

MORE BUBBLES

APPROACH OF THE PRIMARIES FAILS TO AROUSE INTEREST IN POLITICS.

Warm Scrap Is Developing in the Democratic Ranks for the Circuit Judgeship Nomination—Old Factions Lining Up—Will Also Make a Fight for Sheriff's Office.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Upon the surface there is absolutely nothing doing in politics in Marion county at the present time and the extremly ylethargic state of affairs bids fair to continue so at least until after the primaries are held. The Democratic primaries being nearest at hand, next Saturday, March 26, all interest seems to be centered upon what they are doing or are going to do, with even no prospects whatever of any kind of excitement in the process of the election of their delegates to the county convention. There will be almost three weeks between the time of the holding of the Democratic primaries and the convention, the latter taking place on Thursday, April 14, and the candidates on this side of the fence seem content to let matters drift as they will before the primaries, and then take their chances with the delegates before and during the convention.

In this matter it is altogether different with those who have aspirations in the Republican ranks, for, with the primaries to be held on Monday of next week, and the convention only two days off, Thursday, March 31, there is no time to be lost and the candidates for the respective offices are leaving no stone unturned in their efforts to make up their tickets of delegates for the primaries.

The principal fight which the Democrats are intending to put up, although they would gladly accept all of the offices which were tendered them by the Republicans of this county, will be for the offices of circuit judge and sheriff and there is no dearth of candidates on the part of the Democrats for either of these offices, but in nearly all other cases it is a very hard matter to obtain permission of any one to announce their candidacy. They believe, and they have reason for so doing, that there is apt to be trouble in the Republican state convention when it comes to the nomination of candidates for the circuit judgeship and they are living in hopes that they will secure at least one of the departments if not both of them in case of a split in the Republican party.

For circuit judge there are four leading candidates on the Republican side, not counting Judge H. H. Hewitt, of Albany, who has stated that he is not an active candidate for the office, although he would not refuse the nomination if the convention sees fit to offer it to him, and are all good men. Hon. B. L. Eddy of Tillamook is in the race to win if possible, and it is said, will come to the convention with a solid delegation. James McCain of McMinnville, has also announced his candidacy, and hopes to go before the convention with a full delegation from Yamhill county. He was in the city yesterday afternoon and spoke very confidently of his prospects. J. R. Wyatt, of Albany, is another active candidate, and promises to make things warm in the convention if things do not go exactly to his liking, while Judge Geo. H. Burnett, the present incumbent, of this city, will enter the campaign for the re-nomination, and he thinks he still has enough friends among the majority to secure his re-election.

On the other hand the Democrats are anticipating a landslide in their direction in this office, and all want to be candidates in the hope that something may fall their way and they want to be prepared to meet it half way. There are no less than seven names mentioned in this connection alone, all of whom have good records as legal authorities, and five of whom are residents and practicing attorneys of Salem. They are: William Galloway, of McMinnville; Hon. W. R. Bilyen, of Albany, and W. H. Holmes, W. T. Slater, John A. Jeffries, P. H. D'Arcy, and John Bayne, all of Salem. Any one who is familiar with the conditions which exist in the ranks of the Democratic party in Marion county can very readily see a warm factional fight in view among these last five candidates which began several years ago and has been carried forward from one campaign to another without losing a particle of its bitterness on either side. It was this same factional strife that was the cause of F. W. Durbin losing the superintendency of the penitentiary and many other good Democrats of Marion like good appointments at the hands of Governor Chamberlain. The fight this election promises fair to outdo all of the previous ones, and is liable to be extended to all of the other candidates on the ticket.

For the sheriff's office, too, there promises to be a lively fight on between the two parties and each will put forth their most strenuous efforts to land it. Through the machinations of factional politics it has so happened, in the past six years, that no matter who was nominated on the Republican ticket for this office the friends of his defeated opponent would become embittered to the extent of organizing secretly for the defeat of the successful candidate in the convention, and in this manner the Democrats have been successful in landing their candidate in this coveted office. It never has happened, however, without the assistance of the off-color Republicans, and as everything is running along smoothly up to the present time with no sign of a split, it is thought that this election will pass off without factional strife in the Republican ranks and the Republicans will again secure this office which is rightfully theirs by right of majority.

