To School Directors.
The Pacific Coast Teachers' Bureau can furnish you a good teacher free of charge. For further information address Chas. H. Jones, Salem, Oregon.

Pine Seedling Peaches.
N. Lund, who lives four miles east of Salem, fourteen years ago planted a seedling peach tree, and for the past nine years has been harvesting a crop of fruit therefrom. This year the tree produced one bushel. They are an excellent fruit, as the writer can testify. Mr. Lund, of Lansing's nursery, is building some this year for his stock, and will place some on the market next fall from this season, and under the name of the "Lund Seedling Peach." Mr. Lund pronounces it the best peach he ever ate.

One and a Tenth.
On September 1 the one and a third fare on sale daily to Portland and return, on account of the exposition, will be reduced to one fare and a tenth. This includes all Southern Pacific lines. The attendance at the local territory, and the large number of people who are being attracted to the exposition, will be largely stimulated. This very considerable concession in rates, made voluntarily, will be appreciated by all the patrons throughout the territory served by the Southern Pacific.

Had Great Success at Fishing.
J. B. Watson, commissary at the prison, and his son have returned from a two weeks' hunting and fishing expedition to Marion lake, in the Cascade mountains, about thirty miles from Detroit. Mr. Watson reports having had a first-class outing and great success in both fishing and hunting. He killed two five-point bucks the second and third days out and caught a mountain trout that he took care of. He caught about 200 pounds of the speckled beauties and brought them back with him as evidence of the truthfulness of his prowess as an angler, and proudly exhibited one big fellow that measured eighteen inches in length without the head. Many of his friends have reason to be grateful for a generous share of his delicious catch.

Typhoid at Aurora.
There are several cases of typhoid fever at Aurora. Mrs. E. A. Greenwood of Salt Lake came to Oregon several weeks ago for a visit with relatives. When she arrived at Aurora her little daughter, Helen, was taken down with the fever. In fact, the little one had the fever when they arrived. Now her son, Harold, has typhoid. So has Johnnie Krause of Aurora, and three other members of the family of George Krause are threatened with it. Several weeks prior to the arrival of Mrs. Greenwood, Anton F. Will, formerly a member of the firm of Will Bros., was taken down and suffered a severe attack of the fever, in fact, he has not entirely recovered yet. His case was a very severe one and for several days his life hung in the balance, with but little chance for recovery.

Beautiful Foliage Bed.
A prominent Salem business man says The Statesman ought to call the attention of its readers who love beautiful flowers and admire striking combinations of colors to the foliage bed in the state house grounds just east of the capitol, at the junction of the cement walks. This Salem man has seen and admired the celebrated flower gardens in most of the great cities that he has visited in the world, and he declares that he has never seen a more striking and remarkable conception than this foliage bed. It is circular in form, and the center piece is a banana plant. Then come castor beans, then around this is a circular bed of pears, then cineraria, and around the outside is lobelia. Mr. Louis Beltz, the gardener, says all these plants excepting the lobelia were killed the time by the frost in the spring. He declares that the foliage bed is not as fine as it would be but for this, and not as good as he could make it in another season, with some experience in this climate. But the Salem business man thinks Mr. Beltz has done exceptionally well. Mr. Beltz has charge of the state house grounds. He does all the work, excepting that he is assisted in moving the lawn, etc., by two trustees from the penitentiary. Mr. Beltz has had charge of the state house grounds for five months, and he has brought them up to be admired by all visitors who take notice of such things, and by all the people of Salem. Mr. Beltz was born in Germany, where his father, is a gardener. He was raised among the flowers, but followed the sea for five years. He worked for a couple of years for Portland florists before coming to Salem. The state authorities have certainly found a good man in Mr. Beltz for this work, and he should be appreciated and given a chance to work out his ideas. He is very unpretentious about it, but his work shows for itself.

After Nearly Six Years.
A postal card was received by a Salem man on Thursday that was probably one of the slowest on record—slower than the proverbial snail or molasses in winter. The stamp of the sending office reads: "Silverton, Or., Nov. 11, 1899." The stamp of the receiving office reads: "Salem, Or., Aug. 24, 1905." So this postal card was nearly six years traveling from Silverton to Salem, a distance of about sixteen miles. The postal card contained a request that was not attended to, but the sender saw the intended receiver some time later and reminded him, and the matter was arranged. So there was no loss on account of the tardy postal card. It will probably never be known where this postal card has been all this time. Perhaps it was in the Silverton office, accidentally covered up or hidden away in some manner.

