

TO PROTECT THE RANGES

Governor Issues Proclamation Calling on Officers to Enforce Laws

PROMISES TO ORDER OUT STATE MILITIA IN CASE OF NEED—THE SHEPHERD AND STOCKMEN ARE SHARRENING OVER THE PUBLIC GRAZING LANDS.

The quarrel between the cattlemen and sheepmen in Eastern Oregon counties is assuming grave proportions, and threatens to become a war almost of extermination. The greatest trouble exists in Grant, Baker, Crook, Wheeler and Harney counties, where vast droves of cattle and flocks of sheep graze upon the public lands. After a flock of sheep is driven over the country, cattle will not graze until a new crop of grass grows, and they will not even drink the water after sheep, so for this reason cattlemen claim that sheep have no right in the country. This dispute has been raging for years, and constantly growing more bitter. It is a common custom for cattlemen to put out poison for the sheep, and of course sheepmen retaliate on the cattle. In many instances quarrels have grown so bitter between the factions that human blood has been shed. The trouble has grown more acute than ever, this summer, on account of the drought in these counties, making grass scarce, and both the cattlemen and sheepmen would like the exclusive use of the public range. They have been encroaching upon one another's rights until a range war is threatened, open threats of destruction of life and property being freely made.

Yesterday a delegation of prominent citizens from those counties appeared before Governor Chamberlain and plead with him for protection against an outbreak. They showed the danger which is so imminent, and so thoroughly convinced the Governor of the need of intervention, that he immediately issued a proclamation, and promised that in case of serious trouble he would immediately order the State Militia to move, to quell the disturbance, and protect life and property. The Governor's proclamation follows:

Whereas complaints have been and are being made to me that in certain counties in the eastern portion of the state, notably in Grant, Baker, Crook, Wheeler and Harney counties, threats are being made to injure to life and property the sheepmen and cattlemen, and that serious conflicts are imminent between the owners of cattle and sheep because of differences as to their respective rights on the public ranges unless the greatest vigilance is exercised by the local authorities; therefore, in the hope that such calamity may be averted, and our state saved from the disaster which would attend it in the event of such conflict as appears possible, I do earnestly appeal to the several District Attorneys, Sheriffs, Constables and other officers in said counties to whom is entrusted the enforcement of the law and the protection of the life and property of the citizen to exercise the greatest vigilance and care that no overt acts of lawlessness are indulged in by any of the contending factions, and to promptly arrest and seriously prosecute all persons implicated in the violation of the laws.

In the event of any trouble which the local authorities are unable to control, an appeal to the state will meet with such response as the law will warrant in the emergency.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused to be affixed the great seal of the state of Oregon, this sixteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and three.

Geo. E. Chamberlain, Governor.

NO TRACE OF WAGON

OFFICERS ON ALL ROADS NOTIFIED TO WATCH FOR THIEF.

(From Saturday's Daily.)
No trace has yet been found of the new horse-drawn wagon stolen from F. A. Wiggins' Implement House on Wednesday night of this week. Sheriff B. B. Colbath and Chief of Police D. W. Gibson are both working on the case, and are in hopes of capturing the thief within the next few days.

The officers on all roads leading out of the valley have been notified to be on the lookout for the culprit, and there is no doubt but that he will be apprehended before he succeeds in getting out of the country.

The officers have several clues which they are following up, and while their movements are conducted along secret lines, enough information has been given out to warrant the statement that the scent is getting warm.

Chief of Police Gibson has been notified by the Albany officers that a new set of work harness was stolen from that city during last Sunday night, and it is believed that the theft was committed by the same party who stole the wagon from Mr. Wiggins.

Joseph Cooley, the baker, who examined the team left standing in the alley near California Bakery last Wednesday night, is quite confident the harness on the animal made the agency move of the animal, and the harness squeak, which would not have been the case had the harness been an old one. This information gained from Mr. Cooley by the officers leads them to the theory that both thefts were committed by the same party.

SALEM'S SOCIAL SPHERE

Keene-McClaine.
Said the Silvertown Silvertonian on Thursday: At the bride's residence, Wednesday, July 15, by Rev. L. W. Idlemann, Dr. Clarence W. Keene, of Medford, Ore., and Miss Minnie McClaine, of this city, were married.

