

THE PETITION WITHDRAWN

Kurtz Does Not Want Electric Light Franchise in Salem

CITY COUNCIL INSTRUCTED COMMITTEE TO DRAFT NEW ORDINANCE REGULATING BICYCLE RIDING ON SIDEWALK-STREET LIGHTING CONTRACT.

(From Wednesday's Daily). The common council of the city of Salem met in regular session at the police court room, in the city hall, last evening. The following members were present: Mayor C. F. Bishop, Recorder N. J. Judah, Aldermen Burrows, Cadlin, Walker, Poble, Stolz, Sims, Hubbard and Larsen.

A communication from Carson & Adams, attorneys for the Union Light & Power Company, was read, stating that the company desired to withdraw the petition pending before the council, and presented by their representative, A. B. Kurtz, for an electric light franchise within the city of Salem, since the company had entered into a contract to furnish power to the Salem Light, Power & Traction Company.

The executive committee of the Greater Salem Street Carrows petitioned the council for permission to stretch two banners across State street on President's day, and the same was granted by the council.

The application of A. A. and M. E. Sperry for permission to replace a shingle roof over an old barn at 323 Commercial street was not granted.

The following bids for the furnishing of wood to the Salem fire department were opened: C. A. Gray, 100 cords large fir, at $3.95 per cord; Alex Harold, 75 cords at $3.25 per cord. The city recorder was instructed to close a contract with Alex Harold for 75 cords at the price of his bid.

The application of August Schreiber for a saloon license was referred to the license committee.

The matter of the petition of J. J. Murphy for permission to erect a corrugated iron roof over the arway in the rear of the restaurant at No. 95 State street, was brought up for reconsideration, and was again disallowed by the council.

Street Commissioner Griswold was instructed to notify the Salem Flouring Mills Company to repair the covering over the race on North Front street, the same having been reported to be in an unsafe condition.

The committee on licenses reported favorably upon the application of F. P. Talkington for a renewal of his saloon license. The report was adopted and the city recorder instructed to issue the license.

A communication was read, signed by the expressmen of this city, asking that the council take some action in reference to the dangerous condition of the street car tracks in the vicinity of the corner of State and Commercial streets, the communication alleging that several horses have been knocked down by a current of electricity when coming in contact with the rails.

The matter was referred to Street Commissioner Griswold, who was instructed to confer with the management of the street railway lines with a view of having the danger removed. J. C. Brown and G. G. Brown asked the council to take action to prohibit the riding of bicycles on the sidewalks on the South Commercial street hill. The matter brought forth a lengthy discussion, and for a time it looked as if wheel riding on the sidewalks of this city would soon be a thing of the past, especially during the summer months, as the majority of the councilmen and the mayor were in favor of taking such action. It was finally decided, however, to refer the matter to the committee on health and police, with instructions to draft a new, bicycle ordinance, including such streets under the prohibition clause as the committee may consider best for the protection of pedestrians.

J. J. Henry, the new proprietor of the Salem Light, Power & Traction Company, offered to renew his lighting contract with the city for a term of five years, either from the present time, or at the expiration of the present contract, at the same rate of $5.95 per month for each arc light now in use, and for all additional lights that the city may require from time to time. The offer was accepted by the council, but as the present contract does not expire until September, 1904, it will be necessary for the council to pass a new ordinance, as under the city's charter the council cannot enter into a contract for a longer term than five years. The matter was therefore referred to the ordinance committee with instructions to draft an ordinance covering the contract.

Mr. Henry, who attended the council meeting in person, stated that if his offer was accepted he would furnish all the public school buildings within the city of Salem with such lights as may be needed, free of charge.

The ordinance to license, tax and regulate certain callings and occupations within the city of Salem was read the third time and passed with the following amendments to the license fees: Steam wood saws, raised from $10 to $20 per annum; cabs, or closed carriages, $12 to $20 per annum; two-horse vehicles for general public hire, $10 to $15 per annum; one-horse vehicles, $6 to $8 per annum.

The ordinance establishing a grade on Twelfth street was also read the third time and passed by the council.

The committee on accounts and current expenses reported favorably upon the following bills against the city, and the report was adopted: W. P. George..... $ 6.50

GRAND ENCAMPMENT

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR THE ENSUING YEAR - INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP.

PORTLAND, Ore., May 19.—The Grand Encampment, I. O. O. F., of Oregon, met in annual session in Arion Hall in this city today, with a large representation in attendance, nearly every subordinate encampment in the state having delegates at the session. Grand Patriarch P. W. Stewart presided, and the day was devoted to the transaction of routine business.

