Newspapers are not infallible. Witness the Oregonian's excellent editorial learn the fact that the country is bet- in it. ter adapted for the production of livegeneral farming.

This is an error doing injustice to and Naples nearly 700,000. the pioneers of Oregon and the pioneer days of the Oregonian as well. The fact is, in the early days stock growing received the principal attention. Then came the discovery of gold, which took our meats and livestock with such a rush and at such prices that every farmer did his best to increase, his breeding stock. At the same time the markets paid such prices for orchard The Oregon Nursery Company fruits as caused some to plant more land to orchards than they could possibly do justice to, leaving no time to think of introducing grasses and forage plants to supply the places of the native grasses rapidly eaten out.

As late as 1856 the writer saw ordinary Spitzenberg and Baldwin apples sold on Market street, San Francisco, from the retail stand of Luelling & Meek, of Milwaukie, Oregon, at 75 cents each. California capital was then rushing to livestock and orchards. Prices in Oregon rapidly fell till in 1859-60 Western Oregon ranges were well nigh eaten bare. Eatable beef, and mutton even, was so very hard to obtain from the beginning of March to the last of April that the writer remembers Mr. A. Bush saying he should use pork mainly until beef looked more fit for food. In 1859 the writer sold all his cattle except his milch cows at $9 per head. He could yet sell eatable mutton in the spring, but even that was producing a surplus of wheat even. and Oregon was beginning to feel hard times comparatively. The columns of the Statesman had given notes of commend the expansion of the wheat fields of Western Oregon as a means of getting us into the markets of Europe with breadstuffs. It was wise counsel then, and was followed perhaps too long. Certain it is now that livestock, hops, prunes and apples have of Salem, devoted to raising nursery become surer cash crops than wheat. OF INDUSTRY

Making Rapid Strides in Advancement

HAS OVER 200 ACRES OF NURSERY STOCK IN SALEM VICINITY-BUSINESS EXTENDING OVER VAST TERRITORY - 135 PLOYEES AND 60 AGENTS.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

The Oregon Nursery Company is one of the best and most extensive business establishments in or near Salem.

This industry was established in 1862 and has been under various managements, but in 1892 it came into the possession of a new firm, with M. Mcwas hard to find. In 1860 California Donald, president, and M. Gill, secretary, both experienced nurseymen.

There is probably no section of the country better adapted to the growing warning previously, but at this date of fruit trees, shrubs and ornamental the Oregonian editorials began to rectures, than the Willamette valley; this is evidenced by the great number and numerous varieties of trees grown by this company.

The Oregon Nursery Company has over 200 acres of land in the vicinity stock. Everything in the way of flowering shrubs and beautiful ornamental trees are grown, as well as every kind of fruit trees, excepting, of course, the tropical varieties. At the present time this company has force of about 135 men employed at its spacious warehouse on Twelfth street, packing and preparing trees for shipment to fill orders for the autumn delivery, the force working day and night. This large force has been working now about ten days and it will take two weeks more to pack and ship this, the first delivery, which consists of seventeen car loads. These trees go into every state and territory west of the Mississippi river, and many large orders are received from the western provinces of British Columbia.

The greater portion of the early shipments go to the South, including California, Texas, New Mexico, Aria zona, Oklahoma, Indian Territory and with an average of 39 degrees; the Mexico. Then there will be a shiphighest temperature was 73 degrees, on ment of between six and nine car loads in December going South, and about the same number of cars will be shipped each month until the first of April, when the shipping season closes, The shipments of February and March, called the spring delivery, go into the Northern states for spring planting.