Both parties to this highest of all contracts are children of pioneers and native Oregonians. Dr. Keene is the son of Rev. Keene, for many years a resident of Gervais, where Dr. Clarence was born. The groom obtained his education, both literary and medical, at the University of Oregon, graduating from the literary department in '96 and from the medical department in '01, since which time he has been practicing his profession successfully at Medford, Southern Oregon.

Miss Minnie is the eldest daughter of Fielding and Sophronia McClaine, and was born and grew to womanhood in Silvertown. She finished her education at the National Park Academy of Forest Glen, Maryland, near the city of Washington, D. C.

The marriage took place at high noon, the knot being tied by Rev. L. W. Idlemann, of Medford, Dr. Keene's pastor and close friend.

The house had been profusely decorated in white and green, with wild flowers, converting the room into the appearance of a miniature church, and the ceremony took place beneath a canopy of flowers, the whole making a happy memory never to be forgotten.

After the knot had been securely tied, the party sat down to a wedding breakfast prepared by gifted hands—which was luxuriant and beautiful.

There were but few guests outside the family, a few of the closest friends of the bride and groom, the whole a party consisting of about thirty-five persons. There were elegant and costly presents.

After breakfast had been served the bride and groom were taken to the train in the automobile of Dr. Loubaugh in the midst of showers of rice and congratulations. They left on the train which had been held for them until 2 o'clock, for some points on the coast for a few days, when they will go to New York, where the doctor is to pursue the study of medicine for two years.

It hardly need be said that the Silvertown, with the host of friends, wishes the happy pair a long and prosperous life, with a continuation and growth of happiness.

Last Tuesday evening Miss Bessie Shepard gave a party in honor of her friend, Miss Alice McKinley. The evening was spent in various new parlor games, a short program of readings was rendered by the Misses Abrams, Lynn and Duncan. At a late hour a delicious lunch was served and the young people departed for home, thinking Miss Shepard a royal entertainer.—Dallas Itemizer.

Thousands Have Kidney Trouble and Don't Know It.

Fill a bottle or common glass with your water and let it stand twenty-four hours; a sediment or settling indicates an unhealthy condition of the kidneys; if it stains your linen it is evidence of kidney trouble; too frequent desire to pass it or pain in the back is also convincing proof that the kidneys and bladder are out of order.

What to Do.

There is contact in the knowledge so often expressed, that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy fulfills every wish in curing rheumatism, pain in the back, kidneys, liver, bladder and every part of the urinary passage. It corrects inability to hold water and scalding pain in passing it, or bad effects following use of liquor, wine or beer, and overcomes that unpleasant necessity of being compelled to go often during the night. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases. If you need a medicine you should have the best. Sold by druggists in 50c. and $1. sizes. You may have a sample bottle of this wonderful discovery and a book that tells more about it, both sent absolutely free by mail.

SELF-LIGHTING CIGARETTES.

The British inventor says: "An idea that is often brought to us is that of a self-lighting cigarette. This is attained by attaching to the end of a cigarette a small portion of composition, such as is used on safety matches. The invention has been patented by different people many times and crops up with aggravating regularity and most extraordinary persistence. Some people bring cigars with a bolt of phosphorus stuck on top, regardless of the fact that not only would such a composition in contact with good tobacco entirely spoil it, but the effect of drawing in the lighted cigarette would probably half suffocate the user. At other times the igniting composition is stuck at the side of a cigarette, and frequently a match head is fixed on a wire fit into a cigar. The inventor of a self-lighting cigar is always a non-smoker; we need hardly add, and always fails to see why his is one of the inventions that nobody wants."

SHIPS TAKE ACRES OF PAINT.

So great is the size of a modern trans-Atlantic liner that the total area to be covered every time it is painted runs up into the acres. Thus to entirely paint the top sides of a big steamer from water line to rail calls for enough paint to cover an acre of surface. About as much more is required to paint the upper works, while the big smokestacks call for over half an acre of paint, and in the case of the German steamships with four smokestacks the total area must be near three-quarters of an acre. Since the great ships of the first class competition shows that to keep the 190 or so vessels of the International Mercantile Company in first-class shape requires the painting of about 2250 acres each year at a cost of between $250,000 and $500,000.

Gowns to Travel In

The Well-Dressed Woman
She Chic and Becoming Shirt Waists

Now that the traveling days are here it behooves every woman to see that there is something more substantial in her summer wardrobe than frills and furbelows.

