

DASH ACROSS A CONTINENT

'OLD SCOUT' ON LAST LEG OF RACE, REACHES SALEM.

IT MAKES TRIUMPHAL ENTRY

Remarkable Race From New York to Lewis and Clark Exposition Nearing Its End.

Oldsmobile Machine Driven by Dwight B. Huse and Milford Wigle, Arrives in This City at 8 o'clock Last Night—Covers Three Thousand Miles.

Chug-chugging with as much energy and spirit as if it were just fresh from the shops, albeit it was dust covered and grease begrimed from tire rim to seat and from dash board to tail board and driven by Dwight B. Huse, of Detroit, Mich., 'Old Scout,' the leader in the mad dash across the continent in the Oldsmobile race from New York City to Portland, and bearing the felicitations of Mayor George B. McClelland of the former city to the Secretary of the Lewis and Clark Exposition in the latter place, whirled into the city last night shortly after eight o'clock.

Beside Mr. Huse on the seat of the grimy car was Milford Wigle, of Detroit, Mich., these two having made the start from the big metropolis in the far east on May 8 in this mighty race that is the first of its kind in the history of automobilism in this country and is perhaps a record performance for the world. Both men were as brown as the proverbial berry, tanned from wind and rain, yet healthy looking and each in the highest spirits over the achievement which they will have accomplished when they roll into the big gates at the exposition grounds in Portland today.

Met by Salemities. Twenty-two miles out on the Lebanon road the transcontinental travelers were met by a party of Salemities, who bade them welcome and gave them cheer on the last leg of their long run. The local party was made up of Otto Wilson, John and Peter Graber and the Statesman's representative, Claude Lucas. They met at the Thomas station, where congratulations and felicitations were exchanged and a few moments taken for breathing space before the final run to Salem was begun, where the pair of tourists had arranged to remain for the night.

With the Salem car setting the pace the party started for this city shortly after 6 o'clock, coming into town near the penitentiary, from which point they were given a triumphant ovation by citizens along the route until they struck Otto Wilson's office on Commercial street. At that place a large crowd had gathered and packed the store as soon as the two automobilists had alighted from their machine. An impromptu reception followed and Mr. Huse and Mr. Wigle were showered with congratulations and queries until they couldn't talk. After a wash-up the men were taken to dinner and remained here for the night. They will leave for Portland, on the home stretch, this morning at about 7 o'clock and expect to reach the exposition grounds early in the afternoon, where they will present their credentials to President Goodie, who will be awaiting their coming.

On Home Stretch. The car is just one week behind the scheduled time. This delay has been unavoidable, owing to the poor roads encountered in Missouri, Iowa and Nebraska, where the late and continuous rains have made of the thoroughfares one continuous route of mud, hub deep. Nor were the roads in Wyoming any better for between Laramie and Rawlins, the travelers claim, they found the poorest roads in the country. They were positively bad.

The closing stretch of the trip began Monday morning from Prineville, from which place they began the ascent of the Cascade mountains, the first time that this historic range has ever been crossed in an automobile. It took one whole day to make this climb over the mountains and to the place at which they stopped Monday night, the mountain house seven miles down the west slope of the mountains. The estimated distance of this trip was ninety-three miles. Yesterday the tourists started from the Mountain house at 8 o'clock, and arrived at Sweet Home at 1:30, where they took lunch. At Lebanon they were met by a party of Portland automobilists, whom they had to leave on account of an accident to the latter's machine.

Across the Cascades. The passage of the Cascades was a tough proposition. Hugh rocks littered the way and caused no end of trouble. Coming through the Sand mountains the tourists encountered all kinds of difficulty with the sand and lava rock. The roads from Foster to Salem were in pretty fair shape and good time was negotiated on the day's run, the distance of something over seventy miles being covered in a little over twelve hours.

Never before in the history of automobilism has an automobile passed over the Cascades from the east to the west, nor over the Rockies, for that matter. Travelers have left the west and driven cars east, but the difficulties of that feat were as nothing compared to those encountered on this trip. Then the cars were fresh and had the hardest roads in the beginning, while on this trip the real tough part came at the end when the machine was worn and road tired from its long journey.

Ride One of Incident. There were originally in the party two machines of the type of 'Old Scout,' the other being 'Old Steady.' Both machines are of the ordinary runabout type, seven-horse power, with curved dashboards, and carries about two hundred seventy-five pounds besides its occupants. The other machine was left in Columbus, Neb., because of the illness of one of its occupants, who were Percy McGargel and Barton Starchfield of New York city. Where this car is now the present duo hasn't the slightest idea, having heard nothing from it since leaving Columbus.

RESIGNATION IN

ALEXANDER AND HYDE ARE NOW OUT OF EQUITABLE LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY.

