintiff's motion to require defendant to elect between defenses overruled.

Martha Wilson, plaintiff, vs. David B. Smith, defendant; breach of promise; defendant's motion to strike out part of amended complaint sustained except as to specification 8, which is overruled.

Collins & Brown, plaintiffs, vs. F. J. Bolter, defendant; for money; continued to February term, 1903, as per stipulation.

Collins & Brown, plaintiffs, vs. F. J. Bolter, et al., defendants; continued to February term, 1903, as per stipulation.

L. H. McMahan, respondent, vs. Henry Sappingfield, appellant; for money; appeal from Justice of the Peace E. D. Horgan's court; appeal dismissed; motions of defendants for judgment overruled.

Mary A. Ramp, plaintiff, vs. Jos. B. Early, defendant; for money; default and judgment.

Mary A. Ramp, plaintiff, vs. Jos. B. Early, et al., defendants; for money; default and judgment as to defendant Jos. B. Early. Continued for service as to Polly Early, defendant.

F. Levy, plaintiff, vs. William Short, defendant; for money; default and judgment.

Elizabeth Spicknell, plaintiff, vs. Joanna Pugh and W. C. Pugh, defendants; to recover real property; continued to February term, 1903, pending cross-bill.

In the matter of the petition of Joseph Etzel et al., for the location of a county road; appeal from Marion county court; motion of petitioners to dismiss appeal and appellant's cross-motion for leave to file new undertaking argued.

The Westcott Suit. W. G. Westcott, Lenta D. Westcott, his wife, and S. S. Martin and Mary M. Martin, his wife, yesterday began a suit in the State Circuit Court against the Washington National Building, Loan and Investment Association, praying for a decree requiring the defendant to surrender up a certain note for the sum of $1,000 and a mortgage upon a lot 75 by 225 feet, in block 41, of Salem, and for the sum of $185, of interest thereon to have been overpaid in installments to said note and mortgage; interest thereon from October 2, 1891, and for $100 damages.

The plaintiffs allege that, on July 31, 1895, they borrowed from the defendant the sum of $1,000, and gave as security thereon a certain note in that amount and a mortgage upon the above described property. The plaintiffs also represent that, during July, 1895, they subscribed to ten shares of the defendant corporation at $100 per share, which was payable in monthly installments and bore interest at 8 per cent. They allege that, in July, 1895, they advanced a payment of $6.50, and, from the month of August, 1895, to January, 1902, inclusive, they paid installments of $16.50 per month, aggregating a total of $1,276, and that they overpaid the indebtedness by $185, but the defendant corporation maintains that there is still owing $500 to the association.

This case is identical to that of Irwin, et al., vs. The Washington National Building, Loan and Investment Association, which was tried in the circuit court here last spring, and which resulted in a verdict being rendered for the plaintiff, Irwin, and against the Association.

Carson & Adams are the attorneys for the plaintiffs.

ONE EXPERIENCE

THAT NEWSPAPER REPORTERS FIND THEMSELVES UP AGAINST OCCASIONALLY.

There's a new reporter on the Statesman, and he has been running up against all sorts of difficulties. He has been meeting the trains every day out at the depot, for the purpose of gathering such news as might come within his grasp. On the first trip out, he walked in boldly and took a seat beside an old farmer, who, with his wife, was waiting for the train. "Going away?" asked the reporter. Both stared a moment, then looked at one another. "Waiting for the train?" again broke in the news-gatherer. The old lady pulled the sleeve of her lord, and as the reporter hurried outside to witness a dog fight, she was heard to remark: "Say, Eli; don't you have anything to do with that man; he's one of them confidence fellows that Sarah Jane warned us to beware of when we came to the city."

OREGON EXCHANGES

Eugene Guard: A pile of trunks was stacked too near the rails today, and the mail car of the south-bound train struck the top trunk, rolling it off and under the edge, where it broke an inch iron supporting-rod, without doing material damage to the trunk.

