SUBSCRIPTION RATES.

One year in advance.....$1.00
Six months in advance......50
Three months in advance......25
One year, on time.....1.25

The Statesman has been established for nearly fifty-two years, and it has some subscribers who have received it nearly that long, and many who have read it for a generation. Some of these object to having the paper discontinued at the time of expiration of their subscriptions. For the benefit of these, and for other reasons we have concluded to discontinue subscriptions only when notified to do so. All persons paying when subscribing, or paying in advance, will have the benefit of the dollar rate. But if they do not pay for six months, the rate will be $1.25 a year. Hereafter we will send the paper to all responsible persons who order it, though they may not send the money, with the understanding that they are to pay $1.25 a year, in case they let the subscription account run over six months. In order that there may be no misunderstanding, we will keep this notice standing at this place in the paper.

CIRCULATION (SWORN) OVER 4000

They may put the lid on at Irvington but it continues to keep off diligently at Saratoga.

Now they say a woman was to be blamed for the cotton scandal. Women in cotton have frequently caused scandals.

Tom Lawson will please wake us when he restores his tainted millions to the poor, plain, common people—Atlanta Constitution.

Science's exemption of the cities of the United States from yellow fever failed to last. Science forgot to practice a little of that vigilance which is eternally necessary.

Russia will probably get peace by paying the price. It will be Japan that will say whether it will be any price or some other price.

The Chinese government has recently designated four commissions to study foreign methods. One of them ought to be sent especially to watch Teddy up to the peace conference.

Licenses to practice dentistry in California are now said to be worth $5 to the state board and $100 to the individuals who constitute that body.

A headline in the New York Herald says: "Secretary Taft leaves Japan." Russia probably wishes that the Secretary had taken Japan with him.

A deficit of only twenty-five millions of dollars is not enough to scare the American people into a revision of the tariff. It will take more than that.

Says the Atlanta Constitution: King Edward is said to wear blue goggles and sleep in pink nightgowns. Ned can no longer set the fashion pace for us.

The one really hopeful thing in the matter of the appointment of the road commission by Gov. Chamberlain is the fact that the law providing for it carried no appropriation.

An exchange says that the tendency to advance the marriage age of both men and women at the parties time to develop mentally and physically. It should have added "and immorally."

The most wonderful statement published recently is that there was not a single case of tetanus reported as a result of the last Fourth of July celebrations. Tetanus is evidently out of fashion.

It now develops that Mr. James H. Hyde, late of Equitable fame, wanted to succeed Horace Porter as Minister to France but the president turned him down. This was before the Equitable scandal developed.

Secretary Taft is reported as declaring that Hawaii must be fortified. Naturally, if we want the Hawaiian islands.

Coughing

"I was given up to die with quick consumption. I then began to use Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. I improved at once, and am now in perfect health."—Chas. E. Hartman, Gibbstown, N. Y.

It's too risky, playing with your cough. The first thing you know it will be down deep in your lungs and the play will be over. Begin early with Ayer's Cherry Pectoral and stop the cough.

Consult your doctor. If he says take it, then do as he says. If he says not to take it, then don't take it. He knows.

Contipation delays recovery. Take laxative doses of Ayer's Pills, gentle, purely vegetable.

J. C. AYER CO., Lowell, Mass.

and on account of their strategic position, we must be prepared to keep them against any and all comers and it is barely possible that the time might come when the shadow of the big stick held up in Washington, would not be enough without some of its substance in other places.

Farmer Wilson has put some new statistics in the Agricultural Department. We hope they are all well enough off to not need any great sum right away; at least until after the present crops are marketed.

A man who was in Santo Domingo for two months says that he talked with two thousand people, selecting them without regard to color. If report says truly there would be no other way to select them in Santo Domingo.

It will be noticed that the revolution which was to upturn the entire condition of things in Russia died 'born'. There have been many others of its kind and in nearly every case the cause was the same: a leader was lacking.

Rev. Dr. Sheldon, the man who wrote "Am I My Brother's Keeper," says he would retire from circulation every book except autobiographies that told of the good men have done. In most countries Rev. Dr. Sheldon would be written down a bigot.

