PITIFUL SCENE IN PENITENTIARY
Governor Chamberlain Listens to Pleadings But Declines to Commute Sentence.

Condemned Murderer of Freda Guarsacia Secures Audience With Chief Executive and Pours Forth Pitiful Tale of Wasted Life and Dreadful Reward.

As a last resort, in the declining days of his existence, Frank Guglielmo, the convicted and condemned murderer of his sweetheart, Freda Guarsacia, spectator Governor Chamberlain and beseech-ed him, on bended knee and attitude of pitiful supplication, to spare his miserable life and grant him a commutation of sentence from that of death upon the gallows to imprisonment for life.
However, there appears to be little hope for the condemned man in this direction and, unless, by some means which cannot be foreseen at the present time, he succeeds in taking his own life between now and May 5, he must prepare to march or be carried to the gallows to meet the punishment which has been meted out to him by the court of justice for the cold-blooded and inexorable crime which he has committed against society.

Up to within the past week Guglielmo has spent the greater part of his time in his lonely prison cell, under the watchful eyes of the death watch which has been placed over him, weeping and moaning over the fate which awaits him. A more wretched being could scarcely be imagined than he until the thought struck him that possibly some relief may lie in the governor for him.
The thought gave him hope and he gradually grew more calm and he finally mustered up the courage to ask for an audience with the governor. The governor complied with his request and made a special trip to the prison to see him and hear what he had to say.
When the governor appeared Guglielmo amid sobs and weeping, poured forth the pitiful tale of a miserable life and the dreadful harvest which he has reaped, and pleaded with the chief executive to spare his life from the gallows and commute his sentence to one of life imprisonment.

He blamed his parents for their neglect of his early training in life; told how he was permitted to choose his own associates and avocation (which was that of a bar tender); his early excesses and indulgences; how he cultivated the drinking habit which grew upon him, and the whole pitiful story of his life leading up to the time of the commission of the crime for which he needs must suffer death. He told the governor he was drunk when he killed the girl and that he did not realize what he had done until it was all over with. That he had no intention of shooting her but that her attitude toward him so maddened him, with his brain already fired with the effects of liquor, that he fired the shot and she fell. He before he knew what he was doing. He also stated that he did not take the revolver along for the purpose of killing Freda Guarsacia but explained that he was carrying it for the purpose of self protection from a man who, he declared, had threatened him bodily harm.

Governor Chamberlain listened to his pleadings and the story of his wasted life until he had finished and then calmly and quietly informed Guglielmo that he could do nothing for him and that he had no moral right to step in and interfere with the carrying out of the sentence in extreme cases such as his. Guglielmo, who had wept almost incessantly during the recital of his story to the governor, realized that his last hope for life was gone with the refusal of the governor to grant him a commutation of sentence and he relapsed into a fit of weeping that bordered upon hysterics, creating a scene most pitiful and emervating to behold. All that the governor would say after going through the ordeal was that Guglielmo's case is a splendid example to youthful maankind and he hoped that it would bear good fruit in the present and future generations.

It is expected that Guglielmo will take advantage of any opportunity which is offered him to take his own life and the greatest care and diligence is being exercised by the prison officials and death guards to prevent that opportunity from offering itself.

Possibilities of Flax Industry in Oregon Made Known to the East.

Under the head of "Western Industrial News" the Boston Journal of Commerce and Textile Industries has the following about the flax industry of Oregon in its issue of April 1:

"At a meeting of the Greater Salem Commercial Club, Salem, Oregon, the building of a $200,000 flax mill was discussed. W. S. Pladwell, San Francisco, a representative of the Harriman syndicate, stated that he had been sent there because the railroads which he represented have been convinced that the successful raising of flax there has been accomplished, and that the industry should be developed. He said that they were interested in the development of every community in the state, for the simple reason that just in proportion as their tributary territory is developed so will the paying quality of their dividends be increased. Citing the experience of Mr. Eugene Bosse, who has been growing flax there for three years, he showed that the fibre could be produced there for from 10 to 12 cents a pound, while eastern manufacturers are compelled to pay 18 cents, plus the freight from the old country. The flax produced there is equal to that produced anywhere in the world, according to tests made with it in Belgium and elsewhere," he said. He stated that the $200,000 necessary for the establishment of the plant was there and lying idle, and suggested that a local corporation should be formed. Mr. Bosse and Mr. Atherton, who have been striving to establish a plant there for the last three years, and who lost about $20,000 worth of flax fibre by fire last fall, have agreed to take $25,000 worth of the stock if such a corporation is formed.
No definite action was taken by the club."