The Democrats, however, will not concede that it is a walk-over for the Republicans, and in B. B. Colbath, the present incumbent of the office, Aug. Hucklestein and J. Harding, their leading candidates for the nomination, they recognize their strongest men and will put up the fight of their lives. But the general consensus of opinion among the Republicans is that, with either W. J. Culver, of this city, Henry Snyder, of Aurora, and Ed. Martin, of Turner, (or Jack Johnson of Woodburn, who says that it is not so that he has shifted his aspirations from sheriff to Congressman and is still an active candidate for the nomination for the former) in the race there can be no possibility of a split in the party, for they are all popular men and would bring out a strong and full party vote. "The well laid plans of mice and men," etc., saying is still true even at the present day and age of the world and the campaign promises to bring forth much of interest in this contest.

There will also be a hard fight in this county for the office of county judge, but it will be among the Republicans, and there are only two men in the race so far, R. A. Crossan, of this city, and M. W. Hunt, of Sublimity, and either one of them would make a strong race for the election in case the convention, by some hook or crook, should not decide to give County Judge John H. Scott a chance to succeed himself. These gentlemen realize that they have a hard fight on their hands, however, for Judge Scott has made an excellent officer and record in this office, beside his great influence and knowledge in the matter of the construction of good roads and has become immensely popular since he came into the office. So far as the other county offices are concerned there seems to be a dearth of candidates and nobody seems to care to run up against the present incumbents in recognition of the established precedent to allow them to succeed themselves. W. P. Babcock, however, is still mentioned as a candidate for county clerk, and Chas. Elgin for recorder.

There seems to be very little or no interest taken in the legislature, and the candidates are very slow in coming out, none having been mentioned on the Democratic side, but those who have so far declared their intention of coming up before the convention and taking their chances in getting the nomination on the Republican ticket are: Hon. T. B. Kay, at present a member of the lower house; J. G. Graham, Oliver Beers, George G. Bingham, whose name has heretofore been mentioned in connection with the circuit judgeship; W. M. Hilleary, of Turner, and J. C. Goodale, Jr., of this city, who has but recently announced himself. These are all good material and would make excellent legislators.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo, Lucas County, ss. Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every case of catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure.

FRANK J. CHENEY, Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D., 1896. (Seal) A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public.

Hall's Catarrh Cure has taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by druggists, 75c. Hall's Family Pills are the best.

Cold Comfort from Doctors. Doctors say neuralgia is not dangerous. This is poor consolation to a sufferer who feels as if his face were pierced with hot needles and torn with a thousand pairs of pinners. A word of advice to him: stay indoors and use Perry Davis' Painkiller. The blessed freedom from pain which follows this treatment cannot be told. There is but one Painkiller, Perry Davis'. Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup seems especially adapted to the needs of children. Pleasant to take; soothing in its influence. It is the remedy of all remedies for every form of throat and lung disease. Croup instantly relieved. Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil. Perfectly safe. New or fails. At any drug store. Legal blanks at Statesman Job Office

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Mr. Bosse only sowed one acre of

PROVES SUCCESS

FALL SOWN FLAX EMERGES FROM WINTER IN SPLENDID CONDITION.

Puts on Growth of Two Inches Within the Past Month in Spite of Severe March Weather—The Principal Obstacle to Oregon's Flax Industry is Thereby Removed.

(From Thursday's Daily.)

Eugene Bosse, the flax expert, who is engineering the flax industry here with the view of establishing a linen mill in this city within the next year, brought in a bunch of new flax yesterday afternoon of which he was very proud and stated that it was quite significant in connection with the development of the industry in Oregon. This small bunch of flax, which consisted of only a few young stalks, represents the result of his experiment in the fall planting of flax in the Willamette valley, something that has never been attempted before for the reason that it was thought that the flax plant was too delicate to withstand the dampness of the Oregon climate in the winter time.

This bunch of flax is very healthy in appearance and the stalks are about eight inches in length and are growing Mr. Bosse says, splendidly, he thinks that his experiment will prove successful and have a tendency to remove one of the principal obstacles to the flax growing industry of Oregon, in that the seasons are so late as a general rule, or at least has been the rule for the last two or three years, that it is the next thing to an impossibility to get the seed into the ground early enough to allow the flax to ripen before time for harvesting.