Married in Portland.
Paul H. Hansen of this city and Miss Clara Thompson, of Carlton, Yamhill county, were married in Portland on Wednesday, August 23. Mr. Hansen is sitting up a home on South High street, between Mill and Bellevue.

Files Final Account.
Herman W. Barr yesterday filed his final account in the Marion county court as administrator of the estate of his father, the late John G. Barr. Objections to the account will be heard on October 2, at 10 o'clock a. m.

Perry Estate Closed.
The final account of Mrs. Adeline Perry as executrix of her deceased husband, William Perry's estate, was yesterday heard and approved by County Judge Scott. An order was also made discharging Mrs. Perry from her trust.

He Likes the United States.
Having come to the conclusion that Uncle Sam's country is good enough for him, George Shand went before County Clerk Roland yesterday and declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States. Shand is a native of Great Britain but is so well satisfied with this country that he intends to reside here for an time to come.

To Return to California.
Upon the requisition of Governor Carde of California, Governor Chamberlain last evening issued a warrant for the extradition of Frances Hale, the female embezzler who is under arrest in Portland and is wanted in Los Angeles for the alleged embezzlement of $1000. C. R. Gilbert is named as the California state agent in the papers.

Prosperity in Wallowa County.
George Mack, cashier of the First Bank of Joseph, Wallowa county, is in the city on a short visit. Mrs. Mack, who was formerly Miss Chapman of this city, and the children will be accompanied. Mr. Mack was formerly in the Marion county clerk's office and he has many friends here among the oldtimers. He reports things as prosperous in the Wallowa county.

New Bank for Mt. Angel.
A new banking institution has been created in this county under the name of Mt. Angel. It will be located at Mt. Angel, has a capital stock of $15,000, divided into 150 shares of $100 each, and it will engage in a general banking, exchange, collection and investment business. The incorporators of record are J. M. Conklin, C. R. Hougham, J. W. Ebner, Fred Schwab and N. Mickel.

Principal Legatee Objects.
Yesterday was the day for hearing the final account of John H. Reynolds as executor of the will of Ellen E. Bagley, deceased, but Miss Mabel Robertson, the principal legatee, having filed objection to the bequest of $300 to be applied to the purchase of a pipe organ for the First M. E. church of Salem, the hearing was postponed to Tuesday, September 5, at 10 a. m.

A Fine Peach Crop.
Hon. A. M. LaFollette reports a splendid crop of peaches for this year and says he has just marketed about two thousand boxes, mostly in Portland. They were packed in small boxes, two and one half boxes to the bushel of peaches. He sold them at from 75 cents to 90 cents a box. Mr. LaFollette is one of the most enthusiastic peach men in Marion county, aside from being otherwise a very successful farmer.

Administrator Appointed.
Upon petition of Eliza Trombly, widow of the late Francis Trombly, Sr., Charles Meier was yesterday appointed administrator of the estate of the petitioner's deceased husband. The estate consists of real property valued at $1400 and personal property valued at $150 and the heirs are the widow, Frank Trombly, Jr., and Mrs. Maggie Meier, sons of the late Francis Trombly, Sr. and the late Mrs. Jennie McKinnon, all children of the deceased. The bond of the administrator was fixed by County Judge Scott in the sum of $1000.

Fleming Will Admitted.
The last will and testament of the late Andrew Fleming was admitted to probate in the Marion county court yesterday. The estate of the deceased consists of personal property only valued at $2968.50, which by the terms of the will is bequeathed to Winnifred O. Barr, Patrick Fennell and Catherine E. Winkler, all heirs of the deceased. Patrick Fennell is nominated in the will as executor and he is to serve without bonds. Immediately after the will was proved according to law Mr. Fennell took the required oath and entered upon his duties.

Lightning Killed a Cow.
A report was received yesterday that the thunderstorm which occurred Sunday proved rather damaging in some places of the county. A cow belonging to Miss Minnie Evans which was being cared for on the farm of Mr. William Taylor, half way between the depot and the reform school, was struck by lightning and killed. There were about fifteen cows in the herd and Mr. Taylor was attending to them at the time the storm came up and he is reported to have felt the shock slightly himself. The cow was a valuable animal and will prove quite a loss.