It now develops that the greater portion of the deficit in the treasury comes from the enormous expenditures in the postoffice department principally in connection with the rural routes which have started all over the country and which are yet very far from self-supporting.

Scientists have been trying for a number of years to get at the actual age of the world, but the nearest they have come to this is exemplified in the statement of one employed on the Atlanta Constitution who says it is old enough to know better—a good deal better.

If it is true that Whitelaw Reid has given out that only a certain select set recognized by the New York 400 will be received at his "ambassadorial functions" in London, it would be wise in Mr. Roosevelt to invite him to return home, and to begin his schooling over again.

A Southern newspaper says in a headline: "Populists to Meet Here Soon." Let's see; Populists—Where have we heard that name before? It seems to remind us of the wailing of the wind through the whistles of Colonel Peffer, erstwhile of Kansas. Was he not a Populist?

In making up the slate of presidential timber for the 1908 campaign it seems peculiar that most of the prophets point towards the cabinet. Uncle Leslie or the diplomatic Elihu might be acceptable, but they had as well cut the rest of them out, unless they simply want to be prophets without honor.

It is very likely that the next congress will change its custom of appropriating in lump sums and leaving things to the discretion of the executive. It is believed generally that congress will provide more carefully for the protection of its own position as the money providing power.

The latest display of the animals in the menagerie now on show before the American people was a promenade, arm in arm, between Paul Morton and Jas. Hazen Hyde at a ball given by the upstart of Newport. Some say this is as little to Morton's credit as was his connection with the Santa Fe rebate matter.

Henry Watterson's absence in Europe for the years past was certainly fruitful to his home town. During that time building shows an increase of 76 per cent and other building plans decided on during his absence, will yet be carried out, notwithstanding his return. In fact, Louisville pays very little attention any more to the calamity howlers of the Southern press.

The Washington Post attempts to ally the opposition to tariff revision; because it now says the fifty-ninth congress will likely oppose such a move, and says there is no good cause for anxiety and alarm. The attention of The Post is called to the fact that there is always cause for anxiety and alarm when the free-traders become active. Eternal vigilance on the part of protectionists is the price of prosperity.

Treatment of tuberculosis patients with a sea water serum, which is said to have the effect of augmenting the blood pressure, has been tried on about twenty-four Paris patients with wonderful results; in fact it is said that the results were so gratifying that they caused a notification to be sent the Tuberculosis Commission so that more extended experiments may be undertaken.

WHY SECRET INVESTIGATION?
Just what is to be gained by the investigation of the accident to the gunboat Bennington being held behind closed doors is hard to tell. It would seem that every man, woman and child related to or connected with the poor sailors whose lives paid the forfeit to somebody's carelessness, should have the privilege of knowing just what the testimony in this case is, to say nothing ing of the rights of the entire American people. The trouble is, secret investigations turn out to be simply chemical laboratories for the concoction of official whitewash. The American public is not going to be satisfied with the "swabbing over" of any more departmental officials because they are "high in public life." Let us hear what the evidence is. Why did an accident that would have been impossible on a vessel operated by private capital occur on a government ship? Let's have the answer.

It is probable that today the first formal meeting of the peace conference will take place at Portsmouth. The ears of Edward VII, William of Germany, President Loubet and the Emperor of China are all turned toward this wonderful meeting while Theodore of Washington stands ready with the big stick in the position of umpire to knock down any rascal who doesn't play the basest fair. In the meantime the rest of the world continues to saw wood and wonder what the amount of the indemnity will be.

At last a much mooted question has been settled. It took a Massachusetts court, one of those erudite vingt-sept courts, to settle the matter, and the Boston justice to prove his position, backed up with a ten-dollar fine. He declared that an umbrella is property and fined a man ten dollars for stealing one. The matter is given this extra publicity owing to the fact that the rainy season is only a few months away and the one we bought last year is still good and we desire to protect it.

Mayor Dunne of Chicago went to Boston to tell them there how he had not carried out his promise of municipal ownership. It is said also that Colonel Bryan considers that the mayor is attempting to swing around the circle. The colonel will probably have something to say about this in the course of time. He is not apt to consider the Chicago mayor as available yet; not so long as he has his own ear to the ground.