The reports of the Grand Patriarch and the Grand Scribe showed a very healthy condition of this branch of Odd Fellowship. The statistics submitted show that the membership has reached a total of 1922, an increase in the past year of 342.

The annual election of officers resulted in the following selections: Grand Patriarch—T. F. Howard, of Bendleton.

Grand High Priest—W. M. Green, of Eugene.

Grand Senior Warden—Claud Gatch, Salem.

Grand Scribe—E. E. Sharon, Portland (re-elected).

Grand Treasurer—W. W. Francis, of Halsey.

Grand Junior Warden—W. I. Vavter, of Jacksonville.

Grand Representative—P. W. Stewart, of Portland.

Grand Marshal—Robert Robertson, of Roseburg.

Grand Inside Sentinel—M. Skaffe, of Silverton.

Grand Outside Sentinel—L. H. Hazard, of Coquille.

The Grand Encampment accepted the invitation of the committee on reception to President Roosevelt to take part in the parade in a body on Thursday afternoon.

SPOKE TO BIG AUDIENCE

HON. BINGER HERMANN WARMLY RECEIVED AT FOREST GROVE.

FOREST GROVE, Ore., May 19.—Candidate Binger Hermann addressed an audience of 300 in Vert Hall last night upon the issues of the campaign from a more general standpoint than his previous speeches.

After an eloquent tribute to the memory of the late Congressman Tompkins, his friend and associate for many years, particularly dwelling upon the majorities Douglas county had ever given him, the speaker briefly characterized the campaign of vilification being waged against him, caustically commented upon the sleepless nights which the possibility of Republican differences seemed to be causing Sam White and his Democratic associates; spoke of the uncertain position of the Democratic party in this campaign, with a candidate who alternated, apologizing for his Democracy with promises to be in harmony with the Republican President, then dispassionately contrasted Democratic hard times with Republican prosperity, and ended with setting against the Democrats' policy of obstruction and destruction the Republican party's record of accomplishments and platform of positive promises.

Ex-Senator E. W. Aines introduced Mr. Hermann in an address whose most telling hit called attention to Mr. Reames' remark in his Saturday address at Hillsboro that the Philippine duties made hay low priced for the Willamette valley farmer, when, in fact, Washington county is getting $19 a ton, and as the hay is shipped in Government transports to feed the cavalry horses, it pays no duty.

Mrs. McEldowney sang to enthusiastic applause a couple of patriotic songs, and Walker's orchestra enlivened the exercises with several selections.

ROBBED A SALOON.

SEATTLE, Wash., May 19.—A lone highwayman last night held up and robbed E. Reilly in his saloon. The robber stepped to the bar, poked a pistol in Reilly's face, forced the frightened saloonman to walk to the corner and then helped himself to all the cash there was in the till, amounting to less than $100. Three loafers were lounging about the stove at the time. They were not molested. The highwayman leisurely walked out of the saloon. The police have no clue.

The hold-up in character was much the same as many that occurred last winter, when the city was terrorized with a gang of thugs that were robbing people every night in the week.

WILL BRING GOOD PRICE

Oregon Prune Growers Will Make Much Money This Season

FRENCH PRUNE CROP IS A FAILURE—EASTERN AND CALIFORNIA CROPS ARE VERY LIGHT—OREGON WILL HAVE A LARGE YIELD.

(From Wednesday's Daily). Reports from all sections of the Willamette valley indicate that a very large prune crop may be expected this season. Especially is this true of the Italian variety.

In some sections of the country it is claimed that the recent frosts damaged the crop of Silver and French prunes to some extent, but other authorities claim that the trees even in this section will be so heavily loaded that had they not been touched by frost they would have been so thick as to be small and worthless when picked.

It is yet too early to say definitely to what extent the prunes have been damaged by frost, as often the fruit will grow to the size of a pea or even a marble before dropping off, but it is now perfectly safe to say that in any event Oregon is going to have a very large crop of prunes of all varieties.

In the Rosedale district, south of Salem, the growers are all jubilant over the prospect and say it is the best they have ever seen.

So a large crop seems assured, and now the prospect is for a good price for the dried article. There is a general report of a partial failure of the crop in Eastern states, covering about all of the prune growing districts, and California prospects are very poor. The growers of Santa Clara county expect about 50 per cent of last year's crop. In the San Joaquin valley the crop is very light, both of prunes and peaches, and advices received from there indicate that about a one-fourth crop is all that is expected. The Government crop report from there for the week ending May 1, states that prunes are very light in some instances.