Rain Clears Atmosphere.
The atmosphere around Salem was very much refreshed on Sunday by a warm rain which fell in light showers for an intermittent period of two hours. It is looked upon as very beneficial to crops and fruit, which are suffering from lack of moisture, but it did not fall in sufficient quantities to relieve the drought nor to damage the crops. A little rain at this season would be of great benefit to hops but a two weeks siege of it at the opening of the picking season would prove disastrous. Hop picking in the Willamette valley will begin between September 5 and 10.

Busy Repairing Crosswalks.
Street Commissioner H. A. Kurtz is now devoting his attention to the defective crosswalks of the city. Many planks have become broken in the different walks and in some instances it will be necessary to construct an entirely new walk as not only the plank but the cross pieces upon which they rest, have decayed and rotted away. It will take some time to repair all of the defective crosswalks and put them in good condition but the street commissioner is rushing the work as fast as possible and will soon show splendid improvements along this line. Many of the defective crosswalks are located in the northeastern portion of the city.

SHE WANTS A DIVORCE.
Mrs. Stone Files Complaint Against Her Husband, Alleging Cruel and Inhuman Treatment.

Upon the statutory grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment, Mrs. Edna G. Stone, through her attorneys, Bonham & Martin, of this city, yesterday instituted divorce proceedings in department No. 2 of the state circuit court for Marion county against her husband, William H. Stone. According to the complaint filed in court the parties to the suit became man and wife in Forest Grove, Washington county, in the month of November, 1894, and lived together until January, 1904, when the wife alleges, on account of cruel and inhuman treatment and personal indignities heaped upon her by her husband, she was forced to leave him and has ever since lived separate and apart from him. She also alleges that her husband, during the time they lived together, failed to properly provide for her and that she was often compelled to work out to make a living for herself and children.

The plaintiff asks for a decree of divorce and that she be awarded the care and custody of their three minor children, ranging in ages from 5 to 9 years.

YIELD FALLING SHORT.
Some Disappointment in Manner Spring Wheat Is Thrashing—Price Suffers Drop.

The grain output in the vicinity of Salem has displayed no signs of improvement as yet, although thrashing is not quite over, and some of the threshing will last until the last of this week. The farmers are having some trouble in getting the grain out of the way, as the threshing crew will not work in a field where the grain is tough, and hard to separate from the head. It is reported in several places that these conditions are causing a considerable amount of delay, as the threshers cannot make enough headway to pay them in thrashing a field.

The average yield predicted by one of the local grain dealers is from twelve and a half to fifteen bushels, this being a very poor showing for this part of the season. The standard price for wheat now stands between 60 and 63 cents, making a drop of 2 cents in the market which is due to the great quantities of wheat raised in the eastern states.

DEEDS RECORDED.
The following real estate transfers, aggregating the consideration of $12,334, have been filed for record in the office of the Marion county recorder:

M. E. Smith to T. H. Howell, land in T 7 S, R 2 W, d. 1, $10300
R. W. and A. Carey to F. E. and L. A. Shaffer, land in University addition to Salem; w. d. 1200
M. Hollenbeck, by admr., to L. S. Lambert, lots 5, 6 and 7, block 2, Thomas' addition to Salem; a. d. 800
E. Lamb to Lorenzo Whitlock, land in T 6 S, R 1 W, d. 1, 17
George F. McCorkle heirs to John Wills, 107 acres in T 6 S, R 2 W, T 4, d. 14
D. A. Good, by sheriff, to D. A. Goode, w. 1/2 of block 8 of block 71, North Salem; T. d. 2
A. A. and N. M. Leonard to Mary J. Hicks, land in Marion county; w. d. 1

Total $12,334

NEW SECRETARY.
Local Y. M. C. A. Has New Official at Head.

G. A. Forbes, A. B., of the Eastern Oregon State Normal school at Weston, and who has been connected with the Y. M. C. A. work for three years in the capacity of director and physical trainer, has been appointed general secretary of the local Y. M. C. A. to succeed Mr. John Fechter, who recently resigned. Mr. Forbes has attended two annual conferences of the Y. M. C. A. at Lake Geneva, Wis., and is especially trained in Bible study and secretary's work. Mr. Forbes has his wife with him, and they are stopping at present at the Cottage hotel. They have taken a house on State and sixteenth street and will be settled there early next week.

Mr. Forbes says he has been looking up the educational work of the Y. M. C. A. and finds it in a very flourishing condition. He says there are thirty men already lined up for the different classes in the common branches. He also says there will be a fine lecture course this year, enough tickets being sent to guarantee it being self-supporting, and they will bring some of the best talent the country affords, the first lecture of the season being dated October 4.