A few fellows without a clear insight into the peculiar fitness of things are agitating changing the nickname of Oregon from the "Webfoot" state to the "Rose" state. Of course Webfoot does not sound so poetic or sentimental as Rose, but it should be remembered that if it were not for bounteous rains of Oregon there would be no roses, and we would have no right to the name of Webfoot. We follow with webs 'twice over our toes have a sort of affection for the old name which nothing new could occasion.—Madras Pioneer. Changing the name would send a lot of people to the hospital for an operation.

The claim of the independent newspaper that it always gives good reason for its appraisal of a party, will be taken by those who have watched the course of this class of newspaper, as a rule, cum grano salis. Usually an independent newspaper means a paper that is at outs with its party on one or more of the principal planks of a platform, or whose editor has become a "sore head" through political disappointments. Their usual function is that of giving advice to the party in power, which is usually not only unacceptable, but impractical.

The English language is incapable of being so twisted, so made to writhe, to inveigh, as to apply a proper nominative to that hard-hearted and cruel man who issued an order against spooning on his little three-cent car line in Cleveland and, as the Indianapolis Star says: "Right in the middle of the good old summer time." Evidently that man's memory is not as long as an eel's. What has he to do with the city young chap and his best girl. Great Caesar! They can't afford to sit in the ice-cream parlors all the time. What would be a far more popular move, would be to provide blinders for those passengers who had rather not see these evidences of love's young dream. They would not require many of the blinders.

Magnate Harriman says that wherever the business will justify it or there is a country to support it, his system will build a railway. This leads the Astorian to say that it is up to a hundred communities in the state to assume that Mr. Harriman possesses the Missouri "know-no" skepticism. He should be shown how remunerative a railway would prove in the various sections of our commonwealth where no railway at present exists. The progress of all these regions depends almost absolutely upon the inauguration of railway systems.

NEED OF CONTAGION HOSPI
That it is far better to prevent than to try to cure disease is an old axiom which has lost none of its strength of oft telling. While the very few sporadic cases of the viruela which the Spaniard introduced into America, and that May Mantigue Whortley took to England from the Bosphorus (smallpox), are not of sufficient character to cause any alarm, yet the fact of the presence in this city of any evidence of this scourge should make our authorities more active. There is a law providing for a sort of supervision over such cases on the city's statutes, yet that it is not only inadequate, but in enforced, are both evident. Rumor says there are a few scattering cases in the town and a great deal of carelessness is being generally practiced in connection therewith.

That they should be watched, the history of the disease should indicate to everyone having any knowledge thereof. That Salem is in no wise prepared to care for them so as to absolutely prevent their spread is also fully true. The old "pest house" is said to be well named, and is said to be unfit for the internment of a hog with hog cholera.

People can't expect that sufferers from this disease or any other of a contagious nature would ask to be taken here. On the contrary they would fight such an attempt with all their might. There is nothing to do but to establish a "surgeon's quarantine" in the home of the patient, which is never of any value, as neighbors and friends will call "just to inquire," and often carry away the infection. Members of the family must go about their work, must attend their daily duties, and the result is no quarantine. Thus does the disease spread.

Now this is true of all contagious diseases. The present hospital can't receive these cases. No later ago than day before yesterday the hospital refused to accept a case of erysipelas, and there is no other place for the poor sufferer to go where proper care can be given him.

People of Salem, is this condition of things right? Would it not be well for the city council to act up and live up to the charter, and cause to be erected, near the hospital, so it might have proper supervision, a proper building for the care of patients having contagious diseases? Humanity at least demands it. The health of the entire community demands it. It is needed now. It may not be needed again right soon. It is hoped not. But it should be ready for any time when it is required.

It is like a fire department. It needs water only when there is a fire, but it needs it then, as an old fire chief once said, like "He was not a very profane man either."

