

THE CITY

(From Wednesday's Daily.)
Making Arrangements
 J. C. Starn, general agent for Norris & Rowe's big shows, was in the city yesterday making arrangements for their appearance here on Monday, May 8. "Bigger and better than ever" is his word of the show this year.

Files Final Account
 J. H. Halverson, the administrator of the estate of H. A. Halverson, deceased, yesterday filed her final account in the Marion county probate court. May 20, at 1 o'clock p. m. was set by County Judge Scott as the time for hearing objections to the same.

Appraisers File Report
 The real and personal property belonging to the estate of Lenora A. Shultz, deceased, has been appraised at $2425. The appraisement was made by Alfred Howland, John Hutton and William Fine, who filed their report in the Marion county probate court yesterday.

Regents for Weston Normal
 Governor Chamberlain yesterday afternoon appointed Jerry Stone of Athena a member of the board of regents for the Weston normal school to succeed J. W. Scriber of La Grande. He also appointed G. W. Proebstel of Weston a member of the same board to succeed himself.

Burnt Out Fuse
 Last night's electric storm did little if any damage in and about Salem. One of the early shafts of lightning succeeded in burning out fuses in the power plants at the Citizens' Light and Traction Company, at the printing office in the state house and at the Statesman office.

Hollenbeck Estate Appraised
 Henry Keene, W. H. Hobson and W. Caldwell, the appraisers of the estate of May Hollenbeck, deceased, filed their report in the probate court yesterday, having placed the value of the estate at $500. The Hollenbeck estate consists of lots 5, 6 and 7 in Westman's addition to Stayton.

Was Not Soaked
 John Paul Jones, the genial traveling passenger agent of the Southern Pacific Co., called at the Statesman office yesterday and informed us that he had not been soaked in alcohol or with anything else. That the Statesman had said there was only one John Paul Jones and he was sure that it must mean him. In justice to John Paul we might add that his appearance was such that we believed that he had not been soaked, recently at least.

Where to Stop
 This will be an important question for those who are attending the Lewis and Clark exposition. To accommodate the masses of people who will attend the exposition and to safeguard them from extortionate rates there has been a company organized known as the Portland Service Company, which has the endorsement of the general passenger agents of the various railroads operating in Portland. This company will sell tickets at all Southern Pacific railroad depots and every Southern Pacific agent is an agent for this company.

The Bridgeport
 White Bronze Monument Co. was the original White Bronze Monument plant in the United States. The monuments were made formerly in Germany for several hundred years. They are made of pure refined zinc. No other plant can formulate as fine a finish as the Bridgeport Co., which uses nothing but pure refined zinc. T. B. Wait has been selling Bridgeport monuments for over ten years in many of the country and all of the Salem cemeteries and they are clean and will remain so. "Pure zinc in my opinion will last for ages." Prof. B. E. Craig, analytical chemist for the government of the United States, Washington, D. C. T. B. Wait.

More Estate Troubles
 A new suit was filed in department No. 1 of the circuit court yesterday in which M. W. White is plaintiff and H. C. and Zella Fletcher as executor and executrix of the estate of Caroline E. Sloper White deceased, are made defendants.

Two Patients From Wasco
 Sheriff S. C. Sexton and Deputies E. C. Haight and Mrs. S. J. Driver last evening brought Isadore Kapruca, an Austrian laborer, 32 years of age, and Mrs. Bella Acres, 45 years of age, to the insane asylum from Wasco county. The latter is a resident of The Dalles, and her insanity is said to have been brought about by domestic troubles.

Hurray for Folk
 Walter Lyon, secretary of the Willamette Valley Development League, was in the city yesterday, and was greeted by the most enthusiastic man in all Polk county. He was "gripped" up with the brilliant chances for a trolley line into Enterprise and says the first road in there will do a fine business. He says a special car will be chartered for the Independence delegates to the big convention at Portland next week.

New Books
 The following new books have been received by the Old Fellows Library Association: "Library of Congress A. A. Catalogue," "The Clansman," by Thomas Dixon, Jr.; "The President," by Alfred Henry Lewis; "Susanne of Kerbyville," by Dennis H. Stowan; "Manassas," by Upton Sinclair; "Studies in Shakespeare," by Richard Grant White; "With Kutski in Manchuria," by Frederick Palmer; "Letters From an Oregon Ranch," by Katharina; "Stories From Old Oregon," by George A. Waggoner; "From the West to the East," by Abigail Scott Duniway; "Appreciations and Addresses," by Lord Roseburg; "Castilian Days," by John Hay; "Financial History of the United States," by Davis Rich Dewey; "William Shakespeare, Poet, Dramatist and Man," by Hamilton Wright Mabie.

Stories of Silverton
 SILVERTON, April 19.—The Wallace brothers, who went from here to Oklahoma about two years ago, have returned to Silverton. They have purchased the livery stock of John Young & Co., also the livery barn lately wrecked. Charles Hartman's fine young team took a lively spin down First street Wednesday morning. He succeeded in stopping them before any damage was done.

