WOMEN OF BRAINS NEEDED FOR DOMESTIC SERVICE

Within the miles of veritable palaces flanking Fifth avenue, from Fifty-ninth street, live women in various capacities of household service who are reveling in material comforts and a peace of mind to which hundreds of their intellectual, college-bred sisters struggling for a livelihood in the arts and professions are total strangers, and in all probability will remain so till the end of the chapter.

the Garter? I firmly believe that it lies with the educated working woman of the twentieth century to make the "Queens of the Kitchen" which the cartoonists delight to depict veritable sovereigns to the peace and happiness of American homes. In substantiation of these views comes this true story of a woman of education, refinement and brains who is putting theory to the practice as caretaker of a Fifth avenue home.

trades people is another feature I will reform. In a corner of the court I found a kit of splendid fresh mackerel, covered with paper, decaying in the sun. This expensive food had to be dumped into the garbage parlor. Groceries seem, all-household commodities, have been ordered in small quantities at wholesale houses at great saving of money.

BURNED TO WATER'S EDGE

BIG FREIGHT STEAMER MOHAWK DESTROYED BY FIRE

WATCHMAN BURNED TO DEATH Twenty-One Persons Were Escaped From Doomed Vessel, Including Two Women

Immediately After People Were Escaped Heavy Explosion Completed the Destruction Caused by the Flames—Cargo of Merchandise Total Loss

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—Twenty-one persons were rescued from the big freight steamer Mohawk of the Central Vermont Railroad's fleet, which burned to the water's edge off Horton's Point on Long Island Sound early today. The watchman, a Swede named Larsen, is believed to have burned to death. All the others, among whom were two women, were taken on the burning vessel. Almost immediately after the rescue a heavy explosion occurred on the abandoned freighter, which apparently completed the destruction made by the flames.

The charred hull of the Mohawk now lies on Inlet Bar west of Peconic. The vessel and cargo were a total loss. The Mohawk was loaded with general merchandise. The loss is placed at $250,000.

PORTLAND, Nov. 19.—Dairying tests have been decided upon by the Exposition management to be a feature of the live stock show at the Lewis and Clark Centennial.