Does Your Doctor Know

What's the matter with you? If he does, the chances are he may be for you, but many times women call on their family physicians, suffering, as they imagine, one from dyspepsia, another from heart disease, another from liver or kidney disease, another from nervous exhaustion or prostration, another with pain here and there, and in this way they all present alike to themselves and their doctors, a mass of confused and overlapping symptoms, and a doctor, ignorant of the cause of suffering, encourages this practice until large bills are made. The suffering patient gets no better, but probably worse, by reason of the delay, wrong treatment and consequent complications. A proper medicine like Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, directed to the cause would have entirely removed the disease, thereby dissipating all those distressing symptoms, and instituting comfort instead of prolonged misery. It has been well said that "a disease known is half cured." In cases almost innumerable, after all other medicines had failed to help and doctors had said there was no cure possible, the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, supplemented when necessary by the medical advice and counsel of Dr. Pierce, has resulted in a perfect and permanent cure. The gentleness of these cures is attested not only by the entire disappearance of pain, but by a gain of flesh, a clear complexion and a cheerful disposition.

Chronic Obstinate Cases.—Favorite Prescription "is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of chronic dyspepsia, indigestion, constipation, irregularities, prostrations or falling of the womb, weak back, female weakness, anæmia, nervousness, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness of the ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

Reliable dealers recommend "Favorite Prescription." With "tricky ones" something else that pays them better will probably be urged upon you as "just as good."

Dr. Pierce's Good temper is largely a matter of healthy activity of the bowels. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are safe, sure and speedy, and once taken do not have to be taken always. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two mild cathartics. They never cause griping. By all druggists. Pellets.

If you are troubled with Cramps, Indigestion, Headache, Nausea, Dyspepsia, Bloating, Constipation or Malaria you'll find sure relief in Hostetter's Stomach Bitters

The Pacific Homestead for August 10, just off the press, is an excellent number of that interesting and valuable farm journal.

If it is really true Alfred Austin has written a poem on Whitelaw Reid, there can be no further doubt, as the New York Herald says, that our ambassadors are underpaid.

If the Christian federation wants a model city, why don't they save the expense of building one and come to Salem. It is a model city—lacking only a few amendments.

That they are still charging exorbitant prices at Buffalo is evidenced by a judge there fining a man $11.20 for stealing a kiss. "Don't put me off at Buffalo any more."

Judge Cotton was justified in his arraignment of the government for its failure to expend the funds provided by the national irrigation law in Oregon. Oregon development, however, is not under the fostering care of the government at this time.

There are no publishing houses of importance at Saratoga, yet the making of books continues there as one of its greatest industries. This industry, however, has had a temporary setback at Irvington, suburb of Portland, and a number of hard working men have been thrown temporarily out of employment.

In a recent article in this paper the name of the editor of The West Side Enterprise published at Independence, appeared as "Lyn." We thought the spelling due to a typographical error. Now, however, we are convinced it was fate spelling his name properly. Names do thus at times indicate the character of their owners.

Governor Pennypacker of Pennsylvania will have done much good in the world if he secures a convention of governors to consider a uniform divorce law for the states. Would it not be well also, at the same time, to consider a uniform marriage law. Make it a convention for the consideration of both the cause and effect.

A pertinent question for the producers of the country is how are they to continue their hold on the domestic market if the tariff were to be reduced to allow foreign goods in greater quantity to come in to compete on a more favorable basis to the importer. The answer is reducing his profits, or his cost of production. There is no other answer.

"Simply another scheme for the advancement of the free-trade theory," is what The Statesman of Salem, Or., calls the revival of the movement for wide open reciprocity in competitive products. It is a correct definition. Free-traders, foreign steamship agents and importers are backing up the movement with great energy, and protectionist business men are to considerable extent lending their aid. A campaign of education on the subject of reciprocity would seem to be the need of the hour.—American Economist.

Public Is Aroused.
The public is aroused to a knowledge of the curative merits of that great medicinal tonic, Electric Bitters, for sick stomach, liver and kidneys. Mary H. Walters, of 546 St. Clair Ave., Columbus, O., writes: "For several months I was given up to die. I had fever and ague, my nerves were wrecked, I could not sleep, and my stomach was so weak from useless doctors' drugs that I could not eat. Soon after beginning to take Electric Bitters I obtained relief, and in a short time I was entirely cured." Guaranteed at Dan'l J. Fry's drug store; price 50c.

PETITION FOR EXTRA TRAIN.

Eastern Oregon Residents Are Asking Better O. R. & N. Service Into Portland.