James Hunter has purchased three acres of land in Dr. DeGuire's addition to Silverton, and will build a fine residence thereon. That part of the town is being improved rapidly.

"Daddy" Steelhamer's blacksmith shop is about the busiest place in town. E. A. Sanderson expects to move his house a further north on Second street, erect another one where the present one stands on Oak street.

Students. The plaintiff seeks to recover the sum of $158.85, an amount which he alleges he advanced to his wife before her death, and the sum of $1016 for services he claims to have rendered in nursing her during her last illness. She left a will in which she appointed Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher executor and executrix but the plaintiff alleges they have refused to pay his claim out of the estate funds, although he has repeatedly requested them to do so. S. T. Richardson and John A. Carson appear as attorneys for Mr. White.

(From Thursday's Daily.)
Generous Contributors
 Mr. George Porter and Breeze Gibson have succeeded in raising a small sum for the benefit of J. E. Edgar, who was burned out on the Oak Grove road in Polk county some time ago, and desire to thank the contributors for their generosity.

Desires to Sell Property
 Susie M. Espey, as guardian of the persons and estates of Cecil J. and Laura I. V. Espey, minor children, yesterday petitioned the Marion county probate court for an order authorizing her to sell certain property belonging to the children.

Death of William J. Richardson
 Alderman George B. Jacob was in Portland on Monday night, where he attended the funeral of his uncle, William J. Richardson, who died in that city on Saturday evening of a complication of diseases. Mr. Richardson, who, at the time of his death, was aged 59 years, was a native of Iowa, but came to the Pacific coast with his parents in 1847, when less than 2 years old. He was formerly a resident of the Willamette valley, but for some time prior to his death had made his home in Spokane, Wash. He was unmarried, and came to Portland for a curative medical treatment. The remains were interred at Lone Fir cemetery in East Portland on Monday afternoon.

Automobile Insurance Paid
 Yesterday Mr. George Pearce received from F. A. Wiggins, agent for one of the special automobile insurance companies, settlement in full for all damages sustained by his car in the gasoline explosion at McMinville last fall. It will be remembered that Mr. Pearce applied a quantity of gasoline on plank runway, not noticing that considerable amount of it ran through and accumulated a sufficient quantity of gas to cause a heavy explosion underneath. The platform and the car were raised six or eight feet and when they fell the axles, springs and sills of the car were damaged. Mr. Pearce had had everything put in good order and recently filed his claim, which was promptly acknowledged and paid, the company stating that their only regret was that he had not made his claim earlier and had more prompt settlement. Mr. Pearce naturally feels very much gratified, as had his car been covered by ordinary insurance he would have been protected against fire only, and not explosion or damage from without the car. His policy covers his auto while stored or in use anywhere. The car is now in first class condition, the engine and other mechanism having been entirely unharmed.

PUSH IT ALONG

OREGON BEGINNING TO BE RECOGNIZED AS GREAT STATE BY EASTERN PEOPLE.
 Every Little Helps and Everybody Should Do His Part in Helping to Advertise State and Valley—Meeting of Commercial Club Tonight.

(From Thursday's Daily.)
 The Greater Salem Commercial Club will hold a meeting in the police court room at 8 o'clock this evening. The object of the meeting will be to take up and discuss several matters of importance which have accumulated since the last meeting, and, incidentally, to appoint a list of delegates to attend the State Development League convention to be held in Portland next week.

As evidence of the widespread manner in which the state is being advertised and the attention which is being attracted from all parts of the United States by the great inducements offered to prospective home and fortune builders, is cited the great amount of correspondence being received by the officials of the Commercial Club and the nature of the interested inquiries contained in the letters. There is scarcely a mail comes but that several letters are received from all directions and the writer of each one desires to know more about this wonderful country, especially of the Willamette valley, and particularly of Salem and the broad and fertile country contiguous to it.

"It behooves every citizen, not only of this city, but of the entire state, who is alive to the interest and future development of the state and to this community in particular," said George E. Waters, a prominent insurance man and public-spirited citizen, yesterday, "to take it upon himself to advertise the state and the community in which he resides in the manner which carries with it the greatest weight. They should take it upon themselves to put in whatever spare time they have to good advantage by writing letters to their friends in the east, south and north and tell them about this country and the opportunities which are lying idle here and only waiting for some enterprising person to take hold of and develop."

"It is not necessary to exaggerate upon the conditions here; all that is necessary is to tell the truth, which cannot be improved upon by embellishment. There is scarcely a day passes but somebody is writing to friends and relatives in the east, and how easy it is for them to incorporate in that personal letter something about the possibilities of the Oregon climate, wonderful productiveness of the soil, the unlimited undeveloped resources of the state and the glittering opportunities offered for the establishment of commercial and industrial institutions in the Willamette valley. If every person would think to make some mention of their personal experiences and impressions of this country, can you imagine what a great help it would be to induce people to come out here and investigate, if not to locate? And to investigate now means to come out here and locate some time in the future."

