

State News

Mail Facilities. A postoffice is to be established at Hato Coos county.

Sheep to Market. About 82,000 stock sheep have been shipped out of Morrow county this season.

Large Berries. Fourteen to the box is the way Magoon strawberries grow in Eugene. Almost equal to the Hood River kind.

Southern Oregon Strawberries. About three thousand crates of strawberries were shipped by the Ashland Fruit Association this season, six hundred or more than in 1904.

Help Wanted in Logging Camps. Help is wanted badly in some of the logging camps on the Big Lick mountains owing to the fact that men are leaving for the harvest. The wages paid are $1.50 and $1.75.—Observer.

Parsonage for Baptists. Women of the First Baptist church of Oregon City have succeeded in raising more than $500 toward the construction of a parsonage. A structure to cost $1500 will be erected.

Peach Shipments. Shipments of the early Alexandria peaches commenced this week and next week the Fruit Growers' Union will commence shipping. The shipment this year will amount to nearly 20,000 boxes and the Fruit Growers' Union alone will ship 15,000 boxes.—Medford Mail.

A Curio. An Indian mortar eight inches high and a pestle to match it were unearthed near Bend recently among the roots of a two hundred and fifty year old juniper. Both are of a fine textured lava rock, worn smooth apparently by use in crushing seeds and berries for ancient inhabitants of the inland empire.

Sells Fine Buck. U. S. Grant has sold his famous yearling Angus buck "Kuropatkin," to Ward & Garrett, of Mountain Home, Texas. He was the sweep-stake buck at the Oregon-Angora show last winter and it was his hair that won the gold medal at the World's Fair at St. Louis. Mr. Grant has also shipped a yearling buck to C. Mitchell at Amity.—Dallas Observer.

Saved First Lumber in Baker. George R. Jancy, a pioneer of Oregon and the man who sawed the first lumber ever used for building purposes in Baker City, is dead. He passed away at the home of his nieces, Mrs. Bud Moses, two and a half miles northwest of town Sunday, June 25. The cause leading up to his death was an injury received in a runaway two weeks ago.—Baker City Herald.

Klamath Falls Census. The town of Klamath Falls has nearly doubled in population in the past two years. According to the census of the county assessor our city now has a population of 1102 and is still growing rapidly. The census report, which includes this town, has 1620 inhabitants. The next town in size in the county is Merrill with a population of 127. The census of the county is incomplete yet but we hope to be able to get the complete population by the next issue. The growth throughout the entire county shows the greatest increase in its history.—Klamath Falls Republican.

Was in the Heppner Flood. Shortly after the Heppner flood two years ago a tiny infant about three weeks old was found. All efforts during the past two years to locate any history relative to the parentage of the child has failed. Mr. and Mrs. I. B. Hewett, living near Lyle, Wash, took the child and today it is one of the proudest in the neighborhood. In a quiet way the work of tracing the child is going on, but the supposition is that the parents perished in the flood that swept the canyon. Mrs. Hewett, while anxious to locate something as to the child's parents would dislike to lose it.—Hood River Glacier.

Rain Was Acceptable. Thousands of dollars in the pockets of the farmers and thus to be distributed over the country will be the result of the splendid rain was the general comment as the rain came down copiously throughout the morning. And phone messages from Sherman county and all through the adjoining country brought reports of a steady down-pour and a blessing to spring-down grain, as well as a "filler" to hay which has been cut may be damaged slightly, it will not compare with the benefit derived from the shower. The fall in town was a half-inch.—Chronicle.

Surveyors at Work. A company of engineers commenced work at Hillsboro Tuesday, surveying the line for the proposed Portland, Nehalem and Tillamook railway. The ten miles from Hillsboro to Bank will be located first. The line as being surveyed will follow somewhere near or along the old Astoria grade, but will probably depart from that at some places, owing to opposition of land owners who remember their unsatisfactory experience with the promoters of the old line. From Banks on west it is said the big timberland will furnish right the way and other substantial encouragement for the new line. It is believed they can be ready for actual construction work in ten days.—Forest Grove Times.

The Release of Stone. E. M. Croisan, of Salem, who was here yesterday and left on the night train for home came for the purpose of consulting with the district attorney and others regarding the case of Delbert Stone, against whom there is an indictment in this county.

Stone, or Winslow, as his real name is said to be, is the son of good parents living near Salem, but while here a few years ago passed two forged checks, one on James Spence and one on Gus Lafontaine, after which he disappeared. He was not located until a few months ago when it was learned that he was in Salem. However, when Sheriff Taylor went for his prisoner he found on his arrival in the capital that his man had been committed to the asylum, having been adjudged insane. Now he is apparently to be discharged from that institution, and it is the desire of the family to have the case here dismissed.