For the woman who eschews long coats (and there are many who do), the traveling suit is a necessity; and while short skirts are the most serviceable, yet, to some minds the aversion to short skirts is insurmountable, long skirts are eminently correct to travel in.

But no sensible woman will make such a mistake as to harbor the theory that anything, so long as it is comfortable and serviceable, will do for a traveling frock, and ruthlessly sacrifice the becoming to the practical. Her traveling costume should be severe, appropriate and eminently chic and becoming. She will go to a good tailor and have it well made, if the thing is within possibilities, but if she must trust it to an inferior maker and the fates, she will have it fitted over a correct model of corset, giving the grace of figure so requisite for the present mode of dress. The C-B-A is the Sprites corset is especially recommended by dressmakers, not only for its modish effects but because the cheapest corset is just as well cut and gives as good a figure as the most expensive.

The braid-trimmed tailor-made on the left in my illustration worn with a white linen Foraythe waist is an excellent model for traveling.

Now as to shirt waists—popularity and general use do not always kill an attractive fashion, and no woman can be unattractively dressed who possesses a few well linen or madras shirt waists, but like the tailor-made gown, material and trimmings are secondary details, and it is the cut and finish that makes or mars the shirt able and serviceable, will do for a traveling frock, and ruthlessly sacrifice the becoming to the practical. Her traveling costume should be severe, appropriate and eminently chic and becoming. She will go to a good tailor and have it well made, if the thing is within possibilities, but if she must trust it to an inferior maker and the fates, she will have it fitted over a correct model of corset, giving the grace of figure so requisite for the present mode of dress. The C-B-A is the Sprites corset is especially recommended by dressmakers, not only for its modish waist. So let the waists, however few, be made by one up in shirt waist cut. Let them be plain cotton and linen ones, whose separate points are too subtle for the inexperienced to grasp, but which, combined, make up the perfect whole that the least sophisticated may recognize, and she who aims at a modish appearance will not miss her goal.

The gown on the right is of light blue crepe, a material which, like liberty satin, will stand, looking better than the chiffons, mousselines, etc.

MAYOR OF ASHLAND HEARS.

FOR SIX YEARS HE HAS BEEN GROWING DEAF—NOW HE CAN HEAR—ALL THROUGH DR. DARRIN'S SKILL.

(Albany Herald.)

Those who are disposed to doubt Dr. Darrin's cures will have their doubts shaken on reading the testimonials of Mayor R. P. Neil and Mr. Rhodes. There are no persons in this State whose word will go further to substantiate the doctor's skill in treating the afflicted. There can be no doubt or question of the curative power of electricity, judging from the extraordinary cases of cure performed by Dr. Darrin. The great advantage of electro-magnetic treatment is that it brings relief in a large number of cases confessedly beyond the reach of the ordinary remedies of the physicians, and Dr. Darrin has enforced a belief in the curative powers of electricity upon the public by his remarkable cures. It seems that the uses to which electricity is applied are not confined to the arts, but are destined to do what medical and surgical skill has failed to accomplish.

MAYOR NEIL'S CARD.

To the Editor: Six years prior to consulting Dr. Darrin I had been deaf in both ears. One ear was badly affected. One month's electrical and medical treatment has radically cured me. I most emphatically commend Dr. Darrin's new mode of treatment to all similarly affected. Will gladly answer questions as to the treatment and cure.

R. P. NEIL, Mayor of Ashland.

RHODES' GOOD LUCK.

Dr. Darrin: Your treatment for the past eight months has cured me of kidney trouble, inflammation of the neck of bladder and diabetes. For years I have been obliged to relieve my bladder many times a day, and night, rendering sleep almost impossible. I now feel like a new man. I shall never fail to consult you when I need medical aid. The treatment you gave me for my debilitated condition from the effects of the grip was entirely successful. I can be referred to at any time at Pendleton, Oregon.

ERNEST RHODES, DR. DARRIN'S PLACE OF BUSINESS.

Dr. Darrin is located at the Revere Hotel until October 1st, and will give free examination to all from 10 to 5 or 7 to 8 daily. The poor free except medicine, 10 to 11 daily, and those able to pay at the rate of $5 a week or in that proportion of time the case may require.