Jefferson Review: A scrap between a brakeman and a couple of hobos livened things up at the depot at noon, Wednesday. One of the hobos threw a rock through a car window, striking a traveling man. This fact, however, was not known to our officers until after the train reached Albany. In the meantime Marshal Blackwell had given the "tourists" fifteen minutes to get out of town, and they "got." The rock pile or the pen is the proper place for degenerates of the above ilk.

Jefferson Review: A little daughter of Mrs. Wm. Weddle had her right wrist dislocated, Monday. Dr. Smith rendered the necessary surgical aid, and she is improving rapidly. U. G. Holt has tendered his resignation as a member of the school board, for the reason that he is no longer a resident of Jefferson, having filed on a homestead.

Medford Mail: Frank Redden was unfortunate last Monday in having his foot run over by a loaded wagon, since which time he has been laid up. Ira Kimo, of Griffin creek, met with an accident, Monday evening, which will put him on the retired list for a time. The team he was driving ran away with him, and threw him from the wagon, the vehicle running over him. Five ribs were fractured and he was generally bruised up. Ray Hilman, a youth who is employed on the Miller ranch, near Jacksonville, secured a team from Cox & Scott's livery stable on Sunday evening to drive to Jacksonville. He was accompanied by Misses Effie Anderson and Pearl Morgan. Just north of the forks of the road, on the side of Jacksonville, he drove over a steep bank and the wagon, naturally, the team ran away, smashing the top, tongue and various other portions of the buggy. The young ladies escaped unhurt, but Hilman had one of his arms broken in two places and received a severe gash on the head which required several stitches to close. The team escaped without injury. Sunday afternoon, as Geo. King and his sister, Miss Clara, and Carl Crystal were driving down Tenth street, on their return from an expedition to the Butte creek country, one of the horses, without apparent reason, commenced to kick. Before he could be stopped he was astride of the tongue, and, frightening the other horse, both started to run. Mr. King held on to them until, in making a short turn, one of the lines broke, and the wagon, tilting up on two wheels, the occupants were thrown out. Beyond a few minor bruises and a general shaking up, they were uninjured, fortunately. The team, however, from the wagon and ran on to the C street livery stable, where one of the horses fell. The wagon was smashed up some. Later, Mr. Crystal's injuries are more severe than were at first thought, and he has been confined to his bed since Monday.

Jefferson Review: The S. P. freight room at this city is about full of baled hops. Aside from the contracted hops, we have heard of no sales of the 1902 crop in this vicinity, and some of the growers say they confidently expect to receive 30 cents per pound.

Exchange: A young man, addicted to drink, committed suicide in New York a few days ago, leaving the following will, which it is presumed covered all his property: "I leave to society a ruined character; I leave to my father and mother as much misery as in their feeble state they can bear. I leave to my brothers and sisters the memory of a misspent life. I leave to my wife a broken heart, and to my children, that their father filled a drunkard's grave and has gone to a drunkard's hell."

Aurora Borealis:—W. Fry has been kept busy of late making large hand wheels to be fitted on to hop balers instead of the ordinary crank and lever attachment. Owing to the great diameter of the wheel—from five to seven feet—it affords sufficient leverage to effect the necessary pressure and at the same time does away with all danger of accident, caused by the crank flying back and breaking the arms of the operation.

Baker City Democrat:—Sparks from a passing engine Saturday evening set fire to the pasture land on the Wisdom farm near Wingville and destroyed fifty acres of valuable pasture. Two ricks of hay, containing forty-five tons, were valued at $8 per ton in the rick, were also burned, as well as a quarter of Elliott's ranch adjoining, and burned pastures and fences.

Baker City Democrat:—Mr. H. S. McCullum, who is promoting the new telephone and telegraph company, as previously announced in the Democrat, states that the first work of the company, when organized, will be to build a telegraph line between Baker City and Sumpter, which will operate in connection and harmony with the Western Union. Telephone exchanges will be established all through the county as fast as the lines can be constructed.

Baker City Democrat:—Attorney Geo. J. Bentley left last night for Salem to present to the Supreme Court an application in the Manny Howard case for a certificate of probable cause of appeal, with the object of releasing Howard on bonds.