MILKE HEARD FROM.
EUGENE, Or., Aug. 25.—The mystery surrounding the disappearance of Harry C. Miller, the Eugene printer, who left a camping party on the Upper Willamette last Saturday, has been cleared up. A report from Boeberg states he was there Sunday, and word comes from Medford that he worked on a newspaper there Tuesday. He left that day for Sacramento.

Miller is said to be in debt here. This is thought, caused him to suddenly disappear.

BORN.
EHMER.—At the family home on High street, Salem, Oregon, Thursday, August 24, 1905, a few minutes after midnight, to Mr. and Mrs. Drew Ehmer, a (12-pound) boy.

KNOWLAND.—At the family home in North Salem, Monday, August 28, 1905, to Mr. and Mrs. John C. Knowland, a girl, weight 8 1/2 pounds.

RAILROAD TALK AGAIN EXTANT

SALEM IS ON THE VERGE OF A GREAT BUILDING ERA.

SEVERAL PROJECTS ARE IN SIGHT

Dallas-Salem Connection Thought to Be the First to Be Realized.

Prospective Rate War Between Harriman and Hill Interests Looked Upon as Being Favorable to Realization of Portland-Salem Railroad.

There is every indication that the city of Salem is on the eve of a great railroad building era and those in a position to know do not hesitate in predicting that before another year rolls around it will see a number of roads in course of construction to connect the capital city with her surrounding interior points of prominence in the commercial scale. Perhaps the first move will be the establishment of the connecting link between Salem, Dallas and Independence, while the next may see the building of the Portland-Salem line, so long in contemplation, and which may extend to Eugene.

All work is being done on the quiet in these matters and great care is being taken to prevent the news being published prematurely, in order that no frustration of the well laid plans will be brought about. The latest happening which has served to arouse the hopes of those interested in the building of the Portland-Salem line is the reduction of freight rates upon the Great Northern railroad, recently announced. While this looks like a voluntary act on the part of President Hill to favor the farmers, upon the surface and to the uninitiated, those directly concerned are satisfied that it is the first move on the part of President Hill to start another rate war between his interests and those of the Harriman system and that the rate war is bound to materialize as Harriman is expected soon to meet the cut on his transcontinental line and go the Great Northern one better.

If the trouble is precipitated again it is predicted that President Hill, in order to strike a body blow to the Harriman system will be prepared to offer inducements for the construction of the Willamette valley line that he may cut into the Southern Pacific territory. This rate cutting business is being watched very closely and interestedly by those interested in the Portland-Salem project.

Salem-Dallas Road Certain.

Recent developments indicate that there is little doubt of the construction of a connecting electric line between this city and the Salem, Dallas & Falls City railroad, at Dallas, and there are bright prospects of its being built. The line has been in prospect for several months past but the agitation died down somewhat, but certain interests have been working quietly and steadily upon the scheme unceasingly until, it is understood, the announcement is about ready to be made that the necessary capital has been found to finance the road and that building will begin immediately afterward.

Several interests have been figuring upon this road for more than a year past but some dropped it because of the failure to interest local capital in the project. It is now understood on good authority, that a strong syndicate has taken it up and has secured the promise of very substantial subscriptions toward the loan of $65,000 from local capitalists, as well as from Dallas and that the building of the road is now practically assured.

The proposed temporary terminal, at this end of the line, will be west Salem and it is intended to bridge the Willamette and bring the cars directly into the city. The principal object in building the road, beside accommodating the extensive travel between Independence, Dallas and the city, is to bring the timber from the forests in the vicinity of Falls City and dump it into the river at this point, which would be a great advantage over the present system of handling the output.

From the standpoint of speculation this proposition is considered in the light of a first class investment for those who put their money into it for the institution behind it guarantees to pay 10 per cent interest upon the bonds and redeem that at the expiration of ten years. The prospects for the ultimate realization of this railroad project are brighter at the present time than ever before.

It Looks Like Business.
As further evidence that the Portland General Electric Company intends to extend its line of railway out of the city of Portland and eventually reach into the heart of the valley comes the announcement that preparations are now under way for the development of its extensive water power interests on the Santiam river. This announcement comes indirectly from Engineer Sullivan, of the company, who has given out, perhaps unofficially, that he has been seeing the company's holdings along that river with a view of constructing a dam at a point, not then decided upon, for the purpose of developing and utilizing the power that has been going to waste all of these years.

