

HE IS BACK FROM HIS TRIP

Governor Chamberlain Returns from Trip.

TALKS ABOUT PARKER.

Predicts That the Sphinx of Exon Will Have a Walkover on Election Day.

Says Oregon Exhibit Shows Well—Portland Fair Being Insufficiently Advertised—Found Heat Very Unpleasant.

"I am glad to get back to God's country," said Governor Geo. E. Chamberlain to a representative of the Statesman as he was given a hearty grasp of the hand by Oregon's chief executive in his office at the State House last night. The Governor arrived in the city on the Albany local train last night, after an absence of nearly one month. During his absence he occupied a prominent place in the National Democratic convention at St. Louis, visited the Louisiana Purchase Exposition, and later attended the Grand Lodge of Elks in Cincinnati. He also found time to visit his old home in Natchez, Mississippi, for a week.

Governor Chamberlain is bubbling over with enthusiasm for the Democratic Presidential ticket which he helped nominate in St. Louis, and stated positively that there was not the shadow of a doubt but that the ticket would be elected by an overwhelming majority, such as has seldom before been secured by any candidate for the exalted position of President of the United States.

"I feel that Parker and Davis have a better chance of being elected than did Cleveland in 1892," said he. "The South will vote solidly for the Democratic ticket, and from a conversation with men in attendance at the St. Louis convention as well as at the Grand Lodge of Elks at Cincinnati, I feel confident that Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island, New York and Delaware will give the Democratic ticket the electoral vote. Men in a position to know the situation in these states claim there is a lack of enthusiasm for the Republican ticket, except amongst office holders. Business men generally are maintaining a silence which forbodes disaster to the President at the coming election."

"Parker is held in the highest esteem generally throughout the East, even amongst men who will not vote for him. He is looked on as a capable and conservative man on all questions affecting the interests of the country."

"The President occupies a peculiar position in the border states like Ohio, Indiana and Kansas. In these states there is a large colored vote who expect the President to take a radical ground on the race question. If he fails to do this then he is in danger of losing their vote. On the other hand, there is a large element among white voters of these states who will vote against the President if he takes radical grounds on the race question. In either event these states are likely to give Parker the electoral vote."

"I find from talking with men in these states who claim to know conditions, that the opposition to anything like social equality is even more intense than it is in the South. It is unfortunate for the country that the race question has been ejected in either platform, and it will be instrumental in losing many votes for the Republican ticket."

Oregon at St. Louis.

The Governor expressed himself as more than pleased to arrive at home again, as he found the heat intense and unbearable during his entire visit, and returned with greater love for Oregon than he ever before possessed. He said he was now satisfied that Oregon is the only place where life is worth living. While in St. Louis he saw many prostrations and also in Cincinnati, and said that on this account he did not even enjoy his visit to the World's Fair any more than would a "hippopotamus living out of water."

"However, he has warm words of praise for the Oregon exhibit and the gentlemen in charge, saying, 'For the money expended, Oregon has the best exhibit on the grounds. The agricultural exhibit compares favorably with that of any state, and for the amount of money expended Oregon beats them all. Of course, it is on a smaller scale than many, as some states spend a thousand for every dollar expended by Oregon. Mr. Wehrung, who is in charge, is thoroughly capable, and is managing the exhibit in the same successful manner as he did the State Fair. He has an active corps of assistants, and is entitled to be commended rather than blamed. He has done well with the money and he and his force are on hand all the time, showing Oregon's resources and talking to the visitors of the Lewis and Clark Fair. I saw no one on the grounds more attentive to his duties. The mineral exhibit is in charge of P. R. Mellis and is attracting great attention."

"In my judgment the Lewis and Clark Fair is not being sufficiently advertised and I believe if some pretty but inexpensive souvenir was prepared and placed in the hands of the Oregon delegation at St. Louis for distribution would do more good than any other method. It must be something pretty that recipients would keep as a souvenir. Place pamphlets in the hands of a visitor and he will glance at the back pages and throw it away, without reading, but pin on him a pretty badge and he would carry it home as a souvenir of the trip and a reminder of the coming Lewis and Clark Fair. If we make Oregon's Exposition a success something of this kind must be done and that promptly. I find that people generally throughout the East know nothing of the Fair, and even do not know who Lewis and Clark were."