PRESIDENTS-PRINCIPALS

Of Colleges of Western Oregon and Secondary Schools

HELD A MEETING IN PORTLAND YESTERDAY AND ADOPTED RESOLUTIONS REGULATING INTERSCHOLASTIC GAMES AND CONTESTS—REPORT.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Prof. W. H. McCall, of the Willamette University, returned last night from Portland, where he attended a meeting, in the parlors of the Imperial Hotel, yesterday afternoon, of the presidents of colleges and the principals of secondary schools for the purpose of hearing a report from a committee appointed to draw up suggestions in regard to the interscholastic athletics.

The report of the committee was submitted and the resolutions were taken separately and the report was adopted as a whole, with some amendments attached.

It was also recommended that certain measures be adopted to insure clean athletics and a uniform plan in all contests. The rules, however, are not to apply for the football season, but may be laid before the presidents and principals in time to secure their adoption for the spring athletic. The action taken at this meeting will, in any event, be placed before the College Presidents' Association of Western Oregon, when that body meets in conjunction with the State Teachers' Association, in Portland, some time next June. There may be a special session of the College Presidents' Association of Western Oregon called during the holiday season for the purpose of effecting a closer organization in regard to interscholastic athletics and for adopting regulations based upon the contents of the resolutions presented.

The report of the committee under discussion yesterday afternoon and adopted follows: "Your committee, to which was referred the question of athletics among the universities, colleges and secondary schools of Western Oregon, beg leave to submit the following report: "The following resolutions were made and adopted:

"It is the sense of this committee that it is not advisable at present to enter upon any formal organization, but simply to arrive at certain definite understandings of the information and guidance of the universities, colleges and secondary schools interested. "Second—The president or principal of such institutions shall certify to the bona fide student standing of all members of teams at least five days before playing off any contest game. "Third—No school shall, through any of its officers, or by any other means, directly or indirectly, by offering any inducements in any way whatever, try to influence a student of any school to sever his connection with such school. "Fourth—No schedule of games shall be finally adopted until submitted to the president or principal of the school concerned, or the school's, instructed delegates for suggestions. "Fifth—The officers and alternates of contest games shall be submitted to the athletic committee for their approval not less than five days before date of game. "Sixth—In case of protest of any nature the protesting school shall name an arbitrator, the school protested shall name the same, and the two shall name the third. The decision of this committee shall be final.

Several amendments were adopted in addition to the report, among them being one defining a "bona fide student," as referred to in the above second recommendation, which was in substance that he shall carry at least twelve periods of recitation work, or its equivalent, and that he shall have at least a passing grade. There will probably also be some regulations adopted consistent with the above general rules, but adopted to the local conditions.

Those present at the meeting, yesterday, were: President Campbell, State University; Principal S. R. Johnston, Portland Academy; President Gatch, Oregon Agricultural College; Professor Horner, O. A. C.; Father Quinlan, Columbia University; Father Dominic, Mount Angel; Professor A. Winters, Dallas College; Professor J. H. Orcutt, Drain Normal; President Boardman, McMinnville; President Bessler, Monmouth; Dean Ferrin, Pacific University; President McGrew, Newberg; Professor W. H. McCall, Willamette University.

ENGINEERS OF THE WORLD

SPECIAL PROMINENCE TO BE ACCORDED TO THEIR WORKS AT THE WORLD'S FAIR OF 1904.

