

AFTER TWENTY YEARS HAS TURNED UP ALIVE

Judge E. J. Dawne, Supposedly Dead, Still Living

HOLDS HIGH FOREIGN POSITION

Indications Are That He Will Petition for Re-Opening of Decree of Divorce and Figure in a Large Estate.

Although supposed to have been dead by suicide for the past twenty years, late developments indicate that Judge E. J. Dawne, ex-United States judge for the district of Alaska, ex-superintendent of public instruction of this state, and many other official titles, also fugitive from justice, is still alive and well. It is learned that he now holds a prominent official position with a foreign government and reports are in circulation in certain authoritative quarters which lead to the belief that he will soon make application in the circuit court for this county for the reopening of a decree of divorce which was granted to his wife in June, 1887.

At the time of his disappearance, which then seemed mysterious and unwarranted, Judge Dawne had just accepted the appointment as judge of the United States district court for Alaska and had only assumed his toga for a few weeks when he learned of criminal proceedings having been instituted against him in Marion county and he fled to parts unknown, leaving his family of a wife and two children in Sitka. According to the records in the circuit court here the criminal proceedings were in the nature of four indictments for forgery and embezzlement, involving large sums of money. They were returned during the term of District Attorney, now Governor, Chamberlain.

He Abandons His Post.

He fled from Alaska on November 17, 1885, and early in the following year his wife and two small children were brought back to Salem by her father, the late William Miller of this city. Being unable to find any trace of her husband, Mrs. Dawne applied for and secured a decree of divorce from him in the circuit court here upon the ground of desertion and cruel and inhuman treatment. The summons, which was published in a local paper, was returned with the endorsement of no service by the sheriff, and the decree of divorce was granted, notwithstanding default, June 13, 1887. Shaw & Gregg appeared as attorneys for the plaintiff. A few years later Mrs. Dawne, who resumed her maiden name of Miller, married Frank Kellogg, a former law partner with Dawne, who subsequently died. Her father, the late William Miller, died a few months ago, leaving her his entire estate of both real and personal property, valued at $80,000. In February of the present year Mrs. Kellogg also died, leaving her two sons, William S. and Raleigh M. Dawne, who reside in Yamhill county, the entire estate.

Judge Dawne, outcast, fugitive from justice and man without a country, who was thought to have been dead all of these years intervening, finally wrote back to some friend in this city and through him learned of the decree of divorce and, subsequently, the demise of his former father-in-law, Miller, and his former wife, and from the nature of his correspondence it is believed that he intends petitioning the court for an opening of the decree of divorce on the ground of failure of service, and to make application for a share of the estate of his deceased widow valued at $80,000. In case he should succeed in having the decree of divorce set aside he could only apply for the personal property, under the statutes, and a life estate in the real property, consisting of extensive farming tracts and city property of considerable value. Previous to his departure from here Judge Dawne became involved in much trouble over money matters, and four indictments were found against him and when under jury, charging him with forgery and embezzlement, by which transactions he is said to have secured large sums of money.

Claimed He Had Much Money.

According to the complaint of Mrs. Dawne, her husband represented to her that he was possessed of considerable means, exhibiting a bank book showing a balance of $30,000, by which he obtained her consent to accompany him to his post at Sitka, Alaska. He also represented to her that he had settled all accounts against him here, but she alleged that upon her return to Salem she found bill aggregating $1,600 for which her property had been attached and she was obliged to sell her house and lot to settle these claims. She also charged that he was an habitual imbiber of intoxicants and when under the influence he was accustomed to use abusive language toward her and heaped numerous indignities upon her.

When he took his sudden and unannounced departure from Sitka, the complaint recites, he represented to her that he was called to Fort Wrangle to attend court. The captain of the vessel upon which he sailed, however, stated that Judge Dawne had hired some Indians to take him in a canoe under the pretense that he was going to attend to some business for Colonel French, who was then collector of customs for Alaska, but he was landed at the nearest town in British Columbia. He was traced to Nanaimo, thence to Victoria, and that is the last she ever heard of him. There was another story that he had gone hunting in the mountains and never returned, and it was thought that he had committed suicide because of his having learned of the serious litigation that had been started against him here and the fear of his being extradited. He can have no fear of prosecution under those indictments now, however, as they are all outlawed.

