It Bucked.

The new chaffeur, Dave Pugh, on the auto running as a public conveyance between Independence and Salem is reported much more considerate with teams than his predecessor but is having much trouble with the machine. It "bucked" on the Fourth of July and has been in the shop most of the time since.—Enterprise.

Masons Build Hall at Amity.

Saturday, July 1, was a gala day for Amity, the wide awake little town in the north end of Polk county. The event of the day was the laying of the corner stone of a two-story brick Masonic temple. Amity has reached that stage in its growth when brick business houses are required and the Masons have led off. The corner stone of a substantial structure was laid. The lower story will be used for stores and the upper one for a Masonic lodge hall. Dr. E. J. Thompson, of Independence, and G. L. Hawkins, of Dallas, officiated at the ceremonies. There was a large crowd in attendance. Among the visitors were Past Grand Master H. B. Thielens and Dr. Richardson, of Salem, Dr. Toner, Mr. Belt, and Prof. Starr from Dallas. The afternoon was devoted to a picnic in the beautiful grove near town. A feature of the picnic exercises was a game of ball between Ballston and McCoy. The latter won by one point. Prof. Newbill was twirler for Ballston.

Iowans Coming.

About the 14th of the current month, a party of twenty-two Iowa people are expected to arrive in Corvallis. They will come by private chartered car, and will take a good look at the Willamette valley with a view of locating.—Gazette.

Goats to Alaska.

The government is now trying the experiment of raising Angora goats in Alaska. For Angoras, the government of course would come to Polk county and this it did. After looking the field over, the Angoras of Polk were selected to start the breed in Alaska, and the first shipment out of here was on Saturday. It consisted of fifty head of goats and they were bled through to Valdez from which point they will be driven 100 miles inland.

The goats were shipped by George Boothby. Mr. Boothby has been in correspondence with United States Commissioner Andrew Holman, of Copper Center, Alaska, a year. Commissioner Holman, of course, is of the opinion that goats will thrive in the Copper river regions of Alaska and expects results from the experiment. He might have selected goats from any other locality, but after investigation he chose the Polk county breed and asked Mr. Boothby to supply the order. If the experiment proves successful, the Alaskan country will be stocked up with goats.—Independence West Side.

MRS. JOHN H. ALBERT BURIED WITH IMPRESSIVE CEREMONIES YESTERDAY.

Death, Which Occurred Sunday Morning at Eleven O'clock, Was Result of Automobile Accident that Happened Wednesday Night on Rynearson Road

Mrs. John H. Albert died at her home in this city on Sunday, July 9th, at noon. Although the deceased has been an invalid for years, the immediate cause of her death was the result of injuries received in the automobile accident of last Wednesday evening, which in the case of a person of good health, would not have been serious.

The maiden name of the deceased was Mary Elizabeth Holman, the child of Joseph and Almira Phelps Holman. She was born April 11, 1844, in Salem, Oregon. Her parents both arrived in Oregon in 1840, her father coming across the plains, and her mother around the Horn in the Methodist missionary ship Lausanne. Both arrived in Oregon City on the same day. Mrs. Albert was one of the first white children born in Salem, being one of a family of four. Geo. P. Holman, a brother in Salt Lake City, is the only surviving member of the family, two sisters having passed away in young womanhood. Mrs. Albert received her education in Wilberham academy, Massachusetts, before the building of the first transcontinental railroad, making the journey with the family by way of the Panama route. The family remained in the west until the education of the children was completed. With the exception of that time, she has lived in Salem continuously.

In April, 1867, she was united in marriage with Mr. John Albert, and this union was blessed with a family of five children, four of whom are living: Mrs. Jos. Albert, Harry E. Albert, Mrs. Myra A. Wiggins and Mrs. Geo. F. Rodgers, all of this city. The fifth and youngest child, a son, died in infancy. At an early age the deceased united with the Methodist church, but soon after her marriage transferred her membership to the Presbyterian church of which she remained until her death a consistent and devoted member. Her entire life was one of most perfect self-sacrifice; devotion to her home and children being her only aim. Her children were all born in the old home which stood for years on the corner of Court and Winter streets, but which was moved to its present location in University addition in 1888. At the time of her death she had three grandchildren, and the later years of her life have been full of thoughts for their pleasure and interest.

For the past few years she has suffered considerably from nervous decline, being an invalid and under the care of a doctor and nurse for the past year. She recently returned from a trip to Hot Lake, in Union county, where she spent a few weeks, in the hope that it would benefit her health. In this, however, she met with disappointment.

