GREAT ERA OF IMPROVEMENT

City Being Beautified More Than Ever Before in Its History

SEVERAL IMPORTANT STREETS BEING GRADED AND WILL BE PAVED—OVER MILE OF CEMENT WALKS TO BE BUILT THIS SEASON.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

The wave of improvement which struck Salem this spring is becoming more general as the season advances, and in every line of building and improving the help available and the supply of material is being taxed to its utmost limit, and, in many instances, buildin g would be in progress were the wishes of the owners carried out, but is delayed by not being able to secure material or help at this particular time, and will be compelled to await their turn and in some cases the project has been abandoned altogether.

Streets Being Graded.

The city council took the initiative for the improvements of the portions of Church, Ferry and High streets, which were in such miserable condition, and some time ago advertised its notice of intention to remedy this disgraceful condition of these streets. The first steps for this improvement were made last year when a large portion of the hollow on Ferry between Liberty and High, was filled. City Engineer W. J. Culver has now made the survey and established the true grade for these streets and the adjoining sidewalks, and now the property owners have also caught the spirit of the times and are going ahead with the work of grading these streets. This involves a large amount of labor and expense as in some places the fill will be to a depth of fully five feet and in other places a large amount of dirt must be taken away to bring the street down to the proper grade.

Work has already begun on Church street, near the Methodist church. The dirt taken from the cut is being dumped further south on the street, the intention being to complete the street to the required grade for two blocks south of State street. The work will also be extended for three blocks on Frry street commencing at Liberty street near the Club Stables.

After these grades have been completed, the streets will be graveled and the requirement of the city is that the gravel be to a depth of nine inches in the center of the street, and decreasing to a depth of four inches next the curbing. The estimated cost of the improvement on these streets for the seven blocks is $7000.

Mrs. Hayden, who lives just south of the M. E. church is having the walk graded down with the street, and is going to put down a cement walk.

New Ferry Boat.

Street Commissioner George Griswold reports that the new ferry boat, which was being built by the city, is completed by Contractor Young, and accepted by the city authorities, and next Monday morning will commence crossing gravel teams to and from Minto's island, where the city has a perpetual deed for all of the gravel it can use, and for the rest of the spring and summer a steady stream of gravel will be pouring from the bar opposite the city water front onto the streets of this city.

A Mile of Cement Walk.

While the other improvements are being rushed as fast as skill and organized labor can do so, the beautifying of the city by the building of cement walks is also being done on a large scale. Street Commissioner Griswold is very much interested in the building of these walks and is doing all in his power to promote it. He is determined to see that the streets of Salem are improved this season beyond even the fondest expectations of the citizens of the city, and he is determined to win that new hat upon the wager that a mile of cement walks will be built inside the city limits this year.

The walk at the east end of the Willamette University campus on Twelfth street was donated to the city by the University and the city agreed to keep it in repair. It is now in very bad condition, and as the city council has left to the street commissioner the option of repairing it or not, Mr. Griswold has decided that the city shall do its part toward the improvement of the streets, and will have the old walk torn out and fill in with gravel, topping off with a coat of granite sand such as is used around the depot. This will make a good walk and in another year, after this foundation has thoroughly settled, a cement walk of full width will be laid from State street to Mill creek.

A large number of private citizens are already laying cement walks or have made application to the street commissioner for the privilege and to have the city grade established.

J. W. Jorgensen, 478 High street, is going to build a cement walk eighty-four feet in length around his home, and also several of these substantial walks in his yard.

E. S. Lamport, who is going to build the fine brick stable on High street, opposite the court house, is going to build a cement walk in front of the barn the full width to the curb, of twenty feet. Gideon Stolz will put in a cement walk in front of the cottage he is building on Winter street.

Jos. Thompson has just completed a cement walk on High street, along his second hand store, and intends putting the same kind of walk in front of the store on Court street. Orin Savage and Charles Lembcke are each planning to build cement walks in front of their homes on High street. Fred Legg is going to build cement walks in front of his home in High street.

Al Patrick has laid cement walks around his home in Yew Park, and is going to remodel his dwelling, and when completed it will be a luxurious home.

On Commercial street A. Bush is going to have cement walks laid in front of his business block south of the Willamette Hotel, and Mrs. Margaret Beck will build the same kind of walk in front of the Capital Brewery.