Mr. Croisan was told by District Attorney Phelps that if the parties who suffered by the young man's actions were repaid, and also all of the costs of the case met and a petition asking for the dismissal of the charge be presented to him by those who made the charges against Stone, the matter could be dropped. However, these things have not yet been done, though it is thought that they will be and thus prevent the arrest of Stone, when he is released from the asylum.—Pendleton East Oregonian.

Road to Newport. There is talk that the Salem Automobile Club will consider the establishment of a route to Newport via Falls City. This is quite feasible and would save fifty miles in distance between the two places. An attempt will be made to construct a road from the Spaulding upper camp on the big Lackiamute to the Newport road to Falls City. This is entirely practicable and only about two miles of easy grade needs to be built to make the junction. A large amount has been expended, and Mr. Spaulding will assist with labor and money. A survey was made last year by Ben Beesley and a good route selected.—Dallas Observer.

The Eugene Cannery. Things around the Eugene cannery present a lively aspect this week, for a force numbering between 25 and 30 girls and a dozen men are engaged in canning and preparing for shipment the Royal Anne cherries which are being brought in. The crop is not a very heavy one but what have been brought in so far are of excellent variety and very large. The rain of the last few days has done very little damage, as yet, and the short lull between showers has given the growers ample time to pick the crop. There is quite a little competition between buyers in this city and this is one of the reasons that at each place of collecting the luscious fruit there is reported a slight scarcity.—Guard.

Pig-Tail Visitors. On Tuesday evening last, Ah Coe, commonly known as Coe Chinaman, and his new China wife arrived in Dallas and were receiving callers at the China house. Coe has lived in and around Dallas for a number of years and is one of the best known Chinamen in the country and when it was announced some weeks ago that he was going to be married, local China men became very much interested, but after his marriage he settled in Salem, and Tuesday evening was the first time he has brought his wife to Dallas. During the evening Coe and his wife and mother-in-law held an informal reception, and several people called on them, but the greatest interest manifested by the ladies who called was in a little two-year-old China baby, a niece of the bride, all declaring that she was just "too cute." For many years Coe has been engaged in raising hops, but is now engaged in market gardening near Salem.—Dallas Observer.

Hop Lice Are Numerous. The cold damp weather of the last two weeks has had a bad effect on the hops in the Yakima valley. The lice are spreading rapidly. Some of the growers have already sprayed their vines and others are preparing for the work as soon as the weather will permit. A. B. Weed has sprayed his yard in the school section and some of his neighbors have followed suit. Every yard in the valley has more or less lice. The cold weather and the rain has been conducive to their rapid development and spreading. If they are not put down soon the damage done will be incalculable. It is not often that the lice grow so thickly, but spray has his hops for lice. Two years ago the pest showed up here and some spraying was done. Last year the growers got ready to spray but the lice did not put in an appearance. Reports from Oregon and Western Washington are that the pest is very bad in those places and the vines are not growing well.—Yakima Herald.

About the Tillamook Railroad. B. F. Holden returned this week on the steamer Elmore after a visit to Portland and the fair. While in Portland Messrs. Holden and Stillwell called on the secretary and promoter, Wm. Reed, of the Portland, Nehalem & Tillamook railroad. They introduced themselves to Mr. Reed and told him they were from Tillamook and wanted some information in regard to the construction of the road. Mr. Reed spoke most decidedly, saying that the road would be under construction in the course of the next ten days, the contract for the bonds has been negotiated and two miles of the road must be completed from Hillsboro terminal, by October 1st and that the road must be in operation for 20 miles by that time.

The question was asked, how long will it take to complete the road and Mr. Reed said that it would take about fourteen months if no trouble was had in securing the necessary right-of-way. Engineer Davis of the company is coming over to Tillamook some time in the near future to look over the survey that was made three years ago at the time Mr. Reed broke his leg, when at work on the route on the Miami river. The road proposed will be by suitable grade from Hillsboro to the divide of the Nehalem water shed and down the Salmonberry, down the Nehalem and over the Foley and Miami to this city. That is what is deemed the most practical route.

If the above plan is followed out it will open up a vastly rich and fertile valley and the largest timber belt in the world, but it is a longer route by twice the distance than over the Willson river route.

Mr. Holden spoke very encouragingly of Mr. Reed's assurance that the road was now a sure go and would be built into Tillamook county within the next year.
