MARSHAL CORNELIUS LANDS TWO MEN WANTED IN PORTLAND FOR BURGLARY.

Walter Farrell and Mike Penfold, Suspected of Bank Saloon Robbery, Must Answer for Another Crime—Were Taken Into Custody at Albany.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
City Marshal Cornelius returned from Albany yesterday morning, having in charge Walter Farrell and Mike Penfold, who were arrested in that city on the previous evening upon instructions wired by Marshal Cornelius. These men were in Salem on Saturday and Sunday and remarks made by them led the officers to believe that they might have been connected with the "Bank" saloon robbery on Sunday night, but nothing has been found to fasten the guilt upon them.

While here, however, they sold a knife worth about $2 to a local bartender for 25 cents and as soon as the information was conveyed to Marshal Cornelius he investigated the matter and found that the description of the knife corresponded with that of the knives stolen from Krehman & Hartman's hardware store in Portland in the early morning of January 11, which description had been furnished by Chief of Police Hunt of that city. The matter was at once reported to the Portland officers, and last evening Detective Kerrigan came up and will take the prisoners to the metropolis this morning.

Mr. Kerrigan stated last night that the evidence against Farrell and Penfold was conclusive and that they would without doubt be convicted for the burglarizing of the hardware store in Portland. The store was robbed of a large quantity of knives and razors.

THE Y. M. C. A. ANNUAL MEETING AND BANQUET WAS A COMPLETE SUCCESS.

Nearly a Hundred Men Sat Around the Festive Board—The Lecture Following One of the Best of the Kind Ever Listened to in Salem.

A grand time was had at the annual meeting and banquet of the Salem Y. M. C. A. at the association building last evening.

The first thing on the program was a splendid banquet, prepared by the Ladies' Auxiliary. Between seventy-five and a hundred young men, including the directors and visitors, sat down to this repast.

At the conclusion of this delightful affair the entertainment and meeting Messrs. H. H. Markel and Chas. Rotz favored those present with a duet, most admirably rendered.

The business part of the annual meeting consisted, first, in the annual report of General Secretary John Fechter, showing a larger and better work in most all particulars during 1904 than ever before in the history of the organization; showing that the institution has no mortgage on its fine building and had reduced its note indebtedness slightly. It was stated that if a subscription for current expenses of $1500 a year can be raised, the income of some $700 a year for rents can go towards paying the rest of the debt (in all about $2500), and for improvements. Prof. W. J. Staley was made a new member of the board of directors, and Jos. H. Albert, T. B. Kay, C. P. Bishop and R. J. Hendricks were re-elected as members of the board. The constitution was so changed that five members of the board of directors may constitute a quorum for doing business. There are fifteen members in all.

Toasts were graciously and appropriately responded to by Mr. H. J. McCoy, of San Francisco; H. W. Stone, of the Portland Association, and general secretary for the Northwest; Hon. T. B. Kay and others.

Fine Illustrated Lecture.

The audience then repaired to the gymnasium, where an illustrated lecture on the great brotherhood, or the Y. M. C. A. of the world, was given by H. J. McCoy, of San Francisco, general secretary of the great association there, and one of the oldest men in the work, having been engaged in it for thirty-two years; and one of the very ablest of the splendid body of workers in this organization in all the wide earth.

The lecture showed the various phases of the work at home among the railroad employes, the soldiers the sailors, the colleges, the black men of the South and the red men of the North on the Indian reservations; and beyond the seas in all the nations of the earth, civilized and semi-barbaric. It is only sixty years old—sixty years, the 6th of last June; and it has grown as much the past six years as in all the fifty-four years before; and it is now the greatest and most useful organization of the kind, and in fact practically the only one of its kind in the world.

A Grim Tragedy.

Is daily enacted in thousands of homes as death comes, in each one, another victim of consumption, pneumonia. But when coughs and colds are properly treated the tragedy is averted. E. G. Huntley, of Oakland, Ind., writes: "My wife had the consumption and three doctors gave her up. Finally she took Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, coughs and colds, which cured her, and today she is well and strong." It kills the germs of all diseases. One dose relieves. Guaranteed at 50c and $1.00 by Dan J. Fry, druggist. Trial bottles free.

