The latest fad from Paris is a paper hat for ladies. This is a 50-cent production. Now if we can only get them to wear celluloid collars, they may be said to be launched toward economical dress reform and the simple life.

According to latest telegrams Lin-vitch seems to be working to get the Japs closer together in order that they may be all the more easily bundled out of the country.

France and Germany have become reconciled by France's backing down. This will not prove a great source of satisfaction to many who expected to see France and Germany again at war.

That steadily diminishing Grand Army, that army of great patriots who gave their time, risked their lives and gave their property to the support of the nation forty-five years ago, still made its representation at Oregon City yesterday in its annual encampment.

One peculiar thing in connection with the Panama canal in the fact that, in almost every instance, railway men have been selected for the positions of trust and those positions which pay decent emoluments.

ANOTHER CURE BY CUTICURA REMEDIES

Captain W. S. Graham, 1321 Eoff St., Wheeling, W. Va., writing June 14, '04, says: "I am so grateful I want to thank God that a friend recommended Cuticura Soap and Ointment to me."

STILL ANOTHER CURE

Neck Covered With Sores, Hair Fell Out, Wild With Itching. Mr. H. J. Spalding of 104 W. 104th St., New York City, says: "For two years my neck was covered with sores, the disease spreading to my hair, which fell out, leaving an unsightly bald spot, and the sores, inflammation, and merciless itching made me wild."

AND STILL ANOTHER

"For over thirty years I suffered from painful ulcers and an eruption from my knees to my feet, and could find neither doctors nor medicines to help me, until I took Cuticura which cured me in six months."

TIME FOR A SECOND GUESS.

In the July number of Everybody's, Mr. Thomas W. Lawson answers a number of questions from a banker, and many no doubt will give him credit for his nerve in answering them, even if he does not demonstrate a single evidence of modesty as to Thomas W. Lawson's value in the world.

To begin with, he admits that Mr. Lawson knows as much about "frenzied finance" as any man could possibly know, or perhaps he knows a little more than any other man.

However, the cutest explanation Mr. Lawson gives is of his advice to everybody to sell his stocks, whatever the price, but to sell; his advice to every one to withdraw all his savings from the banks, trust and insurance companies.

He says: "I am well aware that the result of the people's selling their stocks and bonds in concert, and the withdrawal of their savings would bring a tremendous drop in the price of stocks and bonds. This is what I am working for, but I am proceeding in such a way that I believe when the crash comes the people will be free from their stocks and bonds."

How well that all sounds. Who are the "people" of whom Mr. Lawson speaks? Who is Lawson that he should set forth a lot of small holders (which he indicates to be his meaning) and a lot of larger holders of stocks, and refer to the former, only as "the people"?

Then, again, listen to what this man says: "I am going to call upon the American people to withdraw their deposited savings at the proper time, and the proper time will be that time when I am, absolutely sure they will withdraw them." This he calls a remedy, but when the remedy, as in this case, is far worse than the disease, the doctor should be prevented by all manner of power in an attempt even to apply it.

accepting it all, believing it all, and are now only awaiting Mr. Lawson's "call to arms" to rush in frantically to the stock exchanges to sell their stocks after they have withdrawn all their balances from the banks, only to find no prices offered for their stocks, no money there with which they can be bought.

TIME TO FIGHT IT NOW.

A petition is out which will be submitted to the county court asking that body to endeavor to take some means of preventing the absolute destruction of all vegetable growth in what, through the beneficence of our kindly government, has been turned into a forest reserve, and which takes up a great part of the eastern boundary of this county.

THERE IS A DIFFERENCE.

In view of the energetic action of officers of the government in this state in their attempt to secure convictions of individuals for the purpose of destroying the "system" which has been in vogue here for a great many years in the sale of public lands; in view of the same energetic efforts to convict individuals in the beef trust cases at Chicago, also with a view to destroying that "system," the statement of President Roosevelt that he does not believe that individuals should be prosecuted for the purpose of destroying the "system" of rebates by railroads, etc., is rather astounding.

There is no doubt that the president is right in his statement that the prosecution of individuals in these cases would do no good, but it would seem that the same standard should have been taken in other cases where the violation of the law has been technical only. In point of fact, there is a grave question whether any technical violation of law should be considered as criminal.

SHE LEADS THEM ALL.

Max O'Rell, that gay French wit, lecturer and savant, so well known by his "Jonathan and his continent," as by all his other works, says that French women are the only ones who can compare with the American woman, and he gives the latter the place par excellence for her naturalness of manner, her charming conversational power, and her generally attractive character.

from the diplomatic service of this country. Any man who is filled with petty jealousies and spends his time attacking his predecessor in office, who listens to all the scandals which hover round the capitol of a Spanish American republic, has no place in the diplomatic service of a country like this.

CARE OF POSTOFFICE FOR THE PEOPLE.

The postoffice department will reject from the mails as second class matter the "freak" supplements of Sunday newspapers after September, 1905. It also intends to prevent the circulation of guessing contests or other contests for prizes through the mails.

It would seem that the governmental protection of the people can be made to overstep the proper bounds of duty, as a great many of these contests hurt no one, acting simply to increase the circulation of the paper advertising them, and serving to give zest and added interest to life.

Dr. Withycombe is right when he says the Republicans should hold a convention next spring and adopt a platform. If it were possible by means of this convention to satisfy the discordant elements of the party, and to suggest candidates to be voted for at the direct primary on which a great majority of the party might easily be concentrated, and if at that convention the bickerings and the personalities of a primary campaign could be waived, there would still be great hope for Republicans in Oregon.