Rumors of prospective extension and building have been afloat for many months, strengthened by the company's application for permission to set poles and string its wire line through this county to transmit electricity. It has also been known for some time that the company owned valuable water rights upon the Santiam but this announcement is the first intimation of the intention of early development. This gives rise to the belief that the company has in contemplation the extension of its lines into the interior of the state, and since it is known that at least two other syndicate interests are figuring upon to same thing and it looks like it is a matter of "first come, first served." It is believed by those interested here that the Portland General is about to get into the field and begin active operations.

The Citizens Light & Traction Company, among the foremost of the promoters of this electric railway, connecting Portland and Salem, extending up the valley as far as Eugene, and the officials of this corporation are actively powerful Philadelphia syndicate, is pany, of this city, back of which is the engaged in arranging all of the necessary preliminaries looking to the realization of the project. They are working very quietly, however, and will say nothing for publication.

SEASON ENDS ON COLUMBIA.
Salmon Pack Larger Than Last Year, Contrary to All Expectations.

ASTORIA, Or., Aug. 25.—At noon today the fishing season on the Columbia river ended, and contrary to all expectations, it proved to be in excess of last year in the number of tons of fish caught and the amount of money paid out. The season has been peculiar in the fact that there has been a small but steady run of salmon from its very beginning, with but an occasional large run, which gave the appearance of a small pack because it was handled so easily.

Figures for the season are only approximate, but within a few tons of the exact figures. The cannery pack is on the basis of four dozen one-pound tails to the barrel and the cold storage pack on a basis of tierces of 800 pounds of prepared fish, which may show a shrinkage of 300 tierces in the repacking.

STRUCK FREE GOLD.
Fine Prospects for Nine Strike Group in Cracker Creek District.

SUMPTER, Or., Aug. 25.—Word was received here today that the main lower cross-cut tunnel in the Nine Strike group, Cracker creek district, had cut the ledge yesterday and that the encountered shows a free gold proposition. The Nine Strike is owned by Mayor William H. Gleason, Joseph Mikel, Edward Zeiss and Jack Gibbs. Mayor Gleason was part owner in the Buckeye, in which a rich body of ore has been uncovered and which promises to be one of the largest producers in the Sumpter district. Mr. Mikel was one of the original owners of the lode. The owners of the Nine Strike will drill fifty feet on the ledge before cross-cutting to ascertain its width.

PICKING HOPS.
YAKIMA, Aug. 26.—Hop picking has started in the valley. On Wednesday a gang of pickers began work on the Mondoro ranch. The crop on this ranch will consist of about twenty-five bales of Early Fuggles.

ORMONDALE TAKES FUTURITY STAKES AT SHEEPSHEAD.

HE WAS RIDEN BY REDFERN

Closely Followed by Timber, Who was Ridden by Hildebrand—Belmere Finishes Third.

Winner of Futurity Stakes Carried Off $33,680, While Second Won Over $3000—Additional Sums Were Given to Breeders of Winners.

NEW YORK, Aug. 26.—Ormondale, the real bloodstock of the turf, and descendant line of aristocratic equine ancestors extending back nearly a century and a half to that of the greatest race horse, Eclipse, in 1764, won the eighteenth running race of the futurity stakes for 2-year-olds at Sheepshead Bay today. He was the favorite in the betting at 5 to 1, with just a shade in the odds in his favor over Flip Flap Ormondale, ridden by Redfern, with only half a length to spare. The time was fast at 1:11 4-5, equaling the mark of the filley, Artful, in the futurity renewal of last year.

The colors of Harry Payne Whitney, whipped into second place by Hildebrand, while Belmere, of Burley entry, ran third under a hard ride by Buchanan.

The futurity purse this year amounted to $42,680, several thousands short of the early estimates. The winner's share was $33,680. To Whitney, as owner of the second horse, the sum of $3083.33 was awarded, and to Fred Burley, the owner of Belmere, $2166.67. To the breeders of the winner, the additional sum of $2000 was given, and to James T. Madden, the breeder of the second and third horses, $2150 and $500 awards were made.

The crowd numbered close to 35,000 people, but was by no means a record breaker. The weather was perfect, and the track was almost up to the record quality.

LAST ENTREE MADE.
VERNAL, Utah, Aug. 28.—The land office today began accepting entries on lands in the Uintah reservation in the order determined by the land lottery at Provo. At noon forty out of all the entries permitted for the day had been made.
