

THE CITY OF ABERDEEN IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

Ten Blocks in Business Portion of Town Are Wiped Out

FOUR PEOPLE KILLED

And Six Are Injured, Some Fatally As A Direct Result

A Cripple Cremated— Damage Estimated at $1,000,000

ABERDEEN, Wn., Oct. 16.—One of the most destructive fires which ever occurred in the state of Washington, aside from the great fire in Seattle in 1889, started in this city today, and is continuing to rage unabated. Three or four lives are reported to have been lost. The fire has destroyed forty business houses, including both of the bank buildings, the Pacific hotel and Crescent hotel, two Gray's Harbor hospitals and many residences. Huron, the principal business street of the town, is wiped out entirely with the exception of a few buildings. None of the mills have yet been consumed and will not, unless there should be a change of wind. The newspaper offices escaped.

composed almost entirely of wooden structures and nothing impeding the progress of the flames. The burnt district consists of ten blocks of business houses and residences. Four people lost their lives in the flames and six were injured. The dead are: CHARLES ROLFS, DANIEL WEBSTER, CALVIN MCKENZIE, and an unknown man. The injured: John Steen, fatally; H. W. Lacey, both kicked by a horse. J. D. Hansen, bruised. A. Britberg, cut. John Mills, Hoquiam. William Oglesby, suffocated.

How It Originated. Aberdeen, Oct. 16.—The fire started in the oil Mack building on Hume street, owned by Oscar L. Crain, and has been regarded as a fire trip. It was three stories high and occupied by numerous single men, who cooked their own meals and were not over careful of the oil stoves they used. The flames broke out in a room on the third floor and the interior of the building was already seething when the alarm was turned in. From the Mack block the fire spread to the new hose house and headquarters of the fire department. The saloon next to the engine house was soon blazing and then the flames jumped across the alley and soon every building in the block went down. By this time everybody was getting anxious and the word went along the business streets to prepare for the worst and hurried preparations commenced to get out of danger. The fire next caught in the block north and all the buildings in this block were soon afire; in quick succession the flames swept block after block until the general hospital and the Crescent hotel were included and the flames, which had jumped across the street in the other direction, continued to the Pacific hotel.

Scene Was Distressing. The opera house and the buildings of the new Hospital Association were consumed. In order to stop further progress of the flames dynamite was used in several buildings on which the flames were advancing. Telephone messages to Hoquiam and Montesano brought the departments of those cities to the scene and they did effective work after their arrival.

The scenes in every direction were those of excitement and terror. Men, women and children ran every way with all the goods they could carry. Many were in tears and several men were being carried along with blood streaming from their faces.

All sorts of reports concerning the death of injury to well known business men contributed to the distress. While two and perhaps more deaths have resulted from the fire, accidents during the reign of havoc were comparatively few. At 2 o'clock this afternoon the fire was under control and the collection of wits and goods begun.

A Cripple Cremated. At 11 o'clock several men were hurt by a wall unexpectedly giving way. Among the injured was Chief Koehler, who was rendered unconscious, but later pluckily returned to his duties. At about the same time Colin McKenzie was injured by the falling walls of another building. McKenzie was caught under the heavy timbers and his back was broken. He was at once taken to the hospital, where his case was pronounced fatal. The other fatalities were at the Mack building, where Charles Rolfs, a one-legged man, who being unable to get out, was cremated. Here the most exciting incident of the fire occurred, when the flames had completely enveloped the doomed structure the spectators were horrified by seeing Daniel Webster, a well known character about the town, appear on a ladder could be raised to his aid he jumped, and when picked up he was unconscious. He died at the hospital after two hours of suffering.

THE OUTLOOK MUCH BETTER

Review of Trade Conditions By Mercantile Agency Is Encouraging

THE PROSPECT IS GOOD FOR CROPS AND BUSINESS OF ALL KINDS -- ANXIETY HAS ALMOST DISAPPEARED -- BETTER DEMAND LOOKED FOR.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—Special telegraphic advices to the International Mercantile Agency from correspondents throughout the United States and Canada are summarized as follows: Anxiety as to the money and crops has almost disappeared and merchants West and South look for a livelier demand from the country districts now that good corn and wheat yields are assured. Mercantile collections are better than expected in territory tributary to Chicago, New Orleans and St. Louis, except from parts of Texas, but the most significant trade feature of the week is found in a tendency to greater ease in money for mercantile uses at Boston, Philadelphia, Chicago and Pittsburg. St. Louis bankers anticipate like conditions there soon. Slowness in marketing crops has made funds relatively closer at St. Louis, but banks are meeting business needs.

SHE IDENTIFIED MURDERER

COURT ADJOURNS TO THE DYING WOMAN'S ROOM WITH PRISONER.

NEW YORK, Oct. 16.—A scene unique in criminal procedure occurred today in a dingy room of an East Side tenement, where an aged woman in her dying moments identified before Magistrate Barlow and a full complement of court officials Patrick Shea as the murderer of William McMahon. Shea stood manacled beside the bed. The crime occurred last May and was a typical Cherry Hill affair. Shea escaped and after a long chase was run down in Philadelphia. Mrs. Catherine Brown, an old woman, who had known Shea from childhood, was the only witness, and she could not go to court, so the court went to her. Propelled up by pillows, she told the magistrate that she saw Shea walk up behind McMahon and deliberately shoot him down. Cross-examination failed to change her statements and she finished by roundly denouncing Shea. "Your mother," she exclaimed, shaking her hand at him, "was a decent woman. Be off. I never want to see you again."

SCHOOL FUND APPORTIONED

The Total Amount Distributed This Time Is Over $43,000

THE COUNTY SCHOOL FUND APPORTIONED WAS GREATER THAN THAT OF LAST YEAR BUT STATE FUND LESS--SCHOOL ATTENDANCE INCREASED.

(From Sunday's Daily.) The school fund, which has just been apportioned among the several school districts in the county by Superintendent Moore, amounted to $43,236.87 this year, against $43,237.03 last year, showing a very small increase, but the increase in attendance more than makes up for that. There were 9,873 pupils in the county this year upon which the apportionment was based, against 9,386 last year, and the per capita apportionment this year was $1.60 against $1.50 last year, while the county fund per pupil was upon the basis of $2.25 this year against $2.50 last year.

The state fund was greater by over $1,000 this year than last, it being $30,707.07, and for the October apportionment last year they were $14,548.30, and $28,688.73, respectively, the latter being almost $1,000 in excess of the corresponding fund for this year. Besides these funds the regular $50 apportionment out of the general fund, to the districts reporting, and the apportionment also includes the sum of $437.50, which was distributed among the districts whose teachers attended the county institute the afternoon hours as required by the school laws.