The funeral was held yesterday at 4 o'clock, at the family home in University addition, being conducted by Rev. Henry T. Babcock, of the Presbyterian church, and Rev. P. S. Knight, the latter a friend of the family for the last forty-five years. The services were simple in form, in harmony with what would have been the wishes of the deceased. A quartet, consisting of Mrs. Ella McDowell, Miss Elma Byrne, Mr. G. H. Thomas and Mr. H. S. Gile, with Miss Edith Ketchum as accompanist, rendered some of the old hymns familiar to Mrs. Albert in her life time.

The pall bearers were C. A. Park, A. McGill, E. M. Croisan, A. O. Condit, John Scott and Dr. John Griffith. The interment was in the family lot at the I. O. O. F. cemetery. A large number were present at the funeral, including many of the old residents of Salem who had known Mrs. Albert from girlhood. There were a large number of floral offerings.

Mrs. Albert will be sadly missed by a most devoted family circle, and her kindly offices will be long remembered by a large part of the whole people of Salem, who will join with the writer in offering the most sincere sympathy to the bereaved ones.

NOT ALWAYS SO

DECLARATIONS OF AGENT OF A CORPORATION NOT NECESSARILY BINDING.

Mrs. Etta Hayes Secures Final Judgment for Half Interest in Property of Former Husband, Horace M. Horton, in Supreme Court Opinion.

The admission or declarations of an agent of a corporation stand on precisely the same footing as those of an agent of a private individual, and that the admissions or declarations of an agent are somewhat binding on his principal, but it is only when the act of the agent will bind the principal and the representations or statements are made at the time and characterize the act, that they become competent evidence for that purpose. Such, in substance, is the effect of the holding of Justice Bean, of the supreme court, in which he reverses a decree entered by Judge Robert Eakin, of the circuit court for Union county in the case of J. T. Alden, respondent, vs. The Grande Ronde Lumber Company, appellant.

This action was brought by the plaintiff, Alden, to recover damages from the defendant company for the loss of three horses which were killed or permanently injured while in the employ of the defendant, upon the ground of negligence. The principal witnesses for the plaintiff were Foreman Johnson and Bean, in charge of two lumbering camps, whose testimony tended to show that the accidents, in which the horses sustained their injuries, were due to carelessness in building the loads which proved top-heavy and overturned upon a bridge, dragging the horses with it. The material features of this evidence were allowed to stand by the trial court but, in reversing the ruling, Justice Bean says the evidence as to the statements of Johnson and Bean, to the plaintiff, concerning the accidents to plaintiff's horses and the manner in which it occurred were not binding upon the defendant or competent as evidence because they related to past transactions and were in the nature of mere historical narratives of past occurrences.

Justice Bean is the author of another opinion in the case of Etta Hayes, respondent, vs. Horace M. Horton, appellant, in which he affirms the decree of Judge George F. Davis found for the plaintiff.

This case has an interesting history and contains some good points of law. Mrs. Hayes, the plaintiff, was the former wife of the defendant Horton, who was formerly register of the United States land office at Burns. About three years ago a man named Hayes, her present husband, was accused, prosecuted and convicted of criminal intimacy with Horton's wife and was sentenced to and served a term of years in the penitentiary. In the meantime Horton procured a divorce from his wife and, when Hayes secured his discharge from prison, he and Mrs. Horton were married.

Some years ago Horton purchased some property with his own money and had the deed made in the name of himself and wife. This action was brought by his former wife, who was named in the deed, for the partition of the property, but her former husband and defendant set up the counter claim in defense that he had procured the deed in the name of himself and wife merely for convenience and asked the court to declare her a trustee. The trial court held, however, which holding is upheld by the appellate court, that when a man and wife are named jointly in a deed to property each is entitled to an interest in entirety, but in the case of a divorced man and woman they are tenants in common in the property and that the plaintiff was entitled to a half interest therein.

Minor Orders Made.

Minor orders made by the supreme court yesterday in the following cases: J. G. Seed, appellant, vs. O. O. Jennings, et al., respondents; ordered on application of Mr. Bronaugh that respondents have until August 1, 1905, to file brief.

Mary W. Gaston, appellant, vs. City of Portland, et al., respondents; ordered on stipulation that respondents have twenty days additional time to serve and file their brief.

Wm. R. Moffet Jr., trustee, respondent, vs. Oregon & California Railroad Company, appellant; ordered on stipulation that the respondent have until September 15, 1905, to file a petition for rehearing.

HE IS NOT CONDEMNED.

One half-baked reporter, in writing of the Roy Miller trial, after stating that Judge White overruled the motion for a new trial, added: "He went and night for gold-dredging." Both of these allegations were unnecessarily and gratuitously false; surely also irritatingly so to the gentleman referred to. Roy Miller was not taken to jail. His friends here in Baker City put up $5,000 in cash bail until the appeal to the supreme court could be perfected and a bond arranged for. The appeal was granted and the bond, reduced to $4,000 given Wednesday, and he left that night for Goldfield, Nevada, to resume the duties of his responsible position with Bella Kaddish, a man who has known him for years.