The northern portion of California is expected to yield from 40 to 50 per cent of last year's crop, and from this it would seem that California will hardly produce two-thirds of a crop this season.

Failure in France. Between April 14 and 17 France was visited by very heavy frosts, and the result was most disastrous. The trees were in full bloom, and the blooms were almost all blasted, so that France does not expect to produce any prunes this season, and is now looking to other countries to supply their needs, as they are heavy consumers, especially of the French or Petite prune. Many inquiries have already come to Portland and Salem, asking about the prospects and endeavoring to make arrangements for heavy shipments to France next fall. In Serbia and Bosnia, also, the frost has killed the growing crop, it being so heavy as to freeze the pea crop off short.

With these prospects it looks as though the Oregon growers were going to have an especially good thing in prunes this season.

The papers of California are already commenting on the situation, and advising their growers to hold their prunes for the high prices which are sure to come, and it begins to look as though this was good advice to the Oregon growers as well.

Hold On To Your Prunes.

The fact that the prune crop of France has been practically destroyed by frost should be impressed upon our growers in the strongest manner. The latest news is that the yield will be so small as not to warrant consideration. Public news on the subject is confirmed by private advices.

It is needless to say that packers and dealers all over the country will be fully advised on this subject. It is a part of their business to know all about crop prospects here and elsewhere. It is a case in which knowledge is power.

No doubt all connected with the disposal of the fruit crop are making their arrangements to make as much profit as possible from the situation. The failure of the French crop will create a strong demand in Europe, which must be met in part by the California supply. The Danubian principalities cannot stop the gap.

The question now is, shall the dealers and packers get away with the profits this year, or shall the growers get their fair share? If the latter, then some steps must be taken to make that result sure.

It is not necessary that there should be an iron-clad association of growers in order to get fair prices for their crops. But there should be some general co-operation among them. There are two bad farmers; one who holds his crop too long and finally dumps it on the market, when he can hold no longer, while others of his kind are doing the same thing; and the other who is too much of a hurry to take the first offer made him by the representative of dealer.

The dealers will not show their hands too soon. To rush into the field now with liberal offers for prunes, based on a probable sharp demand, would be to put the growers on their guard. Probably the dealers will be very coy for a while. There is no particular hurry. The crop has to be ripened yet. It will be time enough to make offers when the grower is beginning to get a little nervous about money to pay his bills. Some of the orchardists will have urgent need of money for imdiate purposes. If their crop can be bought at a low figure the campaign will start well for the dealer and badly for the grower.

Now is the time for growers to be laying their heads together with the view of joint action for their own benefit. Let them first thoroughly understand that the great French crop is nowhere. Let them next understand that the California crop, instead of being big, as was predicted by some foolish prophets early in the spring, will be comparatively light. There is reason for that. The orchards can hardly be expected to produce two big crops in successive years, and last year's yield was large.

With the idea firmly grasped that prunes are to be scarce this year, at home and abroad, if our growers do not get together and hold back from the market enough to make the trade comprehend that it must pay fair prices for prunes, they will have no one but themselves to blame if the dealers get the best of them.—San Jose (Cal.) Mercury.

GOOD WORK GOING ON

HOWELL PRAIRIE WILL HAVE A CLUB AND BUILD GOOD ROADS.

(From Wednesday's Daily).

There was a good roads meeting at the Swegle school house, out on Howell prairie, on Saturday evening last, at which a Good Roads Club was organized, or the preliminary steps taken that will lead thereto.

As County Judge Cott was not well, H. B. Thielsen and Hon. J. D. Lee went out to the meeting and addressed the people of the neighborhood assembled at the school house. They decided to organize, with members from both the Garden Road and the Silverton Road, and that they will hold their meetings first at one school house and then at the other.

They effected temporary organization by the election of E. T. Melyin as temporary chairman and George Swegle as temporary secretary. The following gentlemen were chosen as a committee to draft by-laws and prepare subscription papers, H. H. Spaulding, Thomas Walker, William Starr, John Jefferson and Harvey Walker.

There will be a meeting again at the same place on Saturday evening next, when permanent organization will be effected, and the club will be ready for work in securing better roads in that neighborhood.

If this movement continues, as it should, it will surely result in giving Marion county the best roads in the state, a consummation that will do more for the advancement of every material interest here than any other one thing.