LOOKS HOPEFUL.

General Condition of Fall Grain Reported as Excellent—No Damages.

Mr. S. H. Russel of Marion, was in the city yesterday and in talking with a Statesman representative said that he was remarkably surprised to see how the fall sown grain was doing in the face of the cold weather recently suffered. "There was a heavy planting of wheat and other grain during the fall months," said he, "and it never looked so better than it does now. The frost might have caused damage and I was greatly surprised it did not, but the slight flurry of snow seemed to have prevented it, and took the freeze all out of the ground very smoothly. "The volunteer oats even escaped damage and now that it is so late farmers from frost or cold weather, for it is the rule usually in Oregon that damaging weather comes before this." Mr. Russel returned to his farm yesterday, after doing business in Salem.

GOOD GROWTH

SATISFACTORY GAINS IN ENROLLMENT SHOWN AT STATE UNIVERSITY.

Greatest Percentage of Increase Credited to all Departments of Engineering—President Estimates Needs of School for Ensuing Two Years.

Possibly the most important feature of the biennial report of the Board of Regents and the annual report of the president, which was received by Governor Chamberlain yesterday afternoon, is the appreciable increase in the enrollment for the year 1905 as compared to the two previous years, which shows a gain of 22 per cent. In 1902 the number of pupils enrolled was 174; in 1903, 187, a gain of 7 per cent; in 1904, 218, a gain of 16 per cent, and in 1905, January 16 268 or 22 per cent gain.

"If the rate of gain shown for the present year is maintained during the next year," states President Campbell, "the number of students to be provided for in 1906-7, the second year of the biennium, will be seriously beyond the limits both of the room and of the instructional force at present provided by the University."

Although the student body is fairly well distributed among the several departments of the institution, the healthy gains are shown in the enrollment of the departments of law and medicine and the several engineering departments. This is particularly shown in respect to the last two named, medicine and engineering. "The gain in the medical department," says the president, "is especially gratifying in view of the fact that the course of study has been lengthened from one of three years to one of four." In speaking of the growth in the engineering departments the superintendent says:

"The growth in the engineering departments is especially noticeable. The number of students enrolled in these departments shows a gain over last year of 3 per cent in civil engineering, 22 per cent in electrical engineering, and 200 per cent in mining engineering. It is altogether probable that for a number of years to come these departments will continue to grow very rapidly. The demand for well trained engineers of all kinds is sure to be great in a section developing its material resources as rapidly as the Northwest promises to do."

The probable increase in the number of students entering the University during the next two years is caused by multiplication of classes, which will press hard on the present instructional force. The department of English, mathematics, biology, modern languages, latin, chemistry, and all the engineering departments have practically reached the maximum number of hours of instruction that can be given without special assistance.

The distribution of the 268 students among the college departments is shown in the following statement:

Biology	71
Chemistry	72
Civil engineering	121
Economics and sociology	73
Electrical and mechanical engineering	200
English language and early English literature	140
English literature	87
Geology	15
General geology	15
Greek	28
History	10
Latin	78
Mathematics	166
Mining and economic geology	25
Modern languages	155
Philosophy and education	27
Physics	57
Physical culture	189
Psychology	29
Rhetoric and American literature	237

The financial statement shows $66,476.16 cash on hand at the beginning of the college term. This includes the annual appropriation of $47,500; University interest fund, $6802; Villard interest fund, $2588.73; incidental and miscellaneous, $4008.22. The balance of the special appropriation, $5578.61. The total expenditures reach $64,092; with outstanding unpaid claims amounting to $1840.90, leaves a cash balance on hand of $543.26.