"It frequently occurs to me," said a bystander, "that I would write something about the country, when I pause to think of something interesting to say in my letters to friends in the east, if I could only think of something that would interest them."

"There is hardly a day passes," responded Mr. Waters, "but that the newspapers of this city contain some news item setting forth crop conditions, prospects and stories of crop yields, building, improvement or development, and all one needs to do when he gets through with reading his local paper, and it will only cost him a penny, is to wrap it up and mail it to some friend outside the state. It would surprise you to see how eagerly every page of the paper is scanned by the people of the east who want to learn all they can about this state, of which much is being said at the present time."

"To give something of an idea of what the people want to know about the state, excerpts are taken from some of the large grist of letters being received by the Greater Salem Commercial Club, setting forth the nature of questions asked. They follow:

The Idaho State Press Association writes: "We will start on our annual excursion about June 23. Our itinerary will include your beautiful city, about which we have heard so much favorable comment." The Commercial Club hopes to provide a suitable entertainment at the Capital City for the representatives of the Idaho press.

I would like to have all the information you can conveniently give me regarding hop land and hop culture."
 Following is a quotation from a letter of Mr. C. D. Linderman of Cortland, Neb.:
 "I want some information about government homestead land—land that can be farmed, with good soil on it, and also some good timber land. I want this information for a number of people who want to come, to your state if you have something that is all right, and please state where and what part of the counties this land lays, and what counties it is in. If possible send me maps, so I can give these people some idea of the country. The more, the better for your people out there. What I want is the best information of the farming country for farm land, and the best soil and good rains during the season when it is required. Give me all the points you can, as it will enable me to send a good many people to your country, and please remember maps, if possible."

NO AUTHORITY

CITY COUNCIL HAS NO POWER UNDER CHARTER TO LICENSE SLOT MACHINES
 City Attorney Inman Renders Opinion to City Council to That Effect—Issuance of License by City Does Not Protect From Prosecution by State.

In response to the request of the city council City Attorney Inman has passed upon the question of the power of the city to license or tax slot machines. The charter of the city provides that the city has the power to enact ordinances to license and regulate all "nickel-in-the-slot machines," says Mr. Inman, but the power to license slot machines of other denominations seems not to be expressly granted in the charter. He holds, furthermore, that the granting of a license to operate these machines by the council does not exempt the operators from prosecution under the statutes of the state which prohibit their existence. The text of the opinion as rendered by Attorney Inman and submitted to the council at the meeting last evening, follows:

"At the request of your honorable body I desire to submit the following in relation to the matter of the authority of the city to license slot machines and nickel-in-the-slot machines. The charter of the city provides that the city has the power to enact ordinances to license and regulate all 'nickel-in-the-slot machines,' says Mr. Inman, but the power to license slot machines of other denominations seems not to be expressly granted in said charter. As to whether or not the term 'nickel-in-the-slot machine' should be construed as including all slot machines of every description seems not to have been judicially decided. But all actions involving prosecutions for the keeping or maintaining of slot machines of other denominations seem to be based upon statutes expressly enumerating slot machines or language clearly including similar machines of all denominations. The latest authority upon the subject of English definitions defines nickel-in-the-slot machines as including only slot machines of the denomination indicated and the general use of the terms seem to indicate that the term 'slot machine' is a generic term including slot machines of all denominations and that nickel-in-the-slot machine includes only the machines of that denomination.

Under State's Jurisdiction.
 "Said subdivision of section 6 of the charter as amended in 1903 also gives to the common council power 'to license, tax and regulate all such businesses, callings, trades and employments as the common council may require to be licensed and as are not prohibited by the laws of the state. The criminal statutes upon the subject of gaming, as well as the section of the codes expressly relating to this subject, bring the business of maintaining or conducting such machines within the laws of the state, and I am, therefore, of the opinion that the council can derive no authority from the latter clause of the charter to enact an ordinance to license or tax or regulate slot machines of any other denomination than that of a nickel.

"The clause of the charter first above referred to, gives to the council plain and express power to license nickel-in-the-slot machines and such license by the city under a properly enacted ordinance will, in my opinion, protect from liability under the state laws persons who conduct slot machines of that denomination only.

"The present ordinance upon the subject entitled an ordinance 'to license, tax and regulate the nickel-in-the-slot machines within the city of Salem, Oregon,' and repealing a certain ordinance upon the subject, being ordinance No. 408, approved by the mayor May 5, 1903, is therefore, insofar as it relates to the licensing of the nickel-in-the-slot machines within the charter powers of the city and in force, but insofar as it relates to machines of other denominations it exceeds the charter powers and is void."

Great Source of Revenue.
 The opinion was referred to the committee on Licenses. Before it was discussed by Alderman Bayne asked City Recorder Moores if the city was licensing any other kind of machine except what are known as the nickel-in-the-slot machines, and Mr. Moores replied in the affirmative, informing him that all of the machines in operation were under license by the city. It was also learned that the total revenue to the city from licenses upon slot machines aside from those known as nickel-in-the-slot machines, was about $600 per year.