Governor Chamberlain has not yet had time to get in touch with local matters, but took occasion to express his satisfaction over the great work being done by Tom Richardson and the Industrial Association for the advertisement of Oregon, and hopes the meeting in Portland next week will be largely attended.

GOOD HORSES

LONE OAK RACE TRACK IS THE SCENE OF GREAT ACTIVITY AT PRESENT.

Daily Work-Out at Fair Grounds Gives Promise of Fine Races for Coming Fair—Large Number of Horses in Training at the Stables.

Much activity is being manifested at the Fair Grounds, which promises well for the big September races. A few of the trainers have several horses in charge, while many have but a single animal to which he devotes his entire time, and with the boarding camps in full blast the grounds have something of their fair time appearance.

There are a number of fine animals boarding at the grounds that may never be entered upon the track, but will be made well mannered roadsters from their training by professionals.

To the novice the making of a horse's toilet is an interesting operation, and the apparent delight taken by the horse in his daily bath, and the brushing of his tresses is remarkable. A few weeks ago the Statesman mentioned many of the horses then in training, but as the number has increased to one hundred and thirty, additional records were obtained yesterday.

Mr. Frank Talkington's "Mike Duff," a beautiful dark bay 2-year-old, is a trotter that will exhibit his powers for the first time this fall.

Mr. John Walling's black pacer, "Birdland," has a 2:40 record.

"Red Seal," a striking red bay owned by Dr. Hartnagel, although a blind racer, has a 2:10 record.

Mr. Timmon Ford has a promising golden bay colt, "Pedro Sombro," that has a 2:40 try out record.

"Dick Noma" is a golden bay trotter, 5-year-old, belonging to Mr. Poling of The Dalles.

Dr. Mott's "Zumbro" colts completes the string in charge of Sam Allen, and very promising young animals they are.

Mr. Rutherford has charge of the following horses, whose glossy coats bespeak their care:

"Belladi," a 5-year-old trotter owned by Judge Thomas H. Brents of Walla Walla, has a 2:19 record; "Helen Norte," who has a 3:30 and a 2:15 record as a trotter, and "Miladi B," who paces at 2:16. "Louladi" is a 2-year-old that paces a mile in 2:35, and the yearling, "Magaladi," who is a full sister to "Helen Norte," has already won her colors by making a mile in 3:09.

"Allendorf," a green 5-year-old, is a clean lined, strongly built animal, as is the "Blacksmith."

"Francisco," a 9-year-old, has a pacing record of 2:12, is Mr. M. B. Lynch's special pride.

"Sunny Jim," a 6-year-old racer (green horse) is owned by M. K. West of La Grande, who will be introduced to the public in the Oregon City derby, "Commonwealth," "Halle Hing," "Satin Royal," "Miss Elam," and "Kitty Clover" are all horses of good records whose daily work-outs show that they have lost none of their speed.

Mr. Heller is in charge of Dr. Nollin's 4-year-old green pacer that has a record of 2:16. This horse is the most striking in appearance on the grounds, because of its strangely golden-chapped coat.

Mr. J. P. Turner of Walla Walla, is the owner of "Vision," a 2:12 1/2 pacer, a well built young horse whose splendid muscles bespeak his running speed, and as the sun falls upon its glossy dark mahogany color one sees that the animal has fitly been named "Vision."

Mrs. E. E. Roberts returned to her home at Marion yesterday after visiting with Miss Margery Conger.

THEY ARE SLOW

TIME FOR REPORTS OF COUNTY SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS EXPIRED YESTERDAY.

Nine Counties Were Heard From With Exhaustive Reports of School Conditions and a Steady Growth Is Noted in Each Instance.

The reports of the county school superintendents of the various counties of Oregon for the school year ending June 30, 1904, are now coming in rapidly, ten counties having been heard from yesterday, and most of the reports show a marked increase in attendance of schools and in the amount of money available for conducting the schools. Up to date only fifteen counties have been heard from, and according to law all reports should have been in the hands of the State Superintendent yesterday, as that was the last day of Grace. No doubt most of the remainder will arrive today.

Multnomah County.