Some of the others who are going to beautify their homes by the addition of these substanial walks are: L. M. Kirk, J. C. Goodale, D. W. Gibson, W. I. Staley, Samuel Heimroth, A. O. Condit, Charles D. Purdy, and James Walton, and the congregations of the Presbyterian and Baptist churches are going to build cement walks around these handsome edifices.

Some board walks are also being built in the city, among them being around the residence of Father Daly, and around the German church. The Lutheran church on East State street has just completed a cement walk in front of the building.

PORTLAND, Ore., April 17.—As the bench show approaches its close, the attendance is increasing. FOUR YOUNG PEOPLE DROWNED IN BOTTOMS OF WABASH RIVER.

CLINTON, Ind., April 17.—Orm Eddington, his wife and three small children, with two neighbor boys, started to cross the Wabash bottoms today in the face of a warning of danger. The three Eddington children and one of the boys, William Dudley, were drowned. Hundreds of people witnessed the disaster, but a relief boat was late in reaching the struggling people. Eddington escaped on a horse and his wife was rescued by William Jacks, 12 years of age. Three of the bodies were recovered.

PUMPING OUT COLUMBIA MINE.

SUMPTER, Ore., April 17.—The water that flooded the Columbia mine up to the 200-foot level, owing to the cave-in some time ago, is now being handled by the pumps. At the time of the accident the pumps were rendered useless, and when the shaft was repaired, the cage was used as a water-raiser until pump connections could be made. A tank-line arrangement was ingeniously attached to the bottom of the cage, and when this was lowered into the water it would rapidly fill and be hoisted to the surface. This had to be untilized only a few days.

DIED FROM EFFECTS OF FALL.

ASTORIA, Ore., April 17.—Rudolph Larson, a fisherman who fell from the sidewalk to the beach in this city about a month ago, died yesterday from the effects of the fall. He only received some scalp wounds, apparently, which readily healed, but he grew worse gradually and evidently died from some internal injury. The man was intoxicated when he had the fall, so it is not expected that his family will file a suit for damages against the city.

SAYS ATTACK WAS UNJUST

H. D. ALLEN, WHO COACHED THE MULTNOMAH CLUB FOR STAGEING "WIZARD OF THE NILE," SEVERELY SCORED BY OREGONIAN—ANSWERS CHARGES.

(From Saturday's Daily.)

One week ago last night, H. D. Allen and wife came up to Salem from Portland and laid a proposition before the Salem lodge of Elks to produce the "Wizard of the Nile" upon the Salem stage, but, as stated at that time, after due consideration, the Salem Elks decided that the season was too far advanced to attempt to stage such a difficult piece at this late day and the matter was postponed until next fall.

Not many weeks ago Mr. Allen, under the auspices of the Multnomah Club of Portland, produced the play in that city and it was represented that the production was a grand success, both financially and otherwise. Yesterday morning's Oregonian, however, came out with almost a full column's article stating that an action to recover upon a debt had been instituted against Allen, and the article as a whole was a most scathing and denunciatory one, accusing Allen of making false representations to the Club and roasting him generally.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen are still in Salem, Mr. Allen being a skillful decorator of interiors, and is employed at the furniture store of Buren & Hamilton. Mr. Allen, when seen by a Statesman reporter yesterday, and shown the article in the Oregonian, said:

"This article is one of ridiculous nonsense. When I came to Portland I went before the Multnomah Club and told the officers I would furnish costumes, music, etc., for the staging of the 'Wizard of the Nile.' I did not make any statement that I had any rights whatever to the piece, and I explained fully to the board that it was my intention to have new scenery and costumes made for this production instead of old property to which I had access in the East.

"I secured from Mr. Wonder, the costumer, his figures for costuming the female portion of the piece. This was approximately $450. I went before the board to ask them to guarantee Mr. Wonder for this amount, which they did.

"I certainly did not come to Portland to give anyone the impression that I was anything phenomenal in this line of business. I merely went before the board of directors of the Multnomah Club and stated the part of the contract which I proposed to fulfill, and I consider the article which appeared in this morning's Oregonian to be absolutely unwarranted and, as I judge that the information was in all probability forthcoming from certain officers of the Club, for whom I have very little regard, and whose methods of doing business were more boyish than would naturally be expected for men of their position, I feel that, in justice to myself, the public should be made acquainted with the outcome of my contract with the Club.