"Although the past year shows no deficiency," the president says, "the income of the University will not prove adequate to meet the set expenses of the year to come, falling short by between $4000 and $5000. This is due to the fact that advances in salaries made last January did not take effect until the last quarter of the year just closed but will be chargeable on all four of the quarters of the present year. The probable need of making some additional advances in salary, in the case of professors, now receiving minimum salaries, and the practical certainty that some additions to the teaching force must be made within the next two years, would make the advisability of securing, if possible, a larger sum for University maintenance at the present session of the Legislature."

President Campbell gives an outline of the probable need of the institution for the next two years which aggregates $86,000 and which sum he asks the Legislature to appropriate, beside an extra provision for the making of an exhibit at the Lewis and Clark Fair, estimated at $2000, making the grand total $88,000. The following is an approximate estimate of the sums needed to provide for the wants of the University for the ensuing two years:

Deficiency next two years	$9,000
Estimated increase salary	8,500
Equipment of departments	4,500
Water plant (repairs and inn.)	3,000
Building (classrooms and library)	25,000
Books for library	6,000
Power plant, and equipment of engineering department's	15,000
Addition to engineering building	10,000
Dormitory for women	5,000
Total	$86,000

NORTH IN LEAD

PRINCIPAL GRAHAM'S PUPILS ORGANIZE CHAMPION ANTI-CIGARETTE LEAGUE.

Doctor Struble's Efforts in North School Bring Excellent Results—Two Hundred and Forty-one Pupils Unite With Anti-Cigarette League.

Two hundred and forty-one pupils of the North school united with the Anti-Cigarette League yesterday and elected their officers amid great enthusiasm at the close of school. "This is the largest assembly I have ever seen in this school in any one room," said Principal Graham, in opening the meeting yesterday. "I am pleased beyond measure to have you here."

The boys and girls were evidently glad to be there too, for they signified their feelings by outbursts of enthusiasm from time to time as the names of successful nominees were announced as elected. The election went off in true old-fashioned style, and each officer was formally installed and introduced by Organizer Struble, who instructed them as to their duties.

The following are the winners: Presidents—Seth Axley, Cora Hammock. Secretaries—James Peebles, Belle Niles. Treasurers—Earl Axley, Bertha Needham. Sergeants-at-Arms—Fred Roberts, Edna Tait.

The returns of membership were: Boys, 113; girls, 128; total, 241. The entire enrollment of this school is 352. The principal and teachers are greatly elated over the result, and the young people themselves are flushed with victory.

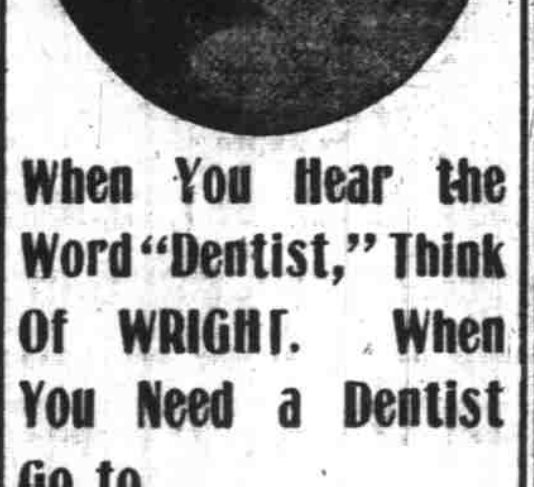

In the forenoon yesterday Dr. Struble delivered two addresses in the East school building; one before the third and fifth grades and the other to the pupils of the High school. Superintendent Traver says they were the best addresses he has heard from the speaker, the latter one particularly so.

This morning the remaining grades in the East school will be addressed and this afternoon the entire school will meet to elect officers. At 9 o'clock this morning Dr. Struble will again meet the pupils of Central school and assist them in electing their officers. Miss Cooper and her assistants report much interest in the league and a fine membership is expected.

Interest among the boys and girls is centering on the big public meeting next Sunday in the M. E. church at 3 p. m. They are planning to invite their adult friends and pack the big church to overflowing. It will be an occasion of interest and enthusiasm.

Some of the speakers are: Superintendent N. H. Looney, Superintendent Traver, Dr. Struble. Others will be noted later.