WORLD'S FAIR, St. Louis, Oct. 10.—The many great engineering works of the world and their fast increasing number have prompted the organizers of the World's Fair to give due recognition to their profession. Col. John A. Ockerson, Chief of the Department of Liberal Arts, himself an engineer who has to his credit many great works, has published the following letter for the information of members of the profession everywhere: "The agitation in engineering societies as to the propriety of a code of ethics to govern the members of the profession, is evidence of a desire to enoble the calling of the engineer. None of the so-called learned professions is so intimately connected with the material progress of our country as is that of engineering. Yet, in the face of that high esteem to which it is justly entitled. This is due, in a great measure, to the fact that the public is not familiar as it should be with the functions of the engineer, whose individuality is more or less overshadowed by the great corporation which employs him. "Much can be done at great expenditures, by bringing the general public into contact with the work which the engineer has wrought and which emphasizes his science, ingenuity, and skill. Heretofore, engineering work at exhibitions has been somewhat obscured by being mixed up with transportation and other related matters which indeed are closely akin to it. In the coming exposition at St. Louis, civil, military and architectural engineering pertaining to public works, will be housed together in the Liberal Arts Palace. "In the interests of the profession, as well as those of the Exposition, I hope to secure for the several groups devoted to engineering, the best examples of what the engineer has wrought in all parts of the world. With the proper co-operation of the engineering profession, which should be readily accorded there would be gathered at the coming Exposition the greatest engineering exhibit which the world has ever known. Every engineer can do something toward the realization of this much desired result."

IS BEING UNIONIZED

WOMAN'S UNION LABEL LEAGUE MAY BE ORGANIZED—BREWERY MADE UNION.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

The regular weekly meeting of the Salem Clerks' Union was held in their hall Friday evening. The meeting was largely attended though nothing of especial importance came up. The evening was opened by an address by F. McMann, in which was set forth the advisability of organizing a Woman's Union Label League, having for its object the promotion of the interests of organized labor by patronizing "union" houses and purchasing only union made articles. All unions were asked to co-operate in the movement and the matter will probably be taken up in the near future.

A contract was entered into Friday, whereby the Capital City Brewing Co. binds itself to employ none but union men for a period of two years. The labor unions' feel quite elated over their success in unionizing the different branches of industry in the Capital City since the movement was started last April.

A NEW SUIT

One complaint was filed in Department No. 1 of the circuit court yesterday, in which A. McFarlane is named as plaintiff, and B. Cornelius, defendant. The action is brought to recover possession of land near Turner, which, plaintiff alleges, defendant wrongfully holds, and he further asks the sum of $200 damages and the costs and disbursements of the suit. The property over which the litigation has begun was recently sold to Cornelius by the divorced wife of the plaintiff, Mrs. McFarlane, who has since been married to W. D. Claggett, of this city, received the property as her share of the estate when the divorce was granted. It is believed that the pending suit is hinged on the legality of the proceedings by which McFarlane and his wife were divorced, and it is possible that other lands of the same estate may be affected by the outcome of the action begun today. P. H. D'Arcy and G. G. Bingham are attorneys for plaintiff.

MAY COMPROMISE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Today's Cabinet meeting will be concerned with the education bill and the best method of facilitating its passage by suitable amendments, cables the Tribune's London correspondent. Colonial Secretary Chamberlain and other Ministers already have arrived in London and the impending effect of their presence is felt in the Conservative Club, where the idea is mooted that the Government can be defeated on that issue. Stress is laid upon the fact that the chief defenders of a practical measure for the relief of church schools are Scotch Presbyterians and Unitarians, and that the nonconformists can safely follow Premier Balfour and Mr. Chamberlain, since they are merely statesmen interested in educational reform as a national policy.

OREGON BOY WON

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 11.—After one of the most bitter contests in the history of the institution, Roland N. Oliver, of Pendleton, Or., was last night elected president of the senior class of the University of Washington, this being the highest honor in the gift of the class. Oliver had five formidable opponents, but his popularity won him the fight. Oliver is one of the prominent members of the school, being a leading figure in the Sigma Nu Fraternity. He was captain of last season's indoor base ball team, and a member of the '03 rowing crew. Oliver entered the institution last year from the Ohio Wesleyan University, where his freshman days were done.

PRESS FEEDERS' STRIKE

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—A strike of 1,200 press feeders employed in the book and job printing trade of the city, has involved 500 pressmen, and has, it is stated, nearly tied up the business in a large number of plants. The strike may prevent many magazines and periodicals from coming out on time. Some time ago many of the feeders demanded an increase in wages from $12 to $14 a week, and struck to enforce them. Then it was decided, after several conferences with the employers, to make a demand for the advance in wages in all the union shops. The employers refused the demand and the strike followed.