R. F. Robinson, of Multnomah county, reports 29,764 as the number of persons in the county of school age, an increase of 1605 over the previous year. The number of teachers employed was 600, an increase of 34. All of these teachers except 32 have taken educational journals, and all except 134 have attended teachers' institutes. The average pay of the teachers for time actually employed was, for male teachers $97, and for female teachers, $69. The average daily attendance at the schools has been 15,124, and the number not attending any school 1268; 252 persons attended schools outside their own districts.

There is in the county 5892 legal voters, 62 organized districts, 95 school houses, of which 6 were built during the year. In the county there are 14 private schools, with 2083 scholars and employing 137 teachers.

The total disbursements during the year was $58,567.51, and there is now on hand for school purposes $115,690.74. The estimated value of school houses and grounds is $1,548,586.42, and of school furniture and apparatus $60,922.25, with $547,506 insurance carried. An average of 8 1/8 mills tax was levied on assessable property for school purposes, as against 6.7 mills for last year.

Josephine County.

The report of Superintendent Lincoln Savage, of Josephine county, shows the number of persons of school age to be 2877, an increase of 104 over last year. The number not attending any school is 459, being 61 less than at last report. The whole number of days attendance at school during the year was 188,712, and the average daily attendance was 1380. There was employed in the county 81 teachers, an increase of 21 for the year, of which 61 are subscribers to an educational journal, and 45 attended institutes. There are in the county 46 districts, 49 school houses, 4 built during the year, 1610 legal voters in county.

The total disbursements for the year were $60,794.20, and the cash now on hand $4,894.21. The estimated value of all school property is $60,700, on which $52,550 insurance is carried. The average salary paid is for male teachers, $52, and for female teachers, $39.

Crook County.

MAKE EXHIBIT

COUNTY COURT URGED BY LEWIS AND CLARK COMMISSION TO SHOW MARION PRODUCTS

Suggest Organizing County Club and Also Making Use of Exhibit That County Will Have at State Fair—Will Pay Half the Expense.

Judge Scott is in receipt of a letter from E. C. Giltner, secretary of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition Commission, in which he says that Mr. Richard Scott will visit various of the counties, and that at a meeting to be held on July 29, the question of sending representatives of the commission to each of the counties will be acted upon.

He requests the county judge, however, not to await his visit, but to act at once on the resolution of the commission providing for the collection of the county exhibits at once.

He suggests that the county court appoint some suitable person at once to carry out this part of the work.

This came to the court at the close of the last term and the court will look into the matter and take it up at the next term of court.

"I think I will drop in and see President Myers and Secretary Giltner when I am in Portland," said Judge Scott.

"Do you think Marion county will make an exhibit there," was asked.

"I think that is a pretty good proposition for Marion county," he replied.

"The Lewis and Clark Commission offers to pay half of the expense, and it may be possible, we can get the Marion county exhibit from the State Fair. It is apt to be a pretty good exhibit."

In the letter which Judge Scott received was a copy of the resolution passed and adopted by the State Commission of the Lewis and Clark Centennial Exposition setting forth the intention of the commission in regard to the county exhibits. The commission states that it is the intention of the commission to make the exhibit a collective one, set up under the name of the county sending the exhibit and also crediting to each individual exhibitor the exhibit sent by him.

The commission feels satisfied that the county can make a better collection than any person that it might send out could do, and therefore it has decided to purchase each county exhibit upon the conditions that the exhibits cover each and every resource and product within the county.

Each parcel must be packed in the manner prescribed by the commission, and delivered to the nearest railway depot, addressed to the secretary of this commission. The committees having charge of the gathering of the county exhibits are expected to use every means to obtain contributions from their citizens and to keep the cost of their exhibits at as low a figure as possible.

The county will receive from the commission pay, on receipt of the entire county exhibit, for 50 per cent of actual cash paid by the county, which payment will be made upon being vouchered for by the county court as to the actual cash expended, but in no instance will the commission pay a greater sum than the actual cash paid by the county exhibit. This commission will require an itemized statement of the expenditures, showing the exact cost of labor and the product, with an inventory of each item of exhibit, numbered on vouchers, and the inventory must correspond, so that each item of cost may be identified.