Peculiar Character.

Judge Dawne led a somewhat variegated and interesting existence while here. When he came to Salem he posed as a minister and presided as pastor of the First Methodist church, South, for several years. He then turned his attention to the practice of law and followed that up to the time of his departure, though rather lax the last few months, and he finally developed into a horse fancier and sported one of the best racers in the country. He was of a rather prepossessing appearance, dressed well and frequently wore a silk hat. When he left Salem he wore a long, flowing beard. He was accredited with being a very shrewd business man and attorney and made a considerable amount of money, but what he did with it is only a matter of conjecture.

WILL END IN ROW

THIS IS PREDICTION OF RUSSIAN DIPLOMAT.

AMBASSADOR WITTE TALKS.

Thinks Japanese Demands Will Be
Intolerant and Unacceptable.

(By Wireless Telegraph to New York Evening Telegram.)
ON BOARD STEAMER KAISER
WILHELM DER GROSSE, at sea, Aug. 2.—"I am afraid negotiations will be ended within a week, as the Japanese conditions will be so intoler-erable as not to admit of discussion." This most momentous statement was made to me by Count Witte, when he turned to go to his stateroom shortly before midnight. I caught my first sight of M. Witte on the tender at Cherbourg on its way to the steamship Kaiser Wilhelm der Grosse. I had only to follow the direction in which a dozen cameras were pointed to find the man in whose hands lies peace or war. I beheld a somewhat uncouth figure with uneven gait, face shrewd, kindly, tired, typically Slavonic, with benignant, wide-open eyes, contrasting strongly with the oblique half-closed Oriental optics where—as they will in a few days—he is trying to read Russia's fate. In his character Witte somewhat reminds me of the Japanese statesman, Count Okuma, who would perhaps have been better as a peace envoy than Komura; but probably Japan felt she would be more fittingly represented by a featherweight champion. Besides, Witte and Komura both speak French, though not very well, whereas Okuma speaks only Japanese. If the negotia-

CAN'T AGREE AND ARE LOCKED UP FOR NIGHT

PORTLAND, Aug. 3.—The jury in the case of the United States against Williamson, Gesner and Biggs had not agreed upon a verdict at 11 p. m. and were locked up for the night.

By M. Witte's side stood his wife, who seemed deeply affected; and no wonder, for now is a critical point in the life of this remarkable woman, who has done so much to make her husband's career successful. Mme. Witte's daughter by her former husband, and her daughter's husband, M. Darischine, were also present on the tender, which at last reached the steamship gangway. When this was thrown across, M. Witte seemed to hesitate for a moment like a man about to plunge into the mysterious unknown. Finally he gathered himself together, as if by an effort, and hastily crossed the gangway. He was warmly received by Captain Cupepers.

The parting between M. Witte and his wife was so touching in its uncalculated affection and sorrow that even kodak lenses turned away their heads. Mme. Witte goes with her daughter and M. Darischine to Brussels, where the latter has been made consul. The little party judges it safer to remain at Brussels in case the issue of the negotiations shall unchain once more the demon of revolt in Russia.

With M. Witte is M. Planchon, who was with Alexieff as diplomatic agent when the long-drawn-out chain of negotiations between Komura and Rosen was in progress.

ARE ALL BARRED

THREE MORMON MEMBERS OF
SALT LAKE COUNCIL ARE EN-JOINED FROM VOTING.

Question Before City Fathers Is Extension of Existing Lighting Franchise
by Monopolistic Mormon Corporation
Charter Forbids Members to Vote.

SALT LAKE, Aug. 3.—A temporary injunction was issued by Judge Armstrong in the third district court today restraining three Mormon members of the city council from voting for or against the proposed franchise to the Utah Light & Railway Company now pending before the council.

The ground on which the restraining order is issued is that these three men, by virtue of their membership in the Mormon church, are interested in the proposed franchise, as the church owns stock in the Utah Light & Railway Company, and the president of the corporation, Joseph F. Smith, is also president of the Mormon church. The corporation has a monopoly of the street railway transportation and the electric lighting in this city. The proposed franchise is designed to consolidate and extend the existing franchises held by the company.

OUT BIG CROP OF HAY.

Tillamook Farmers Have Yield Nearly All Under Shelter.