Nor did Roy Miller weep. Those who knew him intimately and others who have watched him during the past month, which has been a series of the most trying and annoying ordeals a self-respecting man can be called upon to endure, have been impressed with

LOSING GROUND

HARNEY COUNTY SHOWS GAIN IN SCHOOL POPULATION BUT A LOSS IN ATTENDANCE.

First two County Superintendent Reports, that of Harney and Josephine Counties, Received by Superintendent Ackerman—Suggests Remedies.

The county superintendents of Harney and Josephine counties are the first to comply with the law in regard to the filing of annual reports of the conditions in respective counties. One particularly peculiar difference shown in the conditions respecting these two counties is that while the 1905 census shows an increase of 108 persons of school age in Harney county over last year, or a total of 1114, the school attendance has fallen off to the extent of 24,121 days. In Josephine county the total school population for 1905 is given as 3,013 or an increase of 136 over last year and there is also a healthy increase of 5,410 days school attendance shown for the school year 1904-05 over the previous years.

In Josephine county there are 103 teachers employed, against 81 last season, the increase being wholly in female teachers, and the scale of salaries for female teachers have advanced from an average of $39 a month last year to $41 the present year, while the average of $52 per month paid male teachers last year has dropped to an average of $48. In Harney county there were 32 teachers employed during the 1904-05 school year, whereas there was a total of 37 for the year previous and the salary scale has advanced from an average of $73.33 for male teachers per month, to $75, as shown by the reports, and from $53.50 to $60 in the case of female teachers.

In speaking of the falling off in attendance and where it exists and inquire into the cause. The only way that teachers could be induced or compelled to keep their registers up and get them into the county superintendent at the close of the term would be to withhold the teacher's salary for the last month and pay it over to him upon the condition that he send in his register in due season for the verification of the superintendent. He also recommends, as a permanent remedy to the failure of teachers and clerks to keep up their attendance register, the adoption of the system in practice in Washington of making the school apportionment upon the general attendance rather than the school population.

the fact that he has as splendid a nerve and self-control as was ever displayed under like circumstances. By his thoroughbred demeanor he has commanded the respect of all and won the admiration of many.

As a matter of fact, public sentiment has changed in regard to Mr. Miller, from the usual half-hearted sympathy to pronounced indignation, since it was proven in open court how that unjust verdict of guilty was reached, at the time Judge White refused to grant a new trial. While it is doubtless true that the world is inclined to "jump on a man who is down," still, when it sees that he won't be "downed," is fighting game for his rights and his honor, against an unfair combination of circumstances, the better phase of human nature is called into life and the victim of these circumstances is at once accorded justice in the public mind, and those who are seeking to injure him get what is coming to them sooner or later.

Attorney Johns is to be congratulated on the ability and loyalty with which he has conducted this case.—Baker City Maverick.

of eye trouble, the cause is found to be an imperfect adjustment of the muscles which control the eye—brought on by over-exertion. Just as the muscles of the body are strained by lifting heavy weights, so the muscles of the eyes are strained by being overworked.

Modern science has perfected instruments of marvelous precision for detecting lam-adjustment of the eye muscles and has made it possible to fit the eyes with lenses that will positively correct it.

We employ the most improved instruments and the most modern methods for examining eyes and we guarantee to fit them with absolute accuracy with proper glasses, at entirely reasonable cost.

SEASONABLE MACHINERY

McCormick Harvesting Machinery, Birdsall Clover Hullers, Champion and Eli Baling Presses, Fairbanks Morse Spray Outfits, Jenkins Sweep Rakes, Hay Machinery Of Every Description. Plymouth Binding Twine.

McCormick harvesting machinery is too well known to need an extended description here, suffice to recognize it as standard of the world.

Birdsall Clover Hullers are the only hullers in the world using the Rasp hulling cylinder and concave, which RUBS the hulls or pods instead of trying to remove the seed by knocking it out; hence all the seed is saved, which is not the case with the common hullers. Send for descriptive matter and understand fully why these claims are made, and you will buy no other. Once a Birdsall is used in a neighborhood, and understood, the farmers will not permit another in their fields.

Champion all-steel balers are alone in their class when it comes to efficiency and durability, the main considerations.

Spray time is here; get a Fairbanks-Morse 2 H. P. gasoline outfit, and it will furnish 125 to 150 pounds pressure on four nozzles, and will not stop to sweat or spit on its hands. You can use the power at any time for any other purpose where 2-horse power is usable. Plymouth Binding Twine has been sold out of this house continuously for eight seasons. Never a customer lost who once uses it. It is the most even twine on the market today and must be used to be appreciated.