"I am in possession of a letter signed by the president and passed upon by the board of the Multnomah Club, stating that I have fulfilled my contract in a manner far exceeding their expectations, and I had reason to suppose at the time that this letter was written in good faith, for I certainly received it in that light, feeling that, at least, I had done my duty and my efforts were appreciated.

"I believe the Multnomah Club has made about $1,000 from this production, which the report in the Oregonian says I persuaded the Multnomah Club to launch forth. Myself and wife spent three months' time in Portland preparing the 'Wizard of the Nile' for production. It would be impossible to rate my expenses during this time at less than $100 per month. As everyone knows, I have taken no pains to conceal the fact that I am indebted to Messrs. Miller, Wonder, Fried and Lehman, for their services and materials furnished which brings my actual expense, for fulfilling my portion of the contract, to over $1,1000, my income from the performance being $795.

"Incidentally, I might say that, under any contract I could have furnished the Club with the shabbiest of costumes and the most dilapidated scenery, had I been so inclined. I explained to several members of the board the expense I was going to in giving them a performance which had never been equalled in Portland by amateur talent. I was assured that the Club would not see me loser on the transaction, consequently I felt safe in going ahead, and now, as a token of gratitude from the Multnomah Club, I have before me this article which is nothing more than a miserable distortion of the facts which evidently has been gotten up to mislead the public as to my character, as well as to exonerate the Multnomah Club from great lack of magnanimity.

"In conclusion, I would like to repeat that the Multnomah Club has cleared quite a round sum as a result of my seeming to 'toot my own trumpet,' and while I am in the hole to the amount of $600.

"So far as being sued is concerned, I certainly have no knowledge that such proceedings have been instituted, in fact, I certainly have never had any intention of not paying these bills alluded to in the article, and, furthermore I wish to emphatically state that I am not in hiding nor trying to evade the creditors I have incurred on account of the Multnomah Club.

"I came to Salem upon Mr. Wonder's recommendation for the purpose of placing the proposition to put the 'Wizard of the Nile' on with the Salem lodge of Elks. Mr. Wonder interested himself to such an extent as to precede me to Salem in order to give the Elks all the details. I asked him to explain fully that I was in debt to a certain amount, and asked him also to arrange for the payment of the bills owing out of my share of the gross receipts, provided the proposition was taken up at Salem. I explained to my creditors that I would go to Salem to put on the 'Wizard' with the Elks, mainly in order to pay them at once.

"I laid my plans before the Salem Elks which were well received by them, but, owing to the lateness of the season, it was concluded to postpone the engagement until next fall, and they signify their willingness to enter into a contract at that time. So far as this article is concerned, it comes as a complete surprise to me and I am at a loss to interpret the motive of the author or instigator."

"CHEROKEE BILL" ESCAPES.

DENVER, April 17.—Cherokee Bill Smith, awaiting trial in the Federal Court on the charge of having robbed the Carleton, Col., postoffice November 6th, last, escaped from the county hospital while his guard was sleeping. Smith was captured January 27th, after a long chase and a desperate battle in which one of the deputy sheriffs was wounded.

TRIED TO BURN WOODBURN

COAL OIL SPREAD IN OUTSHED OF PREVOST'S STORE AND IGNITED.

WOODBURN, Ore., April 17.—A deliberate attempt was made Wednesday night to burn down Louis Prevost's grocery store in this city and the whole block of frame buildings including Knight's shoe store, Henderson's harness store, McGuire's confectionery, Schultz's meat market, Bennett's barber shop, Lavier's billiard hall and the postoffice, and also Austin and Cook's brick buildings.

Some time during the night a man scaled the high board fence back of Prevost's store, dropped into the back yard, proceeded to an outshed and there, evidently familiar with the premises, took what little coal oil he found in a tank and threw it over a box. He then set fire to the box, dropped a lighted paper into the tank, and decamped. Fortunately there was no conflagration, the small blaze dying out of its own accord. At 7 o'clock the next morning Mr. Prevost found a charred box and smoldering sawdust, on which he threw water. The paper in the tank had not burned down to what oil was there.