Judge Scott Receives Invitation to Ad-

Pendleton.

County Judge J. H. Scott is in receipt of a communication from Senator C. J.
Smith of Umatilla county, in which the judge is invited to attend and deliver at a good roads meeting intended to be held at Pendleton on May 19 and 20. In the event Judge Scott found that he will be unable to be present on those dates he was asked to name others to suit his convenience. As arrangements have been made to hold a farmers' institute at West Stayton on May 19 and 20, in which the judge is to take a prominent part, he has requested Senator Smith to have the meeting held at a good roads meeting change to May 15 and 16.

Judge Scott, not only as president of the state good roads association, but also on account of the deep study he has given the matter, is looked upon as authority on road building and his valuable services are always demanded when road meetings are held in different parts of the state. Upon this occasion he was not only invited to address the meeting but asked also to recommend such other speakers as in his opinion would add strength to the program to be arranged for the Pendleton gathering. He has complied with the request and will otherwise help to make the meeting a success.

SOUTHERN PACIFIC COMPANY IS PREPARING TO ACCOMMO-DATE FAIR TRAVEL.

Establishes Schedule of Special Rates for Local Traffic, Subject to Revision, and Has Under Consideration Other Important Rate Concessions.

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
"The Southern Pacific company is making active preparations for taking care of its anticipated heavy passenger traffic before, during and after the Lewis and Clark fair," said Traveling Freight Agent H. E. Lounsbury, of the Oregon division, who was in the city yesterday, "and is arranging schedule of rates to be in effect during the present year for the accommodation of the traveling public. It is expected that the travel to and along the coast will be the heaviest in the history of the road. It is the intention of the company to offer every inducement to the people to visit the big exposition as well as the entire state, and learn something of its wonderful and unlimited resources, in the interests of the future development of this vast and wealthy empire."

"Particular attention is being given to the special rate problem and although a schedule has already been announced, it is not altogether definite and the traffic department may see fit to revise it from time to time and adjust it to existing conditions. The rates which have been announced, which will be in effect throughout this state, along the southern lines as well as on the lines of all other roads which terminate in Portland, will be a straight one and one third fare for the round trip from any point on the lines in Oregon to Portland and these tickets will be good for thirty days. Another feature will be a special rate for a party of ten, which will be one fare for the party rate and the whole party will travel upon one ticket and all must return upon it within limit of fifteen days. For parties of 100 or more there will be still another rate of one fare for the round trip. The company will issue individual tickets under this condition with a time limit of one week.

"These are the only fixed rates which the company has announced as yet, but it is probable that there will be more later on, depending, of course, upon the demand and amount of travel. Aside from these fixed rates it is the company's intention of putting on special excursions frequently from all points in the valley when special reduced rates will be quoted from the given points along the line into Portland.
These special excursions will be given from all principal towns and cities on the Southern Pacific lines from Ashland north. There will also be excursions out from Portland, at regular intervals, which will pass up the West Side line to Corvallis, over to Albany and down the valley, through this city to Portland. This will be of course a continuous trip, without stop-over privileges and the rate has been fixed at $2.50 flat for the round trip.
"Definite arrangements have not been made as yet as to how the traffic will be handled over the Oregon lines, which will depend altogether upon how heavy the travel is to and from the south, but it is believed that Nos. 15 and 16 will be run in double sections, and there is room on Nos. 11 and 12 for two additional day coaches. I am not in a position to say whether or not any extra trains will be put on, which will depend entirely upon conditions. Although no announcement has as yet been made, the traffic department has under consideration the proposition of putting into effect liberal round-trip rates for tourists from Portland to the southern limits of the state, providing for stop-overs within a limit of fifteen days. This rate will afford the people of the east and elsewhere an opportunity to take a tour of inspection up the valley and return to Portland at leisure.
The company is, however, preparing to give the best service possible within its means and will do so during the fair and so long afterwards as the public demands it."