The Lewiston (Me.) Journal says: The American protective system has won because it has stimulated invention and domestic competition and then helped workers and capitalists. When so perverted as to help capitalists and to bunco consumers, the remedy is not to upset a system that has enriched our people, but to remedy its perversion under trust conspiracies. It is important that we recall the great part we had in American industry under "tariff reform" in 1893-1896. A short memory in this exigency will imperil our economic prosperity.

The national good roads convention which met in Portland on Wednesday is a very important gathering, backed by all the bicycle and automobile manufacturers as well as having the support of all the railway and other transportation lines of the country. It works for the betterment of the roads of the country, and transportation companies have become to acknowledge that good roads mean lower expenses for the producer and better rates for the railways.

Secretary Taft speaks of purely domestic questions with respect to which the people ought to act at once, including maladministration of the criminal law, the increase in divorce and the inadequate salaries paid government officials. Especially the latter! He says that under present salaries "only millionaires can afford to govern us."

It is possible a lot of well-established bureaucrats, acting as a committee, may recommend changes in the modus operandi of the departments at Washington that will bring them out of the habits of red tapery they have been in for so many years, but we are Missourians and must be shown.

John Ray returned to the state department the other day without being held up at quarantine. He immediately settled down to the work lying ready for him on his desk. His many friends are glad he is back in business at the old stand.

Experimented in Potato Raising. F. J. Schofield of the Eugene Chemical Works presented the Guard with some fully matured potatoes on June 21. These potatoes were grown by the aid of fertilizer and irrigation and show what results can be obtained in ninety days from planting 100 pounds of large, well matured potatoes were dug from a piece of land containing seventy-five square feet, and at this ratio the land fertilized and irrigated would bear 900 bushels of potatoes to the acre.

Eugene's Electric Light Plant. A site has been selected along the McKenzie river, in Lane county, for a power plant for the proposed municipal electric lighting system for Eugene. It is twenty-three miles from that city and the fall of water in that part of the river filed upon, a stretch of about three miles, is practically seventy feet, and is enough to generate 5,000 horse power. This will give all the power necessary, and much more, to operate as large a plant as the city might erect.

ROOSEVELT AT WILLIAMSTOWN. WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., June 21.—The anti-trust body of Williams college, headed by President Henry Hopkins, met President Roosevelt upon his arrival here from Worcester tonight. The advent of the chief magistrate, unaccompanied by any marked demonstration, was in accordance with his expressed wish, and after an exchange of a few words of welcome between Hopkins and Roosevelt, the president passed through the long line of students to the carriage and was at once driven to Hopkins' home.

Upon complaint of Joseph Bartoz, Ross and Leslie Graber, aged respectively 11 and 15 years, were arrested by Marshal Cornelius yesterday afternoon and taken before City Recorder Moore, the boys being accused of general incorrigibility. The boys live in the eastern part of the city and have figured in police court doings upon several different occasions. Their latest offense was committed Monday afternoon, when it is said the younger lad went to the home of the complaining witness for the purpose of licking his boy, who, however, proved too much for his assailant. This brought the older Graber boy to the scene, who proceeded to double team on the Bartoz boy. John Brookman, an aged gentleman, saw this fight and went to separate the boys, and was knocked down by Leslie Graber. This general mixing brought about the arrest and after examining a few witnesses Judge Moore decided to take the matter under advisement for further investigation.

OREGON IS BEST

CAN PRODUCE FRENCH FRUITS BETTER THAN CAN THE NATIVE CLIME.

Prominent French Dealer and Packer of Fruits Visits Salem; and Expatiates Upon Superiority of Fruit Producing Ability—May Build Cannery.

That Oregon can produce the particularly French varieties of fruits more perfectly and in greater abundance than can the native land itself is frankly admitted by George Dalidet, one of the heaviest dealers and packers of all kinds of fruits of Bordeaux, France, who stopped off in this city this week for a day's visit while on a scientific observation tour of the Pacific coast.

While in the city the two gentlemen were the guests of the Willamette Valley Prune Association, and, accompanied by W. T. Jenks of the firm of H. S. Gile & Co., drove into the country to inspect the orchards in this vicinity. Mr. Dalidet went into captures over what he saw, especially the Royal Anne cherry, distinctly a French fruit, and he declared the Oregon product the largest and most luscious he had ever seen.

Mr. Dalidet is regarded as an eminent authority upon fruit culture and he takes notes of conditions wherever he goes, together with all of the pictures he can procure, intending to publish a book setting forth his observations. He has already shipped one trunk load of views and notes to New York City and has another large stock on hand. He purchased petite prunes in heavy shipments from Oregon two years ago, when the crop failed in France, and so infatuated was he with the superior quality of the product that he intends buying in large quantities this year at the prices as wither reason compared to the French crop, with prospects of a large crop.

Being owner of one of the largest fruit packing establishments in France, making a specialty of the fancy styles of packing, such as maraschino preserves, Mr. Dalidet made diligent inquiry into that feature of the industry in this state, and he was so well pleased with the report he received that he intimated the probability of his establishing a well planned plant in this valley, with some other fruit in the valley. Messrs. Dalidet and Delapena departed south enroute to southern Oregon and California.

H. S. Gile of the Willamette Valley Prune Association has returned from an extended tour of the middle west, where he looked after the interests of the association in regard to the sale of futures, and particularly to note the reception accorded the new "family packet" 10-pound boxes of prunes prepared especially for family trade. He reports that he was well pleased with the manner in which the fruit packed in this manner, and says the association is preparing to increase its output of this product this year. The prune crop of the northwest is still estimated at about one-third that of last year's year, which will amount to approximately 300 carloads, but the size and quality of the fruit will be much improved upon in consequence and better prices realized. The association has already received numerous orders, and is selling prunes for future delivery upon the "box" at 2 1/2 cents for about 40-50's. The bulk of the 1905 crop, in both pottes and Italians, will run above this grade.