Paul Morton Announces Acceptance of President and Vice President's Resignations—Other May Be Acted Upon Later—Result of Investigations.

NEW YORK, June 20.—Following quickly upon the institution of the new and independent investigation of the affairs of the Equitable Life Assurance Society by direction of Paul Morton, chairman of the board of directors, came the announcement tonight by Morton that he had accepted the resignation of James W. Alexander as president and James H. Hyde as vice president. These resignations, with those of the other vice presidents and Assistant Secretary Winthrop, were placed in the hands of Morton at the meeting of the board of directors at which he was elected chairman of the board with plenary powers over all the affairs of the society. In receiving the resignations the new chairman announced that he would hold them in abeyance until he had time to acquaint himself further with the affairs of the society.

When Morton was asked tonight whether he would give any reason for the acceptance of the resignations he said, 'I have nothing to say.'

TRAMSTERS RETURN TO WORK.

Settlement of Strike in Chicago Seems Now to Be Drawing to Its Finish.

CHICAGO, June 20.—Practically no progress was made today toward a settlement of the teamsters strike. On many sides there are, however, indications that the end of the strike is at hand. The express companies, for the first time since the strike commenced, have resumed deliveries of products to commission houses, and the union teamsters employed by these commission houses, who all along threatened to strike if such deliveries were made, offered no objection today and continued to work as usual. Several business houses have reported that individual teamsters have applied to them for their old positions, and a few have been reinstated. There has, so far, been no official action on either side which seems to foreshadow the calling off of the strike.

GOVERNOR RESENTS SUGGESTION

Bell Says, in a Polite Way, Captain Clark May as Well Mind His Own Business.

ESSEX JUNCTION, Vt., June 20.—Governor Bell arrived here tonight from Windsor, where he has been in conference with the prison officials regarding the arrangements of the execution of Mrs. Mary Rogers. When shown a dispatch telling of the telegram sent to him by Captain Clark, he said: 'I, as governor, do not propose to accept advice from any ex-Vermonters who wish to disgrace his native state this way, and especially from one whose brother has been so highly honored by the state as Admiral Clark has been. The picture is the property of the state of Vermont, and was not tampered with by any outsider. Vermont is in the habit of standing on its own bottom and it will do so now.'

Captain Lloyd Clark of Michigan Wives Protest Against Hanging of Mrs. Rogers.

CHICAGO, June 20.—A special from St. Joseph, Mich., says that a telegram was sent to Governor Bell of Vermont today by Captain Lloyd Clark of this port, which places the governor in a most trying position as executive. The message, after a vigorous protest against the hanging of Mrs. Rogers at Windsor next Friday, asks, in strong terms, that if the execution is carried out that the oil painting of Rear Admiral Charles Clark, which adorns a corridor of the Vermont state capitol, be turned to the wall in shame. Captain Lloyd Clark is a brother of the rear admiral. For several generations back the family has been prominent in affairs of Vermont and both Clarks are personal friends of Governor Bell.

St. Petersburg, June 20.—Diplomatic measures for peace are continuing in the face of the steady pressure brought to bear by the militant factions. Linsvitch has again wired the emperor, saying that victory is almost at hand and begging that the army be not deprived of the opportunity to restore the prestige of the Russian arms. Linsvitch's telegram seems to confirm the report that the negotiations for an armistice are not proceeding between the Russian and Japanese commanders.

SURGEONS SEW UP HEART.

Several Stitches Taken, and Man Stabbed in Salon Bow May Recover.

NEW YORK, June 20.—A stab wound sustained by a young Italian, which had penetrated the wall of the heart and severed the right auricle, has been sewed up by surgeons at the Harlem hospital. The operation is difficult and rare, but the patient is still alive, and hopes are entertained that he will recover. The operation required thirty-five minutes.

The subject of the operation was Camillo Detano. He was stabbed during a saloon row. Companions walked him twelve blocks to the hospital. Finding the fellow alive despite such treatment, the surgeons hurried him to the operating table. To get at his heart they sawed off an inch and a half of the third rib. Their next task was to tie the two arteries. It was then found that the right auricle of the heart had been seriously punctured, the width of the wound being about one-quarter of an inch. This was closed with a single stitch and the usual dressings applied. Detano not only survived, but regained partial consciousness in a short time, and may recover.

PORTLAND, June 20.—Good progress was secured in the case of the United States against United States Senator Mitchell, the trial of which commenced in United States District Judge De Haven's court today. The greater part of the day was consumed in listening to the excuses of the talesmen who did not wish to decide the guilt or innocence of the aged senator. The jurymen consist of ten farmers and two merchants. None are from this city.

BOWEN GETS OFFICIAL AXE

PRESIDENT DISMISSES MINISTER TO VENEZUELA.

SHOWS COMPLETE DISLOYALTY.