CITY ATTORNEY SAYS COUNCIL HAS POWER TO ABATE AL-LEGED PUBLIC NUISANCE.

Matter of Disposing of Division Street Mill Race Canal Referred to Council Committee on Streets—Authority for Original Grant Is Questioned.

If, in the opinion of the city council, the open ditch on Division street is deemed a public nuisance and a menace to the health of the community in which it is located, the city council has the power to close it and abandon the property owners.
This, in substance, is the nature of the advice which City Attorney Inman gives the city council in relation to the abandoned mill race of the Portland Flouring Mills Company, which has been the source of much complaint from the residents of that portion of the city and which has been declared a public nuisance upon many occasions.
The members of the council have been besought upon every hand to take action toward the abatement of this alleged nuisance, and, in order to determine what rights they had in the matter, submitted the question to City Attorney Inman for an opinion. The opinion was referred to the committee on streets and it is now in the hands of that bureau for action or recommendation.

The privilege of digging the waterway from Mill creek to its milling property on North Front street, in the center of Division street, was granted to the former owners of the property a number of years ago by franchise.
Up to the time of the abandonment of the mill, about ten years ago, and for several years afterward, the dam, near High street and on Mill creek, was kept in repair and the ditch kept full of running water at all times. The dam has been out of repair several times since the time of the abandonment of the mill, and the ditch has been completely filled with stagnant water under the dam, and the complaints received, the stench became almost unbearable to the adjacent property owners, who have repeatedly called the attention of the council to the conditions.
The council, in turn, has asked the company to either cover the ditch or keep it filled with running water at all times, upon different occasions, and the management has almost invariably promised to remedy the conditions complained of, but has failed to do so, for some reason or other, it has not been attended to.

Further than is stated in his opinion referred to the council, City Attorney Inman took occasion to make a thorough investigation into the history of the company's right in the maintenance of the ditch on Division street, and there is a question in his mind as to the right of the council to grant this franchise to the company in the first place. At least he has expressed himself as being of the opinion that he is not sure whether or not the company can establish any right to maintain the ditch if it is attacked. He contends that the franchise was nothing but an easement, and that whatever rights the company may have secured by right of prescription it has forfeited because of the failure to keep the ditch in continual use and its evident abandonment indefinitely. In looking over the provisions of the city charter, in force at that time, he says he fails to find any authority for the granting of the franchise by the council and that the right is subject to revocation at any time.

Togo Divides Fleet to Head Ozar's

LONDON, April 19.—The latest news from the far east shows certainly that a portion of Rojevstvensky's squadron was coaling at Kamranh bay Saturday morning, April 15. This news was brought to Singapore by the steamer Sui Sang and to Hong Kong by the steamer Phu Yen. The Phu Yen's officers saw twenty vessels coaling in the bay and it is suspected that the remainder of the fleet was inside the harbor.
The piecemeal character of the news excludes the possibility of any accurate estimate of the movements of Rojevstvensky's squadron but it seems to show that the vice admiral has divided his forces, a portion of which went to the northward before Saturday. What has happened since then is impossible to say and there is no clear evidence, even that the Russians were within the three mile limit, which would bring them, according to international regulations, into an infringement of French neutrality. Japanese sentiment is, however, greatly disturbed. The correspondent at Tokio of The Daily Telegraph says he has no hesitation in declaring that should the occasion arise and her preliminary protests be ignored, Japan would regard any anchorage occupied by the Russian fleet as its naval base and deal with the situation accordingly.

Japanese cruisers and destroyers were seen scouting off Sampaloc point." It is impossible to locate Sampaloc point but The Mail thinks the Japanese fleet is maneuvering to prevent the Russians from entering the Pacific between the Philippine islands and Formosa.

BAND IS CAUGHT

Nieces of Governor General Treppoff Included in Its Membership Other Prominent Women Also Included—Arrest Due to Work of Detective.