CLOVERDALE, Or., Aug. 3.—The hay crop of Tillamook county is virtually harvested. The dairymen and the ranchers here are pleased over the manner in which they have secured their 1905 yield. The crop this year was heavy and unlike years before, it was harvested without being damaged by rain.

Spring-sown oats are being taken by the army worm, but the acreage here is small, and will not add much to the already large hay crop. A great amount of new land has been cleared in this county the past year, and a large number of the dairymen are increasing their number of cows from 25 to 50 per cent.

MORE MEN HUNT SITES.

Millowners Move Mysteriously Around South Bend.

SOUTH BEND, Wash., Aug. 3.—J. W. Dent and C. C. Sullivan of Rochester, this state, are here looking around for a mill site. They are members of the Red Cedar Shingle Company, and give as a reason for their proposed change of location that they must get nearer transportation lines in order to meet the competition they have. This makes the third party of mill men which has been here within two weeks looking for sites. The site just vacated by the Columbia Box & Lumber Company has been taken on an option, and other sites are being looked after, but whether for speculation or practical use has not yet been determined.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE PERISHED.

Two Turned Boats Found and Occupants Are Not to Be Found.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Aug. 3.—Nicholas Brown and William Ward, two fishermen employed by the English Bay cannery, were drowned last night. The empty boat was found floating bottom up today. Another fishing boat with nothing to identify it was also found overturned. It had been manned by Japanese, who were undoubtedly drowned. It was equally on the gulf last night.

DECLARES IT A FALSEHOOD

PRESIDENT BAER OF PHILADELPHIA DENIES S.O.B.Y.

CIRCULATED DURING THE STRIKE
Does Not Claim "Divine Right" on Anything Except Life, Liberty and Happiness.

Says Statements to Effect that He Controlled Coal Output Were Malicious and Published for Purpose of Inflaming Public Mind.

PORTLAND, Aug. 3.—"The statement that at any time I ever claimed the 'divine right' to anything except 'life, liberty and pursuit of happiness' is a malicious falsehood," said George F. Baer, president of the Philadelphia & Reading railroad, today. Baer, in company with his family, is in Portland on a pleasure trip.

"Those conscienceless papers which made me appear as saying my associates and I controlled the anthracite coal of this country by divine right deliberately falsified. I have said and done some foolish things in my time but never anything quite so unworthy or idiotic as to make such an utterance. That lie circulated at the time of the coal strike hearing was for the express purpose of inflaming the public mind. At that time Senator Hanna said to me: 'Baer, don't deny it; it won't do any good. The lie will travel so fast you can't overtake it.' Hanna was right and I knew it, so said nothing by way of denial."

As he said to me, so I say to you, if some one starts a lie about you, don't deny it. Live it down. That's the only way. Prove it is not true. One of the greatest human failings is the proneness to believe an evil report. The world wants to hear the evil so badly it will believe it in preference to a good report any time.

"As to the story about the divine right, I think I have lived it down pretty successfully by this time and only trouble-makers or their dupes credit it."

RIVER BANDITS ARRESTED.

Accused of Having Held up Fishermen and Robbing Them of Their Outfits.

VANCOUVER, Aug. 3.—Harry Young of Seattle, R. Brechin of Vancouver, and Harry Kline of Vancouver, were arrested today charged with being river bandits. Numerous accusations of boat stealing and thefts of nets and outfits from the fishermen are made against them. It is alleged they held up several Japanese fishermen in boats off Fraser sand heads and made them relinquish the boats, gear and everything they had of value, in several instances forcing the victims to swim ashore. The arrested men are all well known to the police.

SONS IN PEN; MOTHER INSANE.

ALBANY, Or., Aug. 3.—Mrs. Harriet L. Connett of Sweet Home, was examined for insanity in Albany yesterday and committed to the state asylum for the insane by County Judge C. H. Stewart. The mental aberration was brought on by worry over two of the Connett boys, who were arrested for burglary and after a number of jail breaks and re-incarcerations were finally landed in the penitentiary. The unfortunate woman was taken to the asylum on the afternoon train by a woman attendant.

HAVEN'T FOUND COUNSEL YET.