Roosevelt Scathingly Arraigns Official for His 'Reprehensible' Conduct.

Would Not Permit Disgraced Man to Resign—Points Out That He Has for Years Been Hunting Scandal and Gossip Until It Has Become a Mania.

WASHINGTON, June 20.—The dismissal of Herbert W. Bowen, for some years United States minister to Venezuela, and the exonerations of Assistant Secretary of State Francis B. Loomis of the allegations brought against him by Bowen, are the outcome of the Loomis-Bowen controversy which has attracted such wide attention for many months past.

The disposition of the case is made by President Roosevelt in a letter addressed to Secretary Taft, and made public tonight, approving Taft's report on his findings and conclusions in the case. The president scathingly arraigns Minister Bowen, declaring his conduct especially reprehensible. Bowen asked one of his witnesses to enter 'the employ of a certain company or the purpose of,' 'in plain words, stealing' documents which he hoped might incriminate Loomis, and that Bowen had 'eventually for many months, indeed, for the last two years, devoted his entire undivided attention to hunting up scandal and gossip until it became a mania and caused him to show complete disloyalty' to the country he represented. The president says he had hoped to promote Bowen, as, during much of his service, he had done good work, but his unfitness in the diplomatic service is now at an end. The president adds that he would direct that Bowen's resignation be requested but for his statement that he would consider his resignation an admission of his misconduct, and his dismissal is therefore ordered.

The letter quoting the correspondence and the testimony. The president states that it appears that Bowen, while minister, secured the publication of attacks on Loomis and furnished the press with documents pending before the state department for approval, and his explanation is inexcusable and becomes personally interested in any schemes, either with a mere nominal interest or a substantial interest. He holds, however, that Loomis has been 'most cruelly slandered.' He commends him for the self-restraint with which he has met the charges and points out that Loomis' bitter experience in this case makes it unnecessary to point out the moral that a minister cannot afford, in the country to which he is a representative, to make personal investments.

In his report, Secretary Taft says there was nothing dishonorable in the transactions in which Loomis figured, but that he was indiscreet. The report says that Loomis was not justified in becoming personally interested in any schemes, either with a mere nominal interest or a substantial interest. He holds, however, that Loomis has been 'most cruelly slandered.' He commends him for the self-restraint with which he has met the charges and points out that Loomis' bitter experience in this case makes it unnecessary to point out the moral that a minister cannot afford, in the country to which he is a representative, to make personal investments.

PRESIDENT IN MASSACHUSETTS.

Delivers Address to Graduates of Holy Cross and Clark Colleges at Worcester.

WORCESTER, Mass., June 21.—A steadily falling rain drenched the festal drapings of the city and disappointed the people of Worcester today, but detracted not at all from the enthusiastic reception given to President Roosevelt upon the occasion of his visit to Clark college and Holy Cross college. The president responded to the cordiality of the people by riding through the streets of the city in an open carriage and much of the time with his head bared.

The president delivered addresses at both Holy Cross and at Clark college. The former institution conferred upon him the honorary degree of LL. D. A feature of the railroad trip to this city was the sending of telegrams by the president to the captains of the Harvard and Yale crews at Gallop Ferry, Conn., through which he passed earlier in the day, while asleep.

ENTER PROTEST

SETTLERS ALONG WENAHUA RIVER OBJECT TO BEING INCLUDED IN FOREST RESERVE.

Remonstrance in Form of Petition Forwarded to President Roosevelt by Governor Chamberlain, Accompanied by Personal Letter from Latter.

(From Wednesday's Daily.) About 100 settlers of the extreme northeastern corner of Willowa county, of this state, are remonstrating against the incorporation of the district which they represent into the proposed Walla Walla forest reserve and are petitioning President Roosevelt to exempt ownership 5 and 6, of range 42 east, from the permanent reserve when created.

This petition, which is headed by the name of Lincoln Austin, was sent to Governor Chamberlain, and he in turn has forwarded it to the president, accompanied by a personal letter setting forth that he is acquainted with many of the petitioners and knows them to be prominent and honorable men. Aside from this the governor makes no comment nor recommendation not only of interest but of value.

The district which it is desired to be excluded from the reserve and opened to entry is situated along the Wenahua river and is represented to be first-class agricultural land. These petitioners have heretofore presented their case to the secretary of the interior, who referred it to the government's agent in the district, who mapped out the proposed reserve, for investigation, and this agent reported back that the line of the proposed reserve extended along the Grande Ronde river and did not include these settlers.

These representations, however, are alleged to be far from correct by the petitioners, who assert that the Grande Ronde river marked the Willowa county boundary line ten years ago and they take the agent to task for using the antiquated map for outlining the boundaries of the reserve. The further represent that the Wenahua river, along which extends the agricultural land involved, is included within the proposed reserve and they respectfully request that their rights be respected by the department.