Dr. W. Norton Davis.

IN A WEEK

We treat successfully all private, nervous and chronic diseases, also blood, stomach, heart, liver, kidney and throat troubles. We cure SYPHILIS (without mercury) to stay cured forever, in 20 to 60 days. We remove STRICTURE without operation or pain, in 15 days. WE CURE GONORRHOEA IN A WEEK. The doctors of this institute are all regular graduates, have had many years' experience, have been known in Portland for 15 years, have a reputation to maintain, and will undertake no case unless certain cure can be effected. We guarantee a cure in every case we undertake or charge no fee. Consultation free. Letters confidential. Instructive BOOK FOR MEN mailed free in plain wrapper. If you cannot call at office write for question blank for home treatment.

Office hours 9 to 5, and 7 to 8. Sundays 10 to 12.

The leading specialists in the Northwest. Established 1888.

Dr. W. Norton Davis & Co.

Van Ness Hotel, N. E. Cor. Third and Pine Streets. PORTLAND, OREGON.

DR. C. GEE WOO

This wonderful Chinese doctor is called great because he cures people without operation that are given up to die. He cures with those wonderful Chinese herbs, roots, buds, bark and vegetables, that are entirely unknown to medical science in this country. Through the use of these harmless remedies, this famous doctor knows the action of over 500 different remedies which he successfully uses in different diseases. He guarantees to cure catarrh, asthma, lung, throat, rheumatism, nervousness, stomach, kidney, bladder, female trouble, lost manhood, all private diseases; has hundreds of testimonials. Charge moderate.

Call and see him. Consultation free. Patients out of the city write for blank and circular. Enclose stamp. Address The C. Gee Woo Chinese Medicine Co., 253 Alder street, Portland, Oregon. Mention this paper.

Get Your Poultry Netting

Law: and Field Fencing at headquarters. A large stock to select from. Prices always the lowest.

Walter Morley, Salem Fence Works 60 Court Street, Salem.

Ladies, Attention

Original and only genuine French Tansy Wafers for sale by leading druggists, 25¢ per box. Safe and reliable.

ACCEPT NO SUBSTITUTE DR. STONE'S DRUG STORES Salem, Oregon, Special Agents.

Easter Goods

Plates, Cards, Easter Postal Cards

THE VARIETY STORE

No. 94 Court Street. ANNORA M. WELCH - Proprietor

Cancer Cure Guaranteed

No knife, no pain. Why experiment with X-rays when you have something sure offered you? Fifteen years' experience. Send for pamphlet or call.

DR. C. BILLINGTON 239 1/2 Yamhill Street, Portland, Oregon.

FINAL NOTICE OF EXECUTRIX

To all whom it may concern: Notice is hereby given that the undersigned, executrix of the estate of Theodore Odenthal, deceased, has this day filed her final account in said estate, and that the Honorable County Court of Marion county, Oregon, has fixed and appointed Monday, the 11th day of April, 1904, at the hour of 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, at the county court house in said county and state, as the time and place for hearing any objections to such final account and for the settlement thereof.

Dated this ninth day of March, 1904. MARY ODENTHAL, Executrix of the estate of Theodore Odenthal, deceased.

FIRST NOTICE OF ADMINISTRATION

Notice is hereby given that Clara F. Brey, by order of the County Court of Marion county, Oregon, been duly appointed as administratrix of the estate of William M. Brey, deceased, and has duly qualified as such, and all persons having claims against said estate are hereby notified to present the same, duly verified, to me at Salem, Oregon, within six months from the date of this notice.

Dated this 27th day of February, 1904. CLARA F. BREY, Administratrix of the estate of William M. Brey, deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned as the administrator of the estate of P. H. Gibson, deceased, has filed in the County Clerk's office of Marion county, Oregon, his final account in said estate, and the county court of said county has fixed and appointed Saturday the 26th day of March, 1904, at 10 o'clock a. m., of said day as the time, and the county room at the county court house in the city of Salem, Marion county, Oregon, as the place for the hearing of said final account and any objections thereto.

Dated February 24, 1904. JAY BOWERMAN, Administrator of the Estate of Ralph E. Bowerman, Deceased.

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT

Notice is hereby given that the unders