ST. PETERSBURG, April 18.—Gradually many interesting details surrounding the recent arrest of a band of about a dozen terrorists are leaking out. The capture, which is regarded by the authorities as being of immense importance, was accomplished by Kashovsky, the Russian Leeco, who was dismissed from the secret service several years ago, owing to his connection with Phillippe, the spiritualist, who created such a stir at court, and who, too, went to Paris to live.
Governor General Treppoff, on his appointment as governor general of St.
Petersburg, induced Kashovsky to return to St. Petersburg, and within two weeks the detectives captured the entire band which had been operating here under the direction of the central organization, which apparently had its headquarters in Switzerland. Alfred Henry McCullough, the man killed on March 11 by the accidental explosion of a bomb at the Hotel Bristol, whose real name was Bauman, was one of the chiefs of the manufacture of bombs, and Kalieff, who killed Grand Duke Sergius, also belonged to the same party. After Bauman's death Kalieff's duties developed upon Mlle. Leontieff, daughter of General Leontieff, who was recently appointed governor of Yakutsk, eastern Siberia. Mlle. Leontieff became a convert to terrorism during her stay at Lucerne, Switzerland. Kalieff's identity was established through the discovery of a photograph belonging to Savinkoff, who has been his comrade both at the university and in exile.
When Kalieff was charged with his identity he admitted it, saying: "Sav-inkoff has been arrested."
The police later thought they had captured Savinkoff and so announced publicly, but it turns out that the man held under that name was another, and that Savinkoff, to whom Kalieff evidently confessed his intention of killing Grand Duke Sergius, is safe abroad.
Among the others captured was Mme.
Ivanovitch, a sister-in-law of Korolen-ko, the Russian author. She was involved in the nihilist plot to assassinate Emperor Alexander II, for which Perhaps the most romantic feature is the fact that Mlle. Leontieff converted the doctrine of assassination, and that after the arrest of her mentor, Mlle.

Treppoff actually attempted the life of of which missed. Thereupon the two girls became panic stricken and attempted suicide. Mlle. Treppoff throwing succeeded in killing herself. The famthat the girls' acts were the result of a mutual pact for self destruction, both

Raises Point That If Senator's Plea Creates Question of Fact Defendant Is Entitled to Trial by Jury, If Not, Court Must Decide.

PORTLAND, April 18.—Senator Mitchell, through his attorney, Judge Bennett, in the United States district court today, presented his argument defending the regularity of his plea in abatement filed in his behalf contesting the legality of the indictment charging Senator Mitchell with complicity in the land fraud cases.
Judge Bennett's contention was that if the plea raises a question of fact, the defendant is entitled to a trial by jury, if it does not, then the issue must be decided by the courts. The argument was concluded late in the day and Judge Bellingier took the matter under advisement, announcing he would make a ruling on Monday.

From the remarks which Judge Bell-appears that he considers a plea in abatement merely a permit for the accused to challenge the grand jury where there had been no other opportunity.

He stated that the question is of added importance by reason of the fact that the case could never be tried on its merits if the separate pleas in abatement are to be given to a jury trial.

Blood
bers increase with health or decrease with illness or malnutrition. The best tonic for increasing the red blood corpuscles and building up healthy tissue is no doubt Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This medicine has been on the market for over a third of a century and numbers its cures by the thousand.
A tonic made up largely of alcohol will shrink the corpuscles of the blood and make them weaker for resistance. A cod liver oil makes the stomach growl and causes tossing. What is needed is an alterative extract made of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol, that will assist the stomach in assimilating or taking up from the food such elements as are required to form the blood, also an alternative will assist the activity of the liver and cause it to throw off the poisons in the blood. When we have accomplished this we have put the system in a fortified condition so strong that it can resist the germs of disease which are everywhere—in the street-cars, the shops, the factories, the bedrooms, wherever many people congregate, or where sunlight and good air does not penetrate.
Accept no substitute for "Golden Medical Discovery." There is nothing "just as good" for diseases of the stomach, blood and lungs.

lost my appetite, became nervous and sleepless, and was unable to do my work.
No medicine helped me until I tried Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I used it until I could once more enjoy life and attend to my business. I feel better than I have for years.
I am glad to recommend it to all who are suffering.
Very sincerely yours,