A public meeting will be held in the Christian church tonight, at which it is hoped there will be a large attendance of adult friends of the league. Mr. Struble will be the principal speaker.

IS A GOOD PLAN

PROPOSED TO CONVERT MUTE SCHOOL INTO INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED.

Special Senate Committee so Suggests; Also for Erection of New Building Nearer City for Deaf Mute School—Report of Committee Adopted.

If the suggestions and recommendations of the special committee, appointed by the Legislative Assembly of 1902, and composed of Senators Kuykendall, C. J. Smith, and H. E. McGinn, are carried into execution the building at present used as a school for the education of deaf mutes will be converted into an institute for the care and treatment of the feeble-minded youths, in other words a feeble-minded institute, while another building will be erected nearer to the city for the deaf mutes.

The committee which made its report to the Senate yesterday afternoon, does not directly recommend the converting of the mute school into a feeble-minded institute but offers the change in the form of a suggestion which was made to them. In order to fit the mute school building for the proposed institute purposes it would require some remodeling and repairs at a cost of in the neighborhood of $15,000, while the committee estimates that 100 inmates could be cared for in such an institution at a maximum per capita cost of $180 or a total of $18,000 per annum. The Secretary of State, in discussing the propriety of change of the location of the mute school so as to bring it nearer the city, estimates the cost of a new building at about $70,000. This would require an appropriation of at least $100,000. Since it is found to be absolutely necessary to provide a separate institution for the feeble-minded youth of the state, the erection of a new building cannot be avoided and it is believed to be the most economical way to use the mute school building for the new institution, as it would cost considerable more to erect a building for the feeble-minded than for another for the deaf mutes.

The only recommendation which the committee makes as to the location of the proposed feeble-minded institute is that it be situated somewhere in the neighborhood of the insane asylum or the asylum farm, in order that it may be under the supervision and receive the same medical care and treatment as is afforded the insane patients, which arrangement will also have a tendency to lessen the per capita cost of maintenance. From what information that could be gained from the committee, a thorough investigation, it is found that there are about twenty-five patients in the insane asylum, between the ages of 6 and 20 years, who are classed as feeble-minded and subject to transfer to the new institution and there are enough upon the outside to start the institution with not less than 100 inmates.

Figures are obtained from other sources than the committee which show that the average proportion of feeble-minded children to the population of thirteen states, in which are located such institutions, is one to every 3820. The proportion of feeble-minded children in school to the whole population of the following states is given here: Massachusetts, one to 5000; New York, one to 5500; Pennsylvania, one to 3500; Ohio, one to 2800; Indiana, one to 3000; Illinois, one to 4000; Michigan, one to 4800; Wisconsin, one to 4000; Minnesota, one to 2100; Iowa, one to 2200; Nebraska, one to 3300; Washington, one to 4400, and California, one to 2600.

In twenty institutions in the United States from which reports were received, the total number of pupils is 12,079; instructors 27; industrial teachers, 149; assistants caring for children, 801, and number of pupils taking music lessons, 2515. The average per capita cost of maintenance of these twenty institutions is $140 per annum.

The report of the committee was received and adopted by the Senate yesterday afternoon and it is believed that some action will be taken in the near future toward the establishment of the new institution.

COALS TO NEWCASTLE.

A Local Concern Gets Into the Heart of the Enemy's Country and Sells Goods.

The Willamette Valley Prune Association was called upon yesterday to fill an order for Perfection Brand prunes, the order coming from San Jose, California. The Perfection Brand is the one put up in ten-ounce boxes. This is one of the best brands of prunes ever put up in the world, and there is nothing remarkable about the order, excepting the fact that it comes from the great California prune district. San Jose is full of prunes. Her streets are paved with prune pits. But they raise only the Petite prune down there, and they cure them in the open air, in the sun.

They are evidently some people down there who know what real, good prunes are, and that they can be had only in the Willamette valley in Oregon, or the extension of the same around Vancouver, Wash., or in Southern Oregon.
