EXPLAINS SWINE PLAGUE AND GIVES SOME INTERESTING FACTS CONCERNING ITS SPREAD AND METHODS OF PREVENTION SOME TIMELY WARNINGS.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

(The Statesman is pleased to print communications upon topics of general interest, at any time. There is scarcely any limit to the topics of general interest. It is asked only that correspondents refrain from personalities and use care that nothing be written of a libelous or unworthy or untruthful nature.

This disease seems to be starting up this fall with new vigor and quite generally fatal.

I would like, if possible, to put the farmers in possession of some facts concerning the propagation and scattering of swine plague that may help them in keeping this plague down, and also keep the breeders from becoming discouraged and stopping short in the advancement and growth of this great and important industry to our growing country.

Dr. D. E. Salmon, chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry, says that "it is doubtful if there is any considerable herd of swine anywhere that does not have the bacteria of swine plague hanging about them, just waiting for a convenient media to propagate in all its vigor and violence."

Farmers should be very careful about their breeding, and see to it that the crosses made bring good, vigorous, strong, symmetrical, healthy pigs; good feeders that can withstand the inroads this disease would make; in fact, too much nor too strong argument cannot be used to induce the breeders to be exceedingly careful in this line. I think what is known as in and in breeding should never be allowed if we would have good, healthy hogs. Then we must look well to the surroundings; no low, stuffy pens should be used, and swine should not be allowed to congregate and nest in old straw piles. Hogs with good, large stys or pens, where they can be changed and the pens disinfected three or four times a month are much less liable to the disease than those allowed to run out, especially in low, wood pastures. Good feed, and plenty of it, plays a very important part in keeping away the swine plague. Dead animals should at once be burned or buried, and the place in which they have lain and the ground over which they are drawn for burning or burying should be sprinkled with dry, air-slacked lime or a 5 per cent solution of crude carbolic acid. Lime and carbolic acid should be used extensively around premises where swine plague has made its appearance. As a preventative and to keep the hogs in a good, thrifty condition, three to fifteen drops of carbolic acid, according to age, is very beneficial, says Dr. Salmon.

Now, a word about the scattering of this dread disease. I can only mention a few of the many ways it may be carried about. Your neighbor comes to see your suffering hogs, and carries a little mud around on his shoes. Soon his hogs are dying with the same trouble. A little dirt the size of a pea is sufficient to inoculate a herd. Drovers with their dogs going from one farm to another can carry the bacteria, and thus scatter them broadcast. Crows, coyotes and turkey buzzards can carry the disease on their feet or otherwise many miles. The above shows how necessary it is that all the dead should at once be buried, or burned. I believe that if careful breeding and good feeding and good judgment in regard to the care and surroundings of hogs are maintained and carried out, Marion county could show some as fine hogs as could be seen in any county in this state, or in any state, and produce as fine pork for the market as can be found anywhere. Hogs affected with swine plague are unfit for consumption, and though they may be fat when the herd is found attacked with the plague, they should not be sold or offered for sale, as it is unlawful. Very respectfully, D. D. KEELER, V. S., Stock Inspector for Marion County.

contracted with the defendant, J. R. Kaser, a hop grower near Silverton, for a certain quantity of his 1920 crop of hops at 10 1/2 cents per pound. According to the allegations of the complaint, Kaser delivered the hops over to the plaintiff and received his payment in full for the same, and the bales were marked for shipment "K. E. Lot 28." Yesterday Kaser hauled the hops into Silverton to place them aboard cars, according to his agreement, but upon his arrival there he learned of the recent decision of Judge Burnett, of the State Circuit Court, in the case of Backhaus vs. Baells, in which he held that the contract was unilateral and void, and he concluded that he would not deliver the hops, and turned them over to Collidge & McClaine, of Silverton, who in turn is charged with loading the hops aboard cars and attempting to ship them out of the state.

Kaser drove directly to this city, and tendered Krebs Bros., the plaintiff's local agents, the money received for the hops, which money was refused by the latter, who demanded the hops, but the defendant, Kaser, refused to deliver them up.

John A. Carson, one of the plaintiff's attorneys, arrived from Portland on the local last evening, and the papers were at once drawn up, but were not filed until 9:30 last night, an attachment was levied upon the hops and they were stopped at Woodburn, where they will be held pending settlement of the suit.

This is the direct outcome of the effect of the opinion rendered by Judge Burnett, and the result of this contest will be looked forward to anxiously by all concerned. Carson & Adams and P. H. D'Arcy are the attorneys for the plaintiff.

WANTED BY MILITARY

BURROUGHS, WITH PLURALITY OF ALIASES, A DESERTER OF UNCLE'S ARMY.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

Sheriff R. B. Colbath was yesterday in receipt of a communication from Colonel G. A. Goodale, of the Seventeenth U. S. Infantry, commander of the Vancouver, Washington, barracks, concerning the information that C. E. Mansfield, recently taken into custody in Portland under the name of J. M. Burroughs, alias George Wilson, alias Maurice Deverney, upon the charge of the larceny of a team of horses and a buggy from W. H. Goulet, of Woodburn, on October 22, 1920, brought to Salem by Sheriff Colbath and bound over to the Circuit Court in $500 bonds, is an escaped prisoner and a deserter from the United States Army, and requesting that he (Colonel Goodale) be kept informed of his status in order that he may be taken into military confinement when released by the civil authorities.