There was no insurance on Prevost's stock of goods, and others in the same block carried little insurance.

IS NOT CONSISTENT

AN OLD MAID CALLS HIM DOWN ON LARGE FAMILY QUESTION.

NEW YORK, April 17.—The Western New York Old Maids' Convention opened yesterday in the village of Pittsford, says a Rochester, N. Y., dispatch to the Herald. Miss Amelia Higgmson, the president, in her opening address, said:

"President Roosevelt believes in the rearing of large families. He has a right to his opinion, but when he places childlessness in the same category with criminal acts he goes too far. The President is the father of what we Americans would call a large family. He is not the mother of a large family. We have heard nothing about race suicide in the mothers of America, we never shall.

"Let the President grapple with the trusts, the tariff and the coming election. They are more in his line. He can safely leave the question of babies in the hands of the women of this great republic."

LANDMARK DESTROYED

THE ESSEXHOUSE AT LAFAYETTE GOES UP IN SMOKE—NOTED HOSTELRY.

LAFAYETTE, Or., April 17.—The old "Essex House," which was one of the first hotels of any pretensions built in Oregon, burned to the ground last night. When the alarm was given the whole interior of the main building was a seething mass of flames, and the firemen could do nothing but try to save adjacent buildings. The house was occupied by Mrs. McDonald, a widow, whose household furniture was saved.

The Essex House was a Yamhill county landmark. It was built by the late Amos Cook, about 1850, and has sheltered some very distinguished men in its time. Both General Grant and General Sheridan, then lieutenants, have often been guests at this house. The late Judge Deady, David Logan, and a host of other prominent men in the early days of Oregon, shared the hospitality of this noted hostelry.

BRYAN IN ENEMY'S CAMP

MUCH COMMENT OVER HIS HOBNOBBING WITH CINCINNATI GOLD DEMOCRATS.

CINCINNATI, April 17—Considerable stir was caused in political circles today by Colonel W. J. Bryan being the guest at the Queen City Club of Melville E. Ingalls, president of the Big Four Railroad. President Ingalls was one of the most prominent of the so-called gold Democrats in both of the Bryan Presidential campaigns, and many of the Bryan Democrats are reported as not supporting Ingalls here for mayor last week. While Colonel Bryan is here to fill a lecture engagement, his luncheon with President Ingalls and meeting other so-called "gold Democrats" was the feature of the day.

CHINESE REGATTA.

ASTORIA, Ore., April 17.—The local Chinese colony has requested that the regatta committee permit them to participate in this year's regatta at their own expense, offering to send to China and buy a dragon and all the accompanying clothing and paraphernalia. The committee has accepted the offer and the Chinese state that they expect to go to an expense of $2000 to make it a success. The Chinese always perform their part thoroughly in a thing of this kind. The Chinese participated in the Fourth of July celebration in Portland three years ago, and it was the most novel and enjoyable celebration ever held on the Pacific Coast.

LA GRANDE, Or., April 20—Miss Callie Hensen, who drank carbolic acid last Wednesday, succumbed to the effect of her injuries Saturday. There was gradual weakening of the heart, but she remained conscious until the last, when she turned to her father, said "Good-by, papa," and lapsed into unconsciousness. She did not give any explanation of why she took the acid, nor seemed to realize the circumstances and repeatedly asked why she was sick and why her throat was sore. All the town mourns for her. The funeral will be held today.

SEVERE ATTACK OF GRIP

Cured by One Bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

"When I had an attack of the grip last winter (the second one) I actually cured myself with one bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy," says Frank W. Perry, Editor of the Enterprise, of Shortsville, N. Y. "This is the honest truth. I at times kept from coughing myself to pieces by taking a teaspoonful of this remedy, and when the coughing spell would come on at night I would take a dose and it seemed that in the brifest interval the cough would pass off and I would go to sleep perfectly free from cough and its accompanying pains. To say that the remedy acted as a most agreeable surprise is putting it very mildly. I had no idea that it would or could knock out the grip, simply because I had never tried it for such a purpose, but it did, and it seemed with the second attack of coughing the remedy caused it to not only be of less duration, but the pains were far less severe, and I had not used the contents of one bottle before Mr. Grip had bide me adieu." For sale by Dan J. Fry, Salem.