THEY ARE GUESTS

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The American Generals, Corbin and Young, visiting England from now until October 18th, when they will sail for home, will not have eaten a meal they can call their own. There are 1,750,000 volumes in the library of the British Museum, and more than thirty-nine miles of shelving.

C. M. MYNATT HAS ACCIDENT

While Adjusting a Saw in The Sawmill Yesterday

MACHINE WAS ACCIDENTALLY THROWN IN GEAR AND LEFT INDEX FINGER FROM SEVERED HAND—BARELY ESCAPED LOSING HIS WHOLE HAND.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

A serious accident occurred at the saw mill yesterday morning, resulting in the loss of a finger to C. M. Mynatt, a young man employed at the mill. Mr. Mynatt has been working at the mill for about three years, and is a steady, careful man, and for some time past has been operating one of the machines for making lath. Yesterday morning, while engaged at his machine one of the saws near by became heated and it was found necessary to stop it for a moment to allow it to cool. The saw was stopped and Mr. Mynatt went to work with a wrench to remove it from the fastenings. While thus engaged one of the mill hands attempted to throw out a piece of board, which struck the safety lever holding the belt in place. The saw started instantly, severing completely and badly mangled the fore finger of the left hand, and cutting a deep gash in the second and third fingers also.

The injured man was at once taken to his home at the corner of Front and Court streets, and Dr. W. H. Hyrd summoned. The wound was cleaned and dressed and the unfortunate man was made as comfortable as possible. He came to Salem about ten years ago, his former home being in Douglas county, near Roseburg.

CORN AND SILOS

VAST AMOUNT OF MAIZE GROWN IN OREGON FOR EN-SILAGE.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

The average resident of Oregon does not realize the amount of corn that is being raised now in the Willamette valley. It is cultivated by the farmers of this section largely for the purpose of putting into silos for winter feed for cows and other live stock. The past season has been an excellent one for this crop, and there have been splendid yields. There is no other crop so compare with corn in the amount of feed that may be raised on an acre of ground. A few days ago a stranger from an Eastern state, visiting a Willamette valley farm, asked what the farmer called the crop in a field near by. He was informed that it was corn. It stood twelve to fourteen feet high. The stranger said it might easily be mistaken for material for ladders. R. E. Wands, who lives a short distance east of the Asylum, has just finished filling seventeen silos, with his Blizzard ensilage cutter, which prepares the corn for the silo and then blows it into place. All these seventeen silos do not belong to Mr. Wands. One of them does. The others belong to his neighbors.

PERSONAL AND GENERAL

Not a single cent added to the advertising fund of the Greater Salem City yesterday. This is the second day without any additions. Again, let it be remembered that valuable time is being lost. The subscriptions ought to be completed, at once. In fact, they should have been completed several weeks ago. It is suggested that the reason many men fail to win in the race of life is that they get started in the wrong direction. "When a man gets to be a public nuisance in Oregon, he is sent to the Asylum. They have a miscellaneous sort out there, from the worst ones in the violent wards to the harmless old people who had no other place to go. Beer is now a dollar a bottle in South Africa. Which should call for at least a dollar a pound for hops in Oregon; nine colonels on his staff. Tell it not in Kentucky. The Governor of Georgia has sixty. Some people are never satisfied. An exchange reports that an American woman who yearned for a title and got it, now wants a divorce so badly she has come all the way from Austria to South Dakota to get it. "Now, darling," said a Salem mother to her 3-year-old daughter, who was repeating her prayer before retiring, "grandma is going away, and you must pray for her safety." "Why, mamma," said the little miss, "when did grandma get a bicycle?"