Mansfield, as this appears to be his true name, according to the officers, is wanted for numerous crimes in different localities and will probably be kept busy for some time atoning for his wrongs.

WANN WINS SUIT

IN RECORDER JUDAH'S COURT BROUGHT BY ATTORNEY W. H. HOLMES.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

The case of W. H. Holmes, plaintiff, vs. T. W. Wann, defendant, was called for hearing before Judge N. J. Judah, Thursday; but owing to failure in securing a jury that day, it was laid over until 1 p. m. yesterday. The greater part of the afternoon was spent in selecting the jurors, and it was late when the arguments were submitted.

The suit was brought by Mr. Holmes to recover $150 as attorney's fees due him for legal services, in the way of preparing briefs, and arguing a case in the Supreme Court known as the Skinner will contest.

About 9 o'clock last night the case went to the jury, composed of the following persons: James Allison, C. T. Atwood, M. P. Baldwin, D. B. Irwin, I. Conklin and Ernest Anderson.

After being out about an hour and a quarter, a verdict was brought in in favor of the defendant.

SIGNS OF ACTIVITY

AN ORDER FROM ENGLAND EXCITES NEW INTEREST IN HOP MARKET.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

According to reports in circulation last night, there is evidence of a gradual stiffening in prices and an increased activity in the hop market. The dullness of the past week has been ascribed to the indifference which has been shown by English brewers who were reported to have been temporarily supplied and were not in the market at all until their supply was exhausted.

A purchase of 120 bales, which was made by J. Carmichael, of this city, yesterday, an almost exclusive English agent, for 25 cents upon an order from England, has had a tendency to revive the interest which was beginning to lapse into a semi-dormant state, for an order from England is looked upon as an opening of renewed activity and the growers are looking forward anxiously to a realization of their hopes.

Several purchases were reported as having been made by Mr. Carmichael yesterday, all of which, except the above, he denies.

MOLINEAUX ON STAND

DECLARES HIS ABSOLUTE INNOCENCE OF ANY PART OR KNOWLEDGE OF CRIME.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 31.—Roland B. Molineaux took the witness stand today to testify in his own defense against the charge of murdering Mrs. Katherine J. Adams. He declared his absolute innocence of any part or knowledge of the crime. Throughout his examination and cross-examination Molineaux preserved an unruffled and confident demeanor, answering all the questions promptly. So great was the crush in the court that the police reserves were called out to preserve order.

ANOTHER HOP SUIT

FILED IN CIRCUIT COURT AS RESULT OF OPINION OF JUDGE BURNETT.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

An action was filed in the first department of the State Circuit Court last evening in which Geo. A. La Vie brings suit against J. R. Kaser, of the Southern Pacific Company, and Collidge & McClaine, for the recovery of 40 bales of hops.

The complaint states in substance that the plaintiff, Geo. A. La Vie, had

ASK FOR DISMISSAL

LEE BROWN & SONS DENY THAT RUEL CUSTAR HAS BEEN DAMAGED.

(From Sunday's Daily.)

In the Circuit Court yesterday, Department No. 2, in the case of Ruel Custar, plaintiff, vs. Lee Brown, Geo. L. Brown and Charles E. Brown, doing business under the firm name of Lee Brown & Sons, defendants, yesterday filed their answer to the complaint. This is the suit instituted by Custar a few weeks ago to recover damages from the defendants, alleging in the complaint, that the defendants, who operate a sawmill at Stayton, by piling slabs, sawdust, shavings, etc., near his premises had seriously damaged the same and caused him much annoyance. The plaintiff further states that his land has been ruined for the growing of vegetables, etc., by water which soaks through the pile of shavings and sawdust running over it, and sets a value of $1,500 upon the premises so damaged.

These allegations are denied in the answer, which states that the premises of the plaintiff are of no greater value than $25, and the defendants ask that the case be dismissed and that they be allowed costs and disbursements of the action. Geo. G. Ringham is attorney for the defendants.

OFFICE MATERIAL

Rivers of ink, forests of cedar and mines of graphite are reasonably "mild exaggerations" when applied to the total clerical supplies for the government service, according to a Washington correspondent, who says that the War Department annually uses 681,408 pens, 32,500 pencils, 1,225 quarts of mullage, 4,632 quarts of black ink, 3,167 bottles of red ink and 7,000 gross of rubber bands of different sizes. These are used annually by the Postoffice Department; 3,250 pounds of rubber bands, 300,000 fasteners, 3,500 dozen indelible pencils, 240,000 black and colored pencils and 13,225 gross of pens. There are 306,000 penholders used annually. Each of these is inscribed "property of the United States Postoffice Department." The headquarters of the postal service uses each year 12,000 quarts of black ink, 1,000,000 pounds of small jute twine, put up in small half pound balls, 9,500 steel erasers and more than 2,228,000 black carbon sheets. The Interior Department uses annually 146,000 lead pencils, 6,925 gross steel pens, 5,000 quarts of black ink and 2,500 quarts of mullage. Unestimated millions of pens and uncomputed reams of paper, with millions of envelopes, are used each year in the government service. The Treasury Department and other branches of the public service use supplies in proportion to the figures given for the War, Postoffice and Interior Departments.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

How To Find Out. Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do. There is comfort in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to get up many times during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail, address Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. When writing mention reading this in this paper.