NEW YORK, Aug. 3.—The legislative committee appointed to investigate the insurance companies has not selected counsel to conduct the investigations. Tonight Chairman Armstrong said: "The sub-committee pursued the quest all day to find a lawyer to conduct the investigation, but as yet no selection has been made and a selection will probably not be reached before the latter part of next week."

Collins of San Francisco, on trial before the extradition commission on a perjury charge at San Francisco, is no longer confined in the city jail at night, arrangements have been made with the police to allow him to sleep at the hotel instead of at the jail. He provides the expenses for the additional guard.

The police and gamblers raced around the lake, first into Michigan water, then close to the shores of Illinois and then into the jurisdiction of Indiana, the one seeking to escape and the police determined to capture them at all hazards.

The net results of the day for the police were the capture of fourteen marine gamblers who floated ashore at South Chicago in a launch. As the president's representative, Peirce will accompany Komura and Takahira and suite to the pier on Sunday morning, where the Russian delegation will board the cruiser Chattanooga, and the Japanese the Tacoma, and the vessels will immediately start for Oyster Bay. Half an hour later Peirce will perform a similar ceremony for Witte and Rosen and the suites who go on board the cruiser Tacoma.

Peirce will go on board the converted yacht Sylph which, steaming rapidly ahead, will take a position at the front of the column. Arriving at Oyster Bay at about noon the "peace squadron" will anchor, and its arrival will be loudly heralded by the firing of the ambassadorial salute of nineteen guns.

The Japanese plenipotentiaries will come on board from the Chattanooga and be presented to the president. Half an hour later the Russian envoys will come aboard and be presented. Immediately the president will formally present the Russian and Japanese envoys to each other. Luncheon will follow. At the conclusion the Japanese mission will take leave of the president and board the Dolphin. Peirce will go aboard the Galveston and the president will then take leave of the Russian mission and go ashore, again receiving a salute of twenty-one guns. Under convoy of the cruiser Galveston, the Russians on the Mayflower and the Japanese on the Dolphin, will sail for Portsmouth.

BOTH CERTAIN OF WINNING

RAILWAY OFFICIALS AND MEN
ALIKE CLAIM VICTORY.

IMPORTANT TRAINS ARE MOVING
But Some Difficulty Is Being Encountered in the Movement of Local Freight.

Railroad Management States Many Operators on one Branch of Great Northern Return to Work—Telegraphers Scorn Idea of Sympathetic Strike.

ST. PAUL, Aug. 3.—The second day of the telegraphers' strike on the Great Northern and Northern Pacific railways ended with the railway officials asserting the strike already broken and the officials of the telegraphers' union declaring it only begun. Both sides profess great satisfaction tonight and each maintains the struggle will be ended within a fortnight.

In spite of the difficulties presented by the walk-out of the telegraphers, the railroads have been able to keep the more important trains very near the schedules. The time freights are being successfully handled. The abandonment of a number of way freights was the most serious disablement of traffic today.

The railway officials claim a notable break in the strikers, in that all of the operators on one branch of the Great Northern in North Dakota having gone back to work, and thirty or forty more having signified their willingness to do so. Many substitutes were placed during the day. Reports disprove the representations of the strikers that the freight business is completely paralyzed. There was much delay at many points in handling local freight but this class of traffic is gradually being taken care of. The officials say there is no accumulation of freight at the terminals and no shipments will be refused tomorrow.

Rumors of a sympathetic strike of the trainmen have been in circulation and although conferences have been held, it is declared tonight that such a move is not impending. President Perham of the telegraphers' brotherhood, said tonight: "We are bound to win and can fight it out alone. I would not think of consenting to a sympathetic strike."

"Scab" Operators Forced Out.

Devils Lake, N. D., Aug. 3.—While there has been no particular damage caused by the Great Northern telegraphers' strike as yet, the situation threatens to become serious shortly. All the non-union operators sent here by the Great Northern railway were today forced to leave their keys and the city by the sympathizers of the strikers. So far the passenger trains run only a little behind time, some regular freights are running but no extras.

Railroad Officials Encouraged.

Tacoma, Aug. 3.—Reports of the improved conditions of the strike situation came to the northern Pacific headquarters today and the train service was maintained much better than on Wednesday. The operators, while not admitting defeat, are ready to acknowledge the company is meeting the situation much better than was expected.

Noose Weakened Him.

