(From Saturday's Daily.)

A rather mysterious robbery is reported to have taken place yesterday morning somewhere about 7 o'clock, at the residence of Hon. Wm. Miller, corner of Court and Cottage streets, whereby Mr. Miller is poorer by just $226.62, which is the amount lost.

The matter was reported to the police and an investigation made at the house and in the room from which the money was taken, but so far as could be learned, no clue to the robbery was til now. His position now is about the discovered.

Thursday and Thursday night, was at standstill last night, registering 18.8 feet above low water. Everything that was in the warehouse Thursday was removed to places of safety, so no damage was done.

The water was almost three feet higher last night than it was at any time last winter, though it is still over a foot below the danger mark. There is less drift reported in the river at present than during the fore part of the week, as everything loose has been already carried away. The warehouse at the wharf is in no immediate danger though the water comes several feet above the floor at the lower end. So far there has been no serious losses reported along the river, and the river will begin falling this morning unless the heavy rains continue.

ARE DIVIDED AS TO THE TENDENCY. The hop market is very quiet and featureless of late, there being no perceptible movement or inclination in either direction, and while one dealer will assert in the strongest terms that the market has begun to display a downward tendency, another will vociferously maintain that it is still quite strong and that the present quietness > is due to the temporary inactivity of the brewers, who are waiting for developments in the shape of a break in the market. Few sales have been reported within the past week, the most recent of which was the purchase of the E. M. Croisan lot Saturday, con-sisting of 155 bales, by John Carmichael, for 25 cents.

(Evening Telegram.)

Next year's hop crop will not fail below 18 cents. A few contracts for 1903 hops are being made at that price. This fact is proof enough that growers may at least depend upon another year of prosperity. It is doubtful if the price will ever again fall as low as 10 cents, as the consumption keeps pace with the supply, more especially as the the business owing to adverse condi-

The market has been most peculiar bine, then raised the prices on "flat" this year. At the present time some of the dealers are selling 2 cents below the market price to make good orders which were not covered with contracts. The more conservative dealers hedge by covering each order they take in advance with a contract with the grower, so as not to be caught short. In this manner they have the supply when called upon and do not have to buy in the open market for filling their orders. Others, however, will take all the orders they can get regardless of whether or not they can cover with contracts. When these latter have to sell short it has the effect of stimulat-

PRISONERS INSANE

TWO CONVICTS MAY BE EXAMIN-ED FOR COMMITMENT TO THE ASYLUM.

Two prisoners at the State Penitehtiary will be examined this morning by the proper authorities, and probably committed to the Insane Asylum. They are Geo, Bowmen and August Kangus. Bowmen is serving a threeyear sentence for burglary committed in Mutnomsh county. He has been acting strangely for the past six months, and thinks there is someone trying to hypnotize him. Kangus was sent up for eighteen months from Clackamas county, convicted of the crime of larceny. He is a foreigner, of very retiring disposition and extremely melancholy.

work 50 per cent. The employes then went about to form a union. 'They effected a temporary organization and elected officers. Promptly the leaders of the movement were discharged. The matter rests there.

There is every prospect of a bitter war between the employing laundrymen and the Western Central Labor Union, with which the Laundry Workers' local union is affiliated. The Western Central is a most formidable body, having more than 5,000 members, composed of sixty-seven local unions. It recently whipped one of Seattle's largest and, wealthiest wholesale firms into line, the fight lasting three months.

SOCIAL CENTER MOVING.

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 .- A periodical devoted to the doings of society people has discovered that the social center of this city has moved up town at the rate of a block a year. The center of population so far as the consequential people are concerned is this year at Fifty-Second street and Fifth avenue. Two years ago it was at Fiftleth street, and in 1886 at Thirty-Fourth street. In 1856 it was at Washington Square.

VERY MUCH EVIDENCED IN SA-LEM BY CROWDS AND DISPLAYS.

There were many signs yesterday in Salem of the approach of the holiday season. Seldom have the crowds on the streets and in the stores been larger when nothing out of the ordinary was going on. The country for miles around had emptied itself into the streets of Salem, and all the institutions in the suburbs, from the Reform School to the Indian School, were well represented.

The footings in the popular storesthe stores that advertise, for instance -would probably show by comparison with other days a very large busines -in many cases the largest day's business in the history of the stores.

The crowds on the streets were kept up until late in the evening. The working people seem to enjoy a kind of holiday time on pleasant Saturday evenings.

There were many admirers an day and evening of the numerous show windows, which begin to exhibit the effect of preparations for the coming of old Santa Claus. A number of the larger stores have put in stocks of Christmas toys; and samples of these are displayed in the windows. They attract the children, and there are many children of more than tender years who are pleased with the nice displays. It may be said confidently that never before have the Salem merchants prepared so well for the holiday season, by putting in large stocks of seasonable goods. T fact, the general stocks were never before so large, nor so varied in assortment.

Salem has become an excellent trading point, and it is no wonder that on Saturdays, and on other days, people come here from all over the central Willamette Valley to secure their supplies.

L. Wimberly, editor of the Roseburg Review, of Roseburg, Oregon, is in the city, having stopped, on his way to Portland, to attend the Odd Fellows' anniversary celebration, ing the market, the same as was done this year. It seems all the more remarkable that prices kept up so well in the face of the fact that very few of the large brewers, according to reliable information from trade sources, have bought of this year's crop. Most of the large brewers have cold storage plants where they keep hops in stock, and many of them have been using from the cold storage stock rather than pay present prices. It is their policy to wait until an off year so that they can stock up when hops are cheap. But the fact that they are drawing largely on their old stock this year ought to help in making good prices next year. Having exhausted their reserve stock, they will be forced to come into the market heavy for a new supply, therefore dealers, it would seem, are justified in making contracts ahead for 18 cents.

surance in force of $2,628,787, which is 50 per cent more than the net gain of any previous year. It paid 135 losses during the year amounting to $23,600. It is strictly a mutual institution which furnishes the best of