Upon inquiry at the office of the company it was learned that the pay roll for the present month will aggreas the present force exceeds by far that employed at other times of the year-the regular number being about 35, not counting the 60 traveling sales-

A STRONG DEBATE

MAYOR TOM JOHNSON AND W. R. HOPKINS SPEAK TO CROWD-ED HOUSE.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) CLEVELAND, Oct. 28 .- Mayor Tom Johnson and W. R. Hopkins, the latter ex-Chairman of the Republican county committee, debated for three hours tonight in Gray's Armory upon the respective issues which are prominent in the pending campaign. Four thousand people crowded the armory and listened with eagerness. The large stage was given over equally to the partisans of the respective speakers but the audience was evidently in sympathy with the mayor and his state-

ALTA CORA WON HEAT

Lost Her Driver in the First Eighth Mile by Accident

BUT RECOVERED HERSELF AND PACED THE BALANCE OF HEAT ALONE, WINNING BY FOUR LENGTHS, AMID THE CHEERS OF SPECTATORS.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) Perhaps one of the prettiest sights ever witnessed on a race track this year occurred at Boise, Idaho last week as the result of an accident in the sixth heat of the 2:16 pace. Polly Gar and Alta Cora had each won two heats and Monroe S. one. This threw the deciding heat between Polly Garr and Alta Cora, with Polly Garr at the pole. Starting at a fast galt, the two little mares were being pushed hard, when just before the first eighth-mile had been paced, Polly Garr went up, and, swerving to the right, crashed into the bike drawn by Alta Cora. H. H. Helman, the driver of Alta Cora, was thrown from his seat onto the track and the cart again righted itself.

The little mare, gifted with the great intelligence of which these high-bred horses are possessed, after two leaps settled down to an even pace, taking INCORRIGIBLES' the pole, and hugging it all the way around the balance of the seven-eighths of the mile. Not once did she skip nor for a moment become excited, doing her best to win the heat, although dispossessed of her driver from almost the start. When the gallant little mare came under the wire at least four lengths ahead of her competitor, a great cheer arose from the assembled thousands.

As soon as the second horse passed under the wire, the judges sounded the bell and the little mare, true to her teachings, began slowing up, and by the time she had passed the paddock gate, she had begun to make the turn as if to come back to salute the judges At this juncture she was caught or doubtless she would have returned to the judges' call. When she made her appearance on the track for the next heat, she was loudly cheered, and doubtless had the well wishes of every person in the grand stand. Alta Cora is a full sister of Del-Norte, the guideless pacer, who paced

WILLIS E. POTTER. OF LYONS, AND DAVID J. WHITEAKER, OF TALMAGE.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)

Willis E. Potter, a highly respected and well known pioneer of Oregon and resident of Lyons, Linn county, died at his home, at 1:30 o'clock Saturday morning, October 25, 1902, aged 57, 9 months and 15 days.

Deceased was born in Gentry councrossed the plains to Oregon, with his parents, in 1853,

He was married to Miss Susan Milhim, Mrs. Julia Robertson, of Stayton, Oregon; Mrs. Hattle J. McGean, of Chicago, Ill., Alex Potter, of Turner, and James Potter, of Gem. Idaho, to mourn the loss of the departed brother.

He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and A. O. U. W., of whom he had many friends who accompanied the remains them in the neighborhood of Silver to its final resting place, by the side Creek Falls, and they took shelter in of his parents, in the Fox Valley Cemetery, who have been dead many years.

David J. Whiteaker Dead. He was born in West Virginia in 1824, and in 1848 came to this county with his father, who settled where Ben Whiteaker now lives. He went to the California mines in 1849, but came back the next year and spent two years in the Rogue River country. After serving through the Yakima Indian war, he in 1859 went to Eastern Washington, and remained until 1878, and while there married Miss Lucy L. Titus. For several years he was in the hardware and agricultural implement business with Reiss Bros., at Independence, but had for over twenty years lived on his donation claim near Monmouth, About a year ago he sold his farm and moved to Talmage. Some days ago a runaway team threw himself and wife from a buggy, both being seriously injured. He lingered until Wednesday, then passed away, and yesterday was laid to rest in the family burying ground. Mrs. Whiteaker is still in a precarious condition. His brother, George, lives at Independence: sister, Mrs. Ellen Levens, lives in Dallas, and the other, Mrs. Maria Ogden. in Southern California.-Polk County Itemizer.