PENDLETON, Aug. 9.—Strong efforts are being made by the commercial association and the citizens of this place to induce the O. R. & N. Company to place an additional passenger train between Huntington and Portland for the purpose of handling the traffic of eastern Oregon and part of Idaho. During the past few weeks a petition has been circulated among the business men here, asking for the above and it has been signed by practically every firm in the city. At the last meeting of the commercial association a resolution was passed directing the president of the association to sign the petition in behalf of that organization, and the paper has been sent to General Manager O'Brien at Portland.

Ever since the heavy traffic from the east commenced last spring considerable inconvenience has been experienced by people from the inland Empire in making the trip to Portland. Almost every through train is from east to west, thus causing much annoyance, and it is also frequently difficult for passengers from here to find even seating room. On the west-bound train which passed through Sunday night there was not a seat left when Pendleton was reached. The through cars are so dirty and ill smelling from the long trip that they are very offensive for fresh passengers who are compelled to use them.

In the petition which has been sent to General Manager O'Brien it is requested that an additional train be placed on the schedule, and that it leave Portland at midnight, in order to allow passengers to leave the evening in the metropolis and to have a night ride most of the way homeward. Unless the request is granted it is inevitable that traffic will be lost, owing to the inconvenient service now had.

A Touching Story
Is the saving from death of the baby girl of Geo. A. Eyer, Cumberland, Md. He writes: "At the age of 11 months our little girl was in declining health, with serious throat trouble, and two physicians gave her up. We were almost in despair, when we resolved to try Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds. The first bottle gave relief; after taking four bottles she was cured, and is now in perfect health." Never fails to relieve and cure a cough or cold. At Dan'l J. Fry's drug store; 50c and $1.00, guaranteed. Trial bottle free.

$100 Reward $100.
The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer one hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

HEAD SOLID SORE

Awful Suffering of Baby and Sleepless Nights of Mother.

CURED BY CUTICURA
Skin Fair as a Lily with no Scar to Recall Awful Sore Writes Mother.

"I herewith write out in full the beginning and end of that terrible disease eczema," says Mrs. Wm. Ryer, Elk River, Minn., "which caused my babe untold suffering and myself many sleepless nights. My babe was born seemingly a fair, healthy child, but when she was three weeks old a swelling appeared on the back of her head, and in course of time broke. It did not heal but grew worse, and the sore spread from the size of a dime to that of a dollar. I used all kinds of remedies that I could think of, but nothing seemed to help; in fact, it grew worse. Her hair fell out where the sore was, and I feared it would never grow again. It continued until my aged father came on a visit, and when he saw the baby he told me to get Cuticura Soap and Ointment right away.
"To please him I did so, and to my surprise by their use the sore began to heal over, the hair grew over it, and to-day she has a nice head of hair, her skin is as fair as a lily, and she has no scar left to recall that awful sore, and it is over eight months and no sign of its returning."

CURE PERMANENT
"Your letter of the 19th inst. received, asking in regard to the cure of my baby some six years ago. Well, the disease has never returned to her head which at that time was a solid sore on top and down the back."
Mrs. Wm. RYER, Elk River, Minn., Feb. 25, 1903.

Women as Well as Men Are Made Miserable by Kidney Trouble.

Kidney trouble preys upon the mind, discourages and lessens ambition; beauty, vigor and cheerfulness soon disappear when the kidneys are out of order or diseased.
Kidney trouble has become so prevalent that it is not uncommon for a child to be born afflicted with weak kidneys. If the child urinates too often, if the urine scalds the flesh or if, when the child reaches an age when it should be able to control the passage, it is yet afflicted with bed-wetting, depend upon it, the cause of the difficulty is kidney trouble, and the first step should be towards the treatment of these important organs. This unpleasant trouble is due to a diseased condition of the kidneys and bladder and not to a habit as most people suppose.

Women as well as men are made miserable with kidney and bladder trouble, and both need the same great remedy, The mild and the immediate effect of Swamp-Root is soon realized. It is sold by druggists, in fifty-cent and one dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail free, also pamphlet telling all about it, including many of the thousands of testimonial letters received from sufferers cured. In writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., be sure and mention this paper.
Don't make any mistake, but remember the name, Swamp-Root, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, and the address, Binghamton, N. Y., on every bottle.