Butte, Aug. 3.—The members of the Mill and Smeltermen's Union today notified Ralph E. Spurrier, an operator who refused to strike, to quit work on penalty of "being escorted" out of town. Other operators were looked for, but none was found. The miners at Clancy drove the operator from the only boarding house in town because he refused to quit. At Basin, forty miles north of Butte, the miners requested the operator to quit. The operator refused and armed himself with a rifle and defied the miners, until about sixty of the miners gathered about the office with a long rope with a noose in the end. The operator weakened and left the camp.

NEW RAILROAD FOR COOS BAY

SOUTHERN PACIFIC WILL BRANCH OUT FROM DRAIN.

TO TERMINATE AT MARSHFIELD
Will Build Along the Course of the Umpqua River to Gar-diner.

Work of Surveying Now in Progress and Construction Will Begin Upon its Completion—Length of Road Will Be Eighty-One Miles.

PORTLAND, Aug. 2.—The Southern Pacific company today made an official announcement of its intention to build a branch leaving the main line at Drain and running westerly along the Umpqua river to Gardiner, a point near the mouth of the Umpqua, and thence south to Marshfield, on Coos bay.

According to General Manager J. P. O'Brien, of the Harriman lines, who left for southern Oregon today, active work of construction will begin as soon as the work of surveying the route which is now in progress, has been completed. The road will be standard gauge and have the highest grade of equipment. Drain, the point from which the branch starts, is 165 miles south of Portland. The new road will be eighty-one miles in length. It will tap a country which is completely undeveloped owing to the lack of rail transportation. It possesses possibly the largest timber belt in the world, has rich agricultural possibilities and is a mining center for both gold and coal.

WOULD ESCAPE

UP TO DATE CHESTERFIELD DYN-AMITES JAIL AND SHOOT
AT JAILER.

Terrible Attempt at Jail Break on Part of Seattle Prisoner—Falling, He Sends Bullet Crashing Through His Own Brain.

SEATTLE, Wash., Aug. 2.—After dynamiting the county jail and entirely wrecking his cell in hopes of being able to effect his escape, "Jack" Chesterfield at 4 o'clock this morning fired six shots at the jailers who attempted to restore order in the cell, and then sent a bullet crashing through his own brain. The wound, it is thought, will prove fatal. Chesterfield was to have been taken to the penitentiary this morning to serve a three-years' sentence for criminally assaulting a young girl.

The would-be escape had two revolvers in his hands and fired at everyone who approached him. He was completely barricaded and was able to keep the jailers at bay until the fire department was called out and his cell flooded. It was not until the man was standing in two feet of water that he gave up and shot himself. Game to the last breath, he never left his feet and was taken leaning against his cell, although a leaden bullet had torn a hole through his head.

Chesterfield was secretly married in the jail three weeks ago. Since then his wife has been given unbounded freedom, and it is believed that she abused the confidence of the officials and supplied her husband with what she had thought would be his means of escape, but which proved to be implements of self-destruction.

Late last evening the Yale lock on the man's cell was found to be so worn that the door could be swung open with little more than ordinary pressure. But this was remedied, and it was not then thought that any other plan of escape had been planned. Two saws were also found in the cell. The dynamite, it is believed, was concealed about his clothes. Three more sticks of dynamite were found in the cell this morning.

YIELD LIGHT IN LANE.

Aphis Said to Have Hurt What Crop Materially There.

EUGENE, Or., Aug. 2.—The first wheat to be delivered at the Eugene flour mill has been brought in by Fred J. Smith. The grain was of splendid quality and averaged over 60 pounds to the bushel. The yield, however, was only about three fourths of what was expected. The first load was brought in Monday to the Springfield mill. Frank Armitage delivered it. This lot was not of a very good quality, averaging about 58 pounds to the bushel.

Reports from all over the county, where threshing is in progress indicate that the crop will be far shorter than expected. The aphids got in its deadly work before the hot weather came and killed it. The owner of one threshing outfit states that so far as he has threshed the wheat crop has turned out about one half as heavy as expected.

FOREST FIRES IN ALASKA.

SEATTLE, Aug. 3.—Forest fires are again raging along the southeastern coast of Alaska and heavy clouds of smoke hang over the waters of Lynn canal, according to reports brought by the steamer City of Seattle.