The railroad from Grants Pass to Crescent is to be built and running within eight months. The Coos Bay line will get to Roseburg next year. Two miles of the Dallas-Falls City line are graded. Oregon is going to figure largely in new railroad mileage in the next few years. Applications for the civil service examinations preparatory to getting a free city mail delivery at Pendleton are being received. The service will start January 1st. Two unnecessary Normal Schools in Oregon are the result of "I'll scratch your back if you'll scratch mine."—Pendleton Tribune. Which ones are they? Is the Normal School at Weston one of them. Or are they both located in Southern Oregon? But Southern Oregon is growing, and bound to grow. The school at Ashland and Drain will have plenty of scholars, though they may not be overburdened with students now. Nor, for the matter of that, is the one at Weston. John Philip Sousa, the great bandmaster, is not only a "rusher" of the horn, but he knows how to rush things when it comes to scooping in the dollars in Oregon cities. For instance, last night he and his musicians appeared before a Portland audience. His special train takes him this morning to Albany, where an afternoon performance will be given, commencing promptly at 2 o'clock; and about 5 o'clock his train will start for Salem, where this evening his band will play to a packed house, no doubt—beginning promptly at 8—and when the last number of the program is rendered, off goes the noted baton-wielder towards the Golden State, Great is Soosy.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE

TURNED OUT TO BE NOTHING BUT SMOKE—SOME DAMAGE.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

Last night, at just 4 o'clock, the fire whistle sounded an alarm and in less time than it takes to tell it, scores of people were on the street, hurrying to the scene of the supposed conflagration. The engine and hose cart went flying down Commercial street, thoroughly prepared to cope with any event in the way of fire. But upon arriving at the top of the hill out south of the Commercial street bridge there was no fire in sight, and it was at first thought a false alarm had been sounded. Further inquiry, however, developed the fact that the stove-pipe in the back kitchen of the Chas. Weller house became unjointed between the ceiling and roof, filling the attic with smoke. Two holes were at once cut into the roof, when it was discovered that there was no fire, though that section of the house would have been ablaze in a few minutes, as the rafters were beginning to scorch. The house is at present used as a tenement. The only damage done was the cutting of holes in the roof, and that is estimated at about five dollars.

A COOL RECEPTION

SHOOTING GALLERY ENCHANTRESS MEETS WITH LITTLE ENCOURAGEMENT.

A rather attractive female drew quite an audience yesterday afternoon by setting up a shooting gallery over on the corner of State and Commercial streets. The "gallery" consisted of a large piece of black oilcloth about ten feet square, which served as a background, and upon it were hung such prizes as revolvers, watches, small clocks, knives and some dozens of other harmless and dangerous articles. In the center of the oilcloth hung a board about a foot square, and on this were hung little cards about an inch in diameter, held in place by tacks driven into the board, each card representing one of the prize articles before mentioned. The target rifles were of the sort which use air instead of powder, and propelled a small dart instead of a bullet. The crowd was quite enthusiastic at first, but when several young gentlemen each paid 25 cents for three shots and failed to pierce one of the little cards, interest began to wane, and even bright smiles and sweet words could not hold the audience; and in just half an hour from the time the "gallery" went up, the fair proprietress, wielding a hammer like a genuine artist, went to work and tore it down, and in less time than it takes to tell it, had the whole establishment packed up and was on her way to Seattle. She thinks Salem is a bum town for shooting galleries, and will no doubt give it the cold shoulder in the future.

A SPLENDID FAIR

WHAT ONE OF THE VISITORS THOUGHT OF THE EXHIBITION.

C. H. Jones, of this city, returned last evening from Hood River, where he attended the annual fruit exhibition, which took place last week, in the interests of the Pacific Homestead. Of the fair, last evening, Mr. Jones had the following to relate: "The Hood River Fruit Fair, which closed October 11th after a four days' exhibit, was one of the finest fairs of its kind ever held in the Pacific Northwest. Such an array of apples was never seen before in Oregon, and for quantity, quality and magnificence, it could not be excelled. The fruit was displayed very artistically and to good advantage, and was a most delightful sight to all who had the good fortune of seeing it. The officers of the fair and fruit-growers in attendance took great pains in explaining to the visitors the different kinds of fruits and their mode of culture. Quite a large number of visitors were present from other parts of the state, and the fair will doubtless accomplish a large amount of good.