The State Commission advises the citizens of each county to organize Lewis and Clark Clubs for the purpose of gathering their exhibits, and suggests that all exhibits made at the State Fair at Salem may be entered and added to for an exhibit at Portland under the above conditions.

Cured of Chronic Diarrhoea After Ten Years of Suffering.

"I wish to say a few words in praise of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," says Mrs. Mattie Burge, of Martinsville, Va. "I suffered from chronic diarrhoea for ten years and during that time tried various medicines without obtaining any permanent relief. Last summer one of my children was taken with cholera morbus, and I procured a bottle of this remedy. Only two doses were required to give her entire relief. I then decided to try the medicine myself, and did not use all of one bottle before I was well and have never since been troubled with that complaint. One cannot say too much in favor of that wonderful medicine." This remedy is for sale by all druggists.

WHO WILL IT BE

QUESTION AS TO WHO WILL BE SUPT. POTTER'S SUCCESSOR AT CHEMAWA.

Department It Is Said Blames Assistant Superintendent Campbell—He Denies Irregularities at the School And That He Is Out of the Race.

In reference to the statement made in the Oregonian yesterday morning regarding the matter of the appointment of a successor to Mr. T. W. Potter as superintendent at the United States Indian Training School at Chemawa in which the statement was made from Washington that Assistant Superintendent Campbell was not to be allowed to maintain his present position, even, and that the irregularities there were largely blamable to Mr. Campbell, this paper asked Mr. Campbell for a statement in the matter.

"I have always been a loyal employee," said Mr. Campbell, "and I have always carried out my orders to the letter. I do not understand that any charges have been filed against me, and I do know that I stand well with the Commissioner of Indian Affairs, Mr. Jones. Of course, I am in the civil service, and may be transferred, or reduced, or my position done away with, and this would give me no chance to defend myself, should it be done. This is well within the power of the Department."

"I wish to say emphatically that we did not pad our rolls," said Mr. Campbell. "That the same system of keeping records of pupils that we kept here is in vogue in all the large schools in the country, and this I am able to state from my own personal knowledge. I beg to say further that while Inspector Nessler when here did not agree with me as to the manner of keeping the records, he admitted that it was done so in other schools."

In regard to the chances for the appointment to the superintendency, Mr. Campbell said all he could say was to submit a letter which he had received from the commissioner from San Francisco a day or two since, bearing date of July 22, which said: "Your personal favor of the 18th is received. I was not aware that Mr. Potter had resigned until I received your note. Some time ago I spoke to Mr. Chalfant asking him if, in the event of Mr. Potter's transfer or exchange with him for the superintendency, whether or not he would care to go back to Chemawa. I do not now recall what his answer was, as it transpired about two years ago; but I am inclined to think that if he cares to go back to Chemawa I will feel under obligations to offer it to him. In the event of his declining your application will be considered."

"Sincerely yours," "W. A. JONES."

The Statesman also asked Senator Mitchell by telegraph on Saturday what action Oregon delegation would likely take in the matter, and in reply received the following letter from that gentleman yesterday:

"Portland, Or., July 24, 1904.

"The Statesman, Salem, Oregon:

"On last evening I went to Vancouver at 8 o'clock to attend the reception given by General Funston to Lieutenant General Chaffee, and on my return at 1 o'clock this morning I found your telegram of yesterday awaiting me, but it was entirely too late to send you an answer as requested last night."

"I am unable to say as yet what the Congressional delegation may do in regard to the vacancy at Chemawa. We expect, however, to have a meeting the first week in August, and if the place is not filled by that time we shall probably make a recommendation."

"Yours very sincerely," "JOHN H. MITCHELL."

So the matter will evidently remain in statu quo for the present. The return of Commissioner Jones to Washington will no doubt make some difference in the position taken by the other department officials. It is not generally thought here that an institution so large and so important as this school at Chemawa can be run with any reduced scale of officials, and if the school should be without an Assistant Superintendent in name it would have to maintain a capable man in that position at least. Surely this is so unless the attendance at the school should fall off greatly.

Later a Statesman reporter asked Mr. Potter if it were true that he had laid blame on Mr. Campbell in his testimony and Mr. Potter strenuously denied the allegation saying that there had never been any friction at all between himself and Mr. Campbell while the latter had been at the school.